US Battleship Missouri Pulled Free

21 Tugs, High Wind Help Move Warship Off Shoal

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 1 (AP) —The mighty battleship Missouri was pulled free of her Chesapeake Bay shoal at 7:16 a.m. EST today.

Helped by choppy seas and wind-blown higher tide she yielded to the strain and whipsawing of 21 tugs and her own winches.

As she slipped afloat sternward orders were given to take soundings along the half mile of water back to the safe deep channel. Dredges had been working to clear a path for her.

U.S. Navy men afloat and ashore greeted the news with whoops.

The Missouri, a stricken 45,000-ton giant since she strayed from the buoy-marked ship channel Jan. 17 and went aground, was moved cautiously from the moment she finally floated. The navy put the official time at 7:16 a.m., but movement astern was plainly perceptible minutes before. It was an ideal day for the navy to float the battleship and shed its big embarrassment.

Wind Big Help

Fresh northeast winds whipped Chesapeake Bay and brought white caps that ran to four or five feet. A tide of an anticipated 2.6 feet was pushed higher by the wind and the navy had managed to secure a fifth and sixth pontoon under her stern before the seas became choppy.

Her two big bow anchors had been removed. Four hundred tons of fresh water had been pumped out and her bow rode higher.

At the zero hour of 7:30 Rear Admiral Allan E. Smith, salvage chief, sent the terse message:

"Missouri reports for duty."

The ship that has been both the navy's pride and persecution, was warped out into safe water for a trip to the navy yard at Portsmouth for dry docking and inspection. Her sister ship, the unfinished Kentucky, was moved out so the Missouri could be accommodated.

Will Investigate Wheat Contract

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)— The Senate Agriculture Committee today decided to investigate a transaction whereby Britain last year was authorized to buy $175,000,000 worth of Canadian wheat with Marshall Plan dollars.

Chairman Elmer Thomas said the full committee will launch the inquiry after two or three investigators have been hired and start looking into the matter. Senator James Kem (Rep. Mo.) made the original demand for the inquiry.

Authority for Britain to buy the wheat was given by the Economic Co-operation Administration with approval of the agriculture department and the administration. The deal aroused a storm of congressional criticism, particularly from wheat-state senators.

Lauds Toronto Doctor For Heart Operation

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP) — A heart-valve operation has been performed on Mrs. Elizabeth Terranova, 25, of Buffalo, N. Y., and the woman is reported "out of danger" at a hospital here.

Dr. Francis O'Donnell, Buffalo heart specialist, brought the woman here and watched Dr. Gordon Murray, Toronto surgeon, perform the delicate operation.

Dr. O'Donnell said today in an interview that Dr. Murray not only enlarges the passage in semi-blocked heart valves but also takes out portions of heart valves and puts in new parts.

"Murray is actually operating on the heart and inside it," he said. "In that respect, he is unique. He's doing things right now that are not being done by any other surgeon. I'd say he is 10 years ahead of us in the United States."

Accept Resort Operators' Conditions

Espanola Company Will Take Further Steps To Reduce Pollution

SUDBURY, Feb. 1—(CP)—The Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Company announced today that it agrees in principle with three conditions offered by resort operators at Espanola, 50 miles west of here, for a stay of an anti-pollution injunction.

The resort operators obtained the injunction to stop the company from dumping mill waste into the Spanish River at Espanola. The company claims that the injuction, effective April 4, would force it to close its Espanola pulp mill.

The resort operators offered to hold off the injunction if the company would take further steps to reduce pollution, and would pay damages to property-owners in the meantime and that the Ontario government would appoint a Royal Commission to investigate pollution of Ontario waters.

The company said today in a statement that it favors appointment of the Royal Commission "to the end that a permanent solution of the problem of pollution in its relation to industry may be reached." It said it will continue efforts to reduce pollution at Espanola and will compensate the resort owners for whatever "actionable damage" they have suffered. It added:

"The Company firmly believes that the present form of injunction, with which it is impossible to comply literally, should be removed as was the apparent intention of legislative action taken in 1949."

CCL Proposal Causes Clash In Rental Case

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 —(CP)—A clash in opinion broke out again today on the Supreme Court of Canada bench as the court went into the validity of federal rent controls.

Although opposed by Justice R. L. Kellock, Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret rejected a move by the Canadian Congress of Labor to have the court investigate the "facts" behind the emergency requiring rent controls.

When Mr. Justice Kellock expressed a difference of opinion, the chief justice threatened to adjourn the court and ask the justices to retire to reach a decision.

Mr. Justice Kellock said he had not been consulted on the court's decision not to investigate the "facts" in the rent controls reference.

Yesterday he opposed Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin in the view that the federal government request to file additional documentary evidence concerning the emergency should not be received.

Refuses Appeal

The Chief Justice declined to allow the appeal by the Labor Congress, presented by Maurice Wright of Ottawa.

Mr. Wright contended that material on the housing shortage contained in his factum were for the most "proven facts." These submissions should be accepted as "facts" by the court.

The chief justice said Mr. Wright's request was "extraordinary." The court was not going to accept this material as "legal fact."

"I thought we had settled that question yesterday," he said.

Mr. Wright attempted to prove by citing previous court decisions that an investigation into the

More Economical Production Need On Farms—Gardiner

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 1—(CP)—Canada's farmers can help themselves through difficult marketing times and low-price spells by more economical production and more direct marketing methods, says Agricultural Minister Gardiner. This was one of the suggestions made by the Minister Tuesday in a straight-from-the-shoulder discussion of farmers' problems at the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

His remarks aroused so much interest that delegates didn't get around to a long list of resolutions awaiting them and postponed action until today.

As Mr. Gardiner warmed up to his subject, he departed often from his text to put across a point. He defended vigorously the government's price-support program which thus far had fixed floor prices on cheese, bacon and eggs.

Must Keep Themselves

He made it clear the government is prepared to continue such support but also said they will have to help themselves.

He denied charges levelled by several delegates during a question-and-answer period that the government had failed to keep faith with the farmer, by not carrying out a promise assuring them of fair prices through the transition period from war to peace.

Egg producers came in for a mild reprimand for delay in presenting their case to the minister following the loss of the British market and the resulting decline in egg prices.

Mr. Gardiner said he feels sure the fears expressed by poultry farmers at protest meetings will be proved groundless once the facts are understood.

He said hog producers may find themselves in a similar position when the current bacon contract to Britain expires in July. He hoped they would not act as the poultry farmers had acted.

Won't Go In Business

No matter how many farmers think it might be a good thing, the government has no intention of going into the business of buying and selling, he said. However, it planned to put price support legislation on a permanent basis at the next session of parliament.

He said he is going to do everything possible to get trade contracts without utilizing funds from the price support legislation of $200,000,000, which he felt will be voted again without difficulty.

Control of food products under emergency conditions during the war could not be applied in peacetime because of civil rights. He stressed trade in farm products was a provincial right and

Reports Convict Visited Brink's

BOSTON, Feb. 1 — (AP). — A garage mechanic today identified a former convict as a man he saw in Brink's Garage on the night of the $1,501,000 bandit raid on the Armored Car Service's vaults.

Police said the mechanic picked out of the rogues' gallery a picture of the former convict—a 40-year-old Springfield man.

Investigators would not disclose the name of the mechanic or the former convict for "protective" reasons. They described the lead as "a good one."

At Salisbury, Md., two men who tried to sell a $500 bill for $150 are being hunted by the police as possible members of the gang.

Randolph Taylor told police two men tried to sell him a $500 note yesterday at a restaurant near here.

Taylor said that the men had several other $500 bills and two boxes "which appeared to contain money on the rear floor" of their car.

Firemen Fight Flames Sweeping Ranch Lodge

KLEINBURG, Ont., Feb. 1 (CP) —Firemen today were battling flames at the Circle M Ranch which had already gutted the main lodge with loss estimated at $40,000. Several summer cabins were threatened. Kleinburg is a few miles north of Toronto.

Five firemen from the nearby Woodbridge and Maple brigades narrowly escaped injury when they ducked out of the way as a section of the roof collapsed. A 50-man bucket brigade was carrying water from the Humber River and several wells.

A ranch, a popular Toronto riding club, famous for its Palomino horses, is owned by Charles Mavety.

Firemen said the stables were not threatened.

St. Laurent Observes 68th Birthday Quietly

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 (CP)—Sixty-eight years ago today Louis Stephen St. Laurent was born in the Quebec Eastern Townships village of Compton.

Now well into his second full year as Prime Minister, he will mark the new birthday quietly at his East Block office and in the downtown apartment he shares with Mrs. St. Laurent.

No special celebrations are planned, Mrs. St. Laurent said Tuesday. There may be a cake, but she won't bake it. The day will be "very quiet."

On-Again—Off-Again Winter Worries Over Groundhog Lodge Will Get Inside Dope

QUARRYVILLE, Pa., Feb. 1—(AP)—If you've been perturbed by the on-again-off-again winter weather, take heart — you have only until tomorrow to worry.

That is, if you're willing to accept without question the report of the Quarryville slumbering lodge of groundhogs.

Tomorrow the lodge members, regaled in night shirts and high silk hats, will receive what they consider the ultimate in prognostication: the prediction of the groundhog.

If the furry 'chuck steps out of his hole and spies his shadow, brr! That means six more weeks of winter (if you've had any winter up to now). If he doesn't see his shadow, toss away those red flannels. Spring is here.

The lodge scouts are taking all sorts of precautions this year. They're going to use walkie-talkies to wigwag their findings back to headquarters. If they fail, they'll have to rely on the older forms of communications, the smoke signal.

The Pas Bursting At Seams As Merry Trappers Cavort

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 1 (CP)—It's like a second Christmas Eve in The Pas today.

The town is bursting at the seams, tense with excitement, and loud with the buzz of conversation. People from remote stretches of the lonely north country are gathered for the year's biggest event—the third annual trappers' festival.

More than 500 visitors cram the town. Every available bed is taken, and many are content to find a spot to roll out their sleeping bags.

The big event of the four-day fete—the 150-mile dog-team race from here to Cranberry Portage and back—does not come off until Thursday.

But today the boasts are made, the bets are laid, and those with neither boast nor bet meet to chat with people they don't often see in this huge ice-house.

Eight teams so far are entered in the gruelling race for the $1,000 prize. Latest entrant for the Canadian championship event was Lou Wheeler, of Buyck, Minn., who has seven dogs and an Alaska-type sled. Last year's champ, Edwin Lambert, of the Pas Indian reservation, and the runner-up, Jack Heard, will also be on hand.

Tonight a beauty queen will be chosen from the northern lovelies —including an Indian princess. Other activities of five day, which culminates in a torchlight parade and the queen's crowning, are barrel-rolling contests, rat skinning, ice fishing, snowshoe races, figure skating and hockey.

Hopes Rise 44 Aboard May Be Alive

Transport Picks Up Distress Frequency In Smith River Area

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., Feb. 1 —(CP)—Two Air Force search planes with expert radio men aboard to monitor possible signals early today were converging on the Smith River area, 300 miles east of here, to investigate a weak radio signal that may have come from a transport plane missing since last Thursday with 44 aboard.

The weak, short signal in wireless code was picked up early today by another plane flying over the area. Its contents were not disclosed.

Before dawn, one search plane took off from Fort Nelson, B.C., 460 miles southeast of here, to sweep the air route up to Smith River. Another took off from Whitehorse. All radio men in the area were alerted for any radio reports.

Operators were standing by with radio direction-finding equipment to try to obtain a "fix" on the transmitter's position if the signal should be repeated.

Similar reports of weak signals in other areas have been received previously by search officials. They have proved groundless.

Must Be Close

Officials said that a receiver must be practically "right on top" of a Gibson Girl transmitter to receive a signal in mountainous country. A Gibson Girl is an emergency radio set of the type carried by the missing plane.

The weather was quite clear today as the planes roared away from search headquarters.

New urgency was given their quest by a weather forecast of low clouds and snow tomorrow. Cold weather moving out of Siberia threatened bitter weather.

At Smith River it was 20 below zero. At Whitehorse, it was 10 below and the forecast high was zero or 5 above.

To increase chances of spotting the missing plane, a marimum of 10 spotters in addition to the plane crews were placed aboard some of the big craft.

Must Rest Eyes

Pilots were given permission to land at the nearest base after two hours' flying to permit spotters to rest their eyes.

In a pre-dawn briefing, Sqdn. Ldr. D. R. Miller of he RCAF, said some of the men appeared to be getting tired.

He reminded them that Operation Attache, the big search in Northern Manitoba in September, 1948, had lasted 13 days and the lost plane had been found. Today is the sixth day of the Yukon search, dubbed Operation Mike.

David said the signal came in on the international distress frequency of 500 kilocycles, lasted two minutes and appeared to come from an emergency set. It was received about 8:16 p.m.

Russia Rejects France's Protest

PARIS, Feb. 1 (AP)—Russia today rejected France's note of protest against Soviet recognition of the rebel, anti-French regime in Indo-China.

Soviet Ambassador Alexander Bogomolov sent the French note back to the foreign office with a statement that "the government of the USSR does not consider it possible to receive such a note."

The French note, delivered to Bogomolov Tuesday night, was a sharply worded warning that Russia's recognition of the Ho Chi-minh regime in Indo-China would "gravely impair Franco-Soviet relations."

France said in the protest that the rceognition of the Moscow-trained Ho Chi-minh's guerrilla government was a violation of international law.

The only legal government of the three Viet Nam states of Indo-China, France contends, is that of former Emperor Bao Dai, who was installed by the French.

French troops have been fighting a jungle war with Ho Chi-minh's forces in Indo-China for three years.

TRY AGAIN—Search planes took off again in the Yukon today after a report that a faint radio signal had been picked up. They are seeking a DC-54 transport plane, like the one above, which has been missing since last Thursday.

SEARCH SCENE — Shaded areas show locations where the search for the missing C-54 is being concentrated in the Yukon.

4 More Unions May Be Expelled

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 1 (AP)— The CIO is putting four member unions through the wringer. If the labor groups fail to clear themselves of a charge of Communist domination they may be expelled.

Six other CIO unions are listed for future investigations behind closed doors.

The labor organizations also are accused of resisting CIO control and with attacking CIO officers and policies.

The Farm Equipment Workers and the big United Electrical Workers were thrown out of the CIO at the 1949 convention.

Convention delegates directed "fact-finding" investigations of the other 10 unions.

Unions involved are the United Public Workers, the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, the United Office and Professional Workers and the Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers. Hearings for the other, unnamed unions will follow later.

New Hospital Ready

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—(CP). — Ontario Health Department officials said today they expect the new mental hospital for children at Aurora would be opened early in March.

The hospital, which will be used to relieve overcrowding at the Orillia hospital, was originally to have opened March 1. Alterations to the building, formerly a training college for the Christian Brothers, Roman Catholic teaching order, have taken longer than was anticipated.

U.S. Uses Planes To Guard Atomic Plants

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)— Aerial guard lines, backed by jet fighter planes and anti-aircraft weapons, are being set up around the major atomic plants in the United States.

Other precautions, obviously aimed against a possible one-way air attack, are being taken to guard 200 miles of sea off the Atlantic coast from Maine to Norfolk, Va.

(In Ottawa government officials said they knew of no move to institute similar regulations in Canada. The atomic energy project at Chalk River, Ont., 100 miles north of Ottawa, is a prohibited area for aircraft.)

The defence department, which disclosed these moves Tuesday, said "the program will be expanded to other areas as equipment and personnel are available at appropriate sites."

The department stressed that the program is part of long-range air defence planning and "not related to any specific international developments."

Taking No Chances

However, announcement of the moves came within 24 hours after defence secretary Louis Johnson said in his first annual report to Congress that "an attack could come from the opposite hemisphere without warning and with unpredictable fury."

At Albuquerque, N.M., Tuesday night, a Kirkland air force base spokesman said three squadrons of 700-mile-an-hour F-86 jet fighters with full service loads of ammuntion are on a constant 24-hour alert.

They are responsible for New Mexico atomic installations at Los Alamos, Sandia base where atomic weapons are assembled, and Kirtland base, home of the air force's special weapons command.

The official also said that anti-aircraft defences are being set up. "All planes flying over the area must be identified," he added.

The announcement did not indicates what measures would be taken to patrol the 200-mile-wide stretch of ocean off the Atlantic coast. But this area adjacent to the principle U.S. east-coast ports is within easy reach of eastern air fields.

Says Communist Dictators Have World's Largest Army

WAGO, Tex., Feb. 1—(AP)— Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington said today that Communist "dictators" now have "the world's largest ground army, air force and undersea fleet."

And he voiced a sombre warning that Russia is capable of launching a surprise atomic attack—"against which we have no sure defence"—on any part of the United States.

The U.S. Air Force secretary painted what he called a "bleak picture" in a speech prepared for the Baylor University mid-year graduating exercises.

"Those who reiterate America must be destroyed," he said, "now have:

"1. A ground army greater in numbers than the combined armies of the United States and its allies;

"2. An air force whose strength in nearly all categories is now the largest in the world and growing relatively larger month by month;

"3. The world's largest submarine fleet; and an intensive submarine development and construction program."

Symington expressed the belief that if any democracy attempted to maintain in peacetime a comparable armed force; "the free economy of that democracy would be wrecked."

"Here are three facts which every American should know," Symington said, "because this is the world in which we live:

"(1) Behind the Iron Curtain there has been an atomic explosion. (2) Behind that curtain is the air equipment capable of delivering a surprise attack against any part of the United States. (3) We have no sure defence against such an attack."

Symington appealed for support of federal spending programs for the U.S. armed forces.

Lumberman Started Crash Story

Believes 2 Drivers Got Story Mixed On Plane Near Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 1 —(CP)—A sawmill operator said today he is one of several persons who saw a low-flying airplane in the Chapleau district last Friday.

Nap Dubreuil told reporters that about five minutes after it was spotted three children reported hearing an explosion. Dubreuil's sawmill is about 30 miles northeast of here.

The "explosion" is believed to have been the sound of blasting in a nearby logging camp, Dubreuil said.

Aircraft of the R.C.A.F., United States Air Force and Ontario Forestry Service were dispatched to the dense bush country last Saturday after reports that two truck-drivers had heard a big plane and seen flames from a crash. The searchers found nothing.

Dubreuil said today the report that the drivers saw a crash is incorrect.

He said he sent them to Chapleau, 64 miles north of his sawmill, to report what had been seen by him, his wife, brother and son and several sawmill employees.

He identified the drivers as Paul Savard and Roger Bourchard, both of Taschereau, Que.

Seen In Afternoon

Dubreuil said the plane was spotted about 4:45 p.m. Friday. Earlier reports were that the time was at 11 p.m.

"It was a four-engine plane I saw," he said. "I was working in the mill yard when I heard it. It passed over me. I thought it was strange that such a huge aircraft would be flying so low. I then took my eyes off the craft to return to my work."

About five minutes later, his son and two other children had run to his side to report hearing an explosion. The children thought the plane had crashed, Dubreuil said.

See Black Smoke

Several persons, including Dubreuil, saw pillars of black smoke when they looked up, but the plane was seen flying ahead of the smoke, he said.

At Dubreuil's second camp, six miles away, employees were

Bulldozer Upsets Lindsay Man Dies

LINDSAY, Feb. 1. — Walter Cross, 38, of 61 Logie St., was killed while working with a hydro-electric construction gang in Anson Township near Minden, Tuesday afternoon when a bulldozer he was operating rolled over.

Cross, who had been on the job only three weeks, was a native of Oxford, Eng., where his parents live. He leaves his wife and a son Eric, 6. Cross and his wife lived for two years at Carnarvon, Haliburton, and were planning to return to Haliburton next summer.

Dog Trapped In Garage Boy Fails Save Pet

AGINCOURT, Ont., Feb. 1 (CP) —John Ross, 11, dressed in pyjamas, ran through the snow between the house and his father's garage Tuesday night in a vain effort to rescue his Great Dane watch dog trapped in the burning garage. Tanny, the dog, suffocated and burned to death in the fire which gutted the service station and garage after he had barked the alarm.

Running into another part of the building the boy rescued three police dogs kept there to guard against burglars. Firemen were able to save the showrooms, stock room and a large new addition to the garage but the older section of the building and three cars belonging to L. E. Ross the proprietor were destroyed.

Pioneer Justice Defined Good Healthy Swing

"He asked for it and he got it," commented Maxwell Hugh Meharrie, 40, of 675 Cameron Street, fined $10, and $3.75 costs, when found guilty of common assault by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, today.

Meharrie was originally charged with assaulting his boarder, Lloyd W. Lang, occasioning actual bodily harm, but Magistrate Philp reduced the charge.

Lang testified he was struck in Mantell's restaurant after he had asked Meharrie for money he said Meharrie owed him.

He added he and Meharrie had worked earlier in the evening insulating a house. He said they went downtown to a beverage room and had about two or three pints of beer each.

Asked For His Money

After their beer, they went to the restaurant for a cup of coffee where Lang asked for the money. He added that it amounted to more than $100.

He said Meharrie hit him and knocked him off the stool on which he was sitting. He testified he was struck two or three times, once on the nose, and received two black eyes.

Asked by Meharrie if there had ever been any agreement between them that Meharrie was to pay Lang any money, Lang said no. He said, however, he considered that he had been hired by Meharrie.

Worked For Board

Meharrie testified Lang had asked to come and work for his board for a short time. He said there was no agreement about money. He charged that Lang was by no means a regular worker.

At the restaurant, Meharrie said, Lang started asking for money in a loud voice. He said he told Lang to be quiet, but Lang answered there was no Meharrie made who could make him be quiet.

"Here is one who can take an awful try at it," Meharrie exclaimed, and swung at Lang.

Magistrate Philp said Meharrie may well have considered he was being insulted by having it said, before a restaurant full of people who knew him, that he did not pay his debts. But that was no excuse, in the eyes of the law, for an assault.

"It may be good pioneer justice," Crown Attorney John A Bradshaw said, "but it is bad law."

Old Couple Suffocate But 3 Children Saved

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 1 (CP)—An elderly man and wife were suffocated early today when fire destroyed their home here, but three children were saved when their mother tossed them out an upstairs window.

Dead are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bradshaw, 56 and 58 respectively.

Their three young grandchildren were tossed out the window by their mother, Mrs. Dorothy Bradshaw.

Two were caught by neighbors; one landed in deep snow and was uninjured.

Tosses Dead Baby In River, Seeking Man

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—(CP). — Police are seeking a man who early today tossed the body of a prematurely-born baby boy into the east-end Don River.

A watchman at the nearby Lever Brothers plant told police he saw an automobile stop on the bridge. A man stepped out, hurled a parcel into the river and drove away quickly.

Police recovered a newspaper-wrapped parcel containing the foetus of a baby boy. Police said they have a good description of the man.

U.S. To Make Hydrogen Bomb

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 — (AP)—The United States is going ahead full blast on development of a hydrogen super-bomb in an obvious effort to win the atomic arms race with Russia. Only an agreement which would bar atomic weapons in all countries, including Russia, under a tight system of controls, can now banish this prospective weapon from U.S. arsenals. The State Department is reviewing American policy on international controls—reported to include the possibility of a new approach to Russia—but whether anything will come of such studies remains to be seen.

The decision to go ahead with work on the hydrogen bomb, expected to be vastly more destructive than the original A-bomb, was announced by President Truman Tuesday. He said he had reached his conclusion under his "responsibility as Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces to see to it that our country is able to defend itself against any possible aggressor."

"Accordingly," the President said, "I have directed the Atomic Energy Commission to continue its work on all forms of atomic weapons, including the so-called hydrogen or super-bomb.

Work For Peace

"Like all other work in the field of atomic weapons, it is being and will be carried forward on a basis consistent with the over-all objective of our program for peace and security."

He added: "this we shall continue to do until a satisfactory plan for international control of atomic energy is achieved."

Truman's fateful decision was greeted with general approval in Congress where it has been anticipated as a defense measure.

"I believe Congress should support it," said Senator Eugene Millikin (Rep. Colo.) chairman of the Republican conference and a member of the Senate-House of Representatives atomic committee.

Hope Not Necessary

Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois the Democratic leader, said "I pray God that we may never have to use the bomb," and added:

"I believe the bomb's potential destructive power will bring the people of the world to their senses, to the end that we will have world peace."

Representative Carl Vinson (Dem. Ga.) chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said Truman "has done the right and proper thing."

On the other hand, Representative W. Sterling Cole (Rep. NY) a member of the atomic committee, disapproved. He said Truman had usurped the authority of Congress and that the very security of mankind was at stake.

RUSSELL GREEN, of Birmingham, England, who is one of the two English adjudicators at the forthcoming eastern Ontario music festival being held in Kingston February 13 to 18.

Attempt To Open Safe In Church

HAMILTON, Feb. 1 (CP)—For the second time within a month yeggmen at an early hour this morning made a futile attempt to break open the safe in Phillpot Tabernacle.

While on patrol duty Constable Gerald Ostrosser, found the front door of the tabernacle had been forced open. It was then discovered that a large safe in the vestry office had been damaged and the handle evidently broken off with a heavy iron pipe. The pipe was found lying beside the safe.

The Rev. Peter Hoogendam, pastor, recalled that a month ago the safe had been similarly attacked and the dial and handle broken off.

Alderman Prowling Has Date With Noise

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 1 (CP) — Alderman Bob Carswell prowled along east-side Frances Street Tuesday night in a gentlemanly attempt to keep a midnight date with a noise.

But the noise—an intermittent rasp, says Carswell—wouldn't cooperate. It stuck with him while he was outside. But when he went indoors, it stayed outdoors. He couldn't hear it.

Carswell was investigating the complaints of householders that a factory was keeping them awake.

He said maybe they'd better talk with the city clerk. Not too loudly, though.

Blind Institute Gets Most Of $63,432

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 1 (CP) — The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is the principal beneficiary of the $63,432.48 estate of Mrs. Mary Chilton, London, who died January 6.

After personal bequests and a $500 legacy to the wardens of Christ Church of St. Catharines Mrs. Chilton directed that two-thirds of the residue go to the CNIB as a memorial to her husband, the late Harry H. Chilton.

The remaining one-third will go to the Women's Christian Association to assist it in caring for elderly and incurable patients at Parkwood Hospital.

Consult Records Garageman Told

G. Milton Hopkins, garage operator of Lakefield, won his case in which he charged George W. Mitchell, Lakefield, with fraud, but he received a rebuke from Magistrate W. R. Philp in court today.

Mitchell pleaded guilty to selling Hopkins his car for $285 last May, untruthfully telling Hopkins there were no liens against the car. Mitchell pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence till Tuesday.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked Hopkins whether he could have found out whether there were liens against the car by paying a small sum to consult county records of liens. Hopkins answered that he could have, but he always took the word of the man selling him a car.

"You deserve no sympathy," the magistrate told Hopkins. He said garage operators and used car dealers had no business using police courts as collection agencies. He said they should consult the records before making a purchase of a car.

Church Recruits New Members

KEENE, Feb. 1—(ENS)—The annual congregational meeting of the United Church was held recently when it was reported new members had been added to the church and new families welcomed to its fellowship.

The Women's Missionary Society exceeded the allocation and the M and M Fund allocation was paid. The treasurer, W. E. Patterson gave the financial statement which showed many demands on the cash but the congregation had given well during the year.

After all obligations had been fully paid there was a good balance.

The minister said that much had been accomplished, he thanked the congregation for splendid cooperation.

Election of officers was as follows: Added to the Session, W. Drummond and Angus Adamson. To the Board of Stewards, Herb Macfarlane, Harry Manley, Roy Stewart and Arthur Elmhirst. Trustees, Alan Eason, Stewart Nelson and Tom Hope. Auditors: John Hope and Tom Weir.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Rev. and Mrs. George Murray.

On this first day of February seasonably cold weather prevails over all of Ontario. Last night Toronto reported a low of sixteen degrees while Malton Airport, some fifteen miles northwest, sank to one above the zero mark. This is a striking example of how minimum temperatures depend on the locality when winds are very light.

Although a disturbance in the southern states has spread snow as far north at Pittsburgh and New York City, this snow is not expected to reach Southern Ontario. For Thursday generally cloudy weather with seasonable temperatures is expected to continue over Southern Ontario. In the northern regions temperatures will continue to moderate largely due to a persisting southwesterly flow of air from Lake Superior and Georgian Bay.

Forecasts:

Southern Lake Huron, Lake Erie Niagara, Lake Ontario regions, Windsor, London, Toronto, Hamilton cities Sunny with occasional cloudy intervals today and Thursday. Not much change in temperature. Winds light Low tonight and high Thursday at Windsor, St. Thomas, Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines 15 and 30. London 10 and 30. Trenton 10 and 25.

Summary for Thursday — Mainly cloudy.

Northern Lake Huron, Southern Georgian Bay, Haliburton regions Cloudy today and Thursday. Milder Winds light. Low tonight and high Thursday at Muskoka 15 and 25. Killaloe 10 and 20. Wingham 10 and 30.

Summary for Thursday — Cloudy milder.

Overlooking Bet

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP) — Cattle breeders were told at a meeting of the Ontario Hereford Association that they have a poor appreciation of the value of fertilizer for pastureland. Dr. E. S Archibald, director of the Dominion Experimental Farm, said farmers use fertilizer only on a few cash crops and never think of using it on grass.

Farmers Ask Permanent Price Supports

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 1 (CP)—Canada's farmers today asked the Federal government for permanent price support legislation ensuring fair returns for agricultural products in relation to other industries.

The request came in a resolution adopted unanimously by more than 200 delegates to the 14th annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

The measure, which was expected to give rise to protracted debate, was adopted without discussion following an address on price support by Dr. E. C. Hope of Ottawa, CCF economist.

The resolution urged that a permanent price support act be framed so that its provisions can be applied "in a sufficiently liberal manner." Currency difficulties beyond Canada's control should not be a factor in determining the farmers' position in the national economy, it said.

Points To Consider

Dr. Hope suggested farmers ask the government to consider these points in drafting price support legislation.

1. A formula setting out the range at which prices should be fixed.

2. Floor prices should be announced before productions and not before "the last dog has been hung," as was the case in eggs.

3. Price support should result from consultation between government and organized farmers.

4. Support prices each year should be modified according to the previous year's experiences.

5. A support program should include a surplus disposal plan.

6. Farmers be assisted by a special method of direct payments on the basis of volume produced.

Dr. Hope said such a program of direct assistance would be more easily administered if regular Farm Marketing Boards are established by Federal and Provincial governments.

could be delegated to the Federal government only by the provinces.

Questions on floor prices set for cheese, bacon and eggs were put to Mr. Gardiner by several from an audience of 350, swelled by delegates from the Niagara district.

Low Floor Prices

In the main, they involved complaints that floor prices were set too low in relation to production so that producers could receive a fair return for their products.

Mr. Gardiner said he felt no farmer would expect floor prices to be set at the highest level which prevailed in the last three years. In most cases, the price was set at about 10 per cent lower than the highest level.

In the case of hogs, he said the floor price of 32½ cents offered protection against United States bacon entering Canada at a much lower price. Britain had refused to pay transportation costs from the factory to the shipping point on cheese. The floor price therefore had been set at 27 cents, instead of the 1949 price of 30 cents.

Urges Constitution Allow French Official Language

OTTAWA, Feb. 1—(CP)—Postmaster General Rinfret urged Tuesday night that Canada's constitution should be flexible enough to permit a province to make French an official language without "risking a veto" from another province. The formula for constitutional amendments now being considered would prevent a province from adopting French as a second language without the consent of all provinces and the Federal government, he said.

French now is an official language only in parliament, Federal courts and Quebec.

Mr. Rinfret spoke on a free-time political broadcast. He said he was speaking "merely in my own name as a Canadian citizen" not as a Federal Cabinet Minister.

Under the formula for constitutional amendments drawn up at the dominion-provincial conference here last month, constitutional aspects of language rights, education and religion could be amended only with the unanimous agreement of parliament and all provinces.

Proposes Plan

Mr. Rinfret suggested language aspects of the constitution should be amended with the consent of parliament and one or more provinces.

He said section 133 of the British North America Act "stipulates that the French language is official only in the Ottawa parliamentary debates and records, in the federal courts of justice, and in the province of Quebec, but nowhere else; there is no provision for the other provinces."

Under Mr. Rinfret's proposal if "the province of X wishes to recognize French as an official language, it would only have to discuss the matter with the federal government and Quebec, without having to consider the objections from the provinces of A or B. If the federal government and Quebec should agree, the name of the province would be included in section 133, and French would become an official language in that province.

"If later, the province Y wanted the same privilege, the consultations would take place and the consent only of the federal government, Quebec and of the province of X would be required. And so on, until all the provinces are included in section 133."

Industrials Advancing For Third Session

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Industrials advanced for a third successive session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Gains were best shortly after the opening with some easiness appearing at the half-way mark.

The Exchange's 1 p.m. index showed Industrials up .75 at 206.09, Golds up .06 at 99.34, Base Metals up .04 at 109.10, Western Oils up .42 at 64.19. Volume for the first three hours was 575,000 shares, about 179,000 shares more than yesterday's similar period.

Gains ranged from fractions to more than a point in Industrials. Papers were in a one-way upward movement led by International and Steels, Foods, Banks and Liquors advanced. Union Gas was a brisk trader in a stronger Utilities list and touched a new high at 16½, up ½.

Ford Motor of Canada A continued yesterday's briskness for a gain of ¼ at a new high at 28¼. The stock advanced $3 yesterday following news of increased dividend and extra.

Golds fluctuated in a very narrow range. A few gains in Junior Producers lifted the list into the plus column. Several smaller issues were brisk traders for moderated advances. Laguerr Mines, Mosher Long Lac, Larder U and Magnet were active.

Gains and losses were balanced in Base Metals. International Nickel, Noranda and Quemont gained the minimum fraction.

Western Oils brightened on a few gains ranging up to 15 cents.

blasting. They also reported seeing the plane.

Dubreuil said he is confident the blasting explains the "explosion." But he has no explanation for the smoke.

Dubreuil was unable to go to Chapleau to report the incident so he told the French-speaking truck drivers to pass on his information. They are unfamiliar with English and may have got the story twisted, Dubreuil said.

Enter 12 Cottages On Sturgeon Lake

A dozen summer cottages, located on Rustic Bay, Sturgeon Lake, have been broken into and some minor thefts committed. The Provincial Police at Lindsay attribute the breakins to a transient who happened to strike the isolated group.

William Jardine of Lindsay who has a booth at Rustic Bay found it had been entered when he went down to the lake to do some work on Saturday. He called the Provincial Police and it was found that about three dozen fishing plugs were missing along with a few boxes of popcorn.

Some cigarets and a small quantity of other goods were taken from the other cottages, police found. There was no ransacking and little damage.

Entry was gained by smashing a pane of glass and opening the door locks from the inside.

"question of fact" had been undertaken by the court in constitutional references.

However, the Chief Justice stopped a move to read from the Canadian Bar Review articles which agreed with Mr. Wright's argument.

The Chief Justice said he was not going to accept the opinion of the Canadian Bar Review—a lawyer's magazine—as authority for the court.

He said he could not understand why Mr. Wright persisted in his argument.

Not In Interests

It appeared that it was not in the interests of the C.C.L. that the court go into this investigation of "fact."

That was the job of parliament and it appeared, further, that those opposing the validity of the controls—the Quebec government and the property owners—were not going to argue that the legislation was "colorable," that an investigation should be made of the legislation itself.

"Are you not satisfied with the decision of parliament?" the Chief Justice asked Mr. Wright.

Mr. Wright said he was "quite satisfied."

"Then why go behind the legislation?" asked the Chief Justice.

As he completed argument favoring the validity of the controls. Mr. Wright contended the onus or responsibility for showing in what "unmistakable" way in which the controls were invalid rested with those who impugned the legislation.

Mayor Surprised Amalgamation Premature Now

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum said today he is surprised to hear his plan for amalgamation of 12 Toronto suburbs with the city described as "premature."

He said in a statement that Premier Frost told him to "go right ahead" with the amalgamation discussions.

"I am surprised at the statement of Municipal Affairs Minister George Dunbar because he was at the conference when Toronto and suburban representatives met with Premier Frost," the mayor said. "The Premier made it quite plain that the discussions now being carried on by these representative would in no way interfere with the application of any municipality for amalgamation."

The mayor said he explained to the Premier that up to that time he had been expressing only personal opinions and that he felt he should get a clear-cut decision of city council on the issue before proceeding.

Told To Go Ahead

"The advisory committee to the Toronto and York Planning Board reported to York county council Tuesday that co-operation, not annexation, would solve the problems of all municipalities in the Greater Toronto area. The report said:

"It is not necessary for any of the municipalities in the suburban area to be annexed to Toronto.

Coal Takes Fire In Parish Hall

BELLEVILL;, Feb. 1.—Due to an overloaded coal bin, the parish hall of the St. Thomas Anglican Church in Belleville came close to being razed late Tuesday afternoon.

A two-ton coal bin, loaded with five tons of coal, caught fire when the highly piled coal became ignited from the hot air pipes leading from the furnace. The fire which started in the basement, rapidly burned through the first floor into the entrance of the parish hall.

The Belleville Fire Department received a call at 6:24 and, under a handicap of heavy smoke, extinguished the blaze. The fire was under control within a half an hour. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

Archdeacon E. A. Smith of St. Thomas Church said: "In another 25 minutes the whole parish hall would have gone up in flames. I think the firemen did an excellent job of saving the building."

Also endangered was the rectory, located next to the parish hall. The parish hall is one of the oldest landmarks in the city.

Frenchmen Getting Little Weary Of Hearing About All US. Aid

PARIS, Feb. 1 (AP)—Mention American to many a Frenchman these days and the odds are you'll rub him the wrong way.

"It's not that I am an Americanophobe," he probably will say. "Indeed, quite the contrary. But really, we don't like being reminded all the time."

The truth is the average Frenchman is sick to death of propaganda. That goes for any kind, including Marshall plan propaganda.

His four years under Nazi occupation and subsequent liberation by foreign military aid make him feel badly about accepting economic help, without which he knows in his heart he cannot get along. He'd like to kid himself he's making the grade unaided. Mention American aid and you remind him he isn't.

The Communists have been quick to exploit the basic insecurity and sense of inferiority which many French men feel as a result of events of the last 10 years.

Ugly Term

The Communists point out grimly that the American population of Paris has doubled since the war—evidence of increasing economic tutelage. Here and there you hear certain pro-American Frenchmen referred to as "American collabos." That is an ugly word, for the term "collabo" was widely used for those who worked with the Germans in the occupation.

Feeling of resentment is not confined to the Communists. One rightist newspaper editor confessed he sometimes had to censor the American pictures he published.

"You'd be surprised how each time we print a picture of an American movie star or a new jet plane, we get letters of complaint," he said. "Our readers want French pictures. We have to go very carefully with anything about the Marshall plan."

Reluctant Knowledge

While most Frenchmen do know what the American taxpayer is doing for their country—and are grateful for it—it is significant perhaps, that in a recent official public opinion poll only 4 per cent were ready to admit that the Marshall plan was really behind French recovery. And 37 per cent while conceding American aid was "food for France," asked: "What are the strings attached?"

A trade union official suggested that one fault lies in the choice of some of the American personnel.

"Too many of them simply do not understand the French mentality," he said. "Too few of them ever learn to speak French well enough to get around and learn how the people feel about things."

Meanwhile, more and more music hall jokes and newspaper cartoons are getting a laugh with more or less friendly jibes at American expense.

Russian Figures

The U.S.S.R. is now entering upon the fifth year of one of its many five-year plans of production, and figures for industrial progress during 1949 have been appearing in the Russian press. They are vague, according to the reports which reach us. No absolute totals are given, and all increases are expressed in terms of percentages of production in other years, for which totals are not available. The 1949 objective has, apparently, been surpassed by three per cent., and the whole plan is ahead of schedule. What this means is anybody's guess, but the official statement contains this qualification: "Whilst fulfilling the year's plan of gross output . . . some Ministries did not quite fulfil the plan for certain types of production".

* * *

What this means may be guessed at when we remember that the Russian provincial press in some districts has been complaining about inefficiency, false statistics and meddling with the five-year plan. In the Ukraine, for instance, industry has apparently reached its gross output by lowering the quality of some manufactures, and making surpluses of simple goods, while falling behind in the production of the more complex articles.

* * *

It is out of the question for the Western world to guess whether Russia is fulfilling her plan or not. Indeed, it may be wondered whether Russia is completely sure on this matter herself.

No Commerce At Aberdeen

It is interesting to observe that the University of Aberdeen will no longer confer the degree of Bachelor of Commerce. In an era when most universities are striving to offer degrees in every possible and impossible field of knowledge, this is a significant step.

Aberdeen apparently feels that a good education in liberal arts fits a young man for a commercial life better than a course of study which concentrates too fiercely upon economics. In this line of thought we are at one with Aberdeen. Fashions in economics change, and business methods change. But the liberal arts do not change, and the knowledge of human nature and human striving which they impart to the student is of value to him in whatever walk of life he may choose.

Businesses have been heard to murmur, lately, that young men come to them from the universities very highly trained in commercial techniques for which many businesses have no use. Much business is conducted along very simple lines; the complication is in matters of detail, rather than in the broad scheme. A young man who knows nothing of business can pick up all that his employer requires him to know in a couple of years; if he adds this specialized knowledge to a good general education in the liberal arts, his chances in business are excellent.

Aberdeen ought to know what the business world wants, if any university may be said to do so. It is significant that Aberdeen is going to train men to be broadly educated, rather than educated solely for business.

The Employment Of Married Women

For several days our letter column has presented the opinions of some of our readers on the question as to whether or not married women are justified in holding jobs. We should like to put forward a side of this argument which none of our correspondents has yet touched.

Not all women find their greatest happiness in domestic life. They are not, by inclination, housekeepers and the care of children is more an irritation than a joy to them. Such women are met with frequently, and if they have found no outlet for their energies outside their homes they are often soured and disagreeable. It must be borne in mind that men have a wide variety of jobs to choose from; to insist that all women should joyfully embrace the one job of housekeeping or else stay single is neither logical nor fair.

There are plenty of women who have a marked capacity for business, and the business world is where they should be. If they can make arrangements for their domestic work to be done by someone else, why should they not use their energies in the direction which gives them the greatest happiness. Similarly, many women are convivial by nature, and housekeeping can be a lonely and confining job. For such women part-time employment may mean the difference between a frustrated and miserable life, and a full and happy one.

It is easy to be dogmatic on this matter, and to say that married women have a duty to their children and to their husbands which comes before all others. Let us point out that married women also have a duty to themselves, and if they find a house a prison and the job of getting meals and caring for children a slavery, they are probably serving their families better if they get some other job, and hire a woman to do the domestic work which they abhor. It is economic circumstance, rather than moral law, which made many women housekeepers in the past; if they can make other arrangements now it is probably in their own interest and that of their families that they should do so.

Are The British Liberals A Nuisance?

Newspapers in Britain and Canada have recently broken out into a rash of editorials in which the British Liberal Party is condemned as a nuisance, a mere cumberer of the earth, which ought to dissolve itself in order that there could be a clear fight between the Labour and Conservative parties. It is worth noting that it is papers of Conservative sympathies which think in this way, and it may be assumed that they think that the 300,000 odd votes which the Liberals polled in 1945 would go to the Conservatives this time. We believe that they are wrong in that assumption. A majority of Liberals would abstain from voting, or would vote Labour, rather than support the Conservatives.

The Liberal Party in Britain is in a bad way, admittedly. But it still believes what it believed in its great days, and sees no reason to commit suicide in order to oblige the Tories, whose beliefs have undergone several re-scramblings in the past twenty-five years. The Liberals are not merely obstinate private enterprisers who will not see the light, and form a solid front against socialism. They are people who believe in advanced social legislation but who do not believe, as the Labourites do, in the Omnipotent State. They present, for those who have no faith in the Tories and who do not like the brave new world of Labour, a reasonable alternative.

Liberalism is a faith which might be expected to appeal to the squeezed and bamboozled middle class of England. We do not expect that any startling number of Liberals will be returned on February 23, but we think that the party's present ten parliamentarians will double their ranks. Twenty men in a Commons of 625 will not be a great number, but if the election is a close one it might give the Liberal party a surprising amount of influence.

Meanwhile we think that the British Liberals are right not to liquidate themselves. And if the Tories understood Liberalism they would cease to urge them to do so, for such an act would merely strengthen Labour.

$1,000 Five Cent Competition

The Department of Finance announced recently a competition for a new five-cent piece design (the reverse side only). We approve competitions for such matters; thus artists and engravers across the country can try their hands, and Canadian coins and stamps could become really distinctive and fine. Unfortunately, thousands of Canadians have not understood the nature of the competition. They read that the first prize was $1,000; and over-night the Treasury has been flooded with so-called "designs", on bits of paper, done in crayon, ink, charcoal, by unskilled hands with no art behind them. The word "competition" allied with the $1,000 prize has seemed like a soap manufacturer's advertising campaign. In this case, no box top had to be enclosed.

The competition to encourage designs for the five-cent piece is not a common affair for everybody who can hold a pencil. It is a competition such as architects engage in, when a new building is projected. It is primarily a competition for skilled designers and accomplished artists, men who know the terms of reference, the designers' art, and who will spend days and weeks preparing their submissions. The Treasury, Department of Finance, or whoever was responsible for putting out the original announcement in such a general way, deserves the flood of "designs" now pouring in from all parts of Canada, and even from abroad, to the Master of the Mint. It would be very pretty justice if the person responsible for the inept announcement had himself to sort out all the chaff, so as to leave the authorities who will judge the competition free to sift only the wheat.

From The Critic's Notebook

THE COMMON ASPHODEL, by Robert Graves (Hamish Hamilton).

OF all modern critics of poetry I like Robert Graves the best. There is about him an uncompromising common sense and an air of knowing what he is talking about which is refreshing in a field where empty pretence and even downright impudence sometimes suffices. It is not merely that Graves is himself a fine poet, although this is important; it is his air of certainty which is reassuring; he speaks as a man having authority. He also speaks with the honest surliness of a great man who is impatient with fools; in an age when poets have been too reluctant to declare their superiority to the rest of mankind, this is winning.

The book under review is a collection of essays on poets and poetry written between 1922 and 1949. It is full of good stuff, and I am surprised that the American critics have dealt with it so meagrely. Perhaps they did not read the book. I have read it from cover to cover, and have re-read some parts of it, and it appears to me to be an important book, which no one should neglect who cares about poetry at all. It says, in various ways, what Graves has been saying about poetry for years, i.e., that a true poem is conceived during a time of true inspiration, and that after that time it is the poet's job to polish, correct and revise until the inspiration is perfectly bodied forth. For loose, vaguely poetic waffling Graves has no patience, and his discussions of Yeats "Lake Isle of Innisfree" and of Masefield's "Cargoes" are wonderfully astringent.

Graves' old quarrel with Milton has a place in this book; the confirmed Miltonians do not like it but those who (like the present reviewer) have resented Milton's phoney moral grandeur delight in it. There is an interesting discussion of the sources of Shakespeare's "The Tempest" in which Graves assumes a little too readily that Shakespeare knew something of Welsh mythology. But the bulk of the book is about modern poetry, and deals with it in a most interesting and down-to-earth fashion.

I wish that "The Common Asphodel" and the same writer's "The White Goddess" could be put into the hands of every poet in Canada. Our versifiers are apt to think that they are writing in their heart's blood when in reality they are writing in a thin rheum from some other part of their anatomies. Graves' good sense and integrity is just what they need.

JEZEBEL AND THE DAYSPRING by Flavia Anderson (Chapman and Hall).

AN historical novel dealing with Biblical characters living nine hundred years B.C. is likely to have a limited appeal. This biography of Jezebel, written in the form of fiction, paints a vivid picture of the land in which she was queen.

The more serious student of Israel will probably find that it gives food for thought. While written in a style acceptable to a reader merely seeking relaxation, it is based on information obtained from careful research.

The queen of Israel is depicted against a background which redeems her, to some extent, from the unfavourable light in which she appears in the Bible.

E. GRACE COOMBS, O.S.A., A.O.C.A., by Lorne Pierce (Ryerson Press).

GRACE Coombs, (Mrs. James Sharp Lawson), has been associated with the Ontario College of Art as pupil and teacher since 1913. It may be this almost continuous purposeful contact which has preserved her from the fate of so many women who have studied art, that of considering painting as a mere hobby and a polite accomplishment. Although Grace Coombs may be said to belong to the second generation of Canadian women painters, she is also a forerunner, being among the first female pupils of the Ontario College of Art to make a name for herself known across the country.

The book is half given over to reproductions in colour and black and white of her paintings. These reproductions show better than the biographical note and appreciation by Dr. Lorne Pierce, distinguished head of the Ryerson Press, the claim Grace Coombs has to the affection and esteem of people who love the Ontario scene. There is her well-known Trilliums, her early Hart House "Wind-swept Pines", a representative showing of her rural landscapes, wild flowers, trees and lake scenes. These reveal a delicacy of design, an optimism in colour, and a strength in woodland pattern surprising in a painter of so obviously gentle nature. Her debt to J. E. H. MacDonald and Robert Holmes is evident. I must confess that in her abstractions she has abstracted little of significance to me.

Dr. Lawson, Librarian of Emmanuel College, Toronto, (her husband) has prepared a catalogue raisonne which is included in the book.

Such volumes are useful additions to the record of painting in Ontario. They would be more provocative and probably more useful if they did not have the polite appearance of friendly works of piety. The arts in Canada will not flourish on milky criticism.

Unconsidered Trifles

When a Scoutmaster asked his boys whether or not each had done his good deed for the day, three members admitted they hadn't.

"In that case," they were told, "leave this meeting and don't return until you've lived up to our motto of one good deed a day."

Half and hour later the boys returned dishevelled and flushed.

"I did my good deed, sir," the first scout said. "I helped an old lady cross the street."

"Me, too," added the second "I helped the same old lady cross the street." "So did I," chimed in the third member.

"Do you mean," the Scoutmaster demander, "that it took three of you to help one old lady cross the street?"

The spokesman for the trio lowered his head.

"Yes," he replied. "You see, sir, the old lady didn't want to cross the street."

Letters To The Editor

A SITE FOR THE MEMORIAL CENTRE

Sir: In regard to a suitable site for the Memorial Centre I suggest the George-Rink Street property an appropriate place.

First of all, why spend money on other property when the above has already been offered by the city? It would probably cost as much, if not more, to purchase another site, as it would to go ahead and spend the extra cost to secure a sound footing on the George-Rink St. property.

I am sure the residents on Rink Street would much rather see the Memorial Centre built than what is already there. It is really an eye-sore and disgrace to the city.

Last summer there were several complaints about the appearance of the Rink St. property made to certain members of City Council. We were told if a petition was taken up and presented to the Council, that was the only way any action would be taken in regard to clearing up the site. However, that was done with forty or fifty names in the petition and brought up at the September, 1949, meeting of the council. I understand that it was just mentioned at the meeting and more or less cast aside, saying something should be done about it. Since that time there has been no change and the same old thing is going on. There is still dumping off of the city wagons. It is supposed to be sweepings off the streets, but I am sure that a parking sign and old tin cans which were there last summer and still are, I presume, does not come under that category. It is just the same for the garbage dump.

Also there is in summer the junior lacrosse box put up, which by the middle of the season is practically falling down, as well as two or three old shacks from the skating rinks, which the children more or less ruin.

The bill-boards facing George Street certainly hide a lot from the view of public passing up and down.

If some of the members of the City Council had to look at this unsightly piece of property day in and day out in front of their homes they would certainly wish it cleaned up.

As a taxpayer, I would like to see some action taken to tidy up this piece of property on George-Rink Streets and get rid of the unsightly mess. I am sure it would be much better to have the Memorial Centre built there and make this site presentable to look at. If nothing else it could be made into a lovely park.

Thanking you for the space in your paper.

Yours sincerely,
AN INTERESTED TAXPAYER.

EMPLOYMENT OF MARRIED WOMEN

Sir: I noticed an item in your paper recently, regarding the employment of married women, who take the work from the single class. I don't suppose it is of any use to sputter about such things. But it does seem very unfair that a married woman should hold a position, who has a home to keep, when some worthy single person, man, woman, girl or boy, could fill that position as competently as the married woman, who should be home keeping the home presentable. I know in most cases a woman can always find enough to do, if she does it around the home, especially if there are any children. In my estimation I don't understand how a mother could go out to work and leave her work undone. You read of so many cases where the mother is away working and little children are left with an older child or maid or other person and something happens and the home goes up in smoke, children included, or if they get out at all they are horribly marked for life. We are now nearly two thousand years since B.C. and since His time there has been some very high positions vacated which have been filled and the world goes on just the same. Regarding this employment situation who is to blame the employer or the employee? I would like to quote an instance I know of where a family of four, the parents and two children, have a farm with quite a stock the same as other farmer's cattle, sheep, etc. The mother has been teaching school for around six years or more. She has drawn all the way from $1100 up to $1800 this last two years. They also have driven a school route for four years that has given dividends of another $1500 and as I understand it she has done about as she liked. If I have it right the Public School Act says a teacher must be at the school 15 minutes before nine and remain 15 minutes after four and she signed a contract to be six miles away at 4 o'clock to pick up children at another school. And the School Bus Act says each child shall have 13 inches seating while they very often drive crowded. I would say where are the employers? I don't want to seem a grumbler as I like to read the editorials and opinions of the people and am only mentioning this case which may be only one among thousands of the same and where two positions could be given out to others and give some other worthy person a chance to live too, also help the unemployment situation. As your recent writer said there are a few exceptions which should be considered.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

O Lord, thou hast searched me, and known me . . . . Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there. If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me. (Ps. 139: 1, 7-10.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Who hath directed the Spirit of the Lord, or being his counsellor hath taught him? With whom took he counsel, and who instructed him, and taught him in the path of judgement, and taught him knowledge, and shewed to him the way of understanding? Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the small dust of the balance: behold, he taketh up the isles as a very little thing.

Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, that bringeth out their host by number: he calleth them all by names by the greatness of his might, for that he is strong in power; not one faileth. (Isa. 40: 13-15, 26.)

For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many,) but to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him. (I Cor. 8: 5, 6.)

◇ ◇ ◇

God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth. (John 4: 24.)

United States Dumping

The offer of the United States Department of Agriculture to sell surplus products to Canada at what has been called "Fire sale" prices might be a good thing for the city householders, but, if the merchandise is allowed to come in it will be disastrous to farmers, who form a substantial part of the population and play an important part in the economy of the country. Potatoes are being offered at one cent per 100-pound bag at the border, and it would be bad economics to allow that kind of marketing. United States officials say it is quite legal to offer such bargains and that they do not infringe any treaties, nevertheless this country would be foolish to accept the offer.

Geo. Hougham Retiring As CRF Manager

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

A storekeeper today pulled down the shades and went away for a rest.

His shelves, over the last 40 years, have extended from British Columbia to Prince Edward Island. He didn't own any of them or anything on them; nor did he personally do any of the selling. But his hand was at the manner of the doing and his name is known in virtually every corner grocery or mammoth department store across Canada.

For he is George S. Hougham, general manager of the Canadian Retail Federation, a steely-eyed person who never hesitates to say what he thinks, whose forceful clipped words make up at all times for his no more than medium stature.

When he was younger he must have been known as a "cocky little guy."

Will Retire

He said "good-bye my friends" to Tuesday night's annual dinner of the Federation, for the current conference is his last before he goes into retirement.

Let him describe himself:

"Colossal nerve has sustained me in many a crisis. . . One of the secrets of success is tenacity of purpose; even though it may sometimes lead you into mistakes of judgment, of which I have had my share.

"The best committee in the world to prepare a brief is a committee of three with two of them absent."

Mrs. Hougham sat beside him Tuesday night as he told the story of Retail Trade Associations in Canada.

It started for him in 1909 when he came from London, England, read signs in Toronto that "no Englishmen need apply," and shortly struck out for Cranbrook, B. C.

Credit Exchange

There he formed a credit exchange for the sharing of credit information among merchants. Then came Nanaimo; where merchants carried on their books grocery accounts as high as $1,000, and meat bills running up to $800.

Thence he was sent on an organizing trip. First, Kamloops, where he had to sweep out the hall and dust the chairs to get a meeting place; where 125 invitations brought a total attendance of five. But he left the meeting with five memberships.

Then followed Trail, Nelson, Prince Rupert, other cities, and finally establishment of the British Columbia Retail Merchants Association. He was its first secretary and his first caller tried to sell him a burial plot.

Dominion Secretary

He went to Edmonton in 1924 as secretary of the Alberta Retail Merchants Association, and four years later became Dominion secretary of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada.

In 1941 he took part in the formation of the present Canadian Retail Federation.

Mr. Hougham gave this description of an evolution in thinking:

At first trade organizations were defence mechanisms, organized to guard merchants against something; whereas the concept in 1941 was an organization for the constructive purpose of helping the government of the day to carry out a policy in the interests of the national policy.

His final plea:

"Let us pool our knowledge; make it available to each other and to Canada—so that we may be a group to bring about the more efficient distribution of the world's goods."

Diplomat Fled Reds In '48 Now Teaches In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, — (CP) — Former charge d'affaires for the Hungarian government in Poland, Dr Paul Forstner now teaches at a high school here after "losing hope" for his country and fleeing to Canada.

Months of Russian interrogation imprisonment and various curbs on his freedom and diplomatic immunity hastened Dr. Forstner's decision. He resigned in June, 1948, and began his long trip out of Russian-dominated Europe.

Dr. Forstner still hopes that some day democracy will win out in his homeland. In a recent interview here, he said Hungarians were really a "democratic people" in spite of their type of government.

"Even with the presence of Russian armies, the Communists received only a 14 per cent vote in the 1945 elections," he said. "Democrats, on the other hand, got 60 per cent. Hungary was taken over by force of arms only."

The former diplomat was born in Hungary and educated in schools and universities through Europe. His career stretched through 21 years of service in both Europe and Asia. During his tours of duty in various foreign capitals he became aware of a "growing uneasiness among high Russian officials" from 1937 onwards.

He and many other diplomats were under constant Russian surveillance throughout the war years, and finally, in 1944, Dr Forstner was arrested by Russian police in Budapest. At that time he was serving in Hungary as assistant personnel director of foreign affairs.

Interned for 18 months, the doctor was interrogated about Hungarian Military strength, government information, military affairs and political conditions. He was quizzed as to what Hungary wanted in Russia, at that time, and heard his country accused of espionage. After his release he was made charge d'affaires in Poland.

Dr. Forstner now teaches political science and government at St. Paul's College here.

Mother Fights To Keep Children

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 1 (CP)—Mrs. Gwendoline Rice, who took her two children from the verandah of their grandparents' home, said Tuesday she will fight to keep them.

Police of Caledonia, 45 miles west of here, said the children—Patrick, 2, and Michael, 3—were taken Monday from the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rice, where they had been living since their parents separated.

Mrs. Rice said in an interview that she had not intended to take the children but when she found them alone and they ran to her she "just couldn't help it."

She said she would welcome any court action to settle the custody of the children.

Any attempt by the grandparents or the father, Garth Rice, of Toronto, to take the children from her will not succeed without a battle, the mother said.

Medical Plan For Students

TORONTO, Feb. 1J—(CP)—If you go to the University of Toronto and you break a leg next fall, it won't cost you a cent—as long as you break it for dear old Alma Mater.

The university Tuesday announced adoption of a medical-care plan that football, hockey and basketball players are bound to like.

The plan, to be paid for by a small assessment on each student, will provide them with prepaid doctor and hospital care for injuries (resulting from campus competitive sport or from physical education classes.

The medical plan goes into effect next fall.

At Kingston Queen's University students are reported to have voted recently in favor of a proposed medical plan which, for a premium of $10.75 a year, would pay up to $410 in bills for medical treatment during a school year. The plan is to be submitted to Queen's authorities for approval.

Urges Canada Take More British Imports

BRANTFORD, Feb. 1—(CP)—James S. Duncan, chairman of Canada's recently-formed Dollar-Sterling Trade Board, told a home city audience Tuesday night that this country must import more from the United Kingdom and other sterling areas and less from the United States.

Only in that way can the Dominion save her overseas export business, the local industrialist said in an address at the annual meeting of the Brantford Board of Trade.

Foulkes' Term Extended To '51

OTTAWA, Feb. 1—(CP)—As an indirect reflection of the cold war, the government has decided to extend the term of Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes as Canada's Army Chief into a sixth year, equalling the record for a Canadian. He will finish five years in office this August and will continue at least until August, 1951.

The decision indicates official feeling that the wartime corps commander should continue in office at least until Atlantic-Pact defence planning emerges from earlier stages and the long-range form takes shape. He is Canada's spokesman on the Pact military committee, highest non-political body.

There is no sign, either, of early shifts for the other three chiefs of staff, Vice-Admiral H. W. T Grant of the Navy, Air Marshal W. A. Curtis of the RCAF, and Dr. O. M. Solandt, Director-General of Defence Research.

When your home is turned into a hospital to take care of an invalid, let your Tamblyn store help you.

There are a dozen short cuts to home nursing whether the invalid is recovering from an operation or is convalescing after a lengthy illness.

Tamblyn can help you nurse your invalid back to health.

Kate Aitken Answers Questions Concerning Home Care Of the Sick

CARE OF INVALID: My mother is confined to bed but not dangerously ill. I have to go to work each day and wondered what help you could give me with her bedside care? She is alone from 8.30 a.m. till 5.30 p.m., with a neighbour from the next apartment dropping in at noon.

A Pair of Vacuum Bottles will keep your mother's coffee hot, her cold water chilled. A Sheet tied to the bed's end and laid beside her will help her pull herself into a sitting position easily. An Invalid Ring will give her the utmost comfort when she sits up for a time. Hot Salt poured into a hot water bottle will keep warm even longer than hot water. An Individual Tea Pot will make her an ideal drinking cup. A Simple Bed Tray can be made from a heavy cardboard carton. Cut openings on the side to make room for the patient's legs.

INVALID COOKERY: How can eggs be attractively prepared for a bedfast invalid? What will best keep kitchen odors out of a ground floor bedroom?

Eggs poached in milk are delectable. Invalids never seem to tire of them. Serve them on cubed buttered toast. That means your invalid need never chase the egg round and round the plate on a stubborn slice of toast. Airwick is one of the best deodorants made for eliminating cooking odors.

INSOMNIA: My husband is a partial invalid and finds it hard to get to sleep at any time. He will not take sedatives. What is sleep inducing?

Hot Ovaltine, plain or chocolate, hot malted milk or powdered milk made up with hot water and liberally laced with black pepper should, the doctors say, induce natural sleep.

INFECTED DISHES: My son has a contagious disease, which means his dishes must be kept separately from ours. Is there any easy way to mark them? How about a good disinfectant for dishes and laundry?

Dishes can be satisfactorily marked with nail polish. Then when the infection is over, take off the marks with nail polish remover. Lysol is one of the most satisfactory disinfectants for all uses.

Intermediate B Series—Central Oxford League, Innerkip, Princeton, Sweaburg, Oxford Centre, Hickson, Wesliners; Erie League, Fisherville, Kohler, Garnet, Nanticoke; Haliburton and Victoria League, Dorset, Kinmount; Hillsburg League, Shilo, Cedar Valley, North 7th, Ballinafad; Lake Shore League, Courtice; Nobleton and Bolton League, Thistletown, Windy Ridge Corners; North Brant League, Falkland, Burtch, Maus, Burford, Glenmorris, Brantford Airport (affiliated but not eligible to proceed in playdowns); North Oxford League, Cassels, Shakespeare, Lakeside, Brooksdale; North Wentworth League, Troy, Sittles Corners, Clyde, Rockton, Sheffield, Greensville; Oxford - Waterloo League, Bright, Drumbo, New Dundee, North Stars; Pickering Township League, Brougham, Dunbarton; South Oxford League, Dickson's Corners, Verschoyle, Welburn, Salford, Beachville, South Simcoe League, Thornton, Stroud, Allandale, Knock; South Waterloo League, Blair, Doon, Plains, Breslau, Clairvle, Central Dumfries; Tri-County League, Oakwood, Little Britain, Woodville, Cambray.

Give Approval

Prior to the classification committee meeting the executive, which was presided over by the president, J. B. Robertson of Lynden, approved of players bordering on towns and cities for the following leagues: Central Oxford, South Oxford and South Waterloo. Permission was also given for Omemee to play Floyd Parsons and Gordon Parsons, previously in Senior B Ontario Hockey Association hockey, Approval was given for the Lake Shore League to operate Fenelon Falls, Courtice, Orono and Omemee as a league. Due to circumstances of the Victoria Haliburton League Haliburton was placed in the Senior series and Minden in Intermediate A. In the Central Oxford League Ayr and Plattsville were raised from Intermediate B to A. In the Pickering Township League, Cherrywood was placed from Intermediate B to Senior, due to population and players.

On account of the adverse weather condition and inability to complete schedules on natural ice extension for the returning of players' certificates was granted from January 15th to January 31st and the date for declaring a winner, for the same reason, has been extended from February 15 to February 25. No further extensions will be allowed.

Edmonton Triumphs

MILAN, Italy, Feb. 1 (CP). — Edmonton Mercurys Tuesday night swamped the Red and Black Devils, Milan's leading hockey outfit, 9-1 in one of the most dazzling hockey displays ever seen at the Ice Palace here.

Watson-Yukon Match Shapes Up A Natural

When Whipper Billy Watson and Yukon Eric tee off in the main bout Thursday night, the Brock Arena should be packed to the rafters. This match is a natural and brings together two men that promoters all over the country have been bidding to get. It will be the first meeting of the British Empire Champion and the Alaskan Lumberjack.

The big question appears to be: Can Watson's tremendous speed, science and ring cunning overcome Eric's superhuman strength? Fans who watched Eric against Fred Atkins and Seelie Samara are undecided. Both Atkins and Samara went down before the Alaskan's brute strength, but he probably will have a lot more difficulty with the Whip who has a lot more on the ball than either the Aussie or negro star.

An excellent supporting card has been arranged, featuring Steve Stanlee and Hi Lee in the semi-final and Joe Christie and Johnny Barend in the opener.

MINOR HOCKEY

Al Watkins of the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association lists these games for the rest of the week: Wednesday, Trojans No. 2 vs. Optimist Bantams, at 5.30, and Clapper's vs. St. Peter's juveniles, at 6.30 in Civic Arena.; Thursday in Keene, Clapper's vs. Keene Juevniles, at 7.00, and Trojans vs. Keene midgets, at 8.00; Friday, Trojans vs. Optimist midgets, at 5.30, and IOOF vs. Trojan juveniles, at 6.30 in Civic Arena; Saturday, Trojans No. 1 vs. St. Peter's bantams, at 5.00, and Keene vs. Marines midgets, at 6.00 in Civic Arena.

The schedule is nearly over but an extra night or two here or in Keene may be required to catch it up before playoffs for OMHA competition commences. These OMHA playoffs have no bearing on PMHA city titles, nor will they terminate play for losing teams at this early date, it is pointed out. They are simply to declare local teams going into the provincial playdowns.

Two Hamilton Football Teams Merged

HAMILTON, Feb. 1 (CP) — Football started into a new era in this sport conscious city today in the wake of the amalgamation of Hamilton's two senior gridiron teams.

Announcement of the unification of Wildcats of the Big Four and Tigers of the Ontario Rugby Football Union Tuesday disclosed that the name of the new organization is the Hamilton Football Club.

A provisional nick name for the team itself is the Tiger-Cats. It will likely compete in the Big Four. League officials were unavailable for comment last night.

Approached to be president of the new club was Ralph Cooper, well-known businessman and past president of the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce. He was not connected with either club before the amalgamation.

Mr. Cooper will iron out details and form a new executive. It is understood that former members of the old executive will have to express a wish to belong to the new group.

One of the first things on the agenda is said to be appointment of a coach. There is no word on the position of Frank Gnup, coach last season of Wildcats or Merle Hapes of Tigers.

The amalgamation brought an end to the years-long two-team set-up in Hamilton. Tigers and Wildcats switched leagues a few years ago after the Tigers withdrew from the Big Four.

Lakefield In Draw With Apsley Crew

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 1—(ENS)—While Lakefield midgets were winning 6-1 in Bancroft and the Lakefield bantams were losing 6-1 there last night, Lakefield and Apsley of the Bush Hockey League drew 6-all here in a neat encounter. But six penalties were handed out.

Millage, Chittick and Knox scored in the first for Lakefield with Chittick, Sabatino and Ridpath each having an assist McMillan got a pair for Apsley and D. Dunford a goal and an assist, two aids going to Watson. In the second, Calberry and Ridpath combined for two as McMillan and Smith scored for the northerners, Watson helping once. Sabatino and McMillan got solos in the third. Teams:

Apsley: Goal, Spencely; defence, Tucker, E. Dunford; centre, Watson; wings, Smith, D. Dunford; alternates, McMillan, Tanner, Brown, Geoff, Lapham.

Lakefield: Goal, Huddlestone; defence, Montgomery, Hamblin; centre, Chittick; wings, Millage, Twist; alternates, Calberry, Knox, Ridpath, Sabatino, McIntyre.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Here's what some of our lady curlers have done already this week—and the week is still young: Motored to Midland Sunday afternoon; played Tankard games Monday; and on Monday night attended a banquet, guests of the Midland Ladies' Curling Club. Also Monday night attended the annual meeting of the Ontario Ladies' Curling Association. Played Tankard games on Tuesday; motored to Peterborough on Tuesday and left today noon by CPR. for the Seignory Club, Quebec. We do get around, don't we?

Dr. C. McKee, Geo. Gabel, S. McLeod together with Dr. R. Robinson, Brampton, are motoring this weekend to Sudbury. They are entered in the Northern Ontario bonspiel, which begins on Monday morning.

After playing for two days at the Tankard games, up in Midland, Mrs. V. Selkirk's rink came second in the consolation event. Her rink is the same one that won the Lindsay ladies' bonspiel last week, with that "Hollywood" finish. Mrs. C. Tollington, Mrs. M. Holt, Mrs. J. Watts, Mrs. V. Selkirk sk.

Men's schedule results:

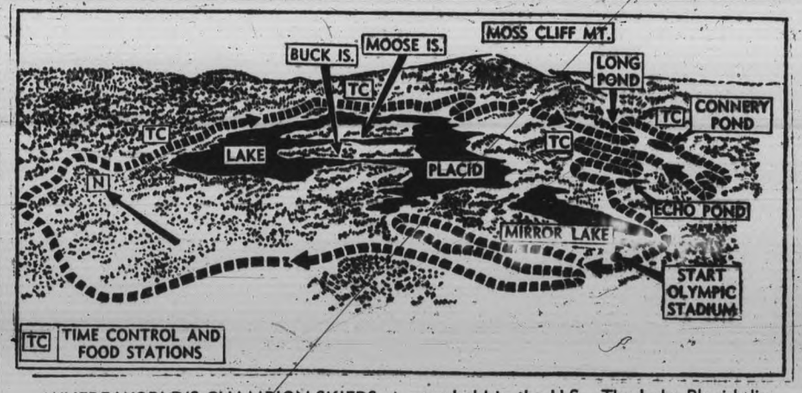
K. Bissett 11, Dr. R. Clark 10; G. Clark 7, W. M. Cruthers 6; R. Downey 10, S. Lowe 7; J. Hall 11, O. Price 10; F. Batten 12, R. Williamson 7; V. Selkirk 5, F. Stenson 13; H. Baptie 9, O. Steer 6.

Vice-skips results:

C. Shaughnessy won from C. Glassford; E. Lowes won from P. Kitchen; W. Brown won from H. Doleman; R. Whalon won from Dr. Morgan; A. Ingram won from G. Hancock; R. Grant won from L. Scott.

TENNIS INAUGURAL

The first recorded lawn tennis match in the United States was played at Nahant, Mass., in August, 1876.



WHERE WORLD'S CHAMPION SKIERS ARE COMPETING.—These charts show courses at Lake Placid, N.Y. (above), and Aspen, Colo. (right), where some 150 men and women from 30 nations are competing in the International Ski Federation world championship contests. These are the first such meets held since the war and the first ever held in the U.S. The Lake Placid diagram shows the grueling 50-kilometer (about 31 miles) cross-country race course. It has a maximum climb of 528 feet and a total climb of about 3,564 feet. At Aspen the ladies' "Flying Kilometer" or downhill race and both grand slaloms will be held on the Silver Queen run, called the "suicide slide."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Kingston Vics play the local Oddfellows at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, an OHA junior "B" fixture. As usual, these junior puckists will be out there playing for keeps and hustling every minute. Some rugged bumpers on both sides, so the going might not be too gentle in this scrap. Bun Kingdon's three front lines are starting to shake down well lately, though they have played plenty of good hockey before. But they're more consistent now and hurry plenty both ways. It's bound to be a nifty struggle and should draw a hefty crowd.

* * * * * * *

Bud Craig, a keen hockey fan—brother of the late Josh Craig, former sports editor—writes us a piece. Says: "The apparent retirement of Honey Tompkins from active OHA play marks the last link in the passing of one of the most amazing forward lines in the history of Peterborough hockeydom. We refer to the razzle-dazzle line of Bun Kingdon, Tompkins and Art Heal, which first came together as a unit back in 1939, and continued to operate together for almost a decade. With a thrilling display of stickhandling and prolific scoring feats which sparked local teams to two OHA and one Eastern Canada titles and only missed out on several more through lack of ice and playoff practice.

* * * * * * *

That Amazing Season

"While their scoring power was terrific at all times, perhaps their greatest year was in 1945 when with the Omemee Black Hawks in 15 consecutive OHA group and playoff games they compiled the astounding total of 154 goals. With Honey bagging 67, followed by Bun with 46 and Art with 41. This feat at the time was acclaimed as some kind of a record, and no arguments were put forth to dispute the claim." Yeah, we heard about it at the Ottawa Journal, where we were working then. Bud continues:

* * * * * * *

"Ill health two years ago caused the retirement of Heal, who now confines his hockey to the CGE shop league, where he and Chum Fryia currently lead the scorers. Last year, Kingdon was forced ot the side lines with a bad knee, and this year he is coaching the junior Triple Links. Now, the decision of Honey to call it a day brings to an end the active playing careers of these three brilliant stickhandlers, who provided so much entertainment for local hockey fans for so many years. So, a tip of the hat and a belated thanks to you, Bun, Honey and Art, for all the thrills you provided both before and throughout our rinkless years." Well said, Bud, and we agree heartily.

Returns To The Fold

Following a recent meeting of the ORFU intermediate section—sometimes they go as senior "B" clubs—the Galloping Ghosts of Cobourg decided to return to the Central Ontario fold. They will play next fall with Peterborough, Oshawa and Orillia. The Ghosts withdrew a couple of years ago over arguments on imports, but we're glad to see 'em back again. Fred Dufton always rounds up a powerful pack of gridders for Cobourg, and they certainly belong in this grouping. There will be two other such groups in the province, headed by John Black of Oakville, popular player who suffered a fractured spine last season. Several clubs in our setup will play under lights.

* * * * * * *

A short short story (and true) following a short short winter of outdoor ice rinks here: "Dear Sir — Would you please publish in your sports section on Wednesday, Feb. 1, that there will be an open Church Hockey League meeting at the YMCA at seven p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 1, during which the entry fees for the hockey teams will be refunded, and a general discussion will take place. Yours truly, Jim Edwards, vice-president." Yeah, the church leaguers, and some others who can't get into the crowded arena schedule, took a beating this mild season, but nothing can be done about it except build the Memorial Centre. And Charlotte St. would be a swell site, huh?

$3,100 Present For Golfer On 80th Birthday

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, Feb. 1—(CP)—Seven hundred members of Walton Heath, Surrey, Golf Club are planning a celebration dinner and a £1,000 ($3,100) subscription birthday present for Britain's Grand Old Man of golf.

James Braid will be 80 on Feb 6.

Jamie, Walton Heath's pro since 1904, is a five-time winner of the British Open. As usual, if the weather is fine, the still-erect six-footer will shoot his birthday round.

"I'l beat my age, all right," he chuckles.

To prove his ripe good health, Braid denied rumors of impending retirement.

"I shall go on playing the game until I can't go any further," he told reporters.

He's already come along way He was the last player to win the Open playing with the old gutty ball. His golden era was between 1901 and 1910. He swung his first club at the age of four.

The native of Earlsferry, Fifeshire, has plenty of memories. His best moment—the last round of the Open at Muirfield in 1906 when he carded a 73, when all he needed was a 76 to win the championship for the third time running.

His worst moment—in the Open at Prestwick in 1908 when he took a nine on the third hole But Jamie fired 5-2-3 on the next three holes and went on to win the Open again.

Has Good Season

Peter Cazalet, trainer of Princess Elizabeth's Monaveen, pre-post favorite for the Grand National, is having one of the best seasons of his career as a steeplechase trainer.

One of the few wealthy men who ever successfully took up the arduous career of training under National Hunt Rules, Cazalet was an all-round athlete in his youth He starred at cricket for Eton and Oxford, where he won his "blue" as a freshman and also represented the University at tennis, racquets and squash.

Cazalet also trains for Lord Mildmay of Flete, two years his junior at Eton. Both became outstanding steeplechase riders and "Tony Mildmay remains Britain's leading amateur jockey over the sticks.

Arthur Trimmings, who fashioned cricket bats for such stars of yesteryear as W. G Grace, Arthur Shrewsbury and K. S. Ranjitsinhji, died recently at his Little Paxton, Huntingdonshire, home. He was 90.

Hornets Sting Hershey

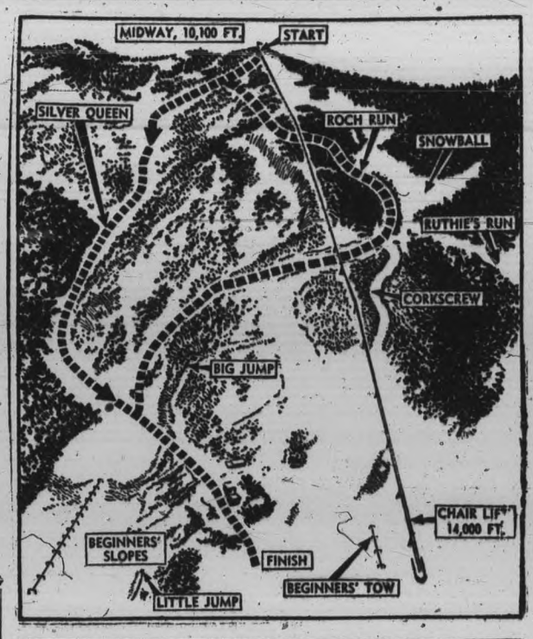
By The Canadian Press.

Cleveland Barons, American Hockey League western division leaders, are feeling the sting of the surging Pittsburgh Hornets.

The Hornets by-passed idle Indianapolis last night to entrench themselves in second place 16 points behind the Barons by defeating Hershey Bears 4-2.

And Cleveland, wheeling under their two-game weekend loss, came up with a 4-4 tie with the Springfield Indians in the only other game last night.

Pittsburgh won their three games last week by convincing margins that included an 8-0 whitewashing of Indianapolis.



Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Australia Tuesday announced the make-up of its Davis Cup team, and the most surprising item of all was the omission of Bill Sidwell.

Sidwell is the slight, 25-year-old ace who came within an inch of upsetting Ted Schroeder of the United States in the challenge round at Forest Hills, N. Y., last August. Schroeder finally won out in a torrid five-setter.

Sidwell combined with veteran John Bromwich, who was named to the team again with four youngsters, to win in the doubles —Australia's only victory in the final round.

Besides Bromwich, 31, the team announced by the Australian Lawn Tennis Association, is composed of Frank Sedgman, 22-year-old national champion; Ken McGregor, 20-year-old finalist in the Nationals which ended yesterday; George Worthington, 21; and Mervyn Rose, 20.

Percy Robinson, secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union, said Tuesday that the CRU's annual meeting will be held at Toronto Feb. 25.

The meeting was originally scheduled for Winnipeg on that date. Robinson said he could not discuss the reason for the change.

Representatives of the Big Four, the Western Interprovincial Union, the Eastern and Western Intercollegiate Union's and the Ontario Rugby Football Union will attend.

Marvin Goldblatt, Hamilton business man, said Tuesday night that he and Gus Corolis of Toronto and "a syndicate" will attempt to operate a Canadian professional football league which will include the Buffalo, N. Y. Bills.

The Bills were in the all-American Conference last year and so far have not entered the new combined loop, the National-American Football League.

The University of Western Ontario Mustangs beat off a determined first half bid by Assumption College Purple Raiders and went on to defeat Windsor team 59-49 in an exhibition basketball game at London Tuesday night before 2,500 fans.

Arise, prominent Toronto owned candidate for the McLennan and Widener Handicaps, Tuesday outclassed five rivals in the featured Key West purse at Hialeah.

Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday paid $100,000 for Lefty Paul Pettit, 18-year-old high school lad from Long Beach, Calif. It was reported to be the highest price ever paid for an untried rookie.

At Palm Beach, Fla., National Hockey League owners Tuesday concluded their first Florida meeting with problems of internal administration given an airing. "We made no controversial decisions," said president Clarence S. Campbell of Montreal.

Johnny Longden said Tuesday at Arcadia, Cal., he has entered his horse Gala Moon for the 1951 King's Plate to be run at Woodbine track, Toronto.

Canadian Athletes' Appetites Amaze New Zealand Officials

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Feb. 1 (CP) —The appetites of the Canadian Empire Games team, first to arrive at the Empire village of Ardmore, have caused the catering authorities to revise drastically upward their estimates of the amount of food resuired for the games.

Within a few days of the arrival of the Canadians they were sending out large additions to their original orders.

It was expected that 30,000 pounds of raw fruit and 1,600 gallons of ice cream would be ample for the period athletes will be at the Empire village. Now it is realized that far more will be needed. The 990 dozen tins of fruit juices ordered will get nowhere on the basis of the Canadians' consumption and more have already been ordered.

So far the Canadians have been going through about 10½ pounds of meat each a week, 10 pounds of tomatoes, 14 oranges, 20 bananas, 2 pounds of plums, 3¼ pounds of peaches and prunes, a dozen eggs, half a gallon of ice cream and three gallons of milk, as well as substantial quantities of other foods.

The six foot two inch Victoria swimmer, Peter Salmon, likes up to five chops for breakfast, and orders steak or chops at every meal, but he modestly denies he is the best eater in the Canadian team. He hands the palm to Stanley Egerton, Toronto pole vaulter.

Egerton in turn votes for Bill Hamilton, Oshawa cyclist, who admits that he probably holds the record. He never asks for fewer than four eggs at a time and consumes copious quantities of milk. He can manage half a dozen oranges with his breakfast. George Norman, Toronto marathon runner, is another large orange eater.

Curtin's Lead With 3063 In Girls' Loop

Curtin's led the way in the Girls' City Bowling League this time with pinnage of 3063 and single game of 1132, M. Cunningham hitting high single of 341 and A. Anderson top triple of 745. M. Cunningham rolled a 742 threesome, H. Hunt hit 713, and G. Woodcox 704. B. Castle's 558 was but one below the blind score. Curtin's blanked Marines 3-0 as Arcos whitewashed Sevenaires, 2-1 wins going to Cardinals over Dickson's, Collis against Brintons, and Towne Togs over the Aces. The results:

ARCOS—F. Kokesh 627, F. Killen 595, M. Thompson 491, M. Rogers 587, E. Thompson 695; total 2995. SEVENAIRES—M. Clarke 581, A. Johnson 438, E. Blewett 499, M. Richardson 663, B Williamson 499; total 2680.

Injury List Worrying Canadien Team

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Montreal's battling Habitants today eyed a mounting injury list uneasily while preparing to take on the swashbuckling leaders of the National Hockey League.

Canadiens, at present tied with Toronto Maple Leafs for second place with 49 points, meet the front-running Detroit Red Wings tonight. That is no easy chore for any club.

At last count Canadiens were nursing six regulars— including netminder Bill Durnan.

Those who joined the injured list were Kenny Reardon, starry Maurice Richard, Elmer Lach, and Durnan. Reardon and Durnan have back injuries; Lach a bad cold, and Richard wrenched knees. The other two are Glen Harmon, out for six games with a cut leg, and Hal Laycoe, on the sidelines with a fractured wrist.

Need Victory

A victory for the Canucks tonight will still leave them eight points behind Red Wings.

Meanwhile, Leafs, with six straight victories to their credit, meet Chicago Black Hawks-- the same Hawks they defeated by lop-sided scores in two games last week-end. The fourth-place New York Rangers take on fifth-place Boston Bruins in the other game.

In the New York camp, Coach Lynn Patrick has taken time out from blasting his Rangers to say he now has the best stick-handler he has seen in the last 10 years.

That's how Patrick sized up Doug Adam, a 175-pound left-winger from Tacoma Rockets of the Pacific Coast League. Adam second-high scorer in the PCL, with 64 points, won't play with the Rangers tonight, but is expected to see action Thursday when Rangers meet Canadiens.

Flying Dutchmen Crush Owen Sound Mercurys 4-2

By The Canadian Press.

Don Bauer personally turned the key last night that locked Owen Sound out of post-season action as he scored three goals to lead Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen to a 4-2 triumph over the tail-enders.

The loss eliminated the last mathematical chance the Mercurys had of overtaking Hamilton Tigers and the third play-off position in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League.

Owen Sound, in third place most of the season, went into a drastic slump in the last six weeks while Hamilton seemed to take on new fire and rode a string of victories to a 10 point margin over the Mercurys.

In the only other game Tuesday night Galt Black Hawks preserved their slim chance of gaining a Junior A play-off berth by thumping St. Michael's College 5-1.

Buck Forslund gave Owen Sound fans something to cheer about with the opening goal, but markers by Bauer and Mike Dzuira shot the visitors into a 2-1 lead. Bauer added the only score of the middle frame, what turned out to be the winning goal.

Split Tallies

The clubs split tallies in the third period, Bauer sinking his third and George McLean clicking for Owen Sound.

At Galt, the Black Hawks showed surprising power in their stretch drive to play-off territory.

George Ford put them within shooting distance of the promised land with the game's first counter. Bob Sabourin fired one for St. Michael's but the homesters took a 2-1 lead into the second frame on Bronco Horvath's marker.

The second was all Galt. Pete Conacher notched his first of two and Norm Prest added the fourth.

The last frame was a listless affair with only a single, Pete Conacher punching home his second and the Hawk's fifth.

Draw Game Staged In Otonabee League

Downer's Corners and Westwood battled to a 4-4 Ontario Rural Hockey League draw earlier this week in the Keene arena. Bob McIlmoyle scored for the Downer crew with G. Burns and H. Burns drawing assists. Jim McMillen tallied for Westwood, aided by Bert McMillen. It was tight, interesting hockey throughout. Teams:

Downer's Corners: Goal, T. Corrigan; defence, B. McIlmoyle, Steenburgh; centre, G. Burns; wings, R. McIlmoyle, H. Burns; alternates, Ross Barker, Sedgewick, Batten, R. Barker, G. Barker, W. Corrigan.

Westwood: Goal, A. Wilson; defence, D. Wilson, B. Warr centre, W. Warr wings, J. McMillen, B. McMillen; alternates, Nelson, G. Cardwell, R. Cardwell, Eggleton, Dunlop, Post.

Referee, J. Stock.

Soldier Admits 20 Break-ins In 4 Counties

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 1 (CP)—Several weeks' investigation of a series of break-ins at 23 rural schools in four counties was climaxed Tuesday when Francis W Saxby, 20-year-old soldier, pleaded guilty to 20 of the break-ins

Already under sentence for car theft, he was remanded for sentence, with other charges pending

Two other soldiers also stationed here were arrested in the roundup

Henry G. Howe, 20, pleaded guilty to two break-ins and innocent on two more charges He was remanded for hearing John Patterson, 35, was convicted of the theft of one radio and faces four more charges of retaining stolen goods.

Schools in Middlesex, Norfolk Perth and Oxford counties were entered, with loot, including about 30 radios and record-players, clocks, weigh scales and a small amount of cash.

Police said they had recovered 24 radios and players.

Five police forces shared in the investigation that resulted in the arrest of the soldiers a week ago. They were London city police provincial police, London Township police, the RCMP and the Army Provost Corps.

Chandos Man Freed Deer Hunting Count

Ruling that evidence given by Game Overseer Robert H. Trotter setting out the open season for deer in 1949 in Peterborough County was not admissible, Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court Tuesday dismissed a charge against R. T. Bunt, Chandos township, of having deer in his possession during the closed season.

Magistrate Philp said although defence counsel W. B. Gordon had not objected when Officer Trotter's evidence was given, the accused man should not be prejudiced by this.

At the hearing Jan. 24, Officer Trotter testified he had taken some venison from the Bunt's home Nov 12, two days before the deer hunting season opened in this district. He said the deer had been shot on the south shore of Eel's lake in Anstruther township about a mile and a half from Bunt's home.

Strange Malady

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 1—(AP)—A rare disease that robbed her of muscular control caused Gloria Wilbanks, 19, to relax to death Tuesday. Doctors said nothing could be done to fight the malady (Myasthenia Gravis) when the "muscles of her heart ceased working." The girl had been ill two years. Doctors vainly tried many new drugs, including the new hormone ACTH.

Drowns In Bath

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—(AP)—A 47-year-old mother of eight children was drowned Tuesday in the bathtub of her apartment. Police said Mrs. May Weinstein took a hot bath as a cold treatment, and surmised that she either fainted or fell asleep and slipped under the water.

One Car Damaged As Two In Collision

Two cars travelling in opposite directions on Charlotte St. collided at Park St. early today.

One car was driven by David E. Foster, 467 Water St., who told Traffic Officer C. J. McGillen he had intended to make a left turn into Park St. He said he thought the other car, driven by Harold M. Barnett, 1202 Kenneth Ave., was going to turn right.

The right door, running board and front right fender were all damaged on the Foster car. The Barnett car had a crumpled right front fender and a broken front bumper.

William Davis, 95 Today, Born In Cavan Township

BETHANY, Feb. 1—(ENS) — William Davis, whose family was one of the first to settle in Cavan, is today quietly celebrating his 95th birthday.

WILLIAM DAVIS

He has a keen memory of boyhood days, which has been a great factor in establishing earlier records of this distict.

It was Mr. Davis' father, William Davis, Sr., who gave the land on which St. Paul's Anglican Church was erected in 1876. Mr Davis speaks with authority as to how this village received it's name, for his father was present at the meeting held at the home of Mr. Michael McAllister, when residents gathered to decide on a name for the tiny settlement Various names were suggested. Bethany was voted the most suitable, it being in keeping with other biblical names of surrounding districts.

The Davis family was among the first to settle in the community, Mr Davis' grandfather, Arthur Graham, coming to Canada from the county of Cavan in Ireland, arriving here in 1818 at the age of 19.

Sailed 16 Weeks

Like all pioneers he crossed the Atlantic in a sailing vessel, the trip taking 16 weeks and he finally settled in the township of Cavan. He was not only one of the first settlers in the township but his marriage later to Miss J. Morton was the first to be recorded in the township.

The farm Mr. Graham cleared is now owned by Morgan Bigelow and there he raised his family of nine children. The oldest daughter, Prudence Graham, married William Davis Sr.' Among Mr Davis' early memories are tales told to him by his mother of the hardships of the early settlers Many time she had to rescue calves and pigs from bears and wolves.

Mr. Davis' father also came from Britain, and from the county of Devonshire, near Plymouth when a young man. After landing at Quebec and a short stay at Port Whitby, he came to Manvers township and settled on the east half of the farm now owned by Thomas Morton. He cleared the and married in 1854. In this log house, which has since been torn down, their son William was born on February 1, 1855.

At First School

Mr. Davis received his education at the local school, at that time situated across the road from his home, on what is now the farm owned by Mr. Milton Weatherilt. He recalls how the old schoolhouse became too small for the increasing attendance and the subsequent building of the new school at it's present situation in the year 1876.

On March 21, 1883, Mr. Davis married Adeline Twigg, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Twigg. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry F. Burgess at the home of the bride's parents, which is now occupied by a grandson, Morton Davis.

Following their marriage they moved to a farm on the second concession of Cavan township known then as Duck Hollow. Two years later they returned to the village and lived where Mr. and Mrs. Herb Kennedy now live During this time, Mr. Davis followed the occupation of carpenter.

About 1890 he purchased the farm now owned by George Page and cultivated it until 1917 when he and his family moved to Manvers Station. In 1920 they returned to Bethany and took up residence on Glengarry Rd. where Mr. Davis still lives and where his wife died on May 5, 1932 at the age of 79.

Mr. Davis is a staunch Orangeman. He joined the order in 1872 and during his membership has taken five degrees in the Orange and eleven in the Black. He has been an honorary member of Bethany L.O.L. 1022 for the past 22 years. He remembers the numerous Orange celebrations held in Bethany in the old exhibition grounds, which were situated in the vicinity of Pidgeon Creek and how at one time there were 300 members in this Lodge,

Mr. and Mrs. Davis had five children: a son, Byron who lives in Lindsay; four daughters: Ada (Mrs. Harry Rodgers) Lindsay; Myrtle (Mrs. Harold Thompson) Manvers Station; Josephine (Mrs James Boggs) Manvers Station; and Miss Lila Davis, Bethany who lives with her father. There are five grandchildren: Mrs. Vernon O'Connor, North Bay; Byron Rogers, Toronto; Elmo Rogers. Lindsay; Miss Madeline Boggs Peterborough and Morton Davis. Bethany and five great grandchildren: Larry O'Connor, North Bay; Donald Rogers, Toronto and Jack, Betty and Doris Rogers of Lindsay. Mr. Davis also has one sister living, Mrs. William Boggs (Jane) of Manvers Station, who is now in her 86th year.

Slips On Mat Woman Drowns In Tub

OWEN SOUND, Feb. 1 (CP)—Mrs. J. Fred Brown, wife of a retired Owen Sound city councillor and grain elevator executive, was accidentally drowned Tuesday when she slipped on a bathroom mat and fell into a tub of water.

Mrs. Brown, 50, was alone in the house at the time. Her body was discovered by her husband when he came home. He called a doctor and the Owen Sound fire department. Pulmotor equipment was used for nearly an hour with no success. Dr. MacKinnon Phillips, coroner, said Mrs. Brown's death was accidental and no inquest will be held.

Mrs. Brown was active in church, community and social affairs in this city. She was the former Augustena Schultz, a daughter of an early Sullivan Township family.

She leaves her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Donald Mahood, of Owen Sound; two sisters, Mrs Fred Fox of Toronto, and Mrs E. F. Urstadt of Desboro; and a brother, August Schultz of Stratford.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were to have left on a trip to the southern United States today.

Nine Rifle Clubers In Dominion Shoot

Nine members of the Rifle Club have entered the Dominion marksmanship competition, Norman Bradley told the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association Monday night. The men will start working on their bronze shield which can be won with five targets with 80 or more out of 100.

Mr. Bradley explained that once the bronze shield is won they will start on the silver shield competition followed by the gold shield which requires shooting 98 out of 100. With these three honors the marksmen will begin on their experts' shield. Requirements for this are: 20 targets, prone position, 100 per cent 20 targets, kneeling or sitting, 97 out of 100 each; 20 targets standing 97 out of 100.

The club shoots every Wednesday night at the armouries small arms range from 7.30 until 10.00. The 31 members have had four nights on the range.

London Toastmasters Invest Dinner Parties With Pomp

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Feb. 1—(CP)—London's toastmasters, majestic in scarlet coats and white ties, are accomplished in the art of investing dinner parties with pomp and circumstance. When "Mr. Smith" enters the banquet hall the toastmaster intones his name with as much dignity and reverence as if he were the King of England. And the voice he assumes on these occasions is pretentiously loud and dignified.

Guests are called in to eat with "My lords, ladies and gentlemen, dinner is now served."

With the introduction of each speaker the toastmaster raps on the table with a wooden gavel and cries: "Pray silence for Mister . ."

Stand No Nonsense

In a diplomatic sort of way, London toastmasters make it clear from the start that they will stand no nonsense from anyone, not even the chairman. But there are exceptions.

John Mills, one of the city's best-known toastmasters, tells of the time when he rebuked a chairman for "mumbling" when he was saying grace.

"Speak up, sir," he whispered "your guests cannot hear you."

"You mind your own — business," the chairman retorted.

"I'm not talking to them."

But it is rare that any chairman has the nerve to pierce the toastmaster's armor of dignity and self-confidence. He will not hesitate to rebuke any guest who shows the slightest sign of disrespect to the chair.

Can't Get Away

Too talkative diners and noisy waiters are silenced with a loud rap on the table and a reproachful cry of "sir!" People who smoke before the toast of the King usually receive an admonitary tap on the shoulder.

"When I go to a dinner," Mills said, "I feel that it is up to me to make it a success and give it a bit of tone, you know."

Toastmaster's fees range from £3 ($9.30) for a small function to £25 for a big banquet. The charge is usually determined by the number of guests.

Allow 123 Canadian Ships Operate Under UK Flag

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 (CP) — The United Kingdom has agreed to let 123 Canadian-owned ships operate under her flag, it was learned Tuesday, with their profits coming to Canada in dollars.

Besides an orfginal 65 vessels which she accepted for transfer of registry under a federal government plan for keeping Canada's merchant marine afloat, the United Kingdom now has contracted to take on an additional 58 ships.

The latest additions to the plan now are in the United Kingdom, on loan there since the war, but were to have been returned to Canadian owners this year. They will remain under British registry to be operated by agents in the UK for the Canadian companies.

The arrangement is part of a government plan announced by Prime Minister St. Laurent Dec 9 whereby some of the Canadian deep-sea fleet—beset by dwindling business—was to be kept in operation through transfer to British registry. This would have the result of reducing costs.

The ships to be transferred to the UK will form part of a proposed allied "defense shipping pool," from which Canada will be able to draw for shipping requirements in the event of war.

With 123 vessels to be put under the British flag, about 50 vessels will be left of the present Canadian merchant marine. Of these, 40 are to be assisted for this year only by a federal subsidy of $3,000,000.

Officials said Tuesday that, under arrangements now completed with the UK, the British Government will free enough dollars to transmit to Canada the net profits of the vessels that are being turned over for British operations.

These ships will be run by agents in the United Kingdom for the Canadian owners. They are expected to be able to pick up enough dollar earning cargoes to give Britain, as well as their owners, a surplus of dollars on the deal.

Officials of the Canadian Maritime Commission are still engaged in polling ship owners on whether they want to transfer their vessels across the Atlantic or share in the subsidy, which would fall considerably short of putting the high cost Canadian ships in the black under the Canadian flag

They said indications were that, of the vessels in Canada, the owners' own choices would fall fairly close to the 60-40 ratio decided upon. Some owners were choosing to retain some ships at home under subsidy and send the remainder of their fleet to the UK.

While they would not break even on ships retained in Canada under present conditions of cargoes and costs, officials said, they evidently figured they would lose less than by paying for laying up the vessels. Meanwhile, they would be available if cargo volume or rates should pick up.

Europe Pleads For Control Of Atom Energy

LONDON, Feb. 1 — (AP). — President Truman's order to build a hydrogen super-bomb brought a wave of new pleas in Europe today for international control of atomic energy.

But the British government said there would be no hope of success now in direct talks with Prime Minister Stalin.

Europe's newspapers headlined Truman's decision and spurred a running debate on how to stop the threat of world destruction.

Some editorials said the decision in Washington was inevitable in view of the inability of East and West to agree on control of atomic production. The Liberal Stockholm Dagens Nyheter blamed the Truman decision on the "Soviet Union's stubborn refusal to co-operate."

The Communist press in Britain and France jumped at the announcement as further indication the United States is preparing for a "monstrous war" and demanded immediate abolition of the atom bomb and prohibition of the making of the hydrogen bomb.

A Foreign Office statement, which came just before the announcement, gave an indication of the official British attitude toward the atom control stalemate.

Contact No Use

The statement was a reply to a formal request by British Quakers that Prime Minister Attlee try for a personal conference with Stalin, Truman and other Western government heads in an attempt to reach an international agreement.

"The threat of an atomic armaments race makes it imperative that the beginnings of an international agreement be sought," said the memorandum from the British Society of Friends (Quakers).

The Foreign Office reply said:

"It would be presumptuous to suppose that personal contact at even the highest level would do anything but raise unduly the hopes for peace which have been so often and so cruelly disappointed in the past."

The reply said that, judging by their recent conduct, the Russians "are dominated by the Marxist theory of an inevitable clash between the two systems into which the world is divided."

Stage Mock Rescue

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 1 (CP)—An air-parachute practice rescue team and a ground force successfully delivered "injured" crash victims from a bushland seven miles north of RCAF Trenton Air Station Tuesday. Three aircraft took part in the mock rescue, described by Air Force officials as the largest para-rescue demonstration ever staged in Ontario.

Tsiang Finishes Presidency Of UN Council

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Feb. 1 (CP)—Nationalist China's top delegate to the United Nations today steps down from presidency of the Security Council but remains in the spotlight.

Dr. T. F. Tsiang, 55-year-old professor-diplomat, was council president for January under a system of alphabetical rotation. During that period the question of China's representation plunged the UN into its gravest crisis.

Russia's walkouts protesting Nationalist China's presence thus far has spread to 11 UN groups. But Tsiang has indicated he will fight bitterly to stop Communist China from taking his UN seat.

Switch of the council presidency to Alberto I. Alvarez of Cuba can only partly relieve the diplomatic embarrassment in the council where five members recognize Red China and six still back the Nationalist government on Formosa.

Many Complications

The complications of the situation are exemplified in the fact Tsiang holds the implied threat to veto any council decision to oust him. Any council decision needs a seven-vote majority but each of the Big Five powers can overturn this majority by voting in the negative and thus exercising its power of veto.

While Tsiang says he has the power to veto such a decision he has not said he will use it.

Chief target of the Soviet bloc in the representation issue, Tsiang was ambassador to Moscow from the fall of 1936 to the spring of 1938. A professor of history in 1935, he was invited by Chiang Kai-shek to be director of political affairs.

After his Moscow experience, Tsiang returned to Chiang's cabinet serving as a right-hand man through the war.

1st Div's Ortona Revisited Broken Italian City Reborn Canada Place In Old Church

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ORTONA, Italy, —(CP)— Devastated six years ago by one of the worst battles fought in the Italian campaign, Ortona is almost a city reborn.

Though traces of the fighting remain everywhere and gaps bounded by fences of rubble dot the streets, new buildings abound in the little town whose crown once more is the domed cathedral of St. Thomas.

Completed on its old lines last year, the rebuilt basilica was dedicated last September by Federico Cardinal Tedeschini during two-day rejoicings by the Ortonesi, who still remember their Canadian liberators.

Last Dec. 28, as on every preceding Dec. 28 since their 1943 liberation by the First Canadian Division, virtually every man in the town walked in procession down the winding Adriatic highway to the cemetery two miles southward, over-looking the Moro River.

There, in one of Italy's most beautiful war cemeteries, each of the nearly 1,500 graves received fresh flowers from the head of the family responsible for its care while other mourners piled their tributes high around the memorial cross. The mayor and the cathedral rector recalled to the townspeople how much they owed to Canada.

The Dominion, too, is not forgetting Ortona. A new "Operation Ortona," led by Canadian Ambassador Jean Desy, is campaigning quietly among old soldier from coast to coast for $10,000 with which to rehabilitate the ancient church of San Donato, through whose gates visitors to the cemetery must pass.

Decoration By Canadians

The ambassador already has almost $3,000 for his und: The church's fabric is to be restored and the interior to be decorated by Canadian artists, whose paintings and carved wooden statues will be brought from the Dominion.

An architect loaned by the Vatican already is supervising structural work, while the ambassador has sent to Canada his ideas for furnishings in keeping with the slightly rococo style of the building. The rededication is tentatively scheduled for October

Meanwhile, the heritage of the war continues in the orphans of the area. So many are there that the Quakers have left in Ortona a worker to supervise their relief. And the International Red Cross gave Mr. Desy a Christmas present of $5,000 to spend on orphans left in Italian communities through which Canadian fought.

So that the money may be used in substantial quantities and not divided among all in insignificant amounts, the ambassador and Yvon Beaulne of Ottawa, who was with the Canadians in Italy, will choose two or three areas important in the Canadians' campaigns.

Orphanages Building

Soon orphanages in Ortona, and possibly in the Frosinone, Rimini and Ravenna areas, will receive blankets, clothing and medical supplies through the Canadian Embassy, gifts of the Swiss Red Cross.

Private enterprise and government aid have combined in the reconstruction of Ortona. "Casa Popolare," six-storey modern tenement blocks at cheap rents, have been built at the town's western approaches, just back of Casa Berardi where Col. Paul Triquet of Ottawa and Quebec City won the Victoria Cross in an advance by the Royal 22nd Regiment.

Shops along Ortona's Corso abound in merchandise. Enough rebuilding remains to ensure that Ortonesi have money to patronize them and the numerous cafes and bars for some years.

Alberta Man New Baronet

LONDON, Feb. 1 (CP)—Somewhere in Alberta's Peace River country there is a new baronet—the eighth of a line dating from 1778.

He is Sir Robert Charles Dunning, 49-year-old father of four sons and two daughters, who lives at Peace River, Alta.

Debretts Peerage, which keeps an official eye on Britain's noble lineage, said Tuesday Dunning was only a distant cousin, but the closest relative of the seventh baronet, Sir Charles Vere Dunning who died in London last Sunday at the age of 91.

Thus, the Peace River Dunning, who served with the British Army in the Second World War, becomes entitled to place "Sir" before his name. The Dunning baronetcy, created in 1778, was granted to Sir Robert Dunning, a minister in Britain's diplomatic service who served in Germany and Russia.

York County Council Rejects Park Proposal

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Suburban York County Tuesday rejected for the second time in two years a proposal to develop 4,500 acres of the Greater Toronto area into a green-belt of public parks and playgrounds around the city.

The plan was sent back to advisory committee of the Toronto and York Planning Board. The city would have borne two-thirds of the cost, estimated at $150,000 a year.

Tobacco Acreage Must Be Cut By 10%

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 1—(CP)—Tobacco acreage must be cut by 10 per cent of the 1949 total to protect the industry, Arthur Robson, chairman of the Ontario Tobacco Marketing Board's committee on acreage rights, said Tuesday.

After conferring with the Elgin District Flue-Cured Tobacco district flue - cured tobacco growers, Mr. Robson said he will carry a recommendation from them to growers in the Alvinston district that 1950 production be cut to a maximum of 80,000,000 or 85,000,000 pounds. Production last year was 112,000,000 pounds, far over domestic needs.

Stormont Rural School Will Cost $550,000

CORNWALL, Feb. 1—(CP) — T. D. Whiteside, chairman of the Stormont District High School Board, Tuesday estimated the cost of the proposed Central Rural High School for Stormont County at $550,000.

The school is expected to be built at Newington and operational costs would amount to $179,000. About 20 teachers would staff the school.

The school would serve about 540 students in the area served by the School Board, who are presently attending schools at Avonmore, Finch, Wales and Aultsville.

Ottawa Orders Report On Fire Dept. Work

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Ottawa Board of Control Tuesday ordered the preparation of special reports in an investigation of allegations of inefficiency levelled at the capital's fire department.

The reports were ordered as the result of statements by Stanley J. Petrie, Ottawa manager of the Prudential Assurance Company, Ltd. He said Ottawa has "bad" fire losses and the fire department "has the finest equipment that can be bought . . . but doesn't know how to use it."

Gave Pony Freedom George Died Happy

COALPIT HEATH, Gloucestershire, England, — (CP) — George Nichols did his good deed. For 26 years he had pitied the pit ponies who worked at the mine adjoining his farm here.

"If I ever get a chance," he would say, "I'll buy one of them and give it freedom on my farm."

Finally, 72-year-old George bought Sammy, a half-blind pony which worked in the mine, and happily started for home.

On the way George collapsed and died.

Technical Skill Not Enough Professional Consciousness Essential To Good Engineer

There is much more for the individual engineer to strive for than the completion of an academic course in engineering and a license to practice, J. E. Armstrong, president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, declared Tuesday night. Mr. Armstrong, chief engineer of the CPR, was speaker at the annual meeting and president's dinner held by the Peterborough branch of the Institute. About 70 members attended the Kawartha Club to hear his address.

"Professional status cannot be legislated into existence," said Mr. Armstrong. "It applies to the individual and comes about through public recognition of far more than the technical qualifications of that individual."

He defined a profession as a group of individuals who have attained professional status and then commented that this could not be attained by just completing an academic course and receiving a licence to practise.

"The engineer who would attain professional status must first attain professional consciousness."

Just Technician

An engineer who regards his education as a personal attribute to be used solely for personal gain will never gain professional consciousness, he said, and will remain at best an engineering technician.

To achieve this consciousness he must have an inherent desire to help his fellow man and do everything in his power to make the world a better place in which to live; he must have a high code of ethics; adhere to the principles of trusteeship in his attitude toward employer and client; deal honestly and fairly with all those with whom he has dealings, and continue his cultural studies.

"The Institute can be of assistance to him in attaining professional consciousness," he said.

The great contribution of the powerful engineering organizations of other countries is in the field of technical knowledge, stated Mr. Armstrong, and no one will dispute their eminence in such matters.

But professional consciousness and professional status go beyond technical knowledge.

"In 'The Unwritten Laws of Engineering' a much-quoted series of articles by W. J. King, it is stated that in an analysis of over four thousand cases it was found that 62 per cent of technical employees discharged were unsatis-

Labor Minister Hears Protest Of CGE Action

A five-man delegation from Local 524 UE on Tuesday interviewed the Hon. Charles Daly, Ontario Minister of Labor, and put forward a number of grievances.

The delegation claimed the CGE Peterborough management was acting illegally in refusing to recognize Local 524 as a member of the UE-GE Joint Negotiating Committee currently meeting with company representatives in Toronto to work out an amended contract. Only the Toronto plants are actively negotiating.

Two other charges against the company were that it was withholding union dues which should be paid to the UE Local 524 each month, and the company's alleged failure to "recognize our local officers in accordance with our agreement."

Mr. Daly is reported to have said he would consider the Local's requests and asked them to contact him again Thursday.

Stewards and provisional committee members will receive a full report on the interview with the minister tonight. C. S. Jackson, Canadian UE president, will bring the Peterborough local up to date on negotiations.

Members who interviewed Mr. Daly were T. P. Davies, Alex Seppala, George Wallace, Cecial Harvey and A. Brault.

Drive Out Terrorists

PRAGUE, Feb. 1 (AP) — More than 40 Titoist provocateurs tried to cross into Albania Jan. 8 but were driven back into Yugoslavia after a gun fight with Albanian sentries, the controlled Czech press said Tuesday night.

Thief Breaks In Gets One Dollar Thefts In Series

Another break-in in which the thief used matches to light his way about the house was reported to police Tuesday night. Several weeks ago there was a rash of four or five house breakins in which burned matches were found scattered about the floor.

Wilmer Doherty, 135 Rubidge St., reported to police that his house had been broken into during the evening and $1 taken. Entry had been made via the back door which the thief had opened with a key. Burned matches were found scattered about the floors of the house.

Mr. Doherty told police he and his wife had left the house about 7:15 p.m. When they returned about 11 p.m. they discovered the breakin.

Unable To Pay Fine, Hunters Go To Jail For 3 Months

Total fines of $700 were imposed on three men found guilty of nine charges involving hunting deer Jan. 7 in the Peterborough Crown Game Preserve by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court Tuesday. Two of the three men, Everett Lee and Richard Clark, were unable to pay their fines and had to take the three months jail sentence which was their only alternative. The third man, Stanley E. Lonsberry, Warsaw, 21, paid his fines amounting to $200 and costs.

A fourth member of the party, Wilbert Bauder, 21, Kingston, was fined $100 earlier in the day when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having a rifle on the Peterborough Crown Game Preserve.

Lonsberry was fined $100 and costs on a charge of transporting two deer in the closed season. On two other charges of assaulting Game Overseers C. Stanley Windsor and Ray Simpson with intent to prevent lawful apprehension, Lonsberry was fined $50 on each charge.

Both Clark and Lee were given exactly the same treatment on identical charges. They were each fined $100 and costs or a three-months jail term on charges of obstructing Game Overseer Simpson in performing his duty. Both were fined $100 and costs or two months for having deer in their possession during the closed season. Each was fined $50 and costs or one month on charges of carrying a rifle in the Game Preserve. If the fines were not paid, the sentences were to run concurrently.

Found Parked Car

The investigation and subsequent arrests were touched off by Overseer Windsor's finding a car parked on the Kosh Lake road of the Nepheline Mines in Dummer township. At that point the road is about 100 yards from the border of the Game Preserve.

Overseer Windsor testified he saw four sets of men's tracks leading from the car north-west into the Preserve. He contacted Overseers Robert H. Trotter and Simpson and together they set up two inspection points on the road about three miles south of the car. Officers Trotter and Simpson manned the second point about 300 yards down the road.

About eight o'clock that night, the car they wanted to investigate failed to stop at either inspection point and sped on through, nearly hitting Officers Simpson and Windsor.

Three Men Fled

The three game wardens gave chase and cornered the fleeing car at a gate across a side road. Three men had fled from the car and only the driver, Lonsberry, was in the car. Officer Trotter captured Bauder a short distance from the road hiding under a bush in a cedar swamp.

In the car were the carcasses of two deer, and four rifles. The following day Officers Trotter and Simpson, backtracking on footprints in the snow in the Game Preserve, found indications that six deer had been slaughtered, five in one afternoon. One was a fawn. One doe had been left to rot or feed wolves. No effort had been made to clean it or hang it up. Most of the other deer were does.

Called as a crown witness, Lonsberry testified Bauder, Lee and Clark had been with him on the closed season hunting spree. It was brought out Bauder was a casual visitor in Warsaw and went along to some extent "for the ride."

Lonsberry testified as they left the Crown Game Preserve and prepared to drive home in his car either Lee or Clark told him if

Thin Lake Ice Not Enough For Cottages

Winter ice cutting is a mighty thin proposition these days according to a survey of the summer districts today. The problem with men who have a long string of ice houses to fill is whether to start now with 11 inches of ice, which will not keep too well, or to wait until a continued cold spell makes the required 16 inches which is considered a minimum requirement.

Up Stony Lake way ice measured nine inches last week-end and contractors started early this week with 11 inches of blue ice to fill waiting orders. Some parts of the lake, especially Boschink Narrows, has a thinner skim-over this year than many of the settlers can recall. Cottages situated in these thin areas may go lacking if steady frost does not make an appearance soon.

This morning's temperature was six degrees below which made contractors feel there is still hope for an almost-normal ice harvesting season.

In the Cameron Lake country, operators say that they have started cutting as late as Feb. 8 in past winters. Ice conditions up there have the same extremely thin areas that have been noted in the Kawartha section.

Commercial cutters at Chemong Lake have done nothing yet and say that if cold weather continues for a few days, to give 14 to 15 inches of solid ice, they will start operations and with luck cutting will last about a month.

Ice is ten inches thick at Mount Julian, according to Don Fowler, and cutters would like another six before starting filling operations On the other hand, they may have to start before that time, if weather warms up, he said.

Bonus To Be Paid On Separation By Lindsay Firm

The employees of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Ltd. are to receive separation bonuses when the plant closes its doors.

Robert Farquharson, manager of the plant, has confirmed a report that Corbeys Distillery, owners of the local unit, are going to pay a week's wages for every year a man has been employed as a goodwill gesture when the shutdown comes. For some of the men this will amount to more than $1,100. The bonuses work out on the week's pay per year's employment except where the employee has been with the firm for 20 years and then he receives 26 weeks' pay.

The plant employs 25 men at the present time whereas in normal circumstances about 50 men would be engaged in processing wood alcohol from the raw material (wood) to the finished product.

The firm expects to close out on Feb. 15 climaxing a long period of service to the community during which employment was provided for many men.

Try Letter-Writing

ALBANY, N.Y., Feb. 1 (AP) — More than 5,000 schoolchildren today began a letter-writing exchange with pupils of Nijmegen, Albany's "adopted" city in the Netherlands. The Albany-Nijmegen committee arranged the program to further the ties between the two cities and as a means of exchanging cultural ideas between school pupils.

SGT.-MAJOR PUSHIE

Armoury Official Goes To Halifax

Battery Sgt.-Major W. H. Pushie of the Administration and Training staff at the Peterborough Armouries, has been posted to the Halifax area with the No. 6 Section of the A and T staff. Mr. Pushie has been with the local Armouries, the 50th Heavy AA Regiment, (Prince of Wales Rangers), RCA, and the 37th Heavy AA Workshop, RCEME, since June, 1947. He will leave with his family as soon as arrangements for his furniture can be arranged.

In addition to regular regimental duties, Sgt.-Major Pushie has done considerable work with the PCVS Cadet Corps.

Mr. Pushie joined the Army in May, 1927, in Halifax with the 2nd Heavy Battery, RCA (Coastal). When war broke out in 1939 he was a bombardier and after various shuffling around was posted as sergeant to the 16th Field Regiment, RCA. The regiment trained at Woodstock, NB, and at Petawawa.

The regiment was converted to a light anti-aircraft regiment as the 5th LAA Regiment, RCA, made up of two batteries from Ontario, the 41st from Simcoe, and the 47th from Belleville, Cobourg and Napanee, and the 38th from Nova Scotia. He went overseas with the 5th Division in 1941.

In UK and Europe

Mr. Pushie served in the UK until 1943 when he was promoted to battery sergeant-major. He was then shifted to Italy and the European Campaign.

In September, 1945, at Halifax, Sgt.-Major Pushie was posted to the 49th Coastal Battery and then to Peterborough in 1947 to the 50th Regiment.

Upon his departure the A and T staff will be halved, since Capt. P. W. R. Sargeant, formerly in command of the staff, was posted out a month ago. Staff-Sergeants Gerald Dunn and B. L. Smith will be the only members of the A and T staff remaining.

LECTURE WITH MOVIES

William Ferguson, the naturalist whose drawings of wild life are known throughout the States and Canada, will visit Peterborough Saturday. He will be the speaker at the Peterborough Nature Club's fourth Audubon Society illustrated lecture at Queen Mary auditorium.

New Building At St. George's Starts This Year

The first unit of a new building planned as an extension to St. George's Anglican church, will be built this year, the wardens told the annual congregational meeting Monday. The new building is to be erected at the corner of Braidwood Ave., adjoining the present church and tenders will be invited in the near future.

Walter Bannon and Joe Gaskell reported in detail the work of the planning committee, which had worked throughout the year preparing for the new building. Results of the building fund drive had been gratifying and the total was being augmented by the institution of penny banks. Membership had increased and duplex envelope subscriptions increased 80 per cent.

Clarence Harloff was re-appointed rector's warden and Walter Bannon was elected to succeed Arthur Green, who resigned the position of people's warden after two years.

The rector, the Rev. E. C. Moore, hoped St. George's and St. Alban's would work in harmony.

Clare Collins Elected Director Of Retailers

Clare Collins of Peterborough was elected director of the Canadian Retail Federation at their convention in Toronto on Tuesday. Harold A. Smith of Hamilton was elected new president to succeed James Wilson of St. John, N.B.

Other Ontario directors elected to the federation were W. M. Murray and L. V. Vineberg, both of Ottawa; John Northway, H. R. Pollock, R. F. Chisholm, P. K. Heyswood, H. G. Colebrooke and W. K. Jamieson, all of Toronto. Completing the directorate were D. H. Anderson of St. Thomas, R. A. Harris of Windsor, A. E. Hodge of Falconbridge and J. B. Chapple of Fort William.

Australia Fears Wool Price Getting Too High

By GORDON TAIT.

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 1 — (AP)—The Australian wool market is booming, but it's not all beer and skittles for the Aussies.

Wool is earning a packet of money for the country, but there are many good Australians who would like to see the price fall back a bit. Why?

Because the people in the wool industry are getting too much spending money. They are getting more cash, but not producing more goods.

Because all this loose cash is sending up the cost of living.

Because the high wool price is fostering the use of substitutes. That could kill and cripple the wool industry.

Because the high price steps up the cost of woollen goods, even here.

Current Sales

Sale of wool in this current 1949-50 season will bring something like £250,000,000 Australian (about $618,750,000). The average price a pound this season is 54.73 pence (55.19 cents).

Look back during the last 20 years. In the 1929-30 season wool sold brought £32,800,000—about one-eighth of this year's expected income.

In 1930-31 income from wool slumped to £28,200,000. In 1936-37—the best pre-war year—it was £60,200,000 and even in 1946-47 it was only £92,300,000.

In the post-war years the average price has increased steadily from 24.49 pence a pound in the 1946-47 season to a current average of 54.73.

There are no figures available for the war years.

Fans Dispersed

QUEBEC, Feb. 1 — (CP). — Police was called to the city auditorium, Palais Montcalm, Tuesday night when 2,500 persons attempted to force their way in to attend a free demonstration by the "world champion weightlifter." A squad of 30 policemen arrived at the scene, and the unhappy fans were dispersed quickly. There were no arersts.

No Gross Negligence

GILLINGHAM, Kent, England, Feb. 1 (Reuters). — The local coroner Tuesday found there had been no gross negligence "amounting to criminal negligence" in the deaths of 10 of the 64 victims of the sinking of the British submarine Truculent in the Thames Estuary on January 12.

Fire Destroys Garage

DURHAM, Ont., Feb. 1-(CP)—Fire early today gutted a big garage owned by J. P. Smith of Durham, causing damage unofficially estimated at $10,000. Firemen of this centre 28 miles south of Owen Sound fought the blaze for more than an hour after it broke out at midnight in the boiler room.

No Opera Contract

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 — (AP)—Tenor Lauritz Melchior said on Tuesday night he has not received an invitation to appear with the Metropolitan Opera next season. His statement came after Helen Traubel's manager said last Sunday that she had not been approached for discussions of next year's contract. Miss Traubel has been the Met's leading Wagnerian soprano for many years.

Keep Historical Sites

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP)—Historical sites should be preserved and reconstructed as part of Canada's heritage, Mrs. Stuart Cork of the Canada Tourist Association said Tuesday night. In an address to the association's annual meeting, she said that many relics of history may be destroyed and lost while their authenticity is being probed.

Gets New Home

TORONTO, Feb. 1—(CP)—Mrs. Alfred Layng and her four-year-old daughter Tuesday moved into a house purchased with money raised by Toronto citizens after the death of her husband, slain when he tried to stop a gunman fleeing from a store hold-up last August. The fund realized $20,800. The house cost $6,825, with an additional $1,000 to be spent in furnishings.

Eats 40 Raw Eggs

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 1 (CP) Fred Little, district poultryman, swallowed 40 raw eggs in 29 minutes Tuesday. The way egg-eating "champions" have been bobbing up across Canada lately, he isn't too sure he can claim a title but in any event he isn't going to try to beat the mark.

Child Runs Away

WELLAND, Feb. 1 (CP)—Nine-year-old Collette Corriveau, missing from her home since noon Monday, was found Tuesday night munching doughnuts in a theatre. She told police she ran away from home because she couldn't go to the same school as her brothers and sisters.

The cabinet members are enroute home from a commonwealth foreign ministers' conference in Colombo, Ceylon.

Sherries, Rums Now Cheaper

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP)—Some imported sherries and a number of sterling area rums take a price drop today in Ontario government liquor stores. Lower prices were also announced for some Australian wines and for some brandies, along with slight changes downwards in four brands of Scotch whisky.

Revision of prices, announced by the Board Tuesday after the six p.m. close of liquor stores, is a result of last September's devaluation of the British pound and the Canadian dollar.

Several French wines will advance as will Chianti (Italian red) and Palestine wines.

The adjustments range over a broad list of imported products. Of 45 brands affected by the revision of prices, 20 go up in price and 25 down.

Philadelphia Critics Say Play Worth Seeing

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1 (CP) —Philadelphia theatre critics agreed Tuesday that the new play "Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep," directed by Hume Cronyn, of London, Ont., is worth seeing.

The play, adapted from Ludwin Bemelman's novel of the same name, has freshness and novelty, they said.

But R. E. P. Sensenderfer, critic for the Evening Bulletin, called Elaine Ryan's dramatization of the novel a "Herculean task," which brings to mind, the critic said, a remark by Samuel Johnson:

"Sir, a woman preaching is like a dog's walking on its hind legs. It is not done well: but you are surprised to find it done at all."

The play, starring Frederic March and Florence Eldridge, opened Monday night at the Forrest Theatre. It had its premiere in London, Ont.

N.S. Gas Price Up

HALIFAX, Feb. 1 (CP)—Nova Scotia motorists will pay a cent more per gallon for gasoline, effective today, under a decision of the Nova Scotia Public Utilities Board handed down Tuesday. The decision revises the board's formula for fixing gasoline prices in the province. Retail price in the Halifax area will be 41 cents for No. 1 grade and 39 cents for No. 2.

Third To Hold Office

BRANTFORD, Feb. 1 (CP) — A third generation of the Preston family to become president of the local Board of Trade was elected to office Tuesday night. He is Peter Preston, vice-president of the Brantord Expositor Publishing Company. His grandfather, the late T. H. Preston, headed the trade board in 1899, while his father, the late W. B. Preston, held office in 1927.

Sees Election Soon

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP)—Campbell Calder, Liberal member of the Ontario legislature for London, said Tuesday night that Ontario is going to have a general election as quickly as the provincial government "can spring it." He told the annual meeting of the Danforth-Beaches Liberal Association that this party may not have the rest of 1950 in which to prepare for a general election He urged preparedness by the riding associations.

Plane Renting Person Liable For Damages

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP)—Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier ruled Monday that a person renting an aircraft is liable if he damages the plane.

He awarded damages of $988 to the Ontario Flying Club of Toronto against W. J. Hoar, who presented no defense.

George C. Hurren, former president of the club, said that Hoar was pilot of a plane which crashed near Campbellford, Dec. 25, 1947. The club valued the aircraft at $1,000.

Big Mike Wins Through To Coast Clears Last Fraser Valley Slide

STOUT, BC, Feb. 1 — (CP).—"Hit the snow, boys. Hit it hard—then hit it again."

That was the 24-hour-a-day order from Michael (Big Mike) Abrahamson. Big Mike won through last night

The Canadian National Railways announced that its tracks linking British Columbia with the East had been cleared of snow in the Fraser River Canyon. The line was blocked for 12 days by snowslides.

The "hit-it" order from Big Mike, CNR roadmaster, kept his hardy crew bucking drifts in the Fraser Canyon, 120 miles east of Vancouver, day and night for 12 gruelling days — ever since the night of January 19 when the full fury of a Rocky Mountains winter swept down on the line between Yale and Boston Bar. Big Mike came out of the battle with the title— conferred on him by his men—of "King of the Snowfighters."

This is how Big Mike's crew cleared the line:

At the sound of a whistle, a snowplow with a wedge-shaped blade lurched forward, quickly gathering speed. Close to 40 tons of equipment rolled toward the snowslide.

Fifteen feet short of the slide, Big Mike sounded three urgent blasts of the whistle. Engines were reversed, but with only a slight slackening in speed, the plow hit the slide with a sickening thud. The train shuddered, backed away. Perhaps five feet had been gained.

Every 3 Minutes

This routine, with slight variations, was carried out every three minutes for 12 days and nights, through slides sometimes 90 feet in height.

As the "all clear" was given last night, workmen farther east were patiently scooping out a "ghost train" of eight cars, abandoned when a snowslide engulfed them. The train's passengers were rescued before a second blizzard sealed it in last week.

Freight trains loaded with coal for Vancouver will be the first rolling stock to move through the Fraser Canyon. Passenger trains will not operate until the present narrow rut—just wide enough to announce the "all clear" — has been widened.

2 Airmen Deny Prague Charge Of Espionage

SHANNON, Republic of Ireland, Feb. 1 (CP)—One of the two members of the Canadian legation staff in Prague expelled from Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia said Tuesday there was no basis for charges laid against them.

Sgt. Reginald Danko, 32, of Toronto, termed charges that he and Cpl. Gaston Vanier, 28, of Montreal, had been engaged in espionage and had been involved in altercations with Czech security police definitely trumped up.

Danko and Vanier, both members of the RCAF, were expelled from Prague on 48 hours notice Jan. 18. They comprised the full staff of the legation's air attache.

In an interview at this airport, as his plane stopped briefly en route to Montreal, Danko said their expulsion was not unexpected. "They're doing the same sort of thing in all the Iron Curtain countries."

To Make Report

After the two airmen arrive in Canada, they will make a report to RCAF headquarters at Ottawa.

Danko is accompanied by his wife and two Canadian-born children—Ralph, 3, and Brian, 5.

Danko described the atmosphere in Prague, where he and his family have lived since 1947, as not at all hostile to westerners.

"One can get on fairly well until they decide to get rid of you," he said. "In our case there was absolutely no basis for the accusations. Though we liked Prague we're just as glad to leave."

Danko said he and Vanier left Prague for Germany in a Canadian legation automobile. Later he went to Munich and joined his wife and children who had stayed behind to pack.

"They didn't bother her after I left and she had no trouble leaving the country," he said.

Repatriation Leave

OTTAWA, Feb. 1—(CP)—The RCAF is planning to give repatriation leave of at least two weeks' duration to the two non-commissioned officers who were booted out of Czechoslovakia. They are due here today.

They will find doors opening for them which don't normally open for sergeants and corporals. At RCAF headquarters they are slated to see Air Marshal Curtis, chief of air staff, and intelligence officers.

At the Department of External Affairs, they will report to senior officials, probably including A. D. P. Heeney, departmental undersecretary or deputy minister.

Up On New Tricks

TURIN, Italy, Feb. 1 (AP)—Italy's Ministry of Education sent an investigator to Turin today to investigate reports that two High School students passed Greek and Latin exams last July because of answers beamed to them by short-wave radio.

According to the reports one student, complaining of ear aches, concealed his radio under a heavy bandage he wore on his head. The other student hid his receiving set in a cast on a "broken" arm.

Supposed translations of the Greek and Latin were broadcast from a house across the street from the Vincenzo Giobeti High School.

Five YM Boys To See Toronto Hockey Game

For outstanding work in the boys' department of the YMCA five boys will be taken to Toronto February 11 to see a professional hockey game. The boys, Frank DeCarlo, Ross Walker, David Storey, Lee Barrie and Ken Johnston, were top junior canvassers in the membership campaign early in the fall and in the sale of Christmas cards for the YMCA world service fund. They will be accompanied by Douglas Lawless and Donald Duncan, boys' work secretary.

Following the hockey game, between the Leafs and the Montreal Canadiens, the boys will be taken into the Toronto dressing room to meet the players.

In a letter to Mr. Duncan, Coach Hap Day said: "On that night after the game we leave for Chicago and there will be little time for visiting other than being introduced as we have to catch a train at 11 p.m. I am very sorry about this as the players are always interested in the young fry and like to chat with them."

Although last year was missed, the trip to Toronto for the outstanding workers is an annual event of the boys' side. Two years ago a group saw the Boston Bruins play the Leafs.

Sunday School Workers Needed At All Saints'

A plea for additional workers for the Sunday School was made by the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite at the annual vestry meeting of All Saints Church Monday.

The rector reported 603 families on the parish list, totalling 2,200 members.

The warden's financial report, presented by T. Griffin, revealed a balance of $1,100 and no liabilities. The annual mission allotment had been exceeded by approximately ten per cent. $1,750 being sent to the mission fund of the Synod office.

W. H. Jackson reported givings in envelopes had increased 30 per cent over the previous year.

T. Griffin was appointed people's warden. T. P. Hooper will continue as rector's warden until the 1950 warden is announced by Mr. Kibblewhite on his return from a visit out of town. He is expecting to be away from Peterborough a month.

The following is the slate of officers:

Sidesmen's committee—re-appointed, G. Royea, convener; lay delegates to Synod G. Royea, H. Collingwood, R. G. Chandler, T. H. Boddy and R. A. Ford, with T. Griffin and T. P. Hooper as substitutes.

W. H. Jackson was appointed envelope secretary.

Parish council appointed by the vestry—L. Mason, J. Gatfield, D. Weir, G. Millen, J. Cooper, E. Tucker, R. J. Bolton, R. Gamble, S. Ray, K. Gibson, V Hill and R. Dixon.

The auditors' report was presented by T. Pitchford and he and Mr. Dryland were re-elected auditors.

Mrs. Mouck and Mrs. Fitzgerald were appointed representatives on the board of Anson House.

Mrs. R. Price was appointed to represent the church on the Bible Society.

Members of the Women's Church Year served refreshments.

Gives Girl Co-Worker Pair Of Falsies Man Fired, Question Goes To Employees

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(AP).—Should a man be fired for giving a girl co-worker a pair of falsies as a gift?

That question today was being put to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's 10,000 Manhattan employees.

The poll is being taken by the United Office and Professional Workers Union (C.I.O.), which is protesting the dismissal of insurance agent George J. Moskowitz.

Moskowitz, 41, was fired after the gave a girl in the company's Newark, N.J. office a pair of falsies for Christmas.

Some of the opinion samplers, mostly young girls, distributed leaflets headed: "Fired on falsie pretensions."

A poll in the Newark office showed 2,393 thought the falsie a proper gift. Only 37 said the firing was justified.

The company said that as a leading employer of young girls and women, it had to maintain dignity and decorum in the office, and that Moskowitz's gift violated this policy.

Moskowitz claimed he got a letter of thanks from the girl.

J. M. King Heads Local Branch Of Engineering

James M. King, a metallurgist in the materials laboratory of CGE, Tuesday night was declared president of the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada holding its 30th annual meeting in the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

He succeeds A. R. (Bob) Hailey, 1949 chairman.

Following is the recommendation of the nominating committee accepted unanimously by the membership for the 1950 branch offices: executive, J. M. King, chairman; R. T. Bogle, A. J. Bonney, A. R. Hailey, C. W. Holman, J. L. McKeever, G. B. Muir, M. M. Uloth, G. W. Herzog, sec'y treas., A. L. Malby, councillor, F. R. Pope, representative Ontario division, G. R. Langley, Institute student guidance, and H. R. Sills, Institute membership.

Committee chairmen are: C. B. Muir, meetings and papers; J. L. McKeever, social and entertainment; J. C. Allan, publicity; B. Ottewell, student guidance; G. T. Davis, membership; A. J. Bonney, property; A. L. Killaly, institute nominations; C. W. Holman, branch historian; E. R. Shirley, branch auditor, and F. R. Pope, councillor elect (1950-51).

General Secretary Comments

Dr. Austin L. Wright, general secretary of the Institute, had two chief comments:

One was the satisfaction felt by the Institute at the recent appointment of an engineer, General A. G. L. McNaughton, to the two-man representation from Canada on the International Joint Commission.

The other was the claim that too many United States' consulting engineers were being called in for work that could be done equally as well, if not better, by their Canadian counterparts.

Until McNaughton's appointment, he said, the Canadians had no engineer on their side of the International Joint Commission while the United States had two qualified engineers. Altogether the latter has three members.

(The Joint Commission looks after such matters as the allocation of water supplies from the Great Lakes to both countries.)

Dr. Wright said he was glad to see the Federal government was persuaded to appoint an engineer rather than make a "political" choice.

Employing U. S. Engineers

On his contention that many companies and government agencies chose United States rather than Canadian engineers, he had this to say: "It is primarily a case of their not knowing about the native engineers."

He conceded that in many cases the United States engineers were the only ones competent to prform a specific assignment, and also that private companies from the south of the border with branches in Canada had a right to pick their own men, but it was a different case with many government projects.

In some instances provincial and federal authorities had hired United States engineers for such relatively simple projects as the construction of swimming pools and garages, he charged.

Native professional men could have been hired equally as well, he contended.

At the moment the Institute is compiling an index of Canadian engineering services and these will be circulated among municipal, provincial and federal governments. The authorities would then have a claer idea of the amount of native engineering service available, stated Dr. Wright.

Car Turns Over

W. M. Chrysler of Hastings received a few minor cuts and scratches Tuesday night when his car went out of control on the Hastings-Campbellford road and turned over in the ditch.

Damage to the car was estimated at $80.

Mr. Chrysler was driving west on the ice and snow covered road when the vehicle skidded and he was unable to prevent it plunging into the ditch.

Provincial Constable D. W Coffey of Hastings investigated.

CCL Preparing To Call Jobless Meeting

OTTAWA, Feb. 1—(CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor said Tuesday it hopes soon to call a national convention of unemployed.

The National Council of the 350,000-member CCL decided Jan. 19 to organize unemployed workers and bring them into affiliation with the congress.

Tuesday, CCL Secretary-Treasurer Pat Conroy said in a statement that organization of the new group is proceeding rapidly and appointment of a national director and associate director will be announced in a few days.

Mr. Conroy said the congress will issue associate charters to each local group of unemployed, while labor councils in each centre will be asked to help the new units.

Basic function of the unemployed locals, he said, will be to try to get work for their members. If work cannot be had, the policy will be get a living allowance greater than the present "inadequate" unemployment insurance.

"Under no circumstances is Communist infiltration to be allowed, nor is the organization to be used by any one for political purposes," Mr. Conroy said.

He expressed hope of joint action with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor and other legitimate union bodies.

Splendid Cough Syrup Easily Mixed at Home

To get quick relief from a distressing cough, mix this recipe in your own kitchen. Once tried, you'll say it's your favorite cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Anyone can do it. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.)

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its quick action on throat irritations.

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle, and fill up with your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of very efficient medicine, and you get four times as much for your money. It tastes fine and never spoils.

And for quick, satisfying relief, it is splendid. You can feel it penetrating the air passages and taking hold of the cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Pinex Is Swift Acting. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH KNOX, after their marriage Saturday in Mark St. United Church. The bride is Shirley Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. F. Gray. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Knox, all of Peterborough.—(R. G. Brooks Photo)

Shirley Gray Wed At Mark St. To Kenneth Knox

The wedding was solemnized in Mark Street United Church on Saturday afternoon of Shirley Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fraser Gray, 475 Stewart St., and Kenneth Knox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Knox, 507 George St. S. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. B. S. Morwood.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. R. C. Searles. Before the bride entered Miss Jean McLeod sang "Through the Years" and at the signing of the register the "Wedding Prayer." The church was decorated with potted blooms, palms and ferns.

The bride chose a gown of ivory slipper satin fashioned with sweetheart neckline, and long sleeves coming to lily points on the bodice which was fastened down the back with self-covered buttons. The dress was shirred in front to show insets of Chantilly lace and the full skirt extended in a circular train. She wore a finger-tip veil of ivory embroidered net caught to a coronet of arange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mr. Gray gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by Miss Mary Knox, sister of the groom. The latter was frocked in powder blue moire taffeta styled with a round neckline and wide sash tied at the back. The bodice buttoned down the back, had cape sleeves and she wore matching mittens and hat with large bow at the side caught with Talisman roses which were also in the bouquet she carried.

Mr. Edward Brierley was groomsman and the ushers were John Knox and Robert Henry.

A reception was held in the church parlours with the bride's mother receiving, wearing maroon silk faille with hat of maroon felt and corsage of sunset roses, assisted by the groom's mother in navy figured crepe with navy felt hat and pink roses at her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Knox left on a wedding trip to Toronto, Buffalo, and Rochester. The bride went away wearing a turquoise wool jersey dress and matching hat with black topcoat and accessories.

The couple will live in Peterborough.

Banquet Marks CGIT Week At St. James'

The St. James Church CGIT and Explorer groups had the annual mother and daughter banquet on Tuesday evening in the Sunday school hall with 128 present. Other guests were Miss Anna Edmondson, group leader at Trinity Church, Mrs. E. M. Davis, mission study leader. Mrs. E. Hunter, representative of Girls Work Board, Mrs. F. W. Craik, Mrs. G. Harris, WA president, and Miss M. Bowers, WMS president. Each extended greetings from her particular department.

President Laurene Keeting was chairman and proposed the toast to the King. A toast to the church was proposed by Donna Moffat and Mrs. Craik replied. Barbara Wallace gave a toast to the mothers and her mother, Mrs. George Wallace, voiced a reply.

The meal was prepared and served by members of Cheerful Workers Group and they were thanked by Senior Leader Mrs. L. McLaren.

The program which followed the speeches was opened with a sing song led by Mrs. Clarence Porter with Mrs. Lionel Monk at the piano. Amusing readings were contributed by Mrs. H. Turner.

Entertainment by the girls included piano duets by Marjorie Harvey and Nancy Wood of Explorers' group, vocal duets by Pat Warman and Doreen Hutchinson, guitar solo by Fay Blackwell and piano duets by Lorraine Bullied and JaJne Stuart.

The Explorers' leaders are Eyvonne White, Evelyn Wallace and Betty Piercy, and the senior leaders are Mrs. McLaren, Mrs. Wm. Prest and Mrs. Porter.

European Scenes Shown Twice By YW Visitor

Excellent colored moving pictures taken by amateur photographer Miss Margaret Heilig, of Hamilton, during a tour of Europe last year were given two showings at the YWCA Tuesday evening. Miss Heilig was a guest at the dinner meeting which opened the Reconstruction Fund campaign and her pictures were of special value to this group which is interested in world service. Her second audience included members of the swim, gym, residence and club departments.

Probably the pictures were so enthusiastically received because they showed girls from 25 countries who were Miss Heilig's associates during a three-month world's leadership training course at Geneva, Switzerland. She told some amusing human-interest stories about these girls, particularly of her room-mate from the African Gold Coast who was always tired and never wanted to exert herself unnecessarily. She had been in England three years studying law.

Best-liked among the 45 on the course was the colored girl from the United States, who rated a party and gifts. She, like the African, was pleasantly plump and she dressed colorfully. It was most interesting to the Canadians to learn that patterns on the printed skirts and shawls which African girls wear very often express their feelings. For instance, one of a lone canoeist signifies hurt, and when offence has been given the offended puts on that costume and walks back and forth before the offender's home. The offender may then don a print which says "I cannot help it" or whatever the answer is, and she will parade before the injured party.

As well as beautiful Lake Geneva and Swiss mountain scenery, Miss Heilig's pictures gave highlights of England, Scotland, Holland and France, but everyone was in accord with her that the loveliest of all were of the Canadian forests in autumn dress, photographed as she came up the St. Lawrence on a Thanksgiving weekend.

Miss Nel Schell, a Peterborough resident from Holland, voiced her pleasure in the pictures of her homeland and extended thanks for the showing on behalf of the Y. The speaker was introduced by Miss Leta Brownscombe.

Mrs. G. Langhorne operated the projector on both occasions.

HEALTH WEEK

Realistic Preventive Program Required to Stem Mental Ills

A realistic preventive program that will reach into every community and every home is needed to stem the flow of mentally ill people to hospitals and reduce the staggering burden of mental and nervous disorders among the population generally. This is the opinion of Dr. C. M. Hincks, general director of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, Toronto.

In a health week message, Dr. Hincks says that among other things there is urgent need of more trained staff and clinics, but that an informed and interested public is even more basic. The immediate objective of his organization is public partnership with science, going far beyond the treatment of the 50,000 patients in Canada's 38 mental hospitals.

Dr. Hincks says that federal grants, supplementing growing provincial expenditures, are being used to expand and improve treatment facilities and increase trained personal. Clinical facilities for treatment of conditions not requiring hospitalization were also being improved.

"The great majority of Canadians who could benefit by help and treatment to make them happier and more useful citizens never see a clinic or a mental hospital, and if they did, there wouldn't be enough accommodation or staff for them," Doctor Hincks declared.

"The obvious need is a program of prevention in which parents and teachers will have an increasingly important part. The patients who will fill our mental hospitals a few years hence, and the several hundred thousand Canadians who will suffer from conditions hindering their happy adjustment to life are today children in our homes and schools. It is among children that we must begin the work to curb a tremendous burden of unhappiness and a public health problem which in terms of money costs us several hundred million dollars per year."

Dr. Hincks disclosed that his organization, functioning for 32 years as a body of professional consultants to governments and institutions, is now expanding with provincial divisions and local branches to bring about the public partnership about which he spoke. This was being done at the invitation of and with the friendly support of federal and provincial authorities, he said.

Campaign for $900 European Aid Started at YW

A campaign by YWCA members to raise $900 for European reconstruction starts today and continues throughout this month. Allocations have been set for each department, and each has appointed a captain who is responsible for the collections.

The sum to be raised is increased $150 this year as there was over-subscription in the previous campaign. A good part of this will likely be taken care of by the juniors who last year turned in more than four times the allocated amount of $25. They are now being asked for $100.

A dinner meeting Tuesday evening in the Y Green Room was attended by the group captains and their lieutenants and the general set-up of the campaign was explained to them by Miss Flora Metcalfe who distributed materials for accurately recording the amounts given. She asked for an immediate start on the campaign and for all returns to be in by the end of February.

Two-fold results of yearly campaigning for the Reconstruction Fund were pointed out by Mrs. T. J. Carley, president of the YWCA Board. First and foremost it is a service to Y members who were cut down in their progress by a war. Secondly it widens the scope of Peterborough citizens by giving them membership in a world-wide family and an understanding of the common problems and the trifling differences caused by race, color and creed, and it brings them new friends locally and distantly.

Mrs. W. J. Hardill gave the amounts set out for each group to collect. Some will continue to use the dime-card system while others plan special events and efforts to raise money.

Chairman of the World Service committee, Mrs. H. T. Rehill presided. Minutes of a meeting held to organize the campaign were taken by Miss Mary Martin who read them to the assembly.

Man Who Always Argues Held Bad Matrimonial Risk

DEAR MISS DIX: Is there any cure for arguing? I have been going with a man for some time and like him very much, except that he has a passion for arguments. This is bad enough when we are alone, but it embarrasses me to death when we are in company, and causes my friends much annoyance. He will sit by the hour and argue and argue. Can anything be done to break him of this habit and show him how foolish he is at times?

Dorothy Dix

M. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Marry a drunkard, or a philanderer, or a Weary Willie if you are bound to gamble on matrimony, but never, never marry an arguer. In all good truth there is no other such social pest. There is no other such bore. He can ruin any party. He can take the pep out of any occasion. He is a killjoy and an irritation wherever he is, and any girl who knowingly marries one is simply out hunting for trouble and deserve what she gets.

Can't Be Cured

And don't delude yourself with the idea that you can cure any one with the arguing habit. It can't be done. It is an incurable mania.

Whether arguers argue because of some contrary streak in their nature that never permits them to agree with any one else, or whether it is because they think that to differ with every one makes them appear brilliant and original, or whether it is just because they love the sound of their own voices, nobody knows. But, whatever the reason, they are the most tiresome creatures on earth, and all of us flee at their approach as we would from one afflicted with the plague.

There are plenty of wives who have what should be a happy life spoiled by their husbands' arguing. The men are good and kind and really don't begrudge their wives anything, but they ruin every pleasure by arguing over it until all of the edge has been taken off. They argue about the food at dinner. They argue about the way the children are being raised. They argue about their wives' clubs. They argue over the bills. They argue about what movies they shall go to see. Until the poor exhausted wives are ready to give up and die.

Once a man is an arguer he is always an arguer, but a wise woman doesn't make a fireside companion of him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I married a widower who is good and kind to me and professes to love me. But he is always reminding me that when he dies he wishes to be buried by the side of his first wife. Do you think I am just a SECOND FIDDLE?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You should worry about where your husband is buried! Why does it matter? The thing that concerns you is not where your husband's dead body will lie, but how he treat you while he is still in the flesh. If he is good and kind and tender and affectionate to you, enjoy that and forget his funeral arrangements. Don't let something that may never happen in your lifetime spoil your happiness.

Of course, your husband is stupid beyond belief not to keep his plans for the disposal of his remains a secret between himself and his executor. But many men are like that, and it is just lack of realization of how cruel they are, that makes them brag continually to their second wives upon the charms and perfections of their first wives—charms and virtues which grow brighter as they fade. For many a man canonizes a wife after she is dead with whom he quarreled while she was alive.

Perhaps some flavor of the romance of early love always hovers around a man's first wife, but as a matter of fact he is generally fonder of his second wife. So wipe your eyes and call your sense of humor to your aid and recollect that if you should die and your husband would marry again he would doubtless demand of No. 3 that he be buried between you and No. 1.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We are six girls, working in an office, and we have been having an argument about refinement. Will you tell us if you can discern by merely looking at a person if he or she is refined?

SIX GIRLS

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I suppose you mean by refinement a certain delicacy in appearance and thought and action. This can express itself either by one's appearance, or by one's language and conduct, or by both. It is not always possible to judge a person's refinement by his or her appearance because this look of fineness may be merely the result of one's physical build or taste in dress.

Cake Held Proof English Lass Cured Heartbreak

DARLINGTON, Durham, England, Feb. 1 (CP). — Baker John Naughton says he thinks a cake still on his hands is proof that an unknown English lass has found a sure cure for a broken heart.

With tears in her eyes and quivering lips the girl entered Naughton's bakery over a month ago and ordered a cake to be iced: "My true love lies bleeding."

She said the cake was for her ex-fiance. Their romance was shattered.

The baker, a middle-aged, understanding type, worked overtime on the confection.

"Not only did I put currants, candied peel, flour and eggs into it, I put feeling into the recipe—enough feeling to wring tears from Casanova himself."

Now, out £1 ($3.10) on the ingredients, together with his time, the genial baker philosophizes that that the pretty unknown may have happened on a cheap, easy way of recovering from shattered romance.

"She's probably forgotten her sweetheart as quickly as she's forgotten about the cake," he says.

Redhead Causes Quite a Ripple In British Navy

LONDON, Feb. 1 (CP). — A Redhead has caused quite a ripple in Britain's Merchant Navy.

She's 20-year-old Jacqueline Redhead, to be exact, and she's training to become the merchant navy's first woman deck officer. That was a thing unheard of until Jacqueline came along.

After learning seamanship and navigation, she'll serve four years at sea.

Fairview WA Honors Mrs. Austin Poast

FAIRVIEW, Feb. 1—(ENS)—The Fairview Women's Association met at the home of Mrs. Cephas Heard.

Mrs. Carmen Bell, leader of Group 1, led the devotions and the roll call was answered with a New Year thought. Mrs. Wesley Bell read a poem on New Year. The president, Mrs. W. D. Wilson, was in charge of the business period. It was decided to send donations to the Sick Children's Hospital building fund and also to the Victor Home in Toronto.

One of the members, Mrs. Austin Poast, who is leaving the community to take up residence in Peterborough, was presented with a gift. Mrs. Wilson expressed the regret of the association on losing a valued member and Mrs. Cephas Heard made the presentation.

Officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. W. D. Wilson; vice-president, Mrs. Wesley Bell; secretary, Mrs. Cephas Heard; treasurer, Mrs. Harold Lewis; group leaders, Mrs. Carmen Bell, Mrs. Stanley Boyce, Mrs. Henry Sharpe; quilt convener, Mrs Frank Trude; flower committee, Mrs. Everett Cockburn, Mrs. F. Bell, Mrs. R. Harrison.

Mrs. Archie Bulmer extended an invitation to meet in her home for the next meeting.

Longing for Nylons Persists in Britain

LONDON, Feb. 1 (CP). — Fashion question of the New Year for British women is: Will more nylons be available in 1950?

The general answer seems to be: No.

The director of one leading stocking firm said he could see "little chance of an increase in 1950. British women will still have to wait for their nylons."

Another said though his firm would continue to press for a larger supply for the home market, nylons for export will still have priority.

British nylon spinners who supply most of the yarn now are making 10 times as much as in 1948. By March they expect to be able to supply all the yarn nylon manufacturers can use without increasing plant machinery, which comes from the United States.

Six of every 10 pairs of fully-fashioned British nylons go for export along with five of every 10 pairs of seamless. Britain exported 9,600,000 pairs worth £1,975,548 ($6,124,198) in 1949. Even Germany got a share.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

THE KINGFISH, Sen. Huey P. Long of Louisiana, ruled his state with a tyranny unique in American politics in the early Thirties. Many felt Huey was ambitious to rule larger domains, but his spectacular career was cut short by an assassin's bullet in 1935. "Every man a king" was the slogan of his Share-the-Wealth Plan. And his boast was that he could "buy legislators like sacks of potatoes." In Washington, the jigging, filibustering senator was never far from the limelight; in New York night clubs his escapades brought reams of publicity and one famous black eye. But it was in whipping the Louisiana legislature through his own personal program that Huey enjoyed real dictatorial mastery. And the bitterness he generated there led to his downfall.

Hospital for Indian Babies Betters Chance of Survival

By BERNICE REDPATH MacIVER
Canadian Press Correspondent

CHURCHILL, Man. — (CP) — Indian women in this Hudson Bay community are realizing more and more that proper hospital care increases the chances of successful childbirth.

Maj. B. P. L. Brosseau, Canadian army doctor who has charge of the military hospital here, says that one Indian woman who entered the hospital recently for the first time for delivery had lost six previous babies. Another woman had lost four.

The 40-bed hospital attends to the needs of construction workers, trappers and their families, Indians, residents of the town, as well as military personnel.

One one recent day, described as typical by the hospital staff, the list of patients was made up of nine service personnel, 10 town civilians, 15 military camp civilians and four treaty Indians.

Patients might come from anywhere within a 200-mile radius, although the distance has been even greater on occasion.

Maj. Brosseau once flew to Arctic Bay, 1,500 miles away on the western tip of Baffin Island to pick up a patient. This flight almost ended in disaster when the plane was forced down on an ice field in Hudson Bay on the return trip. It was this mercy flight that was termed "Operation Ice Floe."

Radio also plays its part in the treatment of patients. Recently a patient at York Factory, 150 miles southeast of here and also on the Hudson Bay shoreline, received medical advice by short wave. Such work is carried on through the military radio station.

Need More Room

Maj. Brosseau says it would be more accurate to term the hospital one containing 40 beds rather than a 40-bed hospital. Space is a problem and it is expected that the building, staffed by two doctors and nine nurses, will be enlarged this summer.

When an isolation ward is needed, one of the general wards is used. During the summer of 1949 the hospital looked after 20 cases of infantile diarrhoea. At the time several new-born babies were in another ward in the same building. There was not a single case of cross-infection.

An incubator at the hospital has been used twice. Both tiny arrivals left the hospital in fine condition from the incubator treatment. The hospital boasts a record of not a single baby lost on delivery.

Clinic work also is carried out and periodic health checks are made at the schools in town and at the fort.

Maj. Brosseau notes that there generally are fewer military patients than civilians. He accounts for this by the fact that military personnel here are a "select" group whose members have been given full medical examinations prior to departing for Churchill.

How Your Child May Be Inviting Colds

Due to being indoors more with less chance for play, many youngsters' bowels become less regular in winter and this condition often lowers resistance and invites attack by cold germs. To help prevent such colds, keep your child's bowels regular with Children's Own Tablets. These pleasant, little tablets for youngsters 3 to 15 are a laxative and more. They also help sweeten the sour stomach that often goes with out-of-order bowels. Get Children's Own Tablets today and guard your child against unnecessary colds. 29¢ at druggists.

Officers Installed At Apsley For Legion Branch

APSLEY, Feb. 1 —(ENS)— Installation of officers of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion Branch 381 was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Smith. All officers except two vice presidents, were re-elected, the full state of officers being;

Standard Bearer, Irene McIlmoyl; president, Mrs. Chas Smith; first vice-president, Mrs O. Montgomery; second vice-president, Mrs. Martin Reddick; secretary, Mrs. Ken Moffat; Treasureer, Mrs. Rex Caverly.

In the absence of the president, Glen Nichols installed the new and re-elected officers.

WON'T TOUCH H-BOMB

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Canada's policy of not developing atomic weapons extends to the hydrogen bomb, informed sources said Tuesday. President Truman's decision to order the United States Atomic Energy Commission to go to work on the hydrogen bomb is not expected to mean any change in Canadian policy.

Fine Hotel Owners

TIMMINS, Feb. 1 — (CP). — Three owners of the International Hotel here yesterday were fined $25 on a charge of allowing a minor on licensed premises. The minor in question, Valdo "Bab" Purificati, 20, had shown the waiter his brother's driving licence to prove he was 22.

Red Crossbills Visit Kawarthas

LINDSAY, Feb. 1.—Red crossbills, rarely seen in Southern Ontario, have made an appearance near Bobcaygeon, District Forester A. B. Wheatley reports. The normal habitat is in northern and eastern parts of Canada.

Several birds, part of a flock, were received by the Lindsay area Lands and Forest officer. These had been hit by a car on Highway 36 south of Bobcaygeon. The driver, noticing the markings, brought the birds to Lindsay.

According to Mr. Wheatley the crossbills are the only known bird in the world with the curious crossing of the upper and lower mandibles. Slightly larger than the English sparrow the crossbills are of two species, red crossbills and white-winged crossbills. They belong to the family of finches and their food consists mainly of seeds from coniferous trees. With the crossed beaks they can readily pry pine or spruce cones apart and take out the seeds with peculiarly shaped tongues.

Unable To Pay

he saw anyone on the road, not to stop.

He said as he saw the first flashlight waving him to a stop and then a man behind the flashlight, both Lee and Clark said excitedly "It's the game wardens" and told him to drive on through.

W. B. Gordon, who defended both Lee and Clark, argued that neither Lee nor Clark had any control over the situation and could not be considered guilty of obstructing the officers.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw argued having no control over the situation made no difference to their being accomplices. He argued that the man who keeps the motor of a car running while he waits as his companions rob a bank and perhaps shoot someone in the process, is equally guilty of robbery or murder.

Mr. Gordon said that men who live in the bush areas of the county as did Lee and Clark did not realize the seriousness of their hunting misdeeds.

Crown Attorney Bradshaw said it was exactly what he and the game wardens were trying to prove to those who lived in the bush areas. He said it was they who depended most on the wildlife of the northern townships of the county and the tourist dollars it brought in. It was these same people who would suffer most when their habits of ignoring game laws and slaughtering animals denuded the forest areas of all wildlife.

Commenting before he announced the fines, Magistrate Philp said, "The evidence behind these charges been a bit shocking. The degree of slaughter in the case is something which cannot go overlooked."

Has No Comment

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP). — Premier Frost said today he has no comment on a prediction that Ontario will have a general election as soon as the government "can spring it." The forecast was made in a speech here last night by Campbell Calder, the Liberal member of the Legislature for London.

Trip To Europe

BOYNTON BEACH, Fla., Feb. 1 (AP)—Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, yesterday announced plans for a trip to Europe and India "to see how some of these countries are getting on."

Man Badly Hurt When Hit By Car

KITCHENER, Feb. 1 (CP) — Maurice Raymond, 24, of nearby Kingsdale, suffered two fractured legs, a broken arm and possible skull and pelvis fractures when struck by a car Tuesday night.

He was crossing No. 8 highway near his home when he was hit and tossed 20 feet by a car driven by Donald King, 26, of Preston.

Hospital officials said Raymond is in critical condition.

Police Checking Nov. Shooting

CORNWALL, Feb. 1 — (CP).. —Inspector W. J. Franks of the Provincial Police today went to Morrisburg, Ont., to complete investigation into a shooting there last November 18.

He will question Arthur Flynn Jr., 19, concerning the incident in which the youth was wounded by Charles Cramer 56, bookkeeper, from Aultsville, Ont. After wounding Flynn, Cramer is said to have killed himself.

Police said at the time that they were told the shooting took place in a taxicab near the office of Arthur Flynn, Sr., Morrisburg lawyer, after the elder Flynn refused to sign papers presented to him by Cramer.

An inquest date may be set following the investigation.

Technical Skill

factory because of social unadaptability, and only 38 per cent for technical incompetence. Yet almost the entire emphasis in the training of engineers is placed upon purely technical or formal education."

Engineers' Emigration

The Institute is opposed to the employment of engineers from other countries, individually or collectively, to do work in Canada for which Canadian engineers are available. Mr. Armstrong dwelt at length on this subject as did a previous speaker, Dr. L. Austin Wright, general secretary of the Institute.

"The thought has been forced upon too many young engineers that the best way to secure lucrative employment in Canada is to emigrate to the United States, secure employment there with some engineering organization working in the international field and in due course be sent back to Canada to carry out Canadian work performed by that United States organization.

"As long as the abilities of Canadian engineers are not properly publicized and understood among employers of engineers in Canada, these conditions may be expected to persist."

Recently there has been an encouraging change in this picture, Mr. Armstrong stated. A study by the Technical Personnel Division of the Department of Labour shows that a higher percentage of young Canadian engineers are now staying in Canada.

"This is a major benefit to the engineer himself, to his Canadian employer, and to Canada," contended the Institute president.

Conference In March

TORONTO, Feb. 1 — (CP). — A conference of the North American Advisors of the World Organization for Brotherhood will be held here March 4, it was announced today. The Canadian Council of Christians and Jews said in a statement that 600 delegates are expected. They will make plans for a conference of the WOB in Paris in June.

Jailed 8 Years On Fraud Count

TIMMINS, Feb. 1 (CP)—Ralph Rodins, 29, was sentenced to eight years Tuesday on three fraud counts and one charge of receiving.

He was convicted of obtaining $1,250 from a motor company by false pretences.

In North Bay he had obtained an automobile worth $1,650 from Albert Gangiano Dec. 25 and subsequently sold it in Toronto.

In Belleville he had obtained $175 by false pretences Dec. 7 in a car deal with Dorek Riordan. He was then operating under the name of Ralph Letchworth.

In New Liskeard Jan. 5, he had sold an outboard motor stolen from William Hayes of Englehart for $65. Rodine pleaded guilty to all charges.

Cradock Approves Hamilton Merger

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—(CP). — Eric Cradock, president of the Big Four, said today the amalgamation of Hamilton's two senior teams is a good thing for football in general.

He said Big Four officials were notified yesterday of the decision of Wildcats of the Big Four and Tigers of the Ontario Rugby Football Union to join in a new organization.

Cradock said the Big Four would welcome the new club and that he thinks it will strengthen the league.

Frozen Fire Hydrant Delays Firefighters

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP) — A frozen fire hydrant delayed firemen 15 minutes while fire razed the home of James Fullagher in suburban York Township yesterday. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

Mrs. Fullagher said the fire started from an overheated chimney.

Councillor Charles Cashman said he would demand a report on the frozen hydrant. "It is too bad when a man loses his home for lack of water on a street where there is a hydrant."

Industrial Plans

PRAGUE, Feb. 1 — (AP) —The Czech Government set in motion today plans to turn agricultural Slovakia, the country's breadbasket, into an industrial beehive outstripping its farm production. To carry out the project the cabinet approved a plan calling for the construction or opening of 20 new big industrial enterprises this year in Slovakia.

Fire Captain Cleared

COOKSVILLE, Feb. 1 (CP).— A dangerous driving charge against Thomas Hutton, a Hamilton fire captain, was dismissed yesterday. The charge was laid after the death of Douglas Mahoney and Eleanor Gregory, both of nearby Mimico, following a head-on collision with Hutton's car last July. Cooksville is 15 miles west of Toronto.

Name Toronto Popular

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP) — At least nine United Kingdom cities have named new housing projects after Toronto in gratitude for relief sent bombed-out areas following the Second World War, it was learned here today. Examples are the "City of Toronto" at Birmingham, "Toronto House" at Exeter and "Toronto Gardens" at Manchester.

Charges Agricultural College At Guelph Going Into Decay

By PIERRE DUBOIS.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 1 — (CP). — Prof. J. K. Galbraith of Harvard University, Professor of Economics, today criticized Ontario farmers for what he described as "allowing the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph to slip into decay."

He told the Canadian Federation of Agriculture convention that "you do not have a good College of Agriculture if the College is doing a little better what the farmer does himself."

"As a graduate of the College," said Prof. Galbraith, who was born at Iona Station, Ont., near London, "I regret to say that what was once a promising College of Agriculture has been allowed to slip into decay.

"And the blame for that rests with the Ontario farmers. It was up to the farmers to criticize the services provided by agriculture colleges.

Need Good Science

"You do not have a College of Agriculture because the college can parade blooded livestock before the farmers each year. Today you have a good College of Agriculture because you have good science working in the laboratories.

"You have a good college if you have good work at scientific levels on problems affecting agriculture today. You do not have a good College of Agriculture if the college is doing a little better what the farmer does himself."

Prof. J. K. Galbraith said prospects are poor for agricultural products in international trade.

He doubted that the flow of food and foodstuffs from North America to Europe throughout ordinary channels of trade could be re-established.

He described the trade unbalance between dollar and non-dollar countries as a deep-seated disorder rather than a passing emergency.

Shrinking Markets

Both Canada and the United States faced the "most unpleasant phenomenon" of having to live with a steadily shrinking market.

"Perhaps we would do well to recognize the inevitable and prepare for the adjustments that would be required—severe in Canada and milder in the US."

A less easy course would require both stronger and enlightened pressure by farmers on governments than in evidence today. It would also require of farmers "some enlightened self-restraint in their price demands."

Ask Ford Plant Share Profits With Union Men

WINDSOR, Feb. 1 — (CP). — Officials of United Automobile Workers (CIO) issued a statement Tuesday calling on Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. to "share with Ford workers" some of the proceeds of its record 1949 performance.

The union statement called on Ford President Rhys M. Sale "to gladden your employees today as you gladdened your stockholders yesterday."

The Ford president announced following a board of directors' meeting Monday that 1949 "was a record year from every standpoint" dividend of 50 cents and an extra dividend of $1 a share, both effective March 10, to the shareholders of record February 10, 1950.

Union officials now are awaiting word from an Ontario Conciliation Board which heard recently its request for a company-paid pension of $100 a month for all workers aged 65 with 25 years' service.

Tuesday's union statement said: "If Mr. Sale will just declare a few cents extra an hour for his workers' pensions, the $100 a month will be possible."

The union statement was signed by Tom MacLean, assistant Canadian director of the UAW, and Roy England, president of the 12,000-member Ford Local 200.

Two In Police Court On Cream Can Charge

Theft of a can of cream brought a two year suspended sentence to Gilbert Portsmith of Otonabee, and a fine of $25 to Gerald Lowes, his employer, in police court Tuesday, although Magistrate Philp said in fining Lowes that he was not too sure that the court was being fair to him.

Portsmouth said he and Lowes were driving about the country trying to buy pigs. At Roy Manley's farm they saw a can of cream near the farm gate. Portsmith got out of the truck and put the cream in the front of the truck.

He testified that Lowes said to him at the time, "I guess you shouldn't have done that." Portsmouth would not take the cream back. They went on to Peterborough. Portsmith took the cream to the Central Smith creamery with the intention of selling it for cash.

However the creamery owner, Mike Andrews was not there to give him the cash and he told a clerk to credit Lowes with the cream.

Lowes said he did not know until after Portsmouth told him, what Portsmith had done with the cream. He said he had never received any money for it.

Form Bucket Brigade Employees Douse Fire

TORONTO, Feb. 1 —(CP)—A group of workers in the picking department of the Union Felt Company on Wiltshire Avenue were credited by firemen with checking the spread of a fire which broke out in their department early today.

Action of the employees who formed a bucket brigade limited the damage to $6,000. The fire was believed started by a spark from an electric picking machine.

Chervenkov Elected Premier Of Bulgaria

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 1.—(AP).—Parliament today unanimously elected Vulko Chervenkov premier, succeeding the late Vassil Kolarov.

Chervenkov is considered the "strong man" of the Bulgarian Communist party. A vice-premier under Kolarov, he recently returned from a visit to Moscow He is apparently the sparkplug of a Bulgarian Communist purge of the unreliable elements in the party.

DELECTABLE DITCH-DIGGER—Pretty Margaret Pallas, of Chicago, startles the "sidewalk superintendents" by swinging a pick along with burly male workers. But Margaret is a ditch digger by choice. Once a white collar worker, the 22-year-old divorcee chose the work because she's "just an outdoor girl." Also she plans to marry her boss, Donald Buss, 33, who is seen working alongside her.

Britons Wondering Why Rationing Off In Germany

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, Feb. 1 — (CP)—Alas, the poor Briton! With a General Election three weeks away, he is not even being allowed to suffer food rationing in silence.

Being restricted to a limited meat supply and sausages stuffed with soya-bean flour ought to be punishment enough, but a side issue in the election campaign has inflicted an additional ignominy.

Now John Bull is being told that people are a lot better off in France, which has peeled off all food controls, and in Western Germany, which recently freed food and proposese to do the same with gasoline.

Germany's action caused puzzled comment here and launched a political controversy. Why, it was asked, should a defeated enemy disperse with restrictions when victorious Britatin still has to put up with queues and ration books?

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express took up the theme in an editorial campaign, spiced with front-page dispatches from correpondents in Germany. The Express asserted food would be scarce as long as there was rationing and that more food would be produced if rationing were abolished.

Opposing Views.

Opposing views weer expressed by Food Minister John Strachey and The Yorkshire Post, a Conservative newspaper. Strachey argued that Germany had food in the shops, all right, but Britain had it in the homes. Germany still has "rationing by the banknote," he said.

The Yorkshire Post's main point was that rationing i unnecessary in Germany "not because there is plenty to eat but because a great number of people are too poor to buy food at the price at which it is offered." Average consumption, the Post said, is less than in Britain.

Other newspapers published letters purporting to show the plight of the average German housewife faced with a choice of buying food or clothes, because she could not afford both. The Independent Weekly Economist rapped both Strachey and The Express for "joyously over-simplifying" a complicated question.

In France, the Rightist Paris newspaper, Ce Matin, drew a light-hearted comparison in which Britain was referred to as "the streetcar named desire." There was no reference to the fact that before the war France's agricultural production provided for 88 per cent of her national needs, compared with 25 per cent for Britain.

Hog Producers Ask 36 Cents As Price Level

NIAGARA, Falls, Ont., Feb. 1 —(CP)—A group of 150 hog producers, meeting last night after regular sessions of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, approved a demand for a return to the 36-cent level for Wiltshire bacon sides.

The producers met in a committee session to prepare a resolution to put before the Federation's directors Thursday. At present the government floor price on Wiltshire sides is $32.50 a hundredweight. Swinemen claim they are losing $5 a hog at this price.

"We'll drop back the minute they can prove we are making unfair demands," said Charles McInnes of Iroquois, Ontario Hog Producers president.

Freight Train Jumps Tracks At Crossing

CAYUGA, Feb. 1.—(CP).—A fast C.N.R. freight train jumped the tracks as it passed the No. 3 highway level crossing last night near here. Six boxcars were overturned and three more completely smashed. No one was injured.

Traffic on the highway was held up for several hours before wrecking crews could clear a path through the debris of wood and steel. Freight traffic is still being detoured this morning as auxiliary crews from Fort Erie and London with derricks are clearing the wreckage from the right-of-way.

Canadian National Railway officials on the scene said that the cause of the derailment was unknown.

Board President

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 1 — (AP) — Dr. Albert Einstein, famed physicist and mathematician, Tuesday night was named president of a new joint board of directors of Israel's Hebrew University and Weizmann Institute of Science. The two instituations of higher learning were merged on Tuesday by action of the joint boards of directors, meeting in New York.

Public Welfare Dept. To Hear Dispute

SARNIA, Feb. 1—(CP)—B. W. Heise, Deputy Minister of Public Welfare for Ontario will visit Sarnia on Friday to confer with members of the city council and representatives of the Sarnia and Lambton County Children's Aid Society.

Mr. Heise has been requested to visit the city following the refusal of Lambton County Council to bear equal costs of estimated deficits in the workings of the Society for 1950.

Taking the stand that the deficit would be caused by excessive overhead costs County Council has voted only $6,500 on a deficit estimated at $30,000 claiming it is impossible to bear the balance of the cost. The Sarnia council has invited Mr. Heise to confer with them on the matter.

Flee From Fire

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—(CP). — Six adults and a child were forced to vacate their bedrooms today when fire, believed started by overheated chimney pipes, spread through the wall partitions of a three-storey house in Central Toronto. Damage was estimated at $700.

Seize Drug Carriers

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (CP)—Federal agents and police last night seized two men at La Guardia field with heroin worth $36,000 on the underworld dope market. One of the men was carrying seven eight-ounce packets of the drug enough to make 112,000 small capsules that retail to addicts at $3 each.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel — And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

NOTICE TO ONTARIO MOTORISTS

Re Unsatisfied Judgment Fund Fee

Under an amendment to the Highway Traffic Act enacted in 1947, provision was made for the creation of an Unsatisfied Judgment Fund out of which will be paid, in the manner prescribed, judgments for personal injuries and property damage sustained by reason of the operation of motor vehicles, which cannot be collected in the ordinary manner from the judgment debtors.

The method prescribed for creating the Fund is the collection of a special fee, when required, from each person to whom is issued either an operator's or a chauffeur's licence.

While this legislation has been in effect since the 1st of July, 1947, the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund Fee has been collected only since January 1st, 1949.

Total fees collected for the Fund and repayments to the Fund from January 1st to December 31st, 1949, amounted to.....$638,430.37

Judgments paid out of the Fund from July 1st, 1947, to December 31st, 1949, amounted to.....$630,644.03

As there is not now sufficient in the Fund to pay judgments for a period of a year, an Unsatisfied Judgment Fund Fee of 50c will be collected from each person to whom is issued a 1950 operator's or chauffeur's licence.

BILL OF PARTICULARS.—Answering Russia's Angry denial, the U.S. State Department backs up Secretary Acheson's recent charge that Russia is extending control over rich slices of North China, (diagonal shading) by giving an area-by-area picture of the situation. Taking Manchuria as an example of the Russian plan for domination, State points out: (1) Russia is "extending" control over railroads in that province. (2) Soviet troops occupy key ports of Dairen and Port Arthur. (3) Sixty per cent of farm produce is shipped to Russia. (4) Soviets operate key industrial and power plants, coal and gold mines, and the only civil airline. Type boxes on map are quotations from State Department charges.

June Allyson Being Given More Sexy Roles

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 1—(AP)—They're giving June Allyson the sex appeal treatment.

The blonde star has been considered the girl who would be "so nice to come home to." She has been cast as the understanding wife or as starry-eyed sweetheart swept off her feet by the hero. Imagine my surprise to find her in a role once intended for Ava Gardner.

"Gee, I even get to say things like 'dumb dame,' she glowed. "'you fall for every dumb dame that comes along,' I say. Now I've never said anything like that before in pictures."

Not Love Scenes

Not only that she also has some hot love scenes with Ricardo Montalban and husband Dick Powell. The latter even lures her to his apartment on the pretext of cooking her some spaghetti, the cad.

Miss Allyson seemed resentful when I asked how the studio would make her sexy.

"It takes some doing," she conceded. "Ava Gardner can do it with a look. It takes me three pages of dialogue to convey the same impression."

Whether as a sex queen or in her more usual role as the bright-faced maid, June Allyson is riding high these days.

Fourth Ranked

In the motion picture Herald's poll of box-office champions, she was the fourth female star, behind Betty Grable, Esther Williams and Loretta Young. And in a magazine's poll of rural movie goers, Miss Allyson was named the top actress of 1949.

This should have an effect on her relations with her studio, but hasn't. She continued to take orders and scripts without a complaint.

"The trouble is that I forget about the polls," she shrugged. "Sometimes I don't feel like doing a certain picture. I rehearse my speech to the bosses over and over and then go storming up to the Administration Building.

"But they treat me so nicely that I never get out a word of protest. I go home and Dick says, 'well, did you tell them?' I just sigh and say, 'honey, I'm so lucky to be working!' "

CANADA'S FIRST CANCER Information Centre was officially opened in Toronto recently when Controller Leslie Saunders handed the keys of "The Little Red Door" to registered nurse in charge, Ruth Cameron. It is the hope of the Canadian Cancer Society that this establishment will be the forerunner of other centres throughout Ontario in the very near future; there are many already functioning in the United States.

Apsley Church Membership Up

APSLEY, Feb. 1 —(ENS)—The minister's report at St. Stephen's Anglican Church, Chandos annual vestry meeting, revealed an increase in membership during the past year. The minister, Donald Hester presided at the meeting which was held in the Anglican rectory at Apsley.

W. Jeff, treasurer, presented an excellent financial report showing no outstanding debts and a balance of $116.44. One of the outstanding activities was the sucessful picnic held at Chandos Lake in August.

Sunday School continued to meet in the church and was also carried on by mail.

The following were elected to office for 1950:

Rector's Warden, Philip Tanner; people's warden, Mr. William Jeff; lay deyegate to Synod, Mr. William Jeff; alternate, Victor Tanner; Sunday school supt., Mrs. Victor Tanner; caretaker, Glen Young; chairman for Church Extension Campaign Fund, W. Jeff.

An increase in the minister's stipend was agreed upon, conforming with all other churches in the missions.

It was proposed to erected a fence round the church property.

Women Members Outnumbered In British Parliamentary Circle

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Feb. 1 (CP)—Women voters outnumber men in Britain, but it's the other way round as far as parliamentary representation is concerned.

Only 24 of the 640 members elected to the last House of Commons were women and there's not likely to be many more in the next house.

That's because there are only 106 women among the 1,600-odd candidates for the Feb. 23 general election. Last time, the 24, successful women were drawn from a total of 87 candidates. On that basis, less than 30 women can expect to win seats in the next Commons.

The line-up of prospective women candidates so far—there may be additions by nomination day—is 40 from Labor ranks, 30 Liberals, 27 Conservative and nie Communists.

In the last House, there were 21 Labor women M.P.s, two Conservatives and one Liberal. The number of Labor women subsequently was reduced to 19.

Straight Fight

A highlight this time will be a straight fight between women in several constituencies. One of the leading personalities involved is Lady Tweedsmuir, Conservative, who will oppose Mrs. Olive Cruchley in Aberdeen South.

Mrs. Cruchley, a London barrister, is a Socialist. Lady Tweedsmuir at 34 is considered one of the most photogenic women in British politics. Her husband is a 39-year-old former Canadian Army Infantry officer who sits on the Conservative front bench in the House of Lords.

If the election were conducted purely as a popularity poll, one women would be almost sure of a seat. She is Lady Megan Lloyd George, known as the "mother" of the mother of parliaments.

At 47, Lady Megan, daughter of a former Prime Minister, has served 20 years as Liberal member for Anglesey, winning unchallenged claim to seniority among "the ladies of the House."

Outstanding among Socialist women candidates is Dr. Edith Summerskill, famed for her daunting eye and mastery of food facts. As parliamentary secretary of the Food Ministry, Dr. Summerskill emerged from the gruelling "question time" in the Commons with a reputation for tart, factual replies, although her fondness for give-and-take outside the parliamentary chamber sometimes resulted in adverse publicity.

One of the youngest women in the Westminster stakes will be Margaret Roberts, 24-year-old

St. John's Reports Progress In '49

At St. John's annual vestry meeting Monday reports of progress were presented by all organisations connected with the church. A satisfactory financial statement was presented by the wardens, E. Vernon Morphet and J. A. Nornabell.

H. C. Sootheran reported on the charge of a church membership visitation in the fall which had stimulated interest in the various activities of the church.

C. E. Coleman reported on the Bible Society canvass and the work in this connection done by Mrs. J. Bell, Miss Agnes Stout, Miss E. Wood and Frederick Stewart was acknowledged.

The rector, the Ven Archdeacon W. P. Robertson presided.

H. C. Soothern reported on the Anglican Advance Appeal and pointed out that of the $16,981 subscribed by the parish, only $592.50 had not been collected and this represented less than 3½% of the total which was thought very good for an appeal of this kind which was spread over three years.

Refreshments were served by the Church Women's Association.

The following are the list of officers for the ensuing year: Rector's Warden, E. Vernon Morphet; people's Warden, John A. Nornabell; lay delegates to Synod, Dr. G. S. Cameron, W. R. L. Blackwell, C. Planes Get 2 More Radio Signals

Heavy Snowstorms Threaten To Delay A New Investigation

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., Feb. 2 —(CP)—Two more radio signals, one of them a reported voice transmission, were picked up Wednesday night as searchers continued the week-long hunt for a missing United States transport plane and its 44 occupants.

Air Commodore Martin Costello of Winnipeg, co-ordinator of the joint U.S.-Canada search, said one of the signals was picked up by a C-54 plane, the same type as the missing craft.

"Two planes from Fort Nelson (B.C.) have been sent to investigate," he said.

Heavy snowstorms today threatened to delay thorough investigation of the areas where the radio signals were heard.

Costello said the second signal was heard about 7:30 p.m. Yukon time (11:30 p.m. EST). It consisted of a series of VVV's and was picked up on the 500-kilocycle international distress frequency.

A similar signal reported Tuesday night resulted in a concentration of planes in the Smith River area, about 300 miles southeast of Whitehorse. Returning pilots reported no success.

The third radio signal was reported picked up south of Aishihik, about 105 miles northeast of Whitehorse along the route the missing plane would have taken It was reported to be a voice transmission and to have given figures of longitude.

Return Empty-handed

Pilots checking another report that of smoke clouds in the vicinity of Teslin, 80 miles southeast of Whitehorse, also came back empty-handed. They reported seeing only vapor clouds rising from an ice fault in the vicinity.

Costello ordered a 24-hour check of the 500-kilocycle band in cases that additional signals [illegible]

Topsy-Turvy Winter Weather Shocks Experts

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Canada's No. 1 weather man today said officially what residents of Western Canada have felt all along: Canada has borne the brunt of a temporary midwinter shift extending right around the whole northern hemisphere.

Andrew Thompson, head of Canada's Meteorological Service, put it this way:

"There have been abnormalities in the flow of the atmosphere right around the globe. But the biggest shift and the most unusual storms have been located between the centre line of the Pacific and the centre line of the Atlantic, with Canada about in the middle of the area.

"British Columbia and Alberta have felt the worst of it. The warm winter on the eastern side of the country has been pleasant, but hard on some industries."

Amazed At Pattern

Mr. Thomson confessed that weather observers are "amazed" at the persistence of the abnormal pattern.

Western Alaska has had an exceptionally mild winter, with occasional dust storms instead of the usual blizzards, while the British Columbia west coast, hundreds of miles to the east, has been getting the blizzards.

East of the Great Lakes, the warmest January weather on record has been reported from several points.

A 60-degree reading in Toronto Jan. 25 exceeded all previous January and February highs in this city since the Canadian weather service was started.

Give Ruling On Rents Before March

Supreme Court Ends Hearing Today; Decision Made Soon

OTTAWA, Feb. 2—(CP)—The Supreme Court hearing on validity of Federal rent controls concluded today and Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret promised a judgment before the end of February.

The hearings ended in their fourth day after a brief rebuttal by F. P. Varcoe, Deputy Minister of Justice, to arguments offered by those challenging the Federal rent controls.

The Federal government has said that if the Supreme Court upholds the rent controls, they will be maintained for at least another year.

However, if the court decides that the controls are beyond Federal government powers, the controls will lapse March 31. From then on the field will be left completely to the provinces.

Arguments both for and against Federal rent controls have been placed before the seven Justices.

For and Against

Those favoring the validity of controls were: The Federal Government, the Province of Ontario, Canadian Congress of Labor, Canadian Legion, and tenants of Canada.

Those arguing that rent controls are invalid were: The Province of Quebec and the Landlords' Associations of Canada.

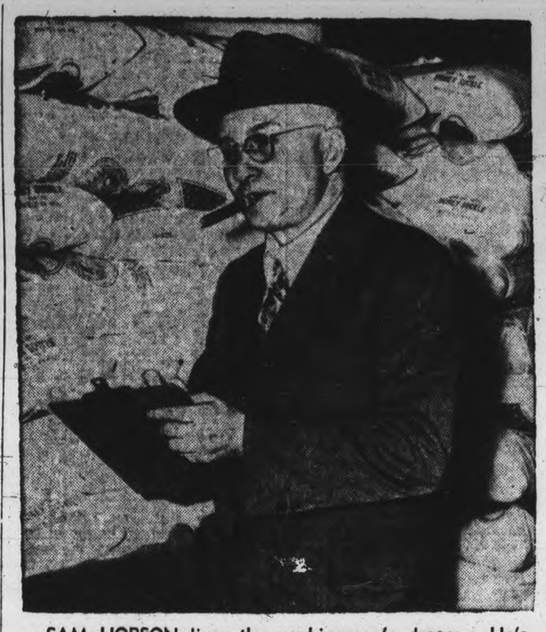
Replying to various opposing arguments, Mr. Varcoe said the Government was carrying through its policy of gradual decontrol.

In a few months, he forecast, the Federal rent controls may only affect a few congested areas, such as Montreal, Vancouver and Toronto.

Winding Up Process

The controls might be lifted from all other areas, particularly those where there was no housing problem.

He referred to argument by R. W. M. Chitty, counsel for the Boards that Finance [illegible]



SAM HOBSON lives the workingman's dream. He's clerk in the Kroger company's warehouse in Memphis, Tenn., and he holds more stock in the firm than its president. President Joseph B. Ball says so himself. Hobson started out with $2,800 worth of stock in 1908. Now it's estimated at $92,000.

Canada Will Again Allow US Radios To Be Imported

OTTAWA, Feb. 2—(CP)—Canada, importing about $2,000,000,000 worth of goods each year from the United States shortly will be allowed to increase the total. An informed source Wednesday disclosed that the government is planning a still further relaxation of controls on the import of American goods.

An announcement within the next few weeks is expected to contain a two-pronged move—shifting of commodities from the prohibited list to the quota list and shifting of commodities from the quota list to complete freedom of government controls.

The relaxation move likely will become effective April 1 and will involve merely the importation of consumer items and not capital goods.

Affected will be such items as washing machines, radios and refrigerators, which have been prohibited since Canada's dollar [illegible] Canada until next July, when price support for bacon ends and the Anglo-Canadian bacon contract is filled.

Items which have been allowed into Canada on a quota basis include such things as textiles, prepared and canned foods, likely will be decontrolled.

The move to ease restrictions on imports from the United States is in line with the policy already announced by Mr. Abbott that barriers will be raised as Canada's dollar position gains in strength.

In November, 1947, Canada's reserves amounted to about $500,000,000—considered a dangerous low. They now have reached $1,117,000,000, compared with the high of $1,600,000,000 in 1946.

Amherst Island Cut Off By Ice

KINGSTON, Feb. 2 —(CP)—The Canadian Shipbuilding tug Ashtabula today towed the ferry Amherst Islander into Kingston harbor after freeing her from the ice-bound pier at the island village of Stella.

The ferry, only regular means of water communication between the island's 500 residents and the mainland, was imprisoned last week when the Bay of Quinte began to freeze. She will remain in Kingston for [illegible] annual overhaul. [illegible]

Residents got their mail Wednesday by plane, landing near Stella on harbor ice. It was the first delivery since Saturday and flights will continue until the situation improves.

No food shortage so far has developed on the 15,000-acre island. Storekeepers said they had sufficient stocks available to meet normal demands.

Appointed Assistant

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 — (CP) — George Prudham, Liberal member of the Commons for Edmonton West, has been appointed parliamentary assistant to Resources Minister Winters, it was announced today by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Seven-Day Deadline Been Given

Canadian Official Outlines Incidents 'Created' By Czechs

OTTAWA, Feb. 2—(CP)—Two members of the Czechoslovakian legation in Ottawa have been ordered to leave Canada within seven days.

The Department of External Affairs said in a statement today that a note had been delivered to the Czechoslovakian Charge D'Affaires in Ottawa ordering Hugo Bohounek, clerk of the Commercial Attache, and Richard Bergmann, bookkeeper, to leave the country "within seven days of the delivery of the note."

The government approved immediate dispatch of the note Wednesday, shortly after the return to this country of two members from the Canadian legation in Prague

The men, Sgt. Reginald Danko, 32, of Toronto and Lauder, Man., and Cpl. Gaston Vanier, 28, of Rochebaucourt, Que., were expelled from Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia Jan. 19 last.

The Czech government ordered the Canadians to leave that country within 12 hours on the ground that their behavior represented an "abuse of hospitality."

The men, both members of the RCAF, were flown to the United Kingdom and arrived here by air Wednesday.

Unwarranted Interference

In a statement tracing events leading up to the expulsion of the two Canadians and today's retaliatory action by this country, External Affairs officials said Czech officials in Ottawa were informed Jan. 23 that "this interference with Canadian staff in Prague was wholly unwarranted."

The External Affairs statement said the Czech charge d'affaires, Stanislav Klima, was "requested to ascertain from his government if it was their intention deliberately to embarrass the work of the Canadian Legation in Prague." No reply has been received to this inquiry.

"In the circumstances the government approved Wednesday

U.S. Will Refuse To Try Hirohito

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(AP)—A surprise Soviet proposal to try the Japanese emperor on criminal charges involving the use of germ warfare will be rejected by the United States, officials said today.

The exact response has to be worked out by the State Department after study of the charges filed Wednesday against Hirohito and four other Japanese.

The U.S. Government looks for most of the other former wartime enemies of Japan to reject the Soviet proposals also.

To accept the proposal would mean (1) reversing a 1949 decision by the 13-country Far Eastern Commission to wind up all the war crimes trials, and (2) upsetting the American policy of controlling Japan during the occupation through the emperor.

Approve Abolishing Electoral College

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—A new method of electing presidents and vice-presidents of the United States was approved by the Senate Wednesday in a proposed constitutional amendment still subject to action by the House of Representatives and 48 State Legislatures.

It would abolish the Electoral College as such, and split the electoral vote of each State among the candidates in proportion to their popular vote.

If approved, it would be the first change in the presidential electing machinery in 145 years.

Stalled In Drifts

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Feb. 2 — (CP) — At least three Canadian Pacific Railway locomotives were stalled in huge snowdrifts and one turned over in the Pincher-Lundbreck region west of here today as a result of a southwest gale which roared over southern Alberta during the night. Two railway snowplows were also stalled in drifts as rail movement west of Lethbridge became completely tied up.

Conservatives Buy House For P.C. Leader

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—(CP).— A permanent home has been provided for the leader of the Progressive Conservative party in Rockcliffe, exclusive residential suburb of Ottawa's eastern fringe.

Announcement was made today by Mr. Grattan O'Leary, vice-president of the Ottawa Journal, chairman of a committee set up by a group of Canadian citizens who made the purchase. The group included "citizens of both major political parties."

The home if that of Mrs. I. Perley-Robertson, daughter of the late Sir George Perley, one-time Canadian High Commissioner in London and for many years a stalwart in the Conservative party.

Purchase price of the residence was not announced, but it is understood to have been $55,000. The house is at 541 Acacia Road.

Move in April 1

George Drew will be the first occupant. It is understood he and Mrs. Drew will move in about April 1.

A near neighbor of the Drews will be Prime Minister St. Laurent. A permanent home for Canada's Prime Minister is being reconditioned on the banks of the Ottawa river on Sussex St., about a mile across Rockcliffe Park from the Perley-Robertson house.

At any time the leader of the Progressive Conservative party holds the office of Prime Minister and moves into the Sussex St. residence, occupancy of the Acacia Avenue house will be decided by a board of trustees which will administer the property.

Communist Strong Man Sent Home

Government Insists Lowly Bookkeeper In Expulsion Order

OTTAWA, Feb. 2—(CP)—The government today singled out for expulsion a man who is listed merely as a bookkeeper at the Czechoslovakian legation in Ottawa but who is reliably reported to be its Communist "strong man."

He is Richard Bergmann, one of two Czechs given seven days to leave the country in retaliation for Czech expulsion of two Canadians on charges Canada considers groundless.

Informed quarters said Bergmann's expulsion represents a boomerang against a typical part of Communist diplomacy—the system of sending key Communists to foreign countries in menial roles.

The Royal Commission report on Russian espionage, for instance, disclosed that Russian military officers were acting as doormen and chauffeurs at the Soviet embassy.

Up To Tricks

There were indications the Canadian government was aware of Bergmann's true status. A high official of the External Affairs Department said the ostensible status of the two Czechs "more or less corresponds" with that of the two Canadians.

However, he added, "that doesn't mean that we haven't exercised some discretion."

Reporters who hustled to the Czech Legation couldn't find Bergmann. A man at the door said he wasn't around.

The government's action in ordering the expulsion of two employees does not mean a breach in diplomatic relations with Czechoslovakia, a government spokesman said.

The Canadian government spokesman said that retaliatory expulsions, as they were sometimes called, were becoming an accepted part of relations with the Soviet satellites.

Jan. Snowfall Normal

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP)—Skiers may find this hard to believe, but the over-all snowfall in the Toronto region last month was normal for January. And in the Ottawa valley it was only 10 per cent below normal.

That's the word today from the Toronto public weather office, where officials have been looking back over records for a month which several times saw mild spells clear the ground of snow. Rainfall was two to four times the normal amount for January.

All Southern Ontario experienced unusually mild weather during the month, with average temperatures eight to nine degrees above normal. Records for high January temperatures were broken here and in some other cities.

and ended Jan. 30.

Topsy-Turvy

Winnipeg has had its coldest January since 1875. A few days ago, Fort William reported 41 below, its lowest reading ever. At present, the map is so topsy-turvy that Vancouver is colder than some points on the Arctic Coast.

As to what has happened to Canada's winter weather, Mr. Thomson says:

"The weather pattern has been displaced in a westward direction, so that the regions of warm weather are found 1,500 miles west of their usual winter location."

In any average year, such shifts often occur, but they are brief, seldom longer than a week.

This year the hot and cold patches have been out of place for seven weeks, much longer

Delays Train

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP) — A fight on a fast Canadian Pacific Railway train today resulted in one man being taken to hospital in Brampton and an hour's delay of the train.

Thomas McKinnie, 36, of Strathroy, Ont., received four stitches for face wounds when he was knocked through the glass door of a train coach.

Train officials said the fight started as the train left West Toronto station. Passengers on the train said at least a dozen persons were in the free-for-all which developed when one man was reported to have annoyed a married man and his wife from London.

The train was stopped at Streetsville pending the arrival of Provincial Police.

Groundhog Struts His Stuff For Faithful No Sign Of Shadow, So Spring's On Way

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Feb. 2 (AP)—The groundhog seer of Gobblers Knob made it short and sweet today. It'll be an early spring.

The little animal with the big reputation as a weather prophet did his stuff for a little band of the faithful under cloudy, dark skies.

Lack of a shadow, by tradition, means spring is on the way. If the groundhog had spotted his shadow, all faithful followers would have believed they were in for six more weeks of winter.

For 50 years, members of the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club have kept the watch. This is the first time he failed to see his shadow.

Fortunately for the standing of groundhogs as weather forecasters, a rival woodchuck prophet at Quarryville in Eastern Pennsylvania returned the same prediction—no shadow, early spring.

The report was made by Charles F. Hess, hibernating governor of the Quarryville Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs. He said the annual ritual was conducted in a pea soup fog.

"You couldn't see more than 50 yards," he declared.

Members of the Quarryville Lodge of Slumbering Groundhogs—clad in nightshirts and silk hats—gathered at the burrow of their favorite weather seer.

That the groundhog would see his shadow in southern Ontario appeared unlikely about mid-day. Weather observers reported cloudy skies along the lower lakes, with a possibility of clearing at night.

The sky over Toronto was overcast. There appeared to be just a chance that the sun might break briefly through the haze.

Coal Strike Talks Have Broken Down

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Union-operator negotiations for a settlement of the coal dispute collapsed today.

The number of strikers swelled Monday to 100,000, more than a quarter of the total soft-coal miners in the United Mine Workers Union. The rest were on a three-day week.

President Truman asked John L. Lewis, head of the UMW, and the operators Tuesday to restore "normal production" for 70 days. He offered, with their approval, to assign a fact-finding board to recommend a solution to the contract dispute in the coal industry.

[illegible] —The wreckage of a Royal Dutch Airlines DC-3, missing on flight from Amsterdam to London with freight and mail, was found in the sea early today about 50 miles west of The Hague.

The 1,578-ton Danish steamer Rigmor was stated to be standing by the wreck.

Five British aircraft took off from England to help in the search

The plane with a crew of seven, including six trainees, left Schiphol Airfield at 3 a.m.

Forty minutes later, as the plane was crossing the Dutch coast, it reported back to control at Schiphol. Then there was silence. Then the Rigmor reported she had seen a burning plane fall into the sea. Dutch lifeboats and rescue aircraft left in search.

No survivors have been sighted.

No Constitution Changes Needed For Plan—Garson

OTTAWA, Feb. 2. — (CP). — Justice Minister Garson said Wednesday that federal-provincial co-operation in the spheres of taxation, public investment and social security is possible without any changes in the constitution.

In a speech to the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Club, Mr. Garsons said co-operation was possible if the federal and provincial governments could reach effective agreement on the points at issue.

"It is self-evident that we cannot have the benefits of Dominion-provincial agreements either to remove multiplicity of taxation in all provinces or to prevent overlapping old-age pensions administration or public investment policy for Canada, unless the provinces and the Dominion reach effective agreements on these points," he said.

This held whether the federal government and the provinces agree on a method of amending the constitution in Canada instead of the United Kingdom on matters within joint jurisdiction of the Dominion and the provinces.

He referred to an editorial in the Jan. 30 Toronto Globe and Mail that said it is a "common belief, given currency by Justice Minister Garson, that Canada's constitution needs to be rewritten before there can be fruitful co-operation" in the spheres of taxation, public investment and social security.

"Contrary to what this editorial states, I have never at any time 'given currency' to this 'common belief'," said Mr. Garson.

Big Uranium Deposit Uncovered In Quebec

QUEBEC, Feb. 2 — (CP) — L'Evenement-Journal says today in a front page story that "important deposits of uranium" have been discovered in Charlevoix county in an area covering 40 square miles.

The newspaper says the deposits extend from St. Simeon, about 150 miles down river from Quebec to the Saguenay River.

L'Evenement says a delegation of Charlevoix County residents is scheduled to meet Premier Duplessis and cabinet ministers Friday and will ask for extension of the Quebec-Chicoutimi highway to St. Simeon to allow development of a new mining centre.

The newspaper describes prospecting activities in Charlevoix County as a rush for uranium finds and says that some 15,000 acres have been staked.

Elderly Pair Die In Fire Night Before Homecoming

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 2 (CP) —Death struck an elderly couple Wednesday as they were spending their last night here before leaving for their former hometown, Stratford.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bradshaw, 66 and 58, were pronounced dead on arrival at hospital shortly after they were found lying unconscious on the bedroom floor of a west Victoria home severely damaged by fire.

Their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Bradshaw, and her two children, Mona 3, and five-month-old Lloyd, escaped with minor injuries. Her husband, a petty officer in the RCN, who is taking a course at Halifax, left by air for this city after he heard the news.

An inquest will be held Monday.

PO. Millian Majorki, 29, owner of the home, helped his wife and their four children out of the flaming home.

Firemen, led by assistant fire chief Frank Briers found the still bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw near a window in the upstairs portion of the house They smashed the front door and went through a wall of fire to get upstairs.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw will be taken to Sebringville, near Stratford, for burial.

Married for 42 years, the elder Bradshaws lived most of their lives at Sebringville, near Stratford. Funeral services will be held at Trinity Anglican Church with burial in the church cemetery at Sebringville. They moved to Victoria last spring, a few weeks after Mr. Bradshaw had retired after long service in the Canadian National Railways shops at Stratford.

Request Gov't Pay Social Service Cost

Mayors Feel Burden Should Fall On Two Governments

TORONTO, Feb. 2—(CP)—Ontario municipalities want the Federal and Provincial governments to assume the financial burden of social services and administration of justice.

A brief submitted by the Ontario Association of Mayors and Reeves to Premier Frost of Ontario Wednesday suggested that the bigger governments could assume such costs. The brief was presented by Reeve Ann Shipley of Teck Township (Kirkland Lake) and was accepted without comment.

The municipalities' brief also urged a plan for payment of provincial grants that would enable municipalities to develop sound fiscal planning.

It urged payment of property tax on provincial and federal government properties in municipalities; asked for a more adequate share of the provincial motorcar licence fees and gasoline taxes, and said the municipalities should have reasonable control over the budgets of education and library boards, police services and high commissions.

The brief claimed that homes for the aged, child welfare and unemployment relief are among social services that are properly responsibilities of the senior governments. These and welfare administration cost the municipalities more than $14,000,000 in 1948, it said, although provincial grants for such purposes totalled only to $2,250,000.

Oddfellows Unite Honor Founder

Oddfellows of Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges and members of Rebekah Lodge held a joint celebration this week in honor of Thomas Wildey, the founder of Oddfellowship in America. A highlight of the evening was the presentation of veteran jewels to 10 of those present.

Brother Drummond of Otonabee Lodge was eligible for a 50-year jewel but due to illness was unable to be present. Brothers McDonald, Morry, Mantell and Benton were recipients of 25-year jewels, presented by DDGM Brother Jake Isbister. Brothers Fred Batten, E. J. Dibben, Sam Thompson, J. W. Ashmore, Sherman Rowe and E. J. Mesley received 25-year jewels from Brother Wm. Petrie, noble grand of Peterborough Lodge 111.

Brother James Huff in an address urged increasing effort to put forth the ideals of Oddfellowship, basic principles of which have remained unchanged during 131 years. He told the story of Thomas Wildey who came from England to Baltimore, Maryland, and in 1819 formed a lodge of Oddfellows in his adopted country which he called Washington Lodge No. 1. "If his ideas for a universal brotherhood, could become a reality, the people of all nations could live as friendly neighbors, just as the citizens of US and Canada" the speaker pointed out.

Remember Ideals

To lodge officers he suggested that they make sure all members are aware what cussions through which ways to enliven and better the order might be proposed.

Brother Ray Juby, noble grand of Otonabee Lodge, was chairman for an enjoyable program, arranged by a joint committee, to which he extended congratulations. Brother Arthur Winslow, chairman of the committee, said a few words, expressing pleasure for the support of 250 attendants.

After the showing of two films, dancing, cards and carpet bowling were enjoyed. Refreshments were served at the close.

Ex-Russian Spy In Canada Big RCMP Help

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (CP)—A former Russian spy now living in Canada is proving a valuable source of information to the RCMP, it was reported Wednesday.

The story, which drew no comment from official sources here, was that the former agent had been picked up by the RCMP in 1938, and ever since had been living under an assumed name with a police guard.

His whereabouts was described as "a large eastern Canadian city."

One report here was that Louis Russell, chief investigator for the House of Representatives Un-American Activities Committee, recently visited Canada in an unsuccessful attempt to interview the Russian.

Although the Russian was said to have been picked up 12 years ago when he used a forged Canadian birth certificate and passport to enter Canada, he was described as being as valuable a source of information as Igor Gouzenko, Russian cipher clerk who fled the Soviet embassy in Ottawa in 1945 and touched off the Canadian spy inquiry.

The Soviet agent was reported to have named several United States government employees as spies. He also was reported to have been identified in a secret espionage report placed before President Truman in 1945.

Holstein Men Name Directors

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—W. Ray Wilson of Kenmore, Ont., president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, suggested Wednesday that agricultural organizations approach industry and labor in an effort to solve economic problems. He was addressing 1,000 breeders attending the annual meeting of the association.

Secretary G. M. Clemens of Brantford reported that 1949 registraitons totalled 58,292, a seven-per-cent increase over 1948. Membership was 11,234, an increase of four per cent.

A master breeder shield was presented to A. Seiling of Elmira, Ont.

A class extra certificate for bulls went to Lorne B. Reid of Ripley, Ont.

Officers for 1950 will be elected today.

Ontario directors chosen Wednesday included:

Eastern Ontario—George McLaughlin, Oshawa; J. T. Brown, Newcastle; W. F. Fawcett, Winchester; F. C. Eligh, Finch; Bryden Clark, Kingston; W. E. Burton, Vars.

next year to become teachers visited the Public Schools Wednesday. Thirty students, the largest number in the past four years to show an interest in school teaching, observed teachers in action at seven schools.

Four years ago the Vocational Guidance Department of the PCVS started taking students out as an interest group. The teaching group is the first of three to go out in February. A nurses' interest group will visit the hospital on February 22, while the other is an engineering interest group.

The students who went out to the schools on Wednesday were: King Edward School, Mary Gerow, Colleen Dawson, Lynn Davidson, Shirley Hudgin; Queen Alexandra School, Betty North, Frances Wilson; King George School, Ninita Bogue, Joyce Beggs, Evelyn Wallace, Mary Parker, Marilyn Hamilton; Queen Mary School, Ann Lewis, Gwen Todd, Margaret Heal, Doris Jopling, George Bedford, Mary Stevenson, Barbara Bryant, Carol Raper, Betty Scollard; Prince of Wales School, Marilyn Hollingsworth, Wilfred Moncrief, Walter Downes, Ted King, Elda Wilson, Joan Krogh; Central School, Keith Borland, Alan Bennett, Lois Jones; Confederation School, James Edwards.

Can Find No Trace Of Missing Laborer

BROCKVILE, Feb. 2 (CP) — Searchers Wednesday night reported no trace of William Hayden, middle-aged farm laborer who disappeared Monday night and is believed to have drowned after breaking through the ice on Beverley Lake, 25 miles north of here.

Residents of the district have been searching the shores of the lake for the past two days. Hayden accompanied his employer, John Coon, into Delta on Monday evening and Hayden apparently started back alone across the thin ice.

Jaycees Start Public Speaking 12 Week Course

Peterborough's Junior Chamber of Commerce tonight begins a 12-week public speaking course. The nightly agenda includes a guest speaker, three Jaycees giving brief addresses and an educational film.

James Scott, Bell Telephone salesman for the Central Ontario district (including Peterborough), will be heard tonight. He has been asked to talk on the benefits of a public speaking course.

This course is one of the annual Jaycee projects undertaken to help in the practical education of young businessmen. Other interests of the Junior Chamber are leadership training, civic affairs, forum committees, traffic safety and tourist industry.

Scheduled to follow the guest speaker tonight and give three to five minute addresses on subjects of their own choosing are Grenville Lathangue, Charles McCabe and Leonard Martin.

The film will be "Telephone Courtesy," supplied by Bell Telephone.

Slated as guest speakers at later meetings of the course are William Graff, public library service; Wilson M. Gemmell, banking; Alex Sinclair, recreation; Russell Baer, radio; James Fraser, tourist industry; H. L. Garner, newspaper uses; Identification Officer William Aggas, criminal investigation; T. J. Carley, law; E. A. Outram, civic administration and the Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough, on Canadianism

Visitors to the public speaking course are welcome but only Jaycees are permitted to participate

Abbott had terminated the national emergency a year and a half ago when he offered the rental fields to any province that would accept them.

Mr. Varcoe said Mr. Abbott's intention was to continue the policy of decontrol. It was the winding up process and was meant to ease restrictions without "crudely abandoning them" suddenly.

Earlier, Mr. Chitty concluded his case with the contention that [illegible] justification for the control, he said, the court must find that there is a situation existing in Canada a present which is of such national importance that only the federal government could properly legislate for it.

It would not be sufficient for the court to find that the federal government can "advantageously" deal with the situation. It must be "essential" that the federal government and not the provinces maintain rent controls.

Mr Chitty's contention was that it is not "essential" to have the federal government legislating on rent control. He added that the federal government had admitted this more than a year ago by offering to turn over to any province or provinces the authority over rent controls.

Mr. Justice I. C. Rand said he didn't agree that the federal government had admitted by this action that national rent control was no longer essential.

Expect Canada's Population Reach 14 Million In 1950

OTTAWA, Feb. 2—(CP)—Canada's population is increasing at the rate of around 26,000 persons a month. If it keeps up, the population should top 14,000,000 by the end of 1950. The population at Dec. 1, 1949, the Bureau of Statistics said today in its quarterly estimate, was 13,707,000. In the six months from last June 1, it had increased approximately 158,000.

The bureau did not give population figures by provinces. It said there was no up-to-date information between provinces but that information would be contained in the annual population estimate June 1.

In a complex report on population trends, based on studies of birth and death rates, the bureau estimated in 1946 that Canada's population would reach 15,000,000 by 1990 and then decline slowly.

That report, however, was based solely on birth and death rates and did not include immigration.

Since it was issued, the population has swollen with the entry of Newfoundland—and its 348,000 inhabitants—and heavy immigration from Europe—amounting to 125,000 persons in one year alone.

No Accurate Survey

There won't be an accurate check on the bureau's estimates until next year when the 1951 census is taken. The official census of 1941 showed Canada then had a population of 11,507,000.

During the 12 months ending last June 1, the population increased by 662,000 persons. Only 225,000 of this was a natural increase—the result of more births than deaths—the rest was due to immigration and the addition of Newfoundland.

Farmers See Proposal Aid To Prices

Four-Cent Increase In Egg Floor Price Rejected By Hannam

NIAGARA FALLS, Feb. 2—(CP)—The Canadian Federation of Agriculture convention passed a resolution Wednesday urging establishment of national and provincial marketing boards to work in conjunction with the Federal Prices Support Act. Delegates asked that Agriculture Minister Gardiner call a meeting of Dominion and Provincial government agricultural officers with representatives of producer organizations to work out the plan.

The marketing boards plan was seen as the federation's answer to Mr. Gardiner's speech Tuesday, when he said that provincial rights were a factor in the complicated picture of price supports. A permanent act, framed so that its provisions can be applied in such a manner as to ensure fair returns for agricultural products in relation to other industries, was sought in a resolution that was passed unanimously.

Dr. E. C. Hope of Ottawa, CFA economist, told the convention that agriculture is at an unfair disadvantage compared to other industries and labor as a whole. He said that in drafting new price support legislation the government should consider a formula setting the range at which prices may be fixed; should announce floor prices before crop production is started; should include a plan for disposal of surpluses and that farmers should be assisted by direct payments on the basis of volume of products.

Need Consultation

Dr. Hope said that price support plans should result from consultation between the governments and organized farmers. The government's attitude appeared to be not to provide price supports until the farmers were desperate.

"If we are to iron out the more violent changes in farm income due to sudden loss of markets then we must have some method of preventing farm prices from falling as low as the free market would take them," he said. "Only by preventing extremely low prices can we forestall future high prices."

A surprise was the rejection of a resolution asking a four-cent increase in the recently-announced floor price for eggs. H. H. Hannam of Ottawa, association president, objected to wording of the resolution which indicated it had come from the previous meeting, and the resolution was left for the directors along with one asking for restoration of the 36-cent minimum for Wiltshire sides.

Past Grand Master of the Orange Lodge in Ontario East conducted on Monday night the election and installation of officers of the city of Peterborough District LOL No. 3. The following were elected and installed:

Give Their Version

The department issued a lengthy statement of the Canadian version of the expulsion of Danko and Vanier as well as the Czech note of Jan. 18 asking that they leave the country. That note was seen in official circles as enough proof in itself that charges against the Canadians were "baseless and unjustified."

A high official said Canada's retaliation fits into a general pattern of western retorts to similar iron curtain treatment of United States, United Kingdom and French representatives. It indicates that the western powers, as a group, are prepared to react firmly.

Czechoslovakia's action was interpreted as part of a Moscow-decreed policy now being extended to all satellite countries in an effort to isolate western representatives from the local people.

The Canadian statement recalled that Danko was accused by the Czechs early in January of espionage and of paying "considerable sums" for information. He was asked to leave the country against two Czechs employed at the Canadian legation. One was arrested, the other denied permission to continue working at the legation, "both without cause given."

This, the statement said, meant that there has been a "series of steps" by the Czech government "all aimed, without any well-founded reason, at embarrassing the normal routine and work of the legation."

The "climax" came in mid-January. Three "roughly-dressed and threatening-looking individuals" began to lurk around Danko's apartment. They told him they weren't police, that they were waiting to see a lawyer.

On the evening of Jan. 17, Varnier, Danko and four ladies were leaving Danko's apartment when a trio of Czechs stopped them

Touches Girl

One laid an arm on one of the girls. Vanier asked for his identification papers. The man would not produce them. Vanier brushed him aside and the man stumbled and fell and tore his coat.

By the next day a "small crowd" of Czechs were outside the apartment, "a number of tough-looking individuals." Danko got officers from the legation and went back.

A policeman was in the crowd He mentioned the tearing of the coat. The Canadians withdrew, came back later and found only a policeman around. But when the air attache, Group Captain R. A Cameron left the apartment later "he found a number of watchers, perhaps 10 in all, tucked into various corners of the corridors."

He went to a police station and asked for protection for Danko By the next day the number of watchers, none wearing uniforms, had considerably increased outside the apartment.

No Display of Arms

"Neither from their dress, words, or actions did the individuals involved appear to have any official authority. At no time was there any use or display of fire-arms. Neither of the Canadians carried arms."

It was that day, Jan. 19, that the Czechs asked the two Canadians to leave because of "abuse of hospitality."

The Czech note charged that Danko and "two unknown men" had "attacked the Czechoslovak security organs who were guarding an apartment house." Danko, asked to identify himself, had "endangered them by the threat of shooting as he had his hand in his coat pocket and in this way was clearly showing that he had a firearm."

Arctic Influence

"The reason why these large-scale temperature shifts maintain themselves is obscure," says Mr. Thomson. "The recurrence of the unusually long shifts in winter weather two years in succession indicates some systematic control is at work.

tion "fix" could be obtained on the point of origin.

In referring to the second signal—the series of VVV's—Costello said there is no reason to believe the series of the letter V were transmitted by a "Gibson girl," an emergency radio transmitter carried by army planes.

More than two score planes participated in the search Wednesday, completing what Costello described as the "preliminary all-out effort."

Two other clues which search planes will investigate further today are a peculiar snowslide in the Carcross area, 46 miles south of here, and a report from the Téslin, Y. T., radio range station of a large cloud of black smoke.

Seize 8 Bags Uncover Theft Ring

Thousands of Dollars Worth of Goods Taken In Montreal

MONTREAL, Feb. 2—(CP)—Chief of Detectives Wilfrid Bourdon said today that evidence of a large-scale theft ring involving exchange of stolen goods between Montreal, Hamilton and Toronto has been uncovered as the result of the arrest of four youths in Montreal and one in Hamilton.

Mr. Bourdon said that one of the youths arrested in Montreal Wednesday night was a young man dressed as a woman, complete with "falsies," high-heel shoes and bandana.

"When our investigation is completed we will probably have found that several thousand dollars worth of stolen goods looted from private homes in the city has found its way to Hamilton and Toronto where it was being handled by receivers there," Mr. Bourdon said.

On the same principle, he said, a number of second-hand dealers in Montreal have been buying hosehold articles, apparently stolen in Hamilton and Toronto.

Seize Suitcases

Wednesday Hamilton police, acting on information from Montreal, seized eight bags and grips at the Canadian National Railway station. They were said to contain several thousand dollars' worth of stolen goods.

One man was placed under arrest by Hamilton police when he presented himself at the station to claim the luggage.

At Hamilton police said the man they arrested for Montreal authorities was listed as being Paul Emil Roberge, 39, formerly of Timmins.

Trail Rangers Plan Hold Pancake Social

Trail Rangers of the George St. United Church, the only group in the city of its kind, will celebrate Tuxas and CGIT Week Friday with a penny bazaar and pancake social.

The Trail Rangers are boys from 12 to 14 years old and are under the direction of Donald Kingdon. The 14 members work on the four-square plan of life, paying attention to devotional, physical, intellectual, and social life. They promise to seek truth, cherish health, love God and help others.

As a second part of their week's celebrations the boys will be taking the opening ceremonies in the Sunday school on Sunday.

EYE

YELLOW SPOT

Have you ever noticed how restless the eye is, always moving to the left or right, up or down? Have you ever wondered why? It is because of the way the retina is constructed.

The retina is a portion of the brain which has been pushed out into the back of the eye-socket and around which the eye is formed. It is to the eye what a film is to a camera: the picture-taking part. But the retina is not equally sensitive all over. In the middle is a tiny disk about a twenty-fifths of an inch in diameter. This is the yellow spot.

The yellow spot is much more sensitive to light than the outer portions of the retina. In its center is a minute hollow about a hundredth of an inch in diameter. Eyesight specialists call this the "fovea", and it is the most sensitive part of the eye.

With the yellow spot only three twenty-fifths of an inch in diameter and a fovea only a hundredth of an inch in diameter, it is easy to understand why the eye is restless. A face, for instance, is much larger than the fovea, and to see a face properly the yellow spot and the fovea have to explore it, run all over it in a fraction of a second.

Without the yellow spot you could not read a book. The lower animals have no yellow spot, so even if you had the right kind of brain they could not learn to read.

There is probably a connection between man's highly developed brain and the yellow spot. It is his yellow spot that makes him human. It has enabled him to invent written language and to transmit his acquired knowledge to following generations.

James Dorie Dies In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 2 — (ENS)—Campbellford lost one of its life-long and highly respected citizens Tuesday with the death of James Louis Dorie. Mr. Dorie died at his home, Sebastopol St., at the age of 82.

Born at Healey Falls, near Campbellford, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Dorie, of this town. His wife, the former Elizabeth Laird, died 11 years ago.

Mr. Dorie had been ill only one week. He leaves two children, Mrs. Roy Post (Emma), of Pontiac, Michigan, and a son, Fred, of Campbellford; seven grandchildren, a sister, Liza, of Toronto; and W. O. Dorie of Campbellford. Mr. Dorie worked until nine years ago for the Barrymore Cloth Company.

He attended St. John's United Church and was a member of the Royal Black Knight Lodge. He was also a member of the Town Council some 20 years ago.

The Rev. D. M. Smith, of St. John's United Church, will conduct a service today at Bennett's funeral home, and burial will be in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Campbellford.

Hold Funeral Service For Roy Smith, Fenella

ROSENEATH, Feb. 2 (ENS) — The funeral service of Roy Smith was held on Wednesday at his home at Fenella.

He was born in Haldimand township 57 years ago, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Smith and spent his entire life there.

Mr. Smith's death occurred on Monday after a lengthy illness He is survived by his wife, a daughter Illa in Toronto and a number of brothers and sisters.

Falling Farm Prices Said National Problem

NORTH GOWER, Ont., Feb. 2 (CP)—Pat Conroy, secretary of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said Wednesday night falling farm prices are a national problem and must be solved on a national basis.

"Let the government and the farmers sit down together and solve this problem in the light of a national crisis," he said. "There are plenty of hungry mouths in Canada and elsewhere to help consume this country's surplus products and give a permanent market for our goods."

Mr. Conroy spoke at a farmers meeting held at this farm community 15 miles south of Ottawa.

W. J. Cairns, manager of the Ottawa Board of Trade, told the farmers: "Don't think you are the only people with troubles. True, you are faced with falling markets but don't be running to the government for help. We realize that we have a common cause and we must get together and see if we can't help each other."

Cattle Rustling

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—(CP).—Provincial police reported Wednesday night cattle thieves have been making life miserable for farmers along the Quebec-Ontario border for several weeks and police of both provinces are investigating the theft of at least 12 cows from the Hawkesbury-Pointe Fortune district.

50 Answer Appeal

NEWMARKET, Feb. 1—(CP)—Fifty blood donors who Wednesday answered an appeal for blood donations for Gordon Pugh, 24, critically injured in a traffic accident the day before, are credited with saving his life. Only 25 donors were appealed for when Pugh was brought to the hospital but the 50 had volunteered in six hours.

3 Hunters Bag Wolf

MARMORA, Feb. 2 (ENS)—A hunting party was successful in bagging a large wolf on the farm of James McAvoy, Marmora township Wednesday afternoon.

The party included Michael Shannon of Marmora township, Charles Gordenier of Bonarlaw, and E. C. Holden of Harold.

Four shots were fired at the wolf after which it put up a fight with the dogs. They were badly cut about the face before Mr. Holden came to the scene and dispatched the wolf with the final shot.

Crosses Rd. From Bus Woman Struck By Car

Mrs. Garret A. Spencer, 610 Armour Ro., is believed to have a fractured pelvis as a result of being hit by a car driven by Henry C. Dunn, 375 Halloway Drive, on Charlottet St. Wednesday.

Mrs. Spencer was taken to the Peterborough Clinic and then to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Constable Ed. Niziol, who investigated, reported that Mrs. Spencer had just alighted from a city bus on the north side on Charlotte St., a short distance east of Monaghan Rd. She walked around the rear of the bus and started to cross to the south side of the street.

She was hit by the right front fender of the Dunn car, travelling east on Charlotte St. Mrs. Spencer was knocked down to the boulevard on the south side of the street.

Marks on the road surface indicated that in trying to avoid Mrs. Spencer, the Dunn car swerved to the south curb, striking it and turned it completely around.

Progressive Euchre Played At School

HASTINGS, Feb. 2 (ENS). — Miss Catherine Canney and pupils of SS 9, Percy, entertained at a progressive euchre party. Seventeen tables were played, and at the end of ten games, rMs. Cecil Lynch and Virgil Oliver were highest scorers. Miss W. Rusaw won the consolation prize. Lunch was served by the teachers and pupils, and an hour's dancing followed. Music was supplied by Donald and Arthur Beamish, Richard Williamson, and Mrs. Ethel Lemey.

Too Many Berries

KENTVILLE, N.S., Feb. 2. — (CP).—One of the leading producers of cranberries in Nova Scotia said today the industry is faced with ruin unless the Federal and Provincial governments take action to stem the flood of imported berries. Herbert Oyler said a heavy crop in the United States during the last four years had resulted in many berries going unsold and these berries were shipped into Canada at reduced prices.

Fire Sweeps Henhouse

AYLMER, Que., Feb. 2—(CP)—Damage estimated at $1,500 was caused by fire Wednesday night that swept through a large henhouse owned by the Aylmer poultry farm. About 400 hens were lost in the blaze, caused by an overheated oil stove.

Held On Morals Charge

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 2—(AP)—Detectives said Wednesday Harry Revel, Hollywood song writer, was arrested here and named in two morals charges. Revel is free under $1,500 bond. Charges of sodomy, filed in court, also named three 'teen-age boys.

Trent Valley Ham Wins Contest

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 2 — (ENS)—H. N. Carr has returned to Campbellford from Toronto, where he attended the Ontario Frosted Food Locker Association convention. Carr's Frosty Lockers was awarded a first and third prize in the ham contest.

Competing against a record number of smoked ham entries by locker storages from all parts of Ontario and part of Quebec, Mr. Carr maintained the record established by the Trent Valley Creameries. Since Mr. Carr purchased the creamery he has exhibited butter on numerous occasions and in the past 26 years has never failed to win first prize.

During the International Industrial Exposition, which was held in Toronto a few years ago, the Trent Valley Creameries was awarded first place for the province of Ontario, second place for all Canada, and fifth place for the entire American Continent.

Incendiary fires in the United States cost approximately $200 per minute the year round.

Game Laws Must Be Observed

Three Warsaw men, and a fourth from Kingston who "went along for the ride" early last month, together and severally, carried on as follows: they hunted deer in the closed season in the Peterborough Crown Game Preserve; they slaughtered at least six deer (one was a fawn, most of the others does), and left a carcass to rot or to feed wolves; when Game Wardens tried to round them up, the shooters' car almost ran them down, and the wardens had to give chase. One of the quartet (he who "went along for the ride") was fined $100 for having a rifle in the Game Preserve. The three others were found guilty of transporting deer in the closed season, of carrying rifles in the Game Preserve, of obstructing Game Overseers in the performance of their duties. Each of the three was fined a total of $200. They can count themselves very lucky, even though two of them apparently are unable to find the $200 and will spend three months in jail.

* * *

This was a case of wilful lawlessness by a group of men who seem to believe that the back country is their private preserve where they can do as they please, whatever the law. The Game Wardens are to be commended for doing their duty properly and bringing the men to heel. The northern part of this district—the Kawarthas and Haliburton woods—are not the wild west of fifty years ago, or the Indian territory of a hundred and fifty, where white men can pillage. Laws which govern urban and cultivated areas apply equally in back country. If it is necessary to have more police, more game overseers, and stiffer penalties for infractions of such laws as the Warsaw men broke, let us have them.

* * *

As Crown Attorney Bradshaw remarked when he was closing his case against the men, the Game Wardens are trying to ensure the observance of laws made for the protection of game and hunters—even such hunters as the Warsaw trio. It is the people who live in the wooded lake country who are helped by the game laws. Their good hunting and livelihood as guides for tourists depend on adequate protection of wild life. It is they who ... and they learned the consequences of ignoring the laws.

The Hydrogen Bomb

Now that President Truman has approved the project, American government scientists will begin intensive work toward the perfecting of a hydrogen bomb, and we may expect to hear that they have finished the job in a year, or two years, or longer. The U.S.A. will then be in possession of a weapon vastly more horrible than the atom bomb, and will enjoy whatever security such a weapon can give. But if the U.S.A. can develop a hydrogen bomb we see no reason to suppose that Russia will not develop one also, and so the competition for greater instruments of destruction and terror will continue.

It is being said piously that of course the U.S.A. will never use this bomb for terroristic purposes. But then, the possessor of such a weapon will not need to brag of it. All of us who do not want to side with Russia are forced to side with the U.S.A. Spiritually we have been annexed as completely as though we had been conquered. The world now consists of two great empires—the American and the Russian. If a war between the two should come, there will be no choice for any nation as to where its allegiance lies, nor will neutrality be possible.

At present it is a waste of time to regard such a situation with horror; there is no point in being horrified by something which we cannot remedy. For the present a philosophical acceptance of our situation is the best course, and the one most likely to lead us toward some useful conclusions about it. For we must not assume that because the fate of the world now lies in the hands of a few men at Washington and a few more in Moscow—we trust that our failure to mention U.N. will not be taken as cynicism—that the cause of mankind is lost. The world situation at present is as bleak as it has ever been since the dawn of history, but we must not lose heart, and certainly we must not give way to panic.

Increase In The Price Of Wines

The revision in the price lists of the L.C.B.O. which became effective on the first of February raises the cost to Ontario buyers of French wines, including sparkling red and white wines, Bordeaux wines and Burgundies. We are sorry for this, because we would like to see wine become a more popular drink in Canada than it is at present.

Wine has a bad name here for two curiously different reasons. The first of these is that native wine has for years been the drink of the worst type of alcoholic, the "winey", whose degradation is dreadful to see. Of late years Canadian wineries have improved the quality of some of their products, and now produce wines which compare favourably with those of the U.S.A. But the development of first-rate vineyards is a long business, and our native wines are not yet on a level with good imported wines.

The second reason for the unpopularity of wine is that there is a ridiculous snobbery attached to the better wines, and many people never have wine in their homes for fear that they will make some mistake which will disgrace them before their better-informed friends. This is a pity, for wine is itself a simple thing, and an admirable accompaniment to a good meal.

It is as a drink with meals that we would like to see wine become popular in Canada. We are a nation of hard-liquor drinkers, and that is because wines have not been easily available to us, and because we have not learned to use wine properly. People who drink wine with a meal do not want much hard liquor, or any, afterward, and it is uncommon for anyone to get drunk on wine. Mild, pleasant and full of character, wine promotes the genial social atmosphere without leading to drunkenness. It would be a better thing for Canada if we drank more wine and less spirits, and it is unfortunate that the price of French wines should have to be raised; we should like to know if the increase is really necessary. In the interest of temperance, it would be sensible to give them the benefit of the doubt.

No University Seats

When Britain goes to the polls on February 23 only 625 members of Parliament will be elected, instead of the 640 who now sit in the Commons. The Representation of the People Act, passed in 1948, has abolished constituencies which returned two members, and also the twelve members who were returned by the universities.

We regret the loss of these university members. They gave the Parliament at Westminster a flavour which it can ill spare. It was the tradition of the universities to return men who were not party ... some unusually gifted ... usual spectacular university ... recent years was Sir Alan P. Herbert, whose constant valuable criticism saved two or three Governments from making asses of themselves on several occasions, and who was responsible for the liberalizing of the antiquated British divorce laws.

Men of this stamp are not likely to be elected in the ordinary way, nor are they likely to offer themselves for election in an ordinary constituency. Their interests and their appeal are primarily intellectual; the composition of the average constituency is not primarily intellectual. Labour, whatever else may be said about its record, stands convicted in this instance of having deliberately driven brains out of Parliament. As Parliament is never too heavily stocked with brains at any time this is a pity, for we may be sure that the ruling will never be revoked. It is an odd comment on democracy that it should have been thought necessary to deny this special representation to the best-educated element in the country.

We have suggested before that Canada should adopt the system of parliamentary representation for the universities. A little more intellectual weight at Ottawa would do no harm.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Experience is what makes you know that a mistake is a mistake the second time you make it.

The British Broadcasting Corporation has banned political jokes from the air until after the election. And rightly so. Once let people get the idea that politics is not completely serious and the jig is up.

Rival For Russia?

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

MAO TZE-TUNG, the dictator of Communist China, has now been in Moscow for six weeks, negotiating for a revision of the Russian-Chinese Treaty of 1945. Nothing has leaked out from the secret negotiations, but their mere duration is a clear sign that they are difficult; never before has any negotiation between Russia and another Communist Government taken anything approaching such a time. Even the 1945 negotiations between Stalin and Tito, of which we now know that they also were not all plain sailing, were finished in less than a week.

◆ ◆ ◆

THERE are other indications that things are not going smoothly: the very restrained speech made by Mao at Stalin's birthday celebrations; the increasing attention given by the Chinese Communist press to the Northern provinces, where Russian and Chinese Communist interests clash; the pointed article by Marshal Bulganin in Pravda stressing that the Communist victory in China would have been impossible but for Russia's example and help; the equally pointed speech of the Chinese Foreign Minister, Chou En-lai, at his arrival in Moscow a week ago, when he said that it was a matter of establishing "good neighbourly" relations "between two great countries, China and the Soviet Union"—all these show that the problems inherent in the fact that there exists now, for the first time, a second Communist Great Power by the side of the Soviet Union, are making themselves felt sooner than either side may have wished.

◆ ◆ ◆

WHEN Chou En-lai joined Hao Tze-tung in Moscow a week ago, there were reports that agreement was virtually complete and that he had only gone there to sign. It is now clear that that was not the case. A week has passed, and there is no news of agreement. There is, however, only one alternative explanation of Chou En-lai's journey. This is that matters are really critical and that Mao needs additional technical assistance in his negotiations. Mao and Chou are the two top political figures of the new Chinese Government. They would not both absent themselves from Peking for weeks at this moment when their new government has to deal with enormous domestic tasks and problems, unless the Moscow negotiations touched matters of absolutely vital importance for China.

FROM this fact alone it is possible to make a shrewd guess at what Russia is asking from China; and previous Russian policy provides additional clues.

In 1945, Russia was able to conclude a Treaty with Kuomintang (Nationalist) China which gave her a strong hold on Manchuria: a naval base at Port Arthur, a free port at Dairen, and possession of the Chinese Eastern Railway, which is the vital traffic artery of Manchuria. Ever since then, Russia has strengthened her grip on Manchuria and tried to extend it to the other Chinese northern provinces, especially Sinkiang.

THERE is no reason to believe that Russia's policy of penetration of Manchuria and Sinkiang changed when it became clear that China was going Communist. During 1949 Russia used the last months of the dying Kuomintang Government to extort additional treaty concessions from it in these areas, which it had already ceased to control; especially the right to 60 per cent. of the agricultural produce from Manchuria, and a complete Russification of the Sinkiang air lines. This made it clear that Russia would not be content to see Manchuria and Sinkiang in Chinese Communist hands, but was determined to go on with her policy of establishing direct Russian control over these vast territories.

◆ ◆ ◆

[illegible] for this are easily ... most of Russia's naval ... is now concentrated, and there are big coal and mineral deposits which make the development of major industries possible. But manpower is lacking. The Soviet maritime province has only three million inhabitants; Manchuria, 43 million. If Manchuria could be gradually annexed, it would not only be a most useful rounding off of Russia's Far Eastern territories, and a great saving in overland traffic, but it would provide the Soviet Far East with an adequate labour force. Annexation of Manchuria has been an aim of Russian policy—Tsarist and Communist alike — for more than fifty years. It was the issue of the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-5 and again the price of Russia' entry into the war against Japan in 1945. It seems clear that Russia is clinging to it even at the risk of losing the goodwill of Communist China.

◆ ◆ ◆

THERE is another reason which may induce the Russians to cling to this course. It has become clear since the Tito conflict, that Moscow is determined to remain the sole mecca of world Communism and is not willing to tolerate any other Communist centre of equal standing. Peking could easily become such a rival centre, unless Russia established a clear pre-eminence from the beginning.

◆ ◆ ◆

MOSCOW has no interest in seeing a rival Communist Great Power arise. Her interest is to reduce every other Communist State in the world to satellite status. In nearly every case in Europe, she has done this by demanding territorial sacrifices from the Communist Government with which she concluded treaties of friendship and alliance.

◆ ◆ ◆

IT was not enough for the Governments of Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia or Eastern Germany, to be Communist and to look to Moscow for ideological guidance: they had in addition to cede territory to Russia—Eastern Poland, Bessarabia, Ruthenia, Northern East Prussia. One can regard these cessions of territory as almost symbolic acts of subordination. It would not be at all surprising if Russia were to demand some similar tangible pledges of loyalty and subservience from China.

◆ ◆ ◆

BUT it is a fixed point of the Chinese Communist programme to re-establish Chinese sovereignty over the whole of China's territory. Moreover the Chinese [illegible] feel in a[illegible] the Russians. It is K[illegible] when Chou En-lai states that he wants "good-neighbourly relations between two great countries" he means exactly what he says.

THIS does not mean that the Chinese have any wish to quarrel with Russia or that they have any conscious "Titoist" tendencies. They have every reason, and probably every wish, to have good relations with Russia. But obviously—as in the case of Tito, who also showed every wish to rub along with Russia, as long as he could do so without losing his independence—there is a limit to the price they are prepared to pay for good relations. The question is whether the Russians have enough flexibility to see that limit and to compromise. Their whole record is dealing with other Communist States shows very little evidence of that kind of flexibility.

APPROVES MR. DUTTON'S SUGGESTION

Sir: Mr. Dutton's suggested site for the Memorial Centre is by far the best we have had in a long time. It could be made into a gem of a place. It would enhance the north end of our city. Plenty of room for parking, bus service right past the place. I hope the Committee get busy. We have been waiting a long time now for the Centre.

Yours sincerely,

RESORT OWNERS INDIFFERENT TO FISH AND GAME

Sir: I was surprised when I read the story appearing in Friday night's Examiner, January 13, 1950, under the heading "Resort Owners Resent Remarks Fish and Game Head".

I was even more surprised when the story did not carry the names of the resort owners who expressed resentment. In fact had a reporter covered the meeting he would have quoted the members verbatim, and I like the other readers would have known what was said and would have been able to form my own opinion on the degree of so-called resentment.

The reference to the Peterborough Fish and Game Association being responsible for the banning of trolling for pickerel in June, and which penalized the resort owners during the past ten years is completely in error as far as reference to the F. and G. Association is concerned.

The special legislation dealing with pickerel fishing was introduced shortly after 1930, as a concession to resort owners at Bewdley, and was an amendment to the Special Fishing Regulations which cover angling in the four counties, and which are Federal regulations. No change has been made in the law since that time.

The regulations were originally framed to give maximum protection to the bass and maskinonge, and the amendment was put through when the pickerel population increased to the point where angling for this species became attractive in district waters.

While I was president of the association, I was distressed by the apparent lack of interest from the resort operators in fish and game matters. In fact it seems odd to me that sportsmen should work so hard at conservation matters that obviously benefitted the resort people, while the latter practically ignored the work of the fish and game members. I have always clamoured for close co-operation between the two groups, because their aims and so far as I can tell, their ideals are the same.

I am sure my successor is anxious to co-operate also, and I would venture the suggestion that the resort owners section of the Chamber of Commerce, not wait for an invitation to get together, but to extend an invitation themselves to the fish and game members to sit in and discuss kindred topics.

Yours sincerely,
CAMPBELL L. ROWATT

Bible Message

There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus, and Nathanael of Canada in Galilee, and the sons of Zebedee, and two other of his disciples. Simon Peter saith unto them, I go a fishing. They say unto him, We also go with thee. They went forth, and entered into a ship immediately; and that night they caught nothing.

But when the morning was now come, Jesus stood on the shore: but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus. Then Jesus saith unto them, Children, have ye any meat? They answered him, No. And he said unto them, Cast the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find. They cast therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes....

As soon then as they were come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid thereon, and bread.... Jesus saith unto them, Come and dine. And none of the disciples durst ask him, Who art thou? knowing that it was the Lord. Jesus then cometh, and taketh bread, and giveth them, and fish likewise.

This is now the third time that Jesus shewed himself to his disciples, after that he was risen from the dead. So when they had dined, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me more than these? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my lambs. (John 21: 2-6, 9, 12-15.)

Easy To Be An Editor

Most any man can be an editor. All the editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days a week, four weeks a month and twelve months a year and edit such stuff as this:

"Mrs. Jones of Summer Creek, let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry."

"Joe Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week, looking for a leak, and fell, landing on his back porch."

"While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night, a savage dog attacked them and bit Miss Green on the public square."

"Mr. Black, while harnessing a horse last Monday, was kicked just south of his silo."

[illegible] radically change the ba[illegible] Asia than if the Chinese were, against their will, driven into a political conflict with Russia at this early stage through Russian intransigence and over-ambition. Nor is it certain that the conflict will be avoided even if a Treaty is, after all, patched up this time. A lasting Russian-Chinese understanding is only possible if the men in the Kremlin show themselves capable of co-operation on terms of equality; and it would be the first time that they have ever done so.

Togs Take Fray By 42-17 Over Port Hope

Towne Togs triumphed over Port Hope girls 42-17 at the YW last night in a scheduled basketball encounter. They opened fast to run up 14 points before the Ports hit the hoop. The visitors' man-to-man defence bothered the homesters for a spell, but they finally began to penetrate it to hold a 25-5 lead at the half. The second was much closer and rugged with a lot of fouls called, the Togs havng a 17-12 scoring margin.

Joan Dunk and Gladys White were lost to each team with five fouls each, the Ports clicking on five of 15 free tosses as Togs got four in 16. Marg Freeman stood out defensively for the winners, with Dot Saunders, Dot Callan and Jean Vass good up front. H. Brown, D. Sneyd and B. Palmer were the pick of the losers. Teams:

Port Hope: G. Churchley, L. Halstead 2, B. Palmer 3, H. Brown 5, D. Sneyd 4, R. Reaves 2, H. Barrett, E. McBride, G. White 1, K. Seluig.

Towne Togs: D. Callan 6, M. Kennedy 2, J. Dunk 7, J. Vass 11, R. Hewitt 6, D. Saunders 4, J. Castle 6, P. Stewart, M. Freeman.

Lindsay Kinsmen Edge Oshawa In 3-2 Win

LINDSAY, Feb. 2 (CP)—Lindsay Kinsmen edged Oshawa Bees 3-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior B game Wednesday night. Hank Goldup's locals built up a 2-0 lead in the first, and Bob Lewis shot what proved to be the winning goal after Oshawa tied it in the second. The third period was scoreless.

Hank Debois and Jerry Nicholls scored in the first for Lindsay and George Brabin and Charlie Johnston tallied for the Bees. Ted Degray, speedy winger of the Bees, suffered a broken collar bone in the first period.

Queen Mary Victors

Queen Mary seniors of the Public School Hockey League yesterday blanked King Edward 6-0 at Civic Arena. Cullen scored three in the first period and Brady one, as Merrett had two assists and Jackson one. In the second, Cullen and Merrett each banged one home, aided in each case by Roberts. Dunn, Stewart and Frizzelle turned in some good defensive work. Teams:

Queen Mary — Deck, Dunn, Stewart, Cullen, Roberts, Merrett, Cuff, Jackson, Brady.

King Edward — Sutherland, Frizzelle, Hunt, Haylock, Hobart, Earle, Clayton, Tarkington, B. Hobart, Smythe, Johnston, Phillips, Bennett.

It Finally Happened

SANFORD, Me., Feb. 2—(AP)—It finally happened. A basketball referee was shot here last night. Referee Tom Kiley ran by the press table just as time George Milne—he said his eyes were closed—pulled the trigger for half-time in a Sanford-Biddeford schoolboy game. The gun was loaded with blanks, but Kiley suffered a scorched wrist.

Scotland Keeps Strathcona Cup

GLASGOW, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Scotland Wednesday retained the Strathcona Cup when Canadian curlers were not able to overcome the lead built up by the Scots in the first four test matches.

The Canadians won the fifth test match by 16 shots which left them 30 shots behind on the total score The totals were Scotland 830, Canada 800.

The Scots were defending the trophy they won in Cahada last year.

In Wednesday's final match the Canadian A team played here they won by four shots while the B team, playing at Edinburgh, finished 12 up. In each series four of the five Canadian rinks won their encounters.

At both Glasgow and Edinburgh Canadian rinks won four of their five matches Wednesday.

Winning B rinks and their skips: New Brunswick, J .E. Connolly, Bathurst; Ontario, Percy H. Skitch, Lindsay; Quebec, Emmett Smith, Bourlamaque; Saskatchewan, Archie Young, Carlyle.

Team Break Even

BANCROFT, Feb. 2 (ENS)—Most fans in North Hastings and in Lakefield were pleased when their bantam and midget puck teams split by 6-1 scores here Tuesday in OMHA playdowns. North Hastings—a combined team from Bancroft, Coe Hill and Apsley—won the bantam tilt, as Lakefield took the midget contest. Each victor took a four-goal lead in the first period and played on pretty even terms after that.

Bantam goals were by Landon, Martin, Crosby, Tucker, Griggs and Palmateer of North Hastings, and Spencer of Lakefield. The midget tallies were by Henry, Twist and Coyle (4) of Lakefield. and Taylor of North Hastings. The second games of this series will be in Lakefield on Thursday night, the winners advancing into the next OMHA playdown round.

Chicago Black Hawks are tagging along at the tail end of the National Hockey League but they did a nice job of giant-killing Wednesday night by shutting out the rarin' Toronto Maple Leafs 3-0 and thus giving Montreal Canadiens a hoist up into undisputed possession of second place.

The Canucks, previously tied with Toronto behind Detroit, managed to pick up a single point by drawing with the leading Red Wings 3-3. In the third game of the full bill, Boston Bruins vaulted ahead of New York into fourth place by beating the Rangers 3-2.

Chicago's goalie, Frankie Brimsek, looked like "Mr. Zero" he once was with Boston as he held off Toronto in the final period. In racking up his third shutout of the season, the dead-pan netminder was superb.

It wasn't until more than halfway through the second period that Brimsek was supplied with the goal he needed to whitewash Toronto. Red Hamill then picked up a loose puck and sliced it into the Toronto net.

Fast Work

Speedy Billy Mosienko had broken away a moment before and had pulled Toronto's Turk Broda out of the net to save. While Broda was sprawled on the ice, Hamill pushed the puck in at 11.37.

At 16.09, Metro Prystai made it 2-0 for Chicago with Gus Bodnar and Bep Guidolin assisting. In the last period, Jimmy Conacher gave triple insurance at 14.35 with a marker that saw Gaye Stewart and Doug Bentley assisting.

The draw-game between Montreal and Detroit marked the third straight time that the clubs have tied—but Montreal had to come from behind to tie the slipping Wings. Steve Black and Marty Pavelich put the Wings ahead 2-0 in the second period. Early in the third, Montreal's Roger Leger got one back but George Gee retaliated with a Detroit marker to make it 3-1.

Capitalize On Penalty

Capitalizing on a tripping penalty to Jim McFadden, Montreal threw its all into a few power plays. Defenceman Glen Harmon got one marker at 16.36 while Elmer Lach tied the score at 17.55.

Bud Poile was the man who whipped the Rangers for Boston. The former Ranger pushed in two first period goals and Johnny Peirson gave Boston its third goal in the 16th minute of the second session.

The Rangers put on the pressure and Buddy O'Connor got New York's first goal on a pass from Jack McLeod shortly after Pearson had connected.

With les than four minutes to go, Allan Stanley fired a 30-footer into the Boston net.

Bisons Dump Cleveland 5-2

By The Canadian Press.

Western division teams in the American Hockey League are slowly cutting down Cleveland's long lead while Buffalo Bisons in the eastern section are widening their first place margin.

The league leaders clashed on Wednesday night on Buffalo ice and the Bisons came out on top of a 5-2 count.

The charging Bisons, heading their circuit by seven points, were lead by Ab Demarco who scored two goals.

Cleveland, with three losses and a tie in their last four outings, now has a 14 point margin over second place Pittsburgh Hornets.

Sporting a long winning streak the Hornets made it five straight by whitewashing St. Louis Flyers 5-0 on home grounds.

Indianapolis Capitals, trailing Pittsburgh by two points and two games ahead of fourth place St. Louis, trounced Providence Reds 5-4 with Al Dewsbury of the Caps completing the hat trick.

Sarnia Wins Round

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 2 (CP) — Sarnia curling rinks skipped by Alex Hayes and Jim Lennox late Wednesday night won the district round of the Ontario Tankard, defeating Kitchener fours 24-23 in the finals. The Sarnia stonemen thus will represent the district in the Ontario championships at Toronto.

Togs Take Fray By 42-17 Over Port Hope

Towne Togs triumphed over Port Hope girls 42-17 at the YW last night in a scheduled basketball encounter. They opened fast to run up 14 points before the Ports hit the hoop. The visitors' man-to-man defence bothered the homesters for a spell, but they finally began to penetrate it to hold a 25-5 lead at the half. The second was much closer and rugged with a lot of fouls called, the Togs havng a 17-12 scoring margin.

Joan Dunk and Gladys White were lost to each team with five fouls each, the Ports clicking on five of 15 free tosses as Togs got four in 16. Marg Freeman stood out defensively for the winners, with Dot Saunders, Dot Callan and Jean Vass good up front. H. Brown, D. Sneyd and B. Palmer were the pick of the losers. Teams:

Port Hope: G. Churchley, L. Halstead 2, B. Palmer 3, H. Brown 5, D. Sneyd 4, R. Reaves 2, H. Barrett, E. McBride, G. White 1, K. Seluig.

Towne Togs: D. Callan 6, M. Kennedy 2, J. Dunk 7, J. Vass 11, R. Hewitt 6, D. Saunders 4, J. Castle 6, P. Stewart, M. Freeman.

Lindsay Kinsmen Edge Oshawa In 3-2 Win

LINDSAY, Feb. 2 (CP)—Lindsay Kinsmen edged Oshawa Bees 3-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior B game Wednesday night. Hank Goldup's locals built up a 2-0 lead in the first, and Bob Lewis shot what proved to be the winning goal after Oshawa tied it in the second. The third period was scoreless.

Hank Debois and Jerry Nichols scored in the first for Lindsay and George Brabin and Charlie Johnston tallied for the Bees. Ted Degray, speedy winger of the Bees, suffered a broken collar bone in the first period.

Queen Mary Victors

Queen Mary seniors of the Public School Hockey League yesterday blanked King Edward 6-0 at Civic Arena. Cullen scored three in the first period and Brady one, as Merrett had two assists and Jackson one. In the second, Cullen and Merrett each banged one home, aided in each case by Hoberts. Dunn, Stewart and Frizzelle turned in some good defensive work. Teams:

Queen Mary — Deck, Dunn, Stewart, Cullen, Roberts, Merrett, Cuff, Jackson, Brady.

King Edward — Sutherland, Frizzelle, Hunt, Haylock, Hobart, Earle, Clayton, Tarkington, B. Hobart, Smythe, Johnston, Phillips, Bennett.

It Finally Happened

SANFORD, Me., Feb. 2—(AP)—It finally happened. A basketball referee was shot here last night. Referee Tom Kiley ran by the press table just as time George Milne—he said his eyes were closed—pulled the trigger for half-time in a Sanford-Biddeford schoolboy game. The gun was loaded with blanks, but Kiley suffered a scorched wrist.

Scotland Keeps Strathcona Cup

GLASGOW, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Scotland Wednesday retained the Strathcona Cup when Canadian curlers were not able to overcome the lead built up by the Scots in the first four test matches.

The Canadians won the fifth test match by 16 shots which left them 30 shots behind on the total score. The totals were Scotland 830, Canada 800.

The Scots were defending the trophy they won in Canada last year.

In Wednesday's final match the Canadian A team played here they won by four shots while the B team, playing at Edinburgh, finished 12 up. In each series four of the five Canadian rinks won their encounters.

At both Glasgow and Edinburgh Canadian rinks won four of their five matches Wednesday.

Winning A rinks and their skips were: Nova Scotia-P.E.I., A. R. Stirling, Wolfville, N.S.; Ontario, A. J. Parkhill, Oshawa; Manitoba, Errick F. Willis, Winnipeg; Northern Ontario, Sam Rothschild, Sudbury.

Team Break Even

BANCROFT, Feb. 2 (ENS)—Most fans in North Hastings and in Lakefield were pleased when their bantam and midget puck teams split by 6-1 scores here Tuesday in OMHA playdowns. North Hastings—a combined team from Bancroft, Coe Hill and Apsley—won the bantam tilt, as Lakefield took the midget contest. Each victor took a four-goal lead in the first period and played on pretty even terms after that.

Bantam goals were by Landon, Martin, Crosby, Tucker, Griggs and Palmateer of North Hastings, and Spencer of Lakefield. The midget tallies were by Henry, Twist and Coyle (4) of Lakefield, and Taylor of North Hastings. The second games of this series will be in Lakefield on Thursday night, the winners advancing into the next OMHA playdown round.

Marmora Victorious Against Hastings, 8-3

HASTINGS, Feb. 2—(ENS)—Marmora retained first place in the TVL last night, defeating Hastings 8-3 in the Hastings Memorial Centre before a near capacity crowd. Play was fast and fairly even, but Hastings seemed to lack the extra drive in pay territory.

Fife for Hastings and Loveless for Marmora both scored the hat trick, Fife counting one in each period.

Hastings opened the scoring in the first period, Fife scoring on a long, screened shot. Then Marmora tied it up, Gus Leonard from Darrah. Marmora took the lead, Stewart countering on a pass from Gus Leonard. There were no penalties.

In the second Fife evened the score assisted by Wilson, but Lavender put Marmora in front, E. Leonard assisting. Marmora ended the scoring, Loveless from McInroy. Penalties went to Loveless and Petticrew drew a 10-minute misconduct.

Marmora turned on the pressure to open the third, and Lavender turned the light on unassisted Then Loveless added another with the assist going to Gus Leonard. Thirty seconds later, Trumble found the mark on a set-up from Grey. Loveless scored his third goal assisted by Goodchild and that ended Marmora scoring. Fifte countered the final goal from Edwards. Only one penalty was handed out and that to Trumble for tripping.

Referees—O'Malley, Trenton; Heldman, Batawa.

Hastings—Goal, S. McKenty; defense, L. Petticrew, M. Fife; centre, J. Wilson; wings, M. Mueller, Greenley; alternates, D. Ball, L. Ball, Clapperton, G. Carr, R. Edwards, D. West, J. Morrow, E. Tucker.

Marmora — Goal, L. Borland; defense, E. Leonard, Gus Leonard; centre, F. Stewart, wings, G. Lavender, K. Trumble; alternates, P. Goodchild, E. McInroy, C. Loveless, W. Naylor, B. Gray, B. Darrah, B. Sweet.

Marines Get Win

MARMORA, Feb. 2 (ENS) — Al Watkins' Outboard Marine midget hockey team of Peterborough played an exhibition game with Marmora midgets here Wednesday to win the honors by 7 to 6.

The ... equalizer.

The Petes added two more goals through McGrath and Turner before the period closed. Marmora retaliated early in the second period at the close of which the score stood Petes 7, Marmora 5.

Brooks, unassisted, scored the only goal in the third which was marked by no less than nine penalties. Good feeling was soon established following a little melee in which Mantle, McCormick and Byrnes figured and both teams felt they had enjoyed the tussle as a good workout for games ahead with more at issue Delahaye replaced Pearson in goal in the third period. About 150 witnessed the game. Teams:

Petes—Goal, Pearson; defence, Holden, McGillen; centre, McGrath; wings, Frizzel, Strickland; alternates, McCormick, Byrne, Corbett, Spencer, Spencer, Ball Kearns, Turner, Kelly, Rowley, Dupuis. Spare goalie, Delahaye, who played in the third period.

Marmora — Goal, Drummond; defence, Brown, Meehan; centre, Brooks; wings, Bell, Mantle; alternates, Hickey, Paranuik, McNally, Bonter, Logan, Lynch, Shannon, O'Connor, Clemens.

Referee—T. Cousins Deloro.

Last Night's Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Boston's Bud Poile whose first period two markers sparked the Bruins to a 3-2 victory over New York Rangers.

Montreal centre player Elmer Lach who tallied with only one minute left in the third stanza to knot the score 3-3 between the Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings.

Bowmanville Wins

PORT HOPE, Feb. 2.—Hammering in four consecutive goals in the last period, Bowmanville outscored Port Hope 6-4 here on Wednesday night in an OHA Intermediate "A" fixture.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Hoop play aplenty here this week-end, especially tomorrow eve, only the Marines' men taking it easy, and most of them will be in the City Loop encounters Saturday at the "Y". Clapper's play Kawartha Sports then at seven, followed by Shockey's and Marine Bees. Rough and speedy frays, no doubt. Friday at the YW at 8.15, Nurses Srs. meet CGE, followed by Black's 'gainst Normals. Nifty numbers, too. PCVS senior and junior girls trek to Cobourg for group fixtures Friday. The boys' teams of PCVS are in action tomorrow night at Collegiate, Lindsay and the bantam PCI-ers opening at 6.30. Then come two exhibitions with the junior "A" and senior PCVS packs going against North Toronto Collegiate crews. Oshawa and a "Y" team go Friday eve, as well, in the YMCA. No word on any SPS activity.

* * * * * *

Oshawa scribe, dealing with senior ball, says: "The COBL deferred their election of officers for the 1950 season until a meeting on Feb. 26. By that time, there may not be enough teams willing to enter to warrant forming the COBL this summer." On account of Oshawa and the Petes are interested in the Toronto Viaduct League. He also remarks: "The Liftlock City fathers are on the right track and it looks very much as if they'll have floodlight baseball in Peterborough this summer." Yes, it looks like the Recreation Commission will forget a new grandstand at Riverside for some time, but concentrate on getting lights in.

* * * * * *

Kingston And Petes

Kingston Nylons play the Petes at 8.30 tomorrow evening in Civic Arena—another city project which is sure paying off. It's an OHA senior "B" fixture and the high-flying Nylons are presently hotter than a spanked baby's behind. They're trying to reach Legion in top spot and pulling well away from the Diesels, so the Petes will have to hustle every minute to hold their own in this one. But the Foley flock frequently come up with their best hockey on home ice, and it would be swell to see 'em set back the husky and cocky Kingstons. This scrap should draw a big Friday eve crowd.

* * * * * *

Quinte columnist says: "Yep, these Nylons (are both you Peterborough teams listening?) are just about the cream of the senior 'B' crop right now. But that is 'now' as the Petes and Legion will agree. Still, those Limestone lads are going to be hard to take when the playoff chips are down. Their win here gave the Nylons their ninth straight victory and they equalled the record of the loop-leading Legionnaires. Right now, they are breathing down the necks of the vaunted Peterborough Legion, and anything can happen." Well, that's true enough.

* * * * * *

Jockeying Going On?

But he continues: "The Diesels are in third place and, now, who's jockeying? If matters finish as is, then it's Legion and Belleville in first and third, and Kingston and the Petes for second and fourth slots. Who wants that? Nobody but the Legion and Kingston." However, he thinks Nylons and Diesels would prefer to meet first in group playoffs because of the big gates involved and the short trips. Ye scribe concludes: "However, the Peterborough teams do not want any inter-city playoffs insofar as the senior 'B' group is concerned—Lord knows they're having their own troubles." We don't follow his ... in at ... Dragon's crew now sit swinging in the junior "B" canary's perch, though with not too much security as yet. 'Twas a tidy tilt throughout last p.m., with but one fight breaking out in the third. The Desjardins-Masons' line probably went best for the winners, but Birch, Floyd, Wyatt, Turner, Baker and Doris were all playing hurry-up hockey. And the defence was sound, D. Wasson, Fennell, Millar and Richlark turning in effective blue-line work in front of good goaltending. The boys are off to Bella Villa on Friday.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

As soon as a suitable date can be decided upon, F. Stenson and A. W. Smith will play off the tie for Group No. 5, first schedule. They each won 10 games and lost 3.

Rumor has been going around that Jack Allan lost three games on Tuesday evening—correction, he only played two games.

Men's schedule results:

Dr. D. W. Clark 8, T. Doughty 9; D. Charlton 11, C. Giraux 10; F. Green 9, K. Hamley 6; G. Green 11, W. Harvey 15; V. Brown 17, E. Williams 7; T. McArthur 6, G. Putnam 11.

Neill Trophy, consolation event, semi-finals:

Dr. C. McKee won from J. Adams; W. Harvey won from J. Richmond.

Vice-skips' results:

D. Kerr 14, R. Arnold 8; G. Gabel 10, J. Allan 9; G. Webb 12, H. Hamley 7.

Another Bauer

Mrs. Bobby Bauer gave birth to a son Wednesday night while her husband was helping Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen to a 7-2 Ontario Hockey Association senior victory over Owen Sound Mercurys. It was the second son for the former National Hockey League star and his wife.

PCVS Triumphs Over SPS In Cage Frays

A tight defence by both Collegiate squads enabled them to easily turn back the St. Peter's High bantams and junior Bees Wednesday night in the Collegiate as they nearly held the Saints off the score-sheet.

Coach Bev Gouldings' bantams, who are undefeated so far this year, outdistanced the Saints 20-2 in the first encounter while Fred Allore's juniors were taken 23-1 in the second. This is the first year for St. Peter's High in basketball.

Danny Griffin led the Collegiate's bantams as they rolled up a low 9-0 score at the half and went on to outscore St. Pete's 13-2 in the last. Griffin slipped in six points while Bob Boorman had five, Armstrong four, J. Boorman and Baptie two each, and Marshall one. Ron Board sank the lone St. Peter's basket. Cupoli and Galvin were the pick of the St. Pete's squad while Griffin went both ways well for PCVS.

Rough Game

Twenty - eight fouls were handed out in the rough, fairly fast junior fray as St. Peter's had 19 fouls and PCVS nine. The Saints found the Collegiate's defensive system hard to break. Goulding's squad pushed in 16 points in the first half but only scraped through in the last with seven to the Saints' lone point by Jack Richardson.

Jameson and Britnell were the standouts of the Collegiate squad while O'Neill, McTeague and O'Leary went well for St. Peter's. Johnson and Buckland each had five points for PCI while Ferguson had four, Batley and Jameson three each, Britnell two and Saunders one.

Hoop Activity Aplenty On Weekend Program

Basketball fans will be able to see all the basketball they want this weekend. Friday night will see the YMCA, the YWCA and the Collegiate gyms with games while Saturday night there will be action in the YMCA gym only.

Nurses seniors tangle with the C.G.E. lasses in the opener of the Girls Basketball League twin bill at the YWCA gym Friday night. Blacks meet the Normal girls in the second. From the sample offered as preliminary to the Marines game several weeks ago, the girls, playing boys' rules, dish up a fast and interesting brand of ball.

Bev Gouldings' seniors and junior "A" quintets have had games with Lindsay cancelled for Friday in order to meet the cage crews from North Toronto Collegiate. His bantam squad which took the Lindsay bantams in Lindsay last Friday play the return tussle at 6:30 Friday. The junior game with North Toronto is at 7:45 while the seniors play at 8:45.

PCVS Lasses

Coaches Doreen Pemberton and Eva Scott will parade their senior and junior PCVS girl fives before ... the second ...

Al Clark is lining up a scrub team which will play an Oshawa squad coached by Elder Marvin Anderson, formerly of Peterborough. Elder Anderson played some basketball in Peterborough in the YMCA house league before being moved to Oshawa. This game will be Friday night in the "Y" gym.

Saturday night's basketball will be limited to the YMCA gym and the Men's City League. Playing before only fair crowds, these crews really mix the rough play with fine basketball to give two hours of good entertainment. This Saturday, Clapper's and Kawartha Sports will be in the first game at seven p.m. while Shockey's Cleaners and Marine Bees line up in the second at eight.

The Outboard Mariners are taking things easy this week. The players will be taking part only in the City League contests. At the last home games of the Mariners the players have taken part in City League gam ; which precede the exhibitions as well as playing the main encounter.

Injured In Training

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Feb 2 — (CP)—Canada's wrestling team at the Empire games received some bad news today when it was learned that light heavyweight Fernand Payette of Montreal is unlikely to be ready for action when the matches start next week because of a neck injury suffered in training. Payette, a bouncer at a Montreal night club, made the best showing of any Canadian grappler at the 1948 Olympics, winning his first three matches.

Hit By Ball, Dies

KINGSTON, Feb. 2 (CP)—Hit on the head with a basketball during game Tuesday, P. A. Ebel, a private at the army signal school here, died Wednesday. Doctors said he died from a cerebral hemorrhage, probably caused by the blow on the head.

Oddfellows Earn Victory Over Kingston Vics, 4-2

Bun Kingdon's sparkling junior IOOF hockey squad defeated Kingston Victorias 4-2 last evening here in a thrill-packed, lightning struggle that had an enthusiastic crowd on its toes from start to finish.

Setting a dazzling pace from the opening bell, the locals took an early lead on Bun Mason's low scorcher from 12 feet out from Desjardin's at 4.30 and, though the visitors fought hard and well all the way, the issue seemed never in doubt. Oddfellows combined an airtight defence—including fine back-checking—with a masterful offensive and built up their lead and held it.

The Eighth Win

It was the eighth win of the season against but four defeats and a tie for the colorful Triple Link squad as they continue neck and neck with Oshawa for top honors in the junior "B" loop regular schedule.

Ron Turner drilled a neat one late in the first following a fast rush from short range to wind up the scoring in the period as both teams displayed fine, clean two-way hockey featuring splendid work by both goalies.

Play continued evenly in the second as the tempo increased. Links peppered Anderson from all angles but the latter was good and played no small part in keeping the score down. The locals outshot their rivals by a fair margin but Wasson was very effective when the visitors pressed, particularly in the second and third.

Sparked Attack

Ron Mason sparked his mates to victory in the third with two fine goals, the first on a beauty from short left wing as brother Ben and Desjardins set up the play and another late in the period on a solo effort. Ron Andress robbed Links of a shutout with a long, low drive midway in this stanza from right wing just inside the red line. Wasson didn't see it through a maze of players, while McGaughey also clicked on a nice solo effort near period's end.

Every man on the local squad gave his best with the kind of team play that makes fans. For Kingston, Bender, Cherry, Aitken, White and McGaughey looked best with all turning in a bang-up game

Kingston—Goal, Anderson; defence, Bender and Andress; centre, McGaughey; wings, Aitken and White; alternates, Bailey, Montgomery, Tinkess, Anson, Gommer, Weese, Cherry and Wiskin.

Peterborough— Goal, R. Wasson; defence, D. Wasson and Richlark; centre Turner; wings, Floyd and Wyatt; alternates, R. Mason, B. Mason, Birch, Doris, Baker, Fennell, Millar, Desjardins.

Referee—H. Wakelin. Linesman—H. Payne.

The sumamry:

First Period

Campbellford Trims Frankford 15 to 8

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 2 — (ENS)—Campbellford had a field day Wednesday night when they trounced the Frankford TVL team by a score of 15-8. The Campbellford boys started their goal-getting spree early in the first period and carried the play all the way through. At the end of the first period they were leading the Franks by a score of 9-3. Frankford came back quite strong early in the second period and scored three fast goals in less than six minutes.

In the third period, Doug Free came through for Campbellford, scoring three of the four goals scored in that period. Doug pulled the hat trick twice during the game, getting a total of seven goals in all, two of them being on lone efforts. The ice was very fast and referees Bob Scriver and Bob Leggett were kept quite busy but had the game under control at all times. The Campbellford Citizens' Band was in attendance, and entertained the crowd between periods.

Other Campbellford goals were by Robinson, Blake (2), Pace, Don Free, Taylor, Harrington and Hay. Assists went to Hay (2), Hendricks, Robinson (3), Don Free, Balke (4). Cole led the losers with three goals, Bastedo, Mitts, Taylor, McKee and Schmidt getting the others, as Cole, Cooke, Schmidt and Mitts each had an assist.

Frankford— Goal, Lawes; defence, Farmer and Schmidt; centre, Courtney; wings, Rankin and McKee; alternates, Cole, Cooke, Mitts, Prout, King, Hood, Bastedo.

Campbellford— Goal, Laverne; defence, Tanner and Doug Free; centre, Blake; wings, Hay and Hendricks; alternates, Robinson, Doherty, Smith, Don Free, Pace, Taylor, Forrester.

Giant-Killer Black Hawks Blank Maple Leafs 3-0

By JOHN D. HAMILTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Chicago Black Hawks are tagging along at the tail end of the National Hockey League but they did a nice job of giant-killing Wednesday night by shutting out the rarin' Toronto Maple Leafs 3-0 and thus giving Montreal Canadiens a hoist up into undisputed possession of second place.

The Canucks, previously tied with Toronto behind Detroit, managed to pick up a single point by drawing with the leading Red Wings 3-3. In the third game of the full bill, Boston Bruins vaulted ahead of New York into fourth place by beating the Rangers 3-2.

Chicago's goalie, Frankie Brimsek, looked like "Mr. Zero" he once was with Boston as he held off Toronto in the final period. In racking up his third shutout of the season, the dead-pan netminder was superb.

It wasn't until more than halfway through the second period that Brimsek was supplied with the goal he needed to whitewash Toronto. Red Hamill then picked up a loose puck and sliced it into the Toronto net.

Fast Work

Speedy Billy Mosienko had broken away a moment before and had pulled Toronto's Turk Broda out of the net to save. While Broda was sprawled on the ice, Hamill pushed the puck in at 11.37.

AT 16.09, Metro Prystai made it 2-0 for Chicago with Gus Bodnar and Bep Guidolin assisting. In the last period, Jimmy Conacher gave triple insurance at 14.35 with a marker that saw Gaye Stewart and Doug Bentley assisting.

The draw-game between Montreal and Detroit marked the third straight time that the clubs have tied—but Montreal had to come from behind to tie the slipping Wings. Steve Black and Marty Pavelich put the Wings ahead 2-0 in the second period. Early in the third, Montreal's Roger Leger got one back but George Gee retaliated with a Detroit marker to make it 3-1.

Capitalize On Penalty

Capitalizing on a tripping penalty to Jim McFadden, Montreal threw its all into a few power plays. Defenceman Glen Harmon got one marker at 16.36 while Elmer Lach tied the score at 17.55.

Bud Poile was the man who whipped the Rangers for Boston. The former Ranger pushed in two first period goals and Johnny Peirson gave Boston its third goal in the 16th minute of the second session.

The Rangers put on the pressure and Buddy O'Connor got New York's first goal on a pass from Jack McLeod shortly after Pearson had connected.

With les than four minutes to go, Allan Stanley fired a 30-footer into the Boston net.

Bisons Dump Cleveland 5-2

By The Canadian Press

Western division teams in the American Hockey League are slowly cutting down Cleveland's long lead while Buffalo Bisons in the eastern section are widening their first place margin.

The league leaders clashed on Wednesday night on Buffalo ice and the Bisons came out on top of a 5-2 count.

The charging Bisons, heading their circuit by seven points, were lead by Ab Demarco who scored two goals.

Cleveland, with three losses and a tie in their last four outings, now has a 14 point margin over second place Pittsburgh Hornets.

Sporting a long winning streak the Hornets made it five straight by whitewashing St. Louis Flyers 5-0 on home grounds.

Indianapolis Capitals, trailing Pittsburgh by two points and two games ahead of fourth place St. Louis, trounced Providence Reds 5-4 with Al Dewsbury of the Caps completing the hat trick.

Sarnia Wins Round

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 2 (CP) — Sarnia curling rinks skipped by Alex Hayes and Jim Lennox late Wednesday night won the district round of the Ontario Tankard, defeating Kitchener fours 24-23 in the finals. The Sarnia stonemen thus will represent the district in the Ontario championships at Toronto.

Britons Furious Matthews Sent To Canada

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, Feb. 2—(CP)—Stan Matthews, wizard winger who for years has delighted British soccer fans, has been invited to tour Canada this summer with a football association squad—and several London sports writers are hopping mad.

They say Matthews should have been chosen to go to Rio de Janeiro instead and help England fight for the World Cup there.

Matthews has played for his country in 57 international matches. But scintillating Stanley is 34 and England's selection committee apparently figures that's too old for top-flight competition against the South American speed-boys.

"Any England team that doesn't find a place for Matthews . . . isn't an England team at all," wrote John MacAdam of the Daily Express.

Can't Be Beaten

"Nobody can take the ball close to an opponent as Matthews can, and within a split second find himself a spare yard and a half to work in. . .

"Fit? As a fiddle."

Pat Collins of Reynolds News offered "sympathy" to Stan because his hope of "capping a glorious career with a Rio showing is lost in the Canadian backwoods. . ."

"The F. A. decision to leave Matthews out of their Rio calculations is amazing," said the evening star. "Why send Matthews to Canada when he proves week after week in league and cup soccer that he has no equal as an outside right in this or any country?

The argument is that Stan, a ballet-master who can dribble a football in circles on a dime, would be even more effective on a sun-baked field than he is on the often-hard going in England.

The possibility remains that the F. A. may change its mind and send him to Rio instead of Canada.

Arthur Drewry, chairman of the selection committee, told reporters:

"It is untrue to say that any of the Canadian tourists will not be considered for Rio. If Matthews or any other player is wanted for Rio, he will be withdrawn from the Canadian tour."

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Boston's Paul Ronty held firm to third spot of the National Hockey League scoring list on Wednesday night, adding an assist to his 24 and 19 goals for a total of 43 points. Maurice Richard of Montreal tagged along also moving ahead one point to 42—a pace-setting 26 goals and 16 assists.

Ted Lindsay of Detroit continued to hold first place with 17 goals and 33 assists—50 points. Teammate Sid Abel follows one point behind.

In fifth position is Detroit's Gordie Howe with 40, one ahead of Doug Bentley. Roy Conacher, also of Chicago, is seventh with 38.

Lakefield Trims Cobourg Puckists

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 2 (ENS) — The Lakefield Indians trimmed Cobourg 16-8 here last night for their sixth straight OHA intermediate victory. The Indians came up with a sparkling passing attack and rained rubber at the visiting goalie. The home defence was solid at first but eased up later as the score mounted. So far, the club has scored 84 goals, pretty well spread around among the forwards.

In the first frame, Henry, P. Nicholls, E. Nicholls, and Lonsberry scored, Blewett having two assists as one each went to Fawcett, Henry, E. Nicholls and Lonsberry. In the second, Burton, P. Nicholls, Jopling, Fawcett and Blewett netted the disk for the home crew, with assists going to Fawcett, Henry and E. Nicholls. For Cobourg, Baker got three goals and B. Cane one, the latter having two assists. In the third, E. Nicholls, scored three, Blewett two, and P. Nicholls one. Blewett aided on two and E. Nicholls on one. Maundrell got a pair for the visitors, B. Cane and G. Campbell netting the others, as assists went to H. Cane, Farquhart and Wilcox. Teams:

Cobourg—Goal, Jones; defence, Maundrell, Perfect; centre, B Cane; wings, Baker, H. Cane; alternates, Forbes, Buchanan, Hogan, Farquhart, G. Campbell, Wilcox, F. Campbell, Kendy.

Spitfires Crush Guelph 6-2 Reibel Sets OHA Scoring Record

By The Canadian Press.

Earl Reibel and Glen Skov — two of the hottest snipers that the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A division has seen in several seasons—last night showed why they keep opposing goalies trembling.

Reibel, centre on Windsor's first line, potted a goal and two assists in the Spitfires' 6-2 four point win over Guelph Biltmores and increased his personal point mark to 100, the highest ever reached in junior competition. The previous record was held by Fleming Mackell when he was playing with the 1947 St. Michael's College Memorial Cup champs.

Skov was also performing on the terrific side. He rapped in three markers, the seventh occasion this season he has pulled off the hat trick.

In the only senior game last night Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen made it two in a row over Owen Sound Mercurys, belting the out of the running Mercs 7-2. In two other Junior A contests Oshawa Generals dropped a close 4-3 decision to St. Catharines Teepees and Stratford Kroehlers reached up from their cellar position to trip up Barrie Flyes 6-2.

Nearing Top

Windsor's win put them to within five points of first place Toronto Marlboros.

The terrific Spits were down 2-1 at the end of the first but pounded home four unanswered tallies in the middle session. Jack Bailey and Erwin Grosse tallied the Windsor singles while Ron Plumb and Gerry Theberge counted for fourth place Guelph.

Kitchener were never in trouble in consolidating their second place standing. Scoring three unanswered goals in the opening frame, they held Owen Sound 2-2 in the second and won going away with two in the third.

Don Bauer and Billy Flick were high men for the Dutchmen with two goals each with singles coming off the sticks of Bill Walsh, Mike Dzuira and Mickey Roth. Buck Forslund and Pat McReavey were the Owen Sound marksmen.

Oshawa Generals, playing before what was estimated as the smallest home crowd in 15 seasons, rapped in three tallies in the final three minutes against St. Catharines but dropped one short.

The clubs battled through a scoreless first frame but St. Catharines rapped in a pair of counters in the middle session and the first two in the third. Con Switzer collared a pair while Norm Corcoran and Jack White each flashed the red light once for the winners. Lou Janowski scored twice in Oshawa's third period drive with Caron getting the single.

Competition Keen For Skating Title

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 2 (CP) —The Canadian figure skating championships start today and experts said that almost any one of the 41 competitors may be a champion when the meet concludes Saturday.

A. H. Williams, of Calgary, president of the Canadian Figure Skating Association, said there is little chance of a walk-over in any event except in the senior pairs, in which title-holders Marlene Smith, of Niagara Falls, Ont., and Donald Gilchrist, of Toronto, are not opposed.

"With many new faces appearing on the scene, mostly in junior events, and with the youngsters quickly improving, there promises to be some close results," he said.

The junior women's singles this afternoon are the first of the seven championship events. Sixteen are entered in the junior women's, the favorite being Barbara Gratton, of Toronto, runner-up a year ago to the champion, Maureen Senior. Miss Senior this year has moved up to the senior women's division.

Miss Gratton's chief competitors are probably Joyce Salo, of Copper Cliff, Ont., Jane Kirby, of Ottawa, and Jane Kenner, of Toronto. The entrants include 15-year-old Jean Ross, of New Westminster, B.C., making her first bid for national title.

LEADING CANADIAN SKIER, Harvey Clifford, 24-year-old skiing instructor at Banff, Alta., is one of Canada's chief hopes for ski titles this month. He will compete in the downhill and slalom events in the world championships at Lake Placid, N.Y., and in the North American title tourney at Banff.

Horsemen Back Harness Racing At Night

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP) — Night harness racing in Canada with pari-mutuel betting was endorsed by delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Trotting Association held here Wednesday.

The action followed the annual meeting of the Canadian Standard Bred Horse Association at which delegates also gave unqualified support to the movement for night harness racing.

Without a dissenting vote, the association members adopted a resolution for night harness racing with pari-mutuel betting under government supervision.

In addition to the planned 42-night racing meet in July and August at the Thorncliffe Park, near Toronto, the newly elected board of directors granted racing dates to the Royal City Turf Club near Guelph. No action was taken on an application before the directors for night racing at a half mile track at Wasaga Beach, Georgian Bay resort area.

At a special meeting of the directors following the general meeting, Herbert Hatch was re-elected president.

Clash Vanishes

An expected clash between two factions for night harness race meets disappeared. Fred Orpen withdrew his application for dates at Dufferin and Long Branch, leaving the way clear for the new Thorncliffe raceway group. This group however, is not sure it will operate this summer.

Several speakers declared that night harness racing would be the salvation of the horse breeding industry. James W. Brown of New Liskeard, Standard Bred Association president, said that Canada had always been behind the United States "by several years" in development of the harness racing sport and said it was high time that agricultural officials understood what this sport meant to the farmers.

Mr. Brown added there are 3,000 breeders of standard bred horses in Ontario. Some of them were fortunate enough to be able to sell colts to U. S. buyers. Night harness racing in Canada would open a new market for these breeders.

Hon. Earl Rowe of Newton Robinson, Ont., a leading horseman and trainer, said the racing of horses is a fundamental industry and something would have to be done in a hurry to save it from extinction.

Mr. Brown was re-elected president with H. A. Dickenson of Mount Hope as vice-president.

ROYAL RUG FOR DOLLARS—Queen Mary's contribution to Britain's drive for dollars is this handsome rug. She began work on it in 1941. Now it is being auctioned for dollars. Officials of the British High Commissioner's office in Ottawa report a number of Canadians have submitted bids.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

McMaster University basketball teams split a double-header at Hamilton Wednesday night, the Intermediate Marauders taking a 46-35 win from the Western Colts while the Junior Jaycees were snowed under 55-33 by Assumption College Seconds.

Snow—always a factor in this Rumsey, Maine's sports life—seemed like white gold Wednesday as the town eagerly looked forward to international cross-country ski contests this weekend. Nearly 100 athletes from eight countries already have tested the 18-kilometre (11¼-mile) trail for the first of three events. They moved here from Lake Placid, NY, to take advantage of better snow conditions.

Light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim Wednesday cancelled plans for exhibition fights because of newly-discovered broken bones in his upper jaw. X-rays showed that two small bones immediately above the front teeth were cracked when Maxim whipped Fredie Mills for the title a week ago at London, England.

Groups of colorfully-dressed 'teen-aged curlers began to converge on Galt and Guelph today for the annual schoolboys' bonspiel. Rinks from Sudbury, Kingston and Sault Ste Marie were the first to arrive here, with red-haired Glenn Sagle, skip of the Sault club, full of determination to defend the trophy won last year. The rink from Midland is skipped by Dave Hudson, son of one of Canada's great curlers, David Hudson. Guelph has its own father-and-son combination, with the schoolboy rink on which Bob Sutherland, Jr., is a member.

Former heavyweight champ Joe Louis fought an eight-round exhibition with Tiger Gene Jones of Camden, NJ, Wednesday night before an estimated 15,000 boxing fans in the Miami Baseball Stadium. Jones took the offensive in the first round, but in the succeeding rounds Louis toyed with the less experienced boxer. After the bout Louis said he would announce a decision in March on whether he intends to come back into the ring to fight for the title he gave up last year.

Peter B. Harvester, owned and driven by veteran Stratford horseman Jack Bannerman, was a straight heat winner, taking over a fair field of trotters in the opening race of the harness racing card Wednesday at Toronto's Dufferin Park. Hollyrood Garnet found the fast track to his liking and won each dash of his race cleverly for Curt Baker. He is owned by Wells and Hess of Morrisboro, Ont.

Bobby Jones, Atlanta's "boy wonder" who fashioned an unparalleled grand slam, took his place beside other sports giants of the century Wednesday as the greatest golfer of the age. The fluid-swinging Georgian who won every major championship from one to five times and then retired at 28 while at his playing peak, was an overwhelming choice in the Associated Press' 50-year poll.

Officials of the Province of Quebec Gold Association Wednesday announced that the annual Quebec open tournament will be held this year at the Ottawa Hunt Club. The tentative date for the 36-hole competition is Aug 4.

CITY CARPETBALL

The schedule for the week of February 6—Treasurers 9 vs. Legion 5, Quakers 4 vs. LOL 8, SOE 3 vs. Big Bens 1, Glens 10 vs. St. Georges 2, and Legion 6 vs. Legion 7.

All games have been played as scheduled up-to-date.

The Quakers paid a visit to the fire hall and were really full-o-pep as they staggered the fire-eaters in their own bailiwick by taking both games by scores of 15-10 and 13-8.

The Anglicans had as their guests King Billie. But the Anglicans' lion was shown who the king of the animals really was when the white charger got finished with him, by scores of 20-10 and 13-6.

The Treasurers were at home for the visit of those Sons and had their high-powered jets working this time so that the guardians just could not get set, especially the left-handed ones. The scores in favor of the fire hall squad were 16-3 and 21-3.

Glens swept the Bakers off their feet when the latter attacked and they were repulsed two straight by scores of 11-7, 17-5.

The Big Bens, fresh from an overhaul, swept to two victories on their visit to Legion against the Old Sweats, scores being 14-6 and 11-4.

Every time the Quakers forget their full-o-pep they live to regret it. This time on their visit against Legion 5 they went down to defeat in both games by scores of 9-46 and 7-11.

The smoke-eaters on their visit against the Old Sweats found the perfect balls rolled by the old soldiers just too much, as they lost out 6-10, but broke through in the second to take it 18-8.

The results for the final heat of the first round of the memorial doubles show keen competition as all four games had to be decided in the playoff game.

A. Price and G. Palmer went down in defeat against A. Robinson [illegible] Rubaw by scores of 3-9, 7-4 and 7-6. The deciding game was a nip and tuck battle with only one ball difference at the finish.

The battle between V. Reed and J. Douglas against E. Amyotte and H. Clapham was another that went three games before the former pair won out. The final battle between L. Jackson and A. Pilling against C. Thackery and D. Pilling proved to be another sizzler and the third game decided it in favor of A. Pilling.

The first heat of the second round will be played February 7: L. Jackson and A. Pilling vs. R. Ralston and A. Bromley at 7.00 p.m.; A. Wagstaff and G. Gimblett vs. F. Leether and F. Parsons at 7.00 p.m.; E. Nicholas and G. Fullbrook vs. F. Brand and D. G. Metcalfe at 9.00 p.m.; F. Bell and W Gracie vs. G. Foster and W. Wilson at 9.00 p.m.

On Tuesday, February 14, at 8.00 p.m.; No. 19 vs. No. 17 and No. 18 vs. No. 16.

Standing up to January 30:

Telephone Expert Speaks To So-Ed On New Devices

Nowhere in the world are speechways constructed more carefully or guarded more jealously than in Canada, A. M. Dix, Bell Telephone representative, told the So-Ed Club here at a meeting in Peterborough Normal School Wednesday evening.

With the aid of energized display equipment, Mr. Dix demonstrated some of the methods by which modern voice transmission has been brought to its present high state of efficiency.

A. M. Dix, Bell Telephone lecturer, who in an address to the So-Ed Club here Wednesday evening explained how modern equipment is used to convey the spoken word over distances great and small. He illustrated his lecture with a large display of demonstration equipment.

In the earliest days of telephony, the speaker said, voice currents were sent out over a pair of iron wires. Transmission was faulty, there was noise on the line, the range of speech was distinctly limited. Gradually, limitations were overcome, until "there were no earthly limits to speech".

Equipment Shown

Mr. Dix showed his audience samples of the various devices which have increased the range of speech: loading coils, vacuum tubes at various stages of their development, and latest of all, the transistor, distantly related to the crystal of early radio sets. Smaller than a paper clip, it can perform many of the functions of the vacuum tube.

The constant search of even better methods of transmission will continue in the quest for better and more dependable telephone service, the speaker said But still, the basic principle of the Indian signal drum is still used in the telephone diaphragm, and modern radio relays from hilltop to the next follow the age-old pattern of beacon fires used by primitive man to relay messages.

To Hold Talks

MONTREAL, Feb. 2 (CP)—Sir Cecil Weir, chairman of England's dollar export board, is expected to arrive by air from the United Kingdom today for a series of talks with Canadian industrial leaders.

Greater Effort In Supporting Work Of Church

Increased effort during 1949, especially in supporting the greater needs of the Presbyterian Church in Canada were reported at the annual meeting of St. Paul's congregation on Wednesday night. Rev. C. G. Boyd conducted a brief devotional period and was chairman of the meeting. Stewart Lockington acted as secretary.

The efforts of the various women's missionaries societies the WMS, the Fraser Auxiliary, the Evening Auxiliary WMS, the Young Women's Auxiliary and a substantial increase in the general missionary givings of the congregation all received favorable comment.

The session, in its report, reported two young people of the congregation preparing themselves for the ministry of the church. The membership was reported as 1,236, with 79 being added during the year. The minister conducted 55 baptisms, 24 marriages and 34 funerals.

With the installation of oil-burning equipment and the complete overhauling of the heating system, the work of restoration of the church is about complete. This work has cost $41,007, and thanks to the generous response of the congregation, the cost has been provided for.

A. E. Chalmers, chairman of the board of managers, presented the financial statement, which showed total receipts for current revenue received by the treasurer of the church as $22,128 and a balance of $1,172.45 at the end of the year.

Attention was drawn by James Dutton to the need of an assistant minister and to the building of a second church in Peterborough, and he reported that a committee was making a study of both projects.

Elected to the board of managers were Bruce Johnston, Gordon Hill, Leonard McNeil, Robert Cochrane and William Saunders.

Authorization was given the managers to insulate both church and manse, instal an amplifying system in the church, and fire and sound-proof the furnace and motor in the church.

Too Much Hoeing Injurious Disturbs Roots of Gladiolus

Horticulturalists and gladiolus growers attending the annual banquet Wednesday of Peterborough and District Gladiolus Society in the Empress Hotel, were told by Mayor Max Swanston they have done a great deal to improve the beauty of the city.

The mayor told 100 horticulturalists and gladiolus specialists that the Centennial Committee would support the Society in its attempt to hold a particularly spectacular gladiolus show this the centenary year of Peterborough.

Those attending the banquet had travelled as far as Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Omemee and Lindsay.

Guest speaker was A. E. Summers, representative for Durham of the Department of Agriculture and a noted gladiolus grower. He was accompanied by Dr. E. W. Sisson, also of Bowmanville.

Mr. Summers spoke of the necessity of looking after the soil and ploughing back humus, which was essential to the growth of any plant.

Some growers used a two or three year rotation system, ploughing in green crops one year to help the soil.

The old rule that it was important to go out and hoe after rain, had been over-ruled by a new method, Mr. Summers said. It was now considered important not to over-cultivate. Too much hoeing disturbed and cut the roots of any crop and was inevitably harmful.

Referring to fertilizers Mr Summers said it was best to wait until the first spikes had shown before spreading fertilizer for the growth of gladiolus. A much better result was obtained this way, although it meant a little extra trouble.

Treatment of bulbs as a guard against disease and control of temperature of storage rooms were two other points mentioned by the speaker.

Mr. Summers was introduced by the chairman, Dr. J. H. Leslie, president of the Peterborough and District Society and a vote of thanks was proposed by Clarence Porter.

Before dinner silence was observed in memory of two members who died recently, Mrs C. Chapman and Harold Ball.

J. Pritchard was master of ceremonies and conducted a sing-song. Louis Holic entertained with the accordion and Bob Hardie as a magician.

Members of the entertainment committee responsible for the evening were Clarence Porter, chairman; Dr. J. H. Leslie, Mrs. J. H. Leslie, Miss Rosanne Connelly, Bud Lloyd, L. Holic and Mrs. George Duncan.

Ask Stand Changed

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP) — The Quebec Federation of Tenant. Wednesday asked Premier Duplessis of Quebec to reverse his government's position before the Supreme Court of Canada on the question of validity of federal rent controls. They described as "astonishing and irresponsible" Quebec's attitude that there is no "national emergency" which would require continuation of the controls.

To Get More Water

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—Board of control voted Wednesday to give suburban North York Township 2,020,000 additional gallons of water a day, beginning early next summer. The township said last week that all home construction in North York would have to be halted unless the city granted it more water.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

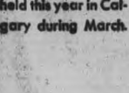
Badminton makes it's bow!

How Badminton became one of Canada's first-rank sports!

1930 . . . Badminton players across Canada were training hard. Five years earlier an English team had come to teach Canadians the game's fine points. Now another group of Britain's top amateurs were making a tournament tour of the nation's clubs to see how the game had caught on.

Canadians had been keen learners . . . and the visitors found themselves evenly matched. The final decision was to come from the Canadian champion. In successive games at Toronto, Kingston and Montreal he defeated Britain's four leading players . . . Canada had won a top place in the badminton world.

Badminton grows daily in popularity with Canadians. Keen competition and good sportsmanship have made it a favourite everywhere. And together, competition and sportsmanship make things better for Canadians in work and play. They keep your future in Canada . . . unlimited.



The Canadian Open Badminton Championships will be held this year in Calgary during March.

Cost-Of-Living May Reach All-Time High

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP) — By the time they finished their Christmas shopping, most Canadians probably thought the cost-of-living had reached an all-time high in December.

In a few days, when the Bureau of Statistics issues its monthly report on living costs, they'll know just how high it actually was.

The Bureau's cost-of-living index stood at 161.5 in November, the fourth consecutive month in which slight declines were recorded.

The index is calculated on the basis that 1935-39 average living costs equal 100.

The index reached its all time high—162.8—last July. In November it still was 60.2 per cent higher than in August, 1939.

The drop in November was one-fifth of a point and was attributed mostly to lower food prices which make up nearly a third of the index. Eggs and meats led the decline in food costs. The food sub-index fell 1.4 points to 201.9, the fourth consecutive monthly decline.

Up Slightly

But rents, fuel and miscellaneous items, making up 48 per cent of the items compiled in the index, all edged up slightly.

The rent index was 128, an increase of 1.1 points. Although increases in ceiling rents were permitted in December, they are not expected to be reflected in the December index. Most landlords were required to give a full month's notice of the increase and could not collect the higher rentals until this month.

The fuel index increased one-tenth of a point, mainly because of higher costs of United States coal, to 135.2.

The miscellaneous section—including items such as recreation, transportation and medical care—advanced three-tenths of a point to set a new record at 130.5.

Clothing was unchanged at 183.7 and home furnishings dipped slightly to 167.1.

HOTEL MEN—Central figures in Canada's greatest hotel transaction are John C. Udd of Brockville, left, and William F. Macklaier of Montreal. In the background is seen the Laurentian Hotel in Montreal. The two men negotiated purchase of the controlling interest in Cardy Corporation by Sheraton Hotels Ltd., Canadian subsidiary of Sheraton Corporation of America. Hotels involved in the deal included the Laurentian, Toronto's King Edward, Hamilton's Royal Connaught, Niagara Falls' General Brock, Windsor's Prince Edward and the Alpine at Ste. Marguerite, Que.

Find Ex-Convict Slain In Gangland Style

DETROIT, Feb. 2 (AP) — The body of a former convict, slain in gangland style, was found trussed with wire in the trunk compartment of a swank convertible car Wednesday night, police reported.

The homicide squad identified the victim as J. Marshall George of Detroit, on parole on an armed robbery charge.

Detectives said no motive for the killing was determined immediately but they were investigating on the theory there may have been a gambling tie-up.

Letter Gives Pointers On Manners

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

What are the most common breaches of good manners?

The Royal Bank of Canada, in the course of a current public letter on public relations, gives the answers as supplied by a group of nearly 100 men and women who were asked that question.

Here they are (and we may share an occasional blush together as we run through them):

Pedestrians failing to wait for the green light; jay-walking; walking on sidewalks more than two abreast, or zig-zagging, or dawdling, or rushing, or day-dreaming, or gathering in groups to talk.

Motorists racing the lights, honking horns, splashing, stopping astride the intersection white line; jockeying for advantage over other drivers.

In stores: Disinterest of some sales clerks; crowding by customers; refusal of clerks to see a customer near closing time; fumbling by customers who don't know what they want.

Rap Pushing

On street cars: Pushing, spreading out over more seat than is necessary, blocking the steps and entrance.

In elevators: Smoking, refusing to move to let people off.

On the telephone: Inaudible voices, mumbling, talking with pipe or cigaret in mouth, abruptness, delay in answering when the call is put through.

In offices: Unnecessary noise, dictating while smoking, borrowing and not returning, holding up work until late in the day.

In theatres: Talking, cracking gum, eating, wearing big hats, shuffling feet, taking up both arm rests, breaking into a line-up.

In restaurants: Holding table space while others wait.

The bank letter adds:

"Every item is a trifling one that can be put right at the expenditure of only a little thought."

Dog And Cat Shot By Air Rifles

A dog and a cat were reported shot by air rifles in the Byersville area, Humane Society Inspector Gerald Dunford said Wednesday.

Three or four air rifles pellets were found imbedded in the ear of the dog. The cat [illegible] shot in thigh and a rear leg. Its owner found that [illegible] was developing [illegible] to a veterinary to have the pellet removed.

Last Patient Leaves

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—Last of the injured in the Noronic steamship fire, which cost 119 lives, Robert Adamson is going home Saturday to Lorain, Ohio. His badly burned face, back and left arm have healed but his right arm needs further treatment.

Judge Urges Reforms For Prisons

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Sweeping reforms in Canada's penal system were urged by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of Ontario in an address here Wednesday night.

Speaking to the Ontario Council of Women, he recommended creation of provincial probation machinery with full-time officers in major centres and part-time officers in smaller places, who would supervise offenders on ticket-of-leave from reform institutions and provide corrective treatment of the minor offender.

He also urged segregation of prisoners according to the degree of their offences and the probability of their reformation.

Isolation, or permanent removal from society of the habitual criminal who now can influence younger men in penal institutions was also recommended by the Chief Justice. He recalled that the Archambault Commission 10 years ago recommended establishment of a colony for habitual criminals on an island in the St Lawrence River.

Ontario's initial contribution to reform might lie in improvement of probation, he added. Toronto has had an effective system for 25 years; Ottawa and Hamilton now have local probation supervision and a start has been made at Windsor. "Otherwise, there is no properly organized system," he said.

Semi-Invalid Dies

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—John A. Carroll, 81-year-old semi-invalid, died on his way to hospital Wednesday night following a fire in his home. His sister, E. Carroll, 76, was revived by firemen with help of an inhalator.

Finds Dreams Come True With Trapper

SUDBURY, Feb. 2 (CP)—In a wilderness cabin 30 miles south of here, Wayne Barnes, 5, is living the sort of life that small boys everywhere dream about—but few experience.

He's spending the winter with Andy Tyson, 40-year-old trapper, and Tyson's wife, whose baby daughter died of polio last November in a plane carrying her to hospital.

Wayne lives in a log cabin on the shore of an icebound lake. He can swing on the tail of one of the 10 dead timber wolves dangling from a crossbar between two pine trees outside the cabin. Or he can stroke the pelts of four red foxes which Tyson has killed in recent weeks. He plays Indian with a bow and arrow.

Tyson arranged to take the boy to spend the winter in the cabin at Tyson Lake to bring cheer to the wilderness home left lonely by the death of the baby girl. The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barnes, came to Sudbury from Orillia and found difficulty in getting settled so Wayne is living temporarily with the Tysons.

Apsley Bids Farewell To Rev. Donald Hester

APSLEY, Feb. 2—(ENS)—Farewell presentations to the Rev. Donald Hester and his family, were made by the congregation Sunday in the rectory following the evening service. Mr. Hester left Wednesday for Moose Factory, where he has been appointed principal of Bishop Horden Memorial School.

Charles Alphy presented a leather club bag to Mr. Hester and on behalf of the women of the congregation Mrs. C. Smith presented a leather hand bag. Mrs. Montgomery presented Derrick with a leather bill folder and Patsy received costume jewellery.

On behalf of the Ladies Guild Mrs. Montgomery presented a cup and saucer to Mrs. Hester.

Community singing, with Mrs. Pidgeon at the piano, followed the presentation.

The Rev. C. A. G. Spence announced he would continue at St George's despite indifferent health, until a new resident minister was appointed. Lunch was served.

Earlier in the day the Women's Association of St. Paul's presented a pair of jumbo socks and an autograph albumn to Mr. Hester.

Sentenced To Death

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2 (AP) —Louis Eugene Hoover Wednesday was denied a new trial and sentenced to death for the Mardi Gras murder of millionaire James Mahoney last February. Defence counsel Sam Zelden filed notice of an appeal. Mahoney was found beaten and strangled in his hotel room.

WIDOW NO. 2—Escorted by Capt. Charles M. Foyle, Londoner Mrs. Jean Babcock leaves Arlington National Cemetery with the flag that draped the casket of Col. William T. Babcock, deputy U.S. Commander in Berlin. This Mrs. Babcock, who flew in with the body, said she and the colonel were married in Germany in 1945. Also at the burial was Mrs. Mary M. Babcock of New London, Conn., who said she had been the colonel's wife for 34 years, and there had been no divorce. The two Mrs. Babcocks did not speak to each other.

Rev. E. Unstead Leaves Warsaw

WARSAW, Feb. 2 — (ENS) — The Women's Association of the United Church presented an electrical kettle as a farewell gift to the Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Unstead at the January meeting They are leaving for Beaverton, Ont.

Mrs. Cooper, the president, presided and a duet was sung by Mrs. Roland Payne and Mrs. Clendenning.

Plans were made for a pancake social to be held on Shrove Tuesday.

It was decided to ask the people from the Brick School district to present their short play for the program.

Lunch was served by Mrs. William Darling, Mrs. George Taylor and Mrs. A. Edwards.

3 Children Burned

BENNINGTON, Vt., Feb. 2 — (AP)—The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baldwin perished early today in a fire that swept their home.

Number Of Familiar Faces Likely To Be Missing Around Parliament

By DON GILBERT

LONDON, Feb. 2—(CP)—Whatever the political complexion of the parliament to be elected Feb. 23, members will miss a sizeable number of faces long familiar in the Commons lobbies.

Retirement has called many of the House's old members away from the political arena. Others had their seats wiped out by redistribution or failed to win renomination in their constituencies. In their places, new—and usually young—faces will appear.

Oldest member of the dissolved House, Sir Murdock MacDonald has stepped down. At 83, he retired after 28 years' service as Liberal and National Liberal members for Inverness.

The "father" of the House, 66-year-old Earl Winterton, is staying on. He has sat continuously for Horsham, Sussex, since 1904.

A case of involuntary retirement is that of Neil Maclean onetime "terror of the Clyde" who had sat as Labor members for Glasgow-Govan since the First World War.

At 75, the local Labor organization fouhd Maclean "too old" and chose Jack Davis, 48, to contest the riding.

Sir Alan Herbert, whose whitty speeches have enlivened many a debate since he entered the Commons 15 years ago, is not running again. His Oxford University seat has disappeared under redistribution.

Another loser through the ending of university representation is Sir John Anderson, 67, wartime Chancellor of the Exchequer. He sat for the Scottish universities and is said to feel that as a retired Civil Servant it would be a breach of etiquette to stand in a constituency where election is more than a formality.

Sir Patrick Hannon, a frequent business visitor to Canada and a booster of commonwealth relations, is stepping down at 75. For 28 years he represented Moseley division of Birmingham, another redistribution casualty.

Two More Towns Ask For Services

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP) — The civic board of control at a special meeting next week will consider requests for the services of assessment commissioner A. B. J. Gray at Cornwall and Cobourg.

The Toronto assessment official, an expert in his field, was centre of a controversy in municipal circles some time ago over his contract or assessment work at Timmins, Ont. He told the board of control recently that unless he was permitted to do assessment work for outside municipalities in his spare time he would be forced to resign.

Cornwall wants Mr. Gray to discuss a scheme of re-assessment while the Canadian General Electric Company want him to examine re-assessment of their properties at Cobourg.

ROBIN HOOD BUTTERMILK SCONES

2 cups sifted Robin Hood Flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup plus 2 tablespoons buttermilk or sour milk

Wonderful old-fashioned scones that'll melt in your mouth — brought up-to-date and made better with Robin Hood!

1. Sift together flour, baking soda and salt into mixing bowl. Cut shortening into small pieces and add to dry ingredients. Blend together until mixture is mealy, using pastry blender (or two knives, cutting in with scissor-like motion).

2. Make a well in the center of mixture and gradually add the buttermilk or sour milk, stirring lightly with fork. Mix only until soft dough is formed.

3. Turn out onto lightly floured bakeboard or pastry cloth and divide in two equal portions. Gently roll out each piece with floured rolling pin or pat out with hand into circles ½ inch thick. Place circles on ungreased cookie sheet and cut in quarters, but do not separate the pieces. Bake at 450°F. (very hot oven) for 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 8 individual scones.

Rylstone Cheese Co. Accepts Retail Customers

BONARLAW, Feb. 2 (ENS)—Rylstone Cheese and Butter Company decided at its annual meeting that cheese may be sold by the pound to any customer wishing to purchase it.

The company had made a quantity of ten pound cheeses which had been popular among housewives, who found it economical as there is no loss in drying after it is cut.

The following is a statement of products handled by the company during 1949:

Milk, 3,576,666 pounds; cheese, 296,800 pounds; butterfat, 109,874 pounds; total money for cheese (bonus included) $92,105; average price a pound of cheese, 31.03; average milk a pound of cheese, 12.03; average pounds of cheese a pound of fat, 2.72; average price a pound of fat paid patrons, 76.07; total pounds whey butter fat, 7,910; price received $3,770.41; Dominion Government premium on high scoring cheese, $3,699.43.

The balance sheet revealed a balance of $217.30.

ALBERTA'S OIL INDUSTRY HONORED—The major contribution made to Canada's post-war economy by Alberta's booming oil industry will be recognized in a new stamp. It is the 50-cent stamp, above to be issued March 1. The green design shows a typical Alberta oil field scene. Beside the derrick at the left is a burning natural gas flare and behind a spume of oil shows the birth of a new well.

Homesteader Fought For Riel

MEADOW LAKE, Sask.—(CP)—A former Metis rebel who fought with Louis Riel's half-breed army in 1885, Frank Beaudry is a historic figure in this district, where he has homesteaded since 1919.

Born in 1851 in Carleton (Duck Lake), Sask., the old, Cree-speaking half-breed witnessed the North Battleford hangings of 1885 when eight Indians were put to death for their part in the infamous Frog Lake massacre. Earlier in the year he had taken part in the Riel Rebellion, which ended with Riel's defeat at Batoche, Sask.

Beginning his career as a hunter when 18 years old, Mr. Beaudry lived in the open country, hunting buffalo for a livelihood and making buffalo robes and pemmican which could be traded for food and supplies.

On one of his trips he travelled from Carleton to Winnipeg for the Hudson's Bay Company, trekking more than 800 miles in six weeks with 10 Red River carts.

Prior to 1870, the main hunting weapon was the bow, he reports, but soon afterwards "Fling Flong" guns came into wide usage. These were flared, muzzle-loading blunderbusses.

When signs of rebellion arose among the Metis after 1870, Mr. Beaudry joined his people in seeking the aid of Louis Riel, a half-breed school teacher, living in exile in the United States.

Fearing loss of their lands through the onrush of new settlers to the west, the Metis formed an army under Riel, in which Mr. Beaudry became one of the leader's closest personal friends. He laughingly recall,s however, that he was never made a leader himself.

Following the rebellion and dispersal of the beaten Metis army, Mr. Beaudry resumed hunting for several years before becoming a homesteader here.

Says Canadians Lucky People In Food Supply

By Dr. E. W. McHENRY

Professor of Public Health Nutrition School of Hygiene, University of Toronto.

Canadians are lucky people! We have more wheat, more meat more butter than we need. We have lots of milk, plenty of attractive vegetables, and generous quantities of eggs and other fine foods. Only in a few other lands are people so fortunate. Compare our supplies of a wide variety of foods with the meagre amounts available to most people in India, China, or many other countries.

Unfortunately, the use of our food supplies is not always wise Probably one sixth of Canadian adults are overweight because they eat too much. This is possible in a land of bountiful supplies. Overweight is harmfull because it speeds the onset of degenerative diseases like diabetes and high blood pressure. Reduction in weight can be accomplished by eating less—but see your doctor and get sound advice about what to eat.

In the last few years the food habits of children have been studied in almost every province Children need milk and vitamin D for healthy growth of bone but about 30 per cent of Canadian children get very little milk Public school children need vitamin D just as much as do infants but about 80 per cent of school children do not receive the vitamin D they should have in the winter months. Many children have only small amounts of citrus fruits, tomato juice and other good sources of vitamin C. Generally, children eat enough bread, meat and potatoes, and many children have far too much cake, pastry candy, and soft drinks. Sugar promotes tooth decay and spoils the appetite. Money spent on sweet foods for children prevents the purchase of desirable amounts of healthful foods.

The best advice for the healthful use of Canada's bountiful foods is contained in Canada's Food Rules. Have you a copy in your home? If you haven't, ask your health department for one So far as children are concerned three of the food rules need particular emphasis:—

1. Every child should have at least a pint of milk a day.
2. Be sure of the child's supply of Vitamin C—use citrus fruits or tomato juice every day.
3. So long as growth continues, every child should have 400 units of vitamin D each day.

Help to prevent tooth decay and maintain a good appetite for the foods the child needs by discouraging the use of sweet foods.

Ontario Cattle Fail To Recognize Honor Of Being Flown To Colombia

TORONTO, Feb. 2.—The angriest-looking cattle imaginable took off from Malton Airport Wednesday night for Bogota, Colombia, and points south.

These were no ordinary cattle. These were the cream of their respective breeds. They were ordered from Ontario breeders by the Colombian Agriculture Ministry that they might improve the herds of that country.

But if these aristocrats of the beef and dairy world were aware of their high destiny they gave no sign. They were plainly sick of the whole business long before the big C-54, chartered from the Flying Tigers Airline, warmed up its four motors and departed.

Have Five Breeds

There were five breeds represented in the cattle shipment, all of them from registered herds of Ayrshire, Jersey, Holstein, Shorthorn and Scottish Highland cattle. The total value of the shipment was put at $26,000 by Grant Campbell of Campbell Farms, Moffat.

The seven Highland cattle in the shipment included Ruadh Barry and Sir Robert and five consorts. According to J. W. Pawley, manager of Caledon Farms, the seven of them are "gentle as doves."

But while they were waiting for the plane, Ruadh Barry let fly with a kick that would have done credit to a Missouri mule.

One of the most distinguished travellers was Caledon Foreward Basil II, a yearling bull which took junior champion honors at the Canadian National Exhibition in 1949 and also at the Ontario championship show the same year.

Like Noah's Ark

Loading the cattle was something very vaguely reminiscent of Noah's Ark. The animals went in one by one with much bellowing and rolling of the eyes. The system for loading balky cattle into an airplane is a simple one: You let down a ramp, hook a rope on the beast, then one man pulls while two others alternately push, holler and whack the dust out of the critter's hide with a stockman's cane.

Flying of cattle to South America is nothing new to Ontario breeders. A year ago, according to Mr. Campbell, they were sending out a plane-load about three times a week.

"But shipments are scarce this year," he said. "The South American countries are saving their dollars."

Besides Mr. Campbell and the Caledon Farms, shippers yesterday included J. M. Fraser, Holstein breeder, Brampton; Stewart Bennett, Shorthorn breeder, Georgetown; John Miller, Shorthorn breeder, Ashburn; Charles Cerwell, Holstein breeder, Beeton; K. E. Deacon, Shorthorn breeder, Unionville; Edwin S. Eby, Holstein breeder, Kitchener; Rosafe Farms, Holstein Breeder, Brampton, and G. M. Brawly, Ayrshire breeder, from Brooklin.

Try To Get Heat

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP)—Vents and grills are being installed to improve circulation of heat in homes at a veterans project in Renfrew, Ont., an official of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation said Wednesday night Tenants have complained the homes—built last summer under plans of the crown-owned housing company—are too cold.

Aerial Photos Fall Down On Coastal Work

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP)—Aerial photography, invaluable in modern mapmaking, falls down when it comes to making coastal charts, a United States expert said Wednesday.

Modern difficulties in mapping coastal areas were outlined before the 43rd annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Surveying and Photogrammetry by P. G. McCurdy of Washington, president of the American Society of Photogrammetry and a member of the United States Navy Hydrographic Office.

Air photos, said Mr. McCurdy have become a tremendous aid in almost all mapping projects. However, their weakness lies in interpretation of photographs depicting coastlines, since the air photo doesn't show depths of water.

Maps of coastal areas must be a combination of regular topographical map features and a nautical chart, and Mr. McCurdy urged closer co-operation between the mapping and surveying organizations and the nautical mappers.

Mr. McCurdy tackled the problem from the point of view of both peacetime and wartime amphibious operations, and stressed the importance of mapmakers using the best field surveys and hydrographic surveys in co-operation to get accurate maps.

Francis Forde, Australian High Commissioner to Canada, discussed air photo work in Australia, where a quarter of the dominion has been mapped by this method.

ARGENTINE AMBASSADOR, Agustin Mores Martinez is the new Argentine ambassador to Canada. It is the first diplomatic post for Mr. Martinez, a former federal judge in Argentina.

Attlee Imposes Ban

LONDON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee Wednesday ordered a blanket ban on all official British comment about the United States decision to develop the hydrogen super-bomb. A spokesman for Attlee's office reported this when asked whether Britain had been consulted on the subject of developing the H-bomb.

Epidemic of Measles

MONTREAL, Feb. 2 (CP) — An epidemic of measles described by city health authorities as "minor but by no means trivial" has hit Montreal. City health officer Dr. Adelard Groulx said Wednesday that 765 cases of the disease were reported in January this year as compared with only 85 cases for the corresponding period last year.

College Loses Appeal

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP)—The University of Toronto Wednesday lost an Exchequer Court appeal involving $29,068 in succession duties. Mr. Justice J. C. A. Cameron ruled the university cannot be considered an agency of the Ontario government for succession duty purposes, despite a measure of control exercised by the government.

Building Jobs Of $58,250 Permits Show

During January building permits totalling $58,250 were issued by the city. Major items were the construction of five houses at a total cost of $34,300 and the tobacco storage warehouse on Hunter St. W. valued at $10,500.

Following is a brief survey of the permits issued:

A five room dwelling owned by Harold Mace of Burleigh Falls, valued at $7,800, and to be erected with concrete block foundations on Dufferin St. April 1 is the estimated date of completion.

Three five-room, one-and-a-half storey houses on Lots 18 and 19 Rutherford St., owned by Clarence Stevenson. These are of concrete block foundations and block-frame construction; each worth an estimated $7,000. To be completed July 31.

A six-room, two storey house at 105 Robinson St. to be of brick veneer and with concrete foundations. Estimated cost is $5,500. Work should begin April 1 and end in December. Owner, R. Northcott, 344 Mark St.

Tobacco Warehouse

The $10,500 tobacco storage warehouse at 195 Hunter St. W. is scheduled to be completed February 28. It is a two-storey building with solid concrete foundation and is to have show windows in front. It is owned by the American Hotel.

Repairs totalling $6,200 are proceeding at the gutted building at 442 George St., the former premises of the Blackwood and Freeburn, electrical appliances. The interior was swept by fire recently. Repairs are being made to the floors, walls, ceiling, plumbing and heating. The building owned by Miss Agnes Horsfield should be ready by March 1.

Interior alterations are also being made to the store at 647 George St. owned by M. E. Finn. The total cost of new counters, etc., is estimated at $2,800.

A double garage is being erected on Lot 14 Cameron St., between Monaghan Rd. and Erskine Ave., on the south side. The building, owned by H. G. Ward, of R.R. 4 Peterborough, will be of concrete block construction. Cost is estimated at $700.

A new store front of vitralite and glass to be erected at 322 Water St. will cost about $2,000.

New floors, joists and a partition in the cellar at 557 Aylmer St. will come to about $500.

Other permits were for a shed and storage room at 655 Park St. No., owned by Harry Robbins, $100; repairs to a garage at 292 Simcoe St., $75; shingling of a house at 695 George St., $100; repairs to foundations at 56 Victoria Ave., $50; extending a shed and conversion into garage at 783 Water St., $75; alterations to a house at 49 Benson Ave., $260; construction of a chimney at 213 Charlotte St., $200; and tearing down of a terrace at 229-235 George St., $400.

Rent Boosts Now In Effect

In contrast to November's wave of protest when landlords were allowed to increase rentals the February 1 deadline passed quietly Wednesday across Canada. Nothing was known at the local office of the Wartime Prices and Trades Board, under T. D. Thomson, on whether there were protests by tenants or if evictions by landlords were taking place in Peterborough.

Rent increases ranging as high as 22 per cent went into effect for thousands of Canadian tenants across Canada Wednesday. The increases were allowable in every province except Saskatchewan. The landlords were allowed to increase rents up to 18 per cent for unheated dwellings and 22 per cent for heated accommodation. In Saskatchewan the provincial government will take over rental control March 31.

Landlords were not able to notify tenants that they planned to take advantage of the higher rent ceilings until rents became due after December 15. Therefore most tenants received their notices January 1. Under rental regulations one month's notice is required before such boosts take effect.

Health Week Speech Warns Food Handlers of Poisoning

The sanitary inspector is a friend to food-handlers, not a trouble-shooter as most believe, Dr. Frank Rushton of the Provincial Department of Health in Toronto, said Wednesday night. He was the guest speaker at the annual Health Week banquet of the Peterborough branch of the Health League of Canada at the Kawartha Club. The food-handlers such as the restaurant and snack-bar operators were the guests of the branch.

Food-handlers think that when the sanitary officer comes, trouble comes too, said Mr. Rushton. That was the wrong impression, because the inspectors help the operators to help themselves by making suggestions for improvements.

Discussing food poisoning, Mr. Rushton said that the commonest form is caused by a germ from minor skin infections such as pimples. If the germ is allowed to enter a food of low acidity but fairly moist, he said, it will develop in three or four hours at room temperature into an extremely dangerous poison. He gave an example of the power of the germ by telling briefly of an army camp case.

Mr. Rushton suggested that if one is uncertain about how to keep food he should keep it at a temperature below 50 degrees or over 120 degrees.

Food Poisoning

In the radius of one town, he said, there were 500 cases of food poisoning in three years. Two years ago, in an Ontario camp 525 soldiers suffered foot poisoning due to rice pudding. This, he said, was a bigger blow than Hitler could strike for the same cost.

A third case of food poisoning related by Mr. Rushton occurred in Quebec. A fisherman returned from a trip with two pounds of cheese. At home his wife made cheese sandwiches for a card party. Due to contaminated cheese 17 people suffered from typhoid fever.

Tourist Complaints

Thousands of letters are received yearly from tourists complaining about sanitary conditions, he said These varied from complaints about lipstick on glasses to objections to cooks without shirts. Regardless of how silly some of the complaints are, he said, the department is charged with attending to them.

Even though the operators cannot see the value of the inspector's suggestions or recommendations, Mr. Rushton said that they should realize that the recommendations will help to attract tourists and their American dollars to Canada.

Dr. Harold Worton introduced Mr. Rushton, who was thanked by Ben Myers.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, told the food-handlers that as for the past three years the Peterborough Department of Health will hold a two-day course in food handling The first afternoon and evening session will be next Wednesday.

Following the banquet the food handlers were shown the new kitchen in the Kawartha clubhouse by Dr. Worton. At the same time movies were shown in the dining room. Service with a Smile, Germs Take Pot Luck, In Hot Water, and Safe Food for Sale Health.

PLEADED GUILTY

Mrs. Helen Bird, 906 Water St., pleaded guilty and to a charge of being drunk and was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate W. R. Philip KC in police court today.

Work Stoppage Staged By U.E. At C.G.E. Plant

A two-hour work stoppage that culminated in a parade through the plant was staged today by UE members at the Peterborough CGE plant.

Several reasons were given by UE union officials for the demonstration, but the main grievance was the exclusion of Local 524 UE from sitting with the other members of the UE-GE Joint Negotiating Committee on a new master contract.

The left wingers, claiming a spontaneous demonstration, said about 1,200 workers of 3,200 workers were involved, but others estimated the figure at 400-500.

After parading through the plant the UE members walked out of the factory proper and listened to a short address by C. S. Jackson, Canadian UE president, and the president of their own union, Local 524.

(Later today Ross Russell is to contact Ontario Labor Minister Charles Daly to discuss UE grievances. A five-man delegation protesting the company's attitude toward Local 524's participation in contract negotiations, met the Labor Minister earlier this week. He advised the delegation he would consider the matter and said he would hear their representative, Ross Russell, today.)

About a week ago Local 524 wrote to the Peterborough management asking for a meeting to discuss outstanding differences. This was accepted in a letter of reply handed to the Local's secretary, Flo Farrance, early today.

When the employees approached the management after the parade they were informed the company would meet its obligations by conferring with a UE committee later today. But there would be no conference until the agreed on time.

LOCK BUMPERS

The front bumper of a car driven by Karol Adams, 336 Parkhill Rd., was torn off when the car hooked bumpers with a city bus driven by Fred LeBar, 256 Aylmer St., Wednesday, on Water St.

IN PARA RESCUE

One of the three veteran RCAF para-rescuers who took part in this week's realistic exercise in the bush north of Trenton was Cpl. Roderick (Rod) Robinson of Bobcaygeon. Two jumps were made to the scene of the simulated wrecked aircraft where supposedly injured crew members had to be "rescued" and given first aid. Altogether three parare.. scuers made the jumps from a Dakota. Cpl. Robinson has 32 jumps to his credit.

FINGER SLICED

In an accident at the CGE, 16-year-old Alfred Lefebvre, 400 Armstrong Drive, had the top of a finger sheared off. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

OVERHEATED PIPES

Firemen received no major alarms Wednesday. The only call was to proceed to 952 Ford Ave., where a case of overheated pipes was reported at the residence of Bela Romhanyi. A hand pump was used to eliminate the hazard.

AT BREED CONVENTION

Peterborough dairymen attending breed conventions in Toronto Wednesday included: W. Clarence Mann, Clarence Coon and Wallace Brailey with the Ayrshire section, and Ernest Fife, Everett Elmhurst, Joseph Coughlin, Stanley Wood, Norman McConkey and Earl Dorris at the Canadian Holstein convention.

135 BIRTHS IN JANUARY

January births registered at the city hall totalled 135 as against 119 a year ago. Number of deaths here last month was 66, and in January of last year 42.

SEEKS READJUSTMENT

The Canadian General Electric Company is seeking an adjustment to last year re-assessment of its Cobourg plant, which, the company claims, is now out of line. The company has asked for the services of Toronto's assessment commissioner, A. J. B. Gray, and the matter is to be considered by Toronto's Board of Control next week.

Jobless Claims Rise To 1,594 In City, District

Unemployment insurance claims jumped 273 over December's figures in January, William Mellis manager of the National Employment Service office said today. Claims are now being paid to 1,594 persons. In December there were 1,321 on claims in the Peterborough area which includes Peterborough and Haliburton counties, parts of Victoria, Durham and Northumberland. At present 1,240 men are on claim and 354 women.

Figures for January a year ago show that in the Peterborough area there was a total of 953 drawing funds. Outside claims numbered 269 men and 35 women. This total for January, 1949 was therefore 1,257. The increase in January, 1950 was 337, to the total of 1,594.

In Peterborough city 808 unemployed men are drawing funds as compared with December's 702. Women's claims have decreased slightly from 303 in December to 270 in January. These figures give Peterborough's total number of unemployed on claims at 1,078, a rise of 73 over December.

Increase In District

Postal claims, for the men and women in the districts outside the city, were the main reason for the increase during January. In December only 251 men and 65 women were on claim by post but January figures show that 432 men and 84 women were drawing funds by mail. Postal claims are 32.4 per cent of the total number of claims paid by the office.

During January number of short time claims took a decided leap, 93 men and 26 women. In December the number of men and women who were drawing for one week, then working one, two or three weeks, was 61.

Married women represent approximately 85 per cent of the number of women drawing money, said Mr. Mellis.

Mr. Mellis could not see any improvement on the local employment front before the end of March. Construction work and railway employment will then relieve some of the claimants, he said. Railway work, he added, may start before then.

Better Than Most

Despite the fact that unemployment rose slightly in January Mr. Mellis said that Peterborough is in better shape possibly than any other city in Ontario. Peterborough has 1,594 claimants. The number of claims in December for other cities in Ontario were. Hamilton 7,272; Kingston 1,044: London 2,054; Ottawa 3,923; St. Catharines 2,197; Sudbury 1,678; Toronto 17,788; Windsor 5,322. Higher figures will be reported by these offices if their situations were similar to that of Peterborough for January.

Community Chest Objective $75,000 For Ten Agencies Campaign Starts March 3

The sum of $75,000 is the objective for this year's Red Cross and Community Chest campaign scheduled for the week commencing Friday, March 3. This announcement follows a meeting today of the steering committee of the Fund under the chairmanship of Ross Dobbin. Ten agencies participating in the Fund are St. Vincent Orphanage, Salvation Army, Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., National Institute for the Blind, Peterborough Humane Society, Victorian Order of Nurses, Navy League, Children's Aid Society, and the Red Cross Society.

The campaign will be officially launched at a dinner at the CGE cafeteria March 3 at 6.30 p.m. which all campaign workers are invited to attend.

Opening dinner speaker will be James Scruton, vice president and general manager of H. J. Heinz Company, Ltd., and his speech will be broadcast over CHEX between 7 and 7.30 p.m.

At a luncheon for team captains at the Empress Hotel, March 8, a report of progress made at that time will be presented and on March 10, the last day of the campaign, a complete report of collections will be presented at a dinner at 6.30 p.m.

Four Divisions

The canvassing has been divided into four divisions: Industrial under the leadership of Ian McRae; retail, Ben W. Myers; women, Mrs. W. E. Fanning and special names, Gordon S. Matthews.

A meeting of canvassers in the women's division has been planned for February 28, when workers will be addressed by representatives of the agencies participating in the Fund. Kits will be distributed at this meeting, which will be held at Grafton's store, George St.

There will be 15 teams of campaign workers in the retail division and six divisons with 10 teams in the women's division, in addition to women who will canvass schools and institutions.

Money For Missions

TORONTO —(CP)— A $5,000 grant for missionary projects of the English Methodist Missionary Society along the coast of Central America has been made by the United Church of Canada. The grant was made from funds on hand for the relief of Protestant churches in Europe.

YW's Inglestane To Toronto Man For New Resort

Two generations of Peterborough women and many Kawartha district old timers will be interested to know that YWCA Camp Inglestane is in the process of being sold to Clifford G B. Stuart of Toronto. The Camp can be said to be a landmark at Stony lake and was originally built by the late Harry Sutherland. It is situated on the nine acre rocky southern spur of Eagle Mount about one mile north of McCracken's Landing and adjacent to Juniper Island.

From 1919 the YWCA Summer Camp shifted from one temporary establishment to another and finally settled in the Sutherland cottage about 1926.

This organization made many alterations to adopt the buildings to its needs. Dormitories were built over the boat house and a wide verandah added to accommodate sleeping quarters and dining room space. It was operated until 1948 when the Association found the financial burden too great.

Renovations

New owner-to-be, Clifford Stuart, has already been up to see it and envisages many changes, including a change of name to Royal Kawartha Lodge. He plans to cover the buildings with log siding, install electric lighting and modern plumbing and create a resort that will be outstanding for its cuisine.

Mr. Stuart is already a member of the resort operators association of the Chamber of Commerce and says that he is "sold" on the Kawarthas. And he has had plenty of opportunity to make comparisons.

A crack shot, Mr. Stuart is a member of the Forest Hill Revolver Club. He has travelled extensively on shooting meets throughout Canada and the United States. Last year he was a member of a shooting team which won the Ontario championship as well as Dominion. Later this month Mr. Stuart will attend three revolver shooting meets in Tampa, Coral Gables and Havana.

Heavy Water May Be Factor In Bomb

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—(AP)—Heavy water and a chemical compound used during the war to inflate observation balloons could conceivably be big factors in the United States efforts to produce a hydrogen super bomb.

Speculation on the power of hypothetical hydrogen bombs has ranged from several times up to 1,000 times the power of a uranium or plutonium bomb—but there has been no official word on the possibilities.

Heavy water exists in minute quantities in the tap water you drink.

The balloon-inflating chemical is lithium hydride.

It was used during the war as a means of producing hydrogen for balloons, instead of lugging around big containers of hydrogen gas. You can generate hydrogen with it by just dropping it in water. It may be a handy source for inflating balloons because it's light in weight, and hence could be carried around more easily.

Migh Be Used

While there are no official grounds for this, it is within reason to speculate that one or the other of these substances—heavy water or lithium hydride—might conceivably fit in as a source of material for hydrogen bombs.

From heavy water, you can get heavy hydrogen.

And, there's a theoretic equation which shows that if two atoms of heavy hydrogen (deuterium) were made to combine —or "fuse"—they would form helium, and release a certain amount of nuclear (atomic) energy in the process.

An official view is that the explosion of a regular atomic bomb might provide the temperature necessary to "prime" the explosion of a hydrogen bomb—if a "fusion" bomb employing the heavy type of hydrogen could be developed.

On paper at least—with all other factors being equal—a hydrogen bomb of this type would release eight times the energy of a uranium or plutonium bomb.

Newspapers Leading

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP) — Newspapers led all media in national advertising linage gains in December in the United States, the magazine Printers' Ink reported Wednesday. Newspapers were reported up 21 per cent in national advertising over the previous December.

U. S. A. F. DOG TEAM—From Goose Bay, Labrador, comes this entry for the Ottawa International Sled-Dog Race in February. The team is from the U.S.A.F. military air transport service base at Goose Bay and is used in air rescue work in Labrador. Kneeling in the foreground is Staff Sgt. Charles Laine of Norwich, Conn., who will drive the team. In the background are trainers Cpl. Roland Rhodes of Gardiner, Me., and Sgt. Nicholas Elimis of Tarpon Springs, Fla.

London Teachers Ask Salary Increases

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 2 (CP) — London teachers are asking for minimum salary increases of from $100 to $300 a year for elementary school teachers and from $300 to $500 a year on maximum pay for secondary school teachers in a formal request forwarded to the Board of Education.

At present minimum for elementary school teachers is $1,500 for women and $1,700 for men. In secondary schools, the maximum for women is $4,300 and for men $4,500. Extras for special qualifications and duties are addition in both cases.

Judge Flips Coin

MONTREAL, (CP)—There isn't a law for everything. Mr. Justice George Challies flipped a coin to decide which of two defence lawyers would be first to question witnesses in a recent civil court case. The lawyers represented two companies being sued jointly for damages. Each lawyer wanted the other to start the cross-examination.

Sunday School Roll Numbers 150

KEENE, Feb. 2—(ENS)—Membership of the Sunday School of the United Church totals 150, ranging from primary to adults and a cradle roll of 29, it was reported at the annual meeting.

Donations had included $53 sent to missions and sums to Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, and the crippled children's fund. Total receipts had been $393 and there was a balance of $123.

Sunday School officers are:

Superintendent, David Edwards; assistants, A. Rennie and A. Adamson; superintendent of cradle roll, Mrs. A. Rennie; primary, Mrs. Adamson; junior dept., Mrs. A. Fletcher; intermediate department, A. Elmhirst; senior, Mrs. C. Irwin; home department, Mrs. R. Adamson; adult, Mrs. Murray; sec.-treas., Eileen Brown, assistant, Evelyn Richardson; King's Bank, Marlene McNevan; pianists, Mrs A. Fletcher, Margaret Lang, Marlene McNevan, Betty Thompson, Margaret Robertson and Eileen Davidson; temperance department, Tom Gall; missionary, Mrs. Ross McIntyre.

David Edwards was appointed to represent the Sunday School at the World Sunday School convention to be held at Toronto this summer.

CANADA'S GROWTH

In the first ten years of French Royal control of the colony of New France, from 1663 to 1673, the population was nearly tripled.

City's Pioneer Cycle Shop History Told In Florida

Charles R. Banks, who has been selling bicycles in Peterborough since the latter part of the 19th Century and was one of the first men to sell cars in Canada, has been bringing this city to the attention of the people of St. Petersburgh, Florida, where he has been visiting recently.

The Independent, the Florida daily newspaper, recently published an article telling of Mr. Banks' pioneering as a bicycle and automobile dealer here fifty years ago.

Banks, like the Wright brothers, closed the doors of his bicycle shop to seek fame and fortune in the automobile field, the Independent says. But he was interested in wheels, and had been the first dealer to sell motorcycles in Ontario.

Banks' connection with bikes went back even further than that to the tim he rode and sold the old high-wheelers in 93 and to this day is a member of the "Pioneer 50 Year" Club made up of people who were in the bicycle business in the early days.

With Banks that means back to 1905 when he joined with Joseph H. Fryer to form the Galt Automobile Company, Peterborough. And if you think selling autos in that long gone day was a way to wealth, just read one clause in the company's partnership papers. It provided that:

First Car For Sale

"In the event of the company selling a machine, the said Charles R. Banks is to receive 5 per cent. profit on each machine. If the company fails to make a sale, that the said C. R. Banks is to receipe no pay for the extra time expended in attempting to negotiate the same."

Incidentally, the document gave him "full charge of the machine" (the sole Ford owned by the company) and was authorized to "make all repairs, at 25 cents an hour." That sounds like little pay, but it was good for a lad who had refused a generous offer from the E. R. Thomas Motor Company, to take a job in its Buffalo office at $12 a week.

"They all called me a screwball in those days. They hollered 'get a horse' and said I'd be sorry because the contraptions would never be popular" Mr. Banks recalls. Why I even had one neighbor threaten to sue me because, he said, his wife couldn't drive downtown to get groceries any more because my auto scared the horse. I'll tell you how rich I got in the auto business in that period. I lost $8,000 and had to get back into the bicycle business to make back enough money to pay my debts."

However, being early in the field, Banks got back in the auto business before it had more than cut its teeth and is credited with being one of those who persuaded Henry Ford to put an assembly plant in Walkerville, Ont., where two cars a week were put together in the early days, and where 450 a day are now made from start to finish.

Knew Auto Kings

He personally knew the "giants" of the olden days, knew John Willys, and Billy Metzger, Ransom E. Olds and Henry Ford —away back before those youngsters Walter Chrysler, John and Horace Dodge and others of their age even knew how to drive an auto.

He knew the Emmett-Metzger-Flanders company when it was building the E-M-F long before the company became Studebaker and moved from Detroit to South Bend. He worked with Cadillac when that company was building cars with cardboard bodies on which were 17 coats of color varnish and four coats of rubbing varnish, and it took a month to turn out a finished body.

And so, in addition to belonging to the only bicycle men's organization, he also is a member of the Auto Old Timers Club, a national group.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Feb. 2nd—I do like this new trend to more brassware in the home! Glowing brass adds such character and warmth to the sitting room or den. It blends with any colour or decorating scheme. It is versatile and handsome. If your room is "chintzy". brassware completes the picture! If it's modern . . . gleaming bowls and vases with clean-cut lines will do wonders for it. So re-discover brassware! Hunt out your old brassware treasures . . . look for new ones in your favourite department or jewellery store. I've seen such good-looking brassware displays lately! And, remember, the very best way to keep your brassware treasures good-looking is to polish them regularly with BRASSO! It's so easy to use, too, as it is made especially for brass.

Here's A Special Special Offer for you that means you won't have to leave left-over juices or soups in the tin. The Bovril folks are offering this handy, handy Plastic Juice Container that's unbreakable — non-toxic — spill-proof and holds five cups of juice. It sells for 89c in the States, but you can get yours by simply writing to me — Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. — enclosing a 35c Postal Note or postage stamps and one label from a Bovril Cordial or Concentrate bottle. (The label comes off easily when soaked in warm water for ten or fifteen minutes.) And here's how to serve BOVRIL as a delicious hot drink:—Stir a teaspoonful in a cup of boiling water or milk. A cup just before bedtime always puts me right to sleep!

You'll Be His Valentine forever if you make a point of always looking your freshest and loveliest. And it's so easy with that wonderful, new-formula WOODBURY DRY SKIN CREAM! Just 10 minutes a day with this miraculous cream will make your skin look fresh, smooth, velvet-soft! The beauty-secret of this amazing cream? It's something new in beauty called PENATEN. It's a part of the new formula of Woodbury Dry Skin Cream and actually helps the cream go deeper into pore openings . . . gives your skin an extra lanolin beauty dividend!

For That "On-top-of-the-world" Feeling — just follow this simple formula:— Drink the juice of one fresh lemon in a glass of water first thing on arising! You see, unlike harsh laxatives that "tie you up in knots" this natural fruit juice gently helps your system regulate itself . . . helping you keep regular the healthful way! Lemons help get rid of colds, too. You just pour the juice of one lemon in a half glass of water. Then add—slowly—half teaspoon baking soda, and drink as foaming quiets. A glass every 2 or 3 hours helps alkalize. Try hot lemonade, too, at bedtime. And always be sure to ask for SUNKIST CALIFORNIA LEMONS . . . they're the finest, the juiciest of all!

Practice Makes Perfect . . . that's just one reason why HEINZ CONDENSED SOUPS are so delicious! Heinz are soup specialists — they combine long experience with great skill to bring you the very best of flavour-packed soup! There are eighteen scrumptious varieties of Heinz Condensed Soups and then there are the special soups for babies — the ready-to-serve soups for use with Heinz electric kitchens in restaurants — and soups in huge tins, also for restaurant use. But you can give yourself the taste treat of any one of the delicious Heinz Soups right at home! Tonight!

Shimmering And Clear As A Crystal Lake — and just as inviting-looking too! — JELL-O desserts are as exciting to eat as they are to see. The seven delicious "locked-in" flavours are a pick-me-up to tired menus. And they allow such a variety of desserts. I'm particularly attracted to the very definite economy of Jell-O Jelly Powders, too. At a few cents a serving, I know of no more delicious and yet inexpensive dessert to serve to family and friends. Just about everyone in the family will have their own preference, and I'd advise you to keep a full stock of their special favourites always on hand!

Do You soak pots and pans in "Vel" while you're washing your other dishes? "Vel" works wonders even in the hardest water! Cuts dishwashing time in half — for dishes needn't be towel-dried when they're washed in "Vel"! You'll find a "hundred and one" uses for "Vel" besides quick dishwashing. Shine mirrors — wash woodwork — wash woollens, stockings, lingerie with it! I'll be glad to send you a most useful booklet telling of the many ways "Vel" will help you if you will drop me a line — Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

Labor Leaders Provide Lead In Insult-and-Abuse Derby

By LARRY SMITH
Canadian Kemsley Scholar in Journalism.

With the world watching as never before, Britain is embarking on an election campaign which will probably be as bitter as well as crucial, as any in its history.

What the 34,410,306 qualified voters decide on February 23 cannot fail to have important repercussions, both at home and abroad. And since the issues run so deep, there is probably more cleavage, much of it on a class basis, than in most nations of the western world. Where there are sharp divisions of this kind, the heat of an election campaign easily produces bitterness.

The feeling with which most people greeted the fixing of election day was one of great relief. Rumor had piled upon rumor for weeks, and a considerable tension had been built up. Most people saw no purpose in delaying the clash any longer, and Mr. Attlee's wise decision provoked the general comment, "Good, now we can get on with it."

Whatever the outcome, and guesses on that can wait, this will indeed be a verbally violent campaign. It really started months ago, and Monday morning paper have been regularly filled with the "clever sayings" of Socialist speakers on Sunday afternoon The Conservatives eliminated themselves from this phase of the mud-slinging match, because they don't believe in holding political meetings on Sunday. However they do send a nice young man armed with a soap box, along the Hyde Park on Sunday afternoons to entertain the crowds gathered there to listen to a wide range of topics.

Churchill Led The Way

In 1945, of course, it was Mr Churchill who first descended to the personal level and started hurling accusations in all directions. His "Gestapo state" charges brought the campaign down to a lower level, and many of his supporters feel it was an extremely poor piece of tactics. They are hoping the same thing isn't repeated this time.

Until recently Mr. Aneurin Bevan, one of Winnie's most bitter foes, was a "shoe-in" as leader of the insult-and-abuse derby Now, however, he of the "vermin" charge against the middle classes is being outclassed by Mr. Emmanuel Shinwell who feels, perhaps, that in his none-too-successful role as War Minister, he must do something warlike. Mr. Morrison, on the other hand, seems to be doing his best to woo the middle class and "floaters"—and also to counteract the hotter heads to the left of his own party And just a week ago another Socialist M. P. committed the heresy of saying that the middle class had been the worst treated in Britain.

Listen to Mr. Bevan: "I hope Mr. Churchill will live a long time to enjoy his reputation and years of fertile retirement. But Mr. Churchill is 75 years of age, and suppose he is run over by a bus—where has the Tory program gone?

Better To Retire

"It would be better for him and his reputation if he now retired from political life, went on writing his book, and not attempting to try to seduce the British people into electing to power the bankrupt collection of empty-headed nitwits in the Tory party."

"Manny" Shinwell, who had criticized the food at the Lord Mayor's banquet and said he preferred fish and chips, had more to say recently: "I'll tell you fish and chips is better than Tory tripe. . if anybody wants it, there's a curse worse than the tinker's curse. It is the Tory curse."

(This repeated reference to the tinker's curse in Mr. Shinwell's speeches stems from the time he said he didn't give a tinker's curse for anybody in the country except the workers.)

Again: "I make a promise to the Tories. In the future we shall give them just as much as we want for ourselves and not a penny more." When a heckler shouted, "Vote Tory!" Shinwell cried "If you believe that, you're barmy on the crumpet."

Warming up, he goes on: "We don't want to dispossess every person in the land of his wealth and houses and property. . not immediately, that is." (Laughter.)

When he turns to the Press — which, Bevan called the "most prostituted in the world" — Mr Shinwell hits a shrill note: "Nothing surprises me more than the attitude of the Tory press. They can indulge in the most slanderous campaign. But when I answer in my mind and modest fashion they squeal and howl like a lot of pigs grunting." (He failed to explain how pigs squeal, howl and grunt at one and the same time.)

The Labor spokesmen beat the drums against the "vested interests" in the City of London, blaming them for many of the country's financial ills. The bogey of unemployment is also played to the hilt and will be a major campaign talking-point.

Not An Appeal to Intelligent

A recent pamphlet showed a cartoon of the "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse", represented as fat top-hatted, cigar-smoking businessmen. The caption is hardly an appeal to the intelligent voter, but is typical of what is essentially an emotional campaign.

"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse who scourged the earth may be a Biblical vision but they had their counterparts living in pre-war years when the Four Tory Horsemen—the Heartbreak Horsemen of Unemployment, Hunger, Injustice and Poverty, rode their hideous way across the lives of Britain's people. Shall they ever ride again—those ruthless henchmen of the capitalist system? The answer of Socialist youth is a ringing "No." (Several weeks later Australia and New Zealand bravely answered "Yes".)

Mr. Shinwell—yes, again—dealt briskly the other night with an old gentleman in the audience who interrupted to complain of the high cost of living. Said the War Minister: "The gentleman who rose to his feet has no future He has just got a behind. I suggest he should sit on it."

Taught Ways of Opposition

Earlier he had claimed he was worth 15,000 Pounds ($45,000) a year to the Tories to teach them how to conduct an Opposition "They'll get better at opposing when they've had more time—we intend to give them at least the next 20 years."

He may find that his widely-reported remarks will be worth much more to the Tories, for a certain section of the community is getting annoyed He might even find himself joining his colleagues in that "long holiday" which Mr. Churchill so whole-heartedly wished them not long ago

However, acording to Mr Shinwell, that wouldn't matter because members of the Government, if defeated, could always get jobs. Looking at the record of some of them, people might wonder.

Indeed, a motor manufacturer recently wrote the papers suggesting a "quiz" or all Parliamentary candidates, especially those aspiring to Ministerial posts. He contended that a country made great by industry and trade was suffering from politicians who, in the main, have had no practical experience of industry. He would ask them:

"What is your experience that qualifies you to run one of the biggest industries in the world?

"What have you managed?

"With what success?

"Can you earn 1,000 Pounds ($3,000) a year in any other walk of life?"

No matter what happens on election day, some people will have to investigate their prospects in other walks of life.

WHAT'S A STAR?

There are countless millions of far-distant, superheated, self-luminous gaseous bodies called stars and each one is a sun in itself.

Give Day's Pay Emergency Fund

MONTREAL, Feb. 2 (CP) — Some 300 milliners Wednesday voted to turn over one day's pay to an emergency fund which will enable their union to intensify its fight for higher wages and other concessions.

The workers, members of the Millinery Workers Union (AFL-TLC) also empowered their executive to take the necessary legal steps to obtain their demands and even to call a legal strike if necessary.

The present contract expires Feb 15 and the union is demanding in the new contract a general 12 per cent wage boost, two weeks vacation with pay two more legal holidays with pay and a pension fund.

INSIDE, 2600 MPH—Engineer stands beside access door of new ram jet test chamber at Wood Ridge, N. J. Exhaust gases and steam pour from the three 45-foot silence stacks in background.

Ram Jets Outrace Sun In New Laboratory Tests

By NEA Service

WOOD RIDGE, N.J.—(NEA)—Someday the timetable of the U.S. air traveler could read something like this:

Lv. New York 10 a.m.
Ar. Chicago 9:18 a.m.
Lv. Chicago 9:25 a.m.
Ar. San Francisco 8:07 a.m.

The plane that outraced the sun for such a trip would probably be powered by the ram jet, an engine that has to outspeed the sun to stay aloft at all.

Today the ram jet already is flying much faster than that in a new jet engine laboratory at the Wright Aeronautical Corp. here which can simulate flight speeds up to 2600 miles per hour.

Unique Test Chamber

The new test chamber in unique not only for the high supersonic speed it creates, but also for the altitude of 80,000 feet—more than 15 miles high—it can simulate.

And it has licked another problem, according to Wright engineers, that is currently baffling experts at the new tunnel built by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics near Cleveland.

At the N.A.C.A. project, ram jet tests under 1500-mile-per-hour conditions set up such tremendous noise and vibration that residents of five surrounding communities have threatened court action.

Engineers recognized this problem in building the new test chamber under a contract with the Air Force. It rests on a 200-ton concrete bed and 120 springs which absorb the vibration. The steam and compressed air, which together create the speed and altitude, are carried away in three 45-foot silencer stacks.

Thus far there have been no complaints from homes only several hundred yards from the laboratory. An observer who stood three feet from the chamber during a test said he could feel no vibration and heard less noise from the tunnel than from the electric compressors.

Designed principally for guided missiles and pilotless aircraft, the ram jet is a simplified "expendable" engine which five years ago was only a dream in the minds of a few aviation engineers.

It has no moving parts except for such accessories as generators and fuel pumps. The great forward speed of the engine creates within it a wall of air against which the burning fuel reacts, giving the engine the kick which drives it forward.

Obviously, such an engine will not operate at all standing still, but at speeds above 1500 miles-per-hour its power and efficiency mount far out of proportion to increases in speed. Thus the faster it goes the faster it goes, and just where this progression ends is still a matter of conjecture.

The new laboratory at Wood Ridge was built for about $600,000 in government funds by utilizing the steam boilers and compressors in a $3.5 million laboratory built here shortly after the war to test gas turbines.

Figures on performance of the ram jets now being tested here are kept confidential by the Air Force.

An Easier Way

VANCOUVER — (CP)— H. W. Mason did a lot of walking to win 10 medals and a pocket watch in walking marathons between 1929 and 1938. The other night they were won again with less effor. Three men ransacked Mr. Mason's house and wafked off with the medals and the watch.

Make Civil Defence Plans In Exotic Surroundings

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Feb. 2 —(CP)—Amid delicately-wrought cut-glass chandeliers and pale-pink plumbing, 30 earnest men are studying one of the grimmest tasks of total war. The setting is a 40-room Georgian mansion, described as England's "perfect country house," and the objective is new ideas on Civil Defence in an atomic era. For four weeks, the country house — converted into Britain's first permanent Civil Defence Staff College — will be "home" for 30 defence-minded executives from the United Kingdom, Malaya, Gibraltar and Singapore.

Future courses will be attended by students from other parts of the Commonwealth, probably including Canada, and from countries which share common defence problems with Britain.

"The college will be a laboratory of ideas, where every constructive opinion can be fully expressed and debated," home secretary Chuter Ede said at an opening ceremony in mid-January. "Ultimately, we hope a practical doctrine for civil defence can be evolved."

Experienced instructors will supervise courses similar to those given at military staff colleges. Students will work an eight-hour day, attending lectures illustrated by models, maps and panoramas, and contributing their own ideas to a common pool.

Among the "students" at the first course were Malaya's assistant defence secretary, Gibraltar's chief of police and colonial officials from Singapore. Later a series of seven-day courses will be held for key personnel who may not be able to spare a month away from duty.

The houses' luxurious interior includes a motion-picture theatre, common rooms and lounges suitable for lecture rooms. Bathrooms are in blue and pale pink. The household staff numbers about 40.

Young People Meet In Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Feb. 2 (ENS)—Young People of St. James' Church, Peterborough, were guests of the Interdenominational Y.P. Group in St. Andrew's United Church Sunday School rooms on Monday evening. There were 12 guests and 29 of the home group present.

There was a sing-song and Bill Pearcy, of Peterborough, contributed two solos. Don Spicer, the president, welcomed the guests.

The devotional period was conducted by the visitors and the rest of the evening was given over to games played under the direction of Keith McGregor, Jean Smith and Paul Sanders.

Refreshments were served by the social committee, Marilyn Palmer, Anne Dawson and Vivian Chapman, assisted by Melba Ball, Jean Smith, Roy Dawson and Don Thompson.

For the February meeting the Young People's Group will meet in St. Thomas' parish hall.

May Appoint Phil Regan US Ambassador

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—All Phil Regan knows about reports of his being appointed United States Minister to the Republic of Ireland is "what I read in the papers."

Rumors have been rampant that the silver-throated tenor and Democrat would be honored with the ministership by President Truman.

"All I can say is that the rumor has not been denied," declared Regan. "I have received no official word about such an appointment. Until I do, I shall not plan on it.

"Of course, I would be proud if such an honor were given me. I would be very happy to be minister to Ireland."

Regan added that he has been an unofficial singing ambassador for the last 17 years. His political activity has been largely the singing of the National Anthem at three Democratic conventions and at the 1949 inauguration of his friend, President Truman.

Regan now is playing himself in "Three Little Words" and may make three more pictures for MGM, depending upon whether he is appointed to Ireland. Father of four and a grandfather at 37, the tenor is now 43.

Hollywood, in its search for films on abused minorities, might consider the plight of twins.

"Nobody wants twins," wailed Ramon and Royce Blackburn, who recently played a successful night club engagement here.

"An agent looks at us and says we're terrific. He says he could really build us up—if we are just one!"

The Blackburns, who until recently were teamed with Janet Blair, did a number with June Allyson in "Words and Music." They asked for release from their studio contract because "There just weren't enough spots in films for twins."

QUESTIONED—Laura Miller, 23, Minneapolis stenographer, was held by Hutchinson, Minn., police for questioning in the shooting of Gordon Jones, 30, prominent attorney and the father of two children. Police say Miss Miller ran from the scene crying, "My honey, my honey."

Ladies' Guild To Raise Funds For Furnace

NORWOOD, Feb. 2 (ENS) — The first project in a drive for funds for the church furnace will be a bazaar April 15, the Ladies' Guild of Christ Church planned at the last meeting.

The Rev. P. A. Rickard led in prayer and Mrs. G. Hockridge read the scripture.

Mrs. Walter Bitten presented two readings, and lunch was served by Mrs. Fred Golloher and Mrs. George Bitten.

Newspaperman Dies

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2 (AP)—James F. Lockhart, 67, veteran newspaperman, was found dead Wednesday of carbon monoxide poisoning from a gas heater in his room. Death was listed as accidental. Lockhart launched novelist Gene Fowler on his journalistic career. He worked in various Associated Press bureaus.

Not Armed Robbery

BRANTFORD, Feb. 2 (CP) — Magistrate R. J. Gillen Wednesday ruled that a person committing robbery with his hand in his pocket, pretending he has a gun, is not committing armed robbery. However a charge of straight theft brought Melvin R. Horning, 20, of Brantford, a six-month sentence in reformatory.

Lend Snow-Blowers

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—Ontario offered Wednesday to lend "four, five or more" snow-blowers to British Columbia to help combat extreme weather conditions in the west-coast province.

President Approves Commission

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 2—(CP)—Ralph Hayward, president of Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Company, said in a statement today that the company is fully in accord with proposals to appoint an Ontario Royal Commission to study the problem of pollution of the Spanish river near Espanola.

He was commenting on the recommendation made at the Sudbury convention of the Ontario Anglers and Hunters Federation.

Resort owners and property holders on the river near Espanola, 30 miles west of Sudbury, previously obtained an injunction against the KVP Company effective April 4 requiring it to stop discharging waste into the river.

At Sudbury Wednesday it was reported the company has agreed in principle to conditions offered by the plaintiffs for a stay of the injunction. These call for further steps to reduce mill waste pollution, payment of damages and the appointment of a Royal Commission to study the entire question of pollution of Ontario waters.

Mr. Hayward said the company has already spent over $250,000 in an effort to solve the problem and that two of the six plaintiffs have already withdrawn their complaints, declaring themselves satisfied with the results obtained. If the injunction was put in effect, he added, the company would be compelled to close its Espanola mill.

Won't Touch Rents

WINNIPEG, Feb. 2 (CP) — Premier D. L. Campbell said on Wednesday the Manitoba government has decided against entering the rent control field on the grounds that it is the responsibility of the Federal government.

Board Wages Battle Against Government Spending

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP)—A battle against bulging government expenditures is being waged by the treasury board.

The board, headed by Finance Minister Abbott, annually is assigned the task of scrutinizing the expenditures which various government departments propose for the ensuing fiscal year.

In the last few years, with revenues running ahead of expectations, the board's task was not difficult. But this year the situation is changed. Government revenues are falling, largely as a result of tax reductions in the last budget. Rising costs are increasing expenditures.

Caught in the squeeze between dropping revenues and increasing expenditures, the government instructed the board to make economy the watchword and to scrutinize the reasons behind every proposed expenditure for the 1950-51 fiscal year, starting April 1.

The board has undertaken the task, but reports from various government sources indicate it is having a difficult time trying to effect reductions.

Great Dilemma

Part of its dilemma is caused by the fact that some departments notably defense and health and welfare, have commitments necessitating increased rather than decreased expenditures.

Of total estimated expenditures of $2,460,000,000 for the current year, the defense department will spend about $383,000,000. In 1950-51 the department's expenditures are expected to climb beyond the $400,000,000 mark.

There are several reasons advanced for the increase. For instance, there are more men in the services than a year ago and it costs about $2,600 a year for each recruit. New equipment such as planes and ships is being purchased. The department also expects that participation in the North Atlantic Defense Treaty will require some expenditure.

The health department will spend an estimated $410,700,000 this year. Department sources believe the expenditures will go up another 10 per cent in 1950-51, boosting the figure to about $445,000,000.

May Go Up.

Family allowance payments, now running at the rate of about $230,000,000 a year, might climb to $300,000,000, and old age pensions might jump from $71,000,000 to $100,000,000. The increases would result from legislative changes, from new births and from changes in the population's age groups.

Commitments under the national health program also are expected to increase along with expenditures for the improvement of medical services for Indians.

The public works department, one that felt the brunt of wartime economies, also may have an increased bill for 1950-51.

A source in the department, which will spend about $100,000,000 this year, said that "our expenditures have to be high because only essential work was done by us during the war."

Large Backlog

A large backlog of work, such as repair of public buildings and wharves, the construction of new buildings and wharves, was left in abeyance during the war years.

"Now we must carry out these works," said the source. They would not be unemployment relief projects, but they would do much to help the unemployment situation.

Transport department officials doubt if any reductions can be made in expenditures, largely as a result of commitments in the new province of Newfoundland. New aids to navigation, increased radio stations, and improved air services in Newfoundland will add to the annual bill.

Thieves Loot $1,800 In Co-Op Sfore Safe

MERRICKVILLE, Feb. 2 (CP)—Thieves broke into the Merrickville co-operative store early Wednesday and escaped with nearly $1,000 in cash and $800 in cheques.

They apparently broke open the safe in the store with two steel bars, a hand drill and a sledge hammer stolen earlier from the tool house at the Canadian Pacific Railway station in this village 40 miles south of Ottawa.

Declare Women Control Buying

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP) — The Canadian Retail Federation Wednesday got its annual talking to by a woman, and it was scaring.

The speaker was Edythe Fern Melrose of Detroit, an expert, if there is one, on how to sell to women.

Why was Miss Melrose a bit scaring? Well, for one thing, she said (using American figures) that women spent 75 per cent of all money spent on clothing; 80 per cent of all spent on food; they own 70 per cent of homes, 50 per cent of privately-owned stock in large corporations, two-thirds of war bonds; they inherit 70 per cent of men's estates and receive 80 per cent of all life insurance.

She was scaring, too, because apparently business men have been trying to reach that big buying market by "man talk."

If women were properly appealed to, she said, their buying power could bring about the greatest era of prosperity ever known.

Movable! Mysterious! Secret magnetic control makes Donald act ALIVE on your finger! (Send 25¢ and box top from Kellogg's Corn Flakes to: Box 87G, London, Ontario, Canada.)

Fete Recent Bride

Miss Zetta L. Wood was hostess for a party honouring Mrs. Robert Booth, nee Mabel Dulmage. It was held at the home of Mrs. L. D. Foster, 549 Romaine St., and Carol Foster greeted guests at the door. The gift presented to the bride was a 38-piece set of breakfast wishes and six juice glasses. Miss Wood expressed good wishes on behalf of those who had contributed. Contests and games were enjoyed during the evening and lunch was served. Those present were Mesdames Robert Booth, Geo. Rowe, Sam Agnew, Russell Bell ,Roy Armour, George English, E. Kent, Alex Rosborough, W. Mason and Misses Jessie Martin, Mabel Robinson, Elinore Kent, Jean Hammond, Mary Fredenburg. Those unable to attend were Mesdames H. B. Jackson, Young's Point, R. J. Booth, Sr., E. L. Woodley, H. H. May, Annie Wood, A. Bryan, E. Ephgrave and Misses Mary, Maude, Clara and Emma Collins, Margaret Cantwell, Anne Gentille and Marjorie Jackson.

Histories of IODE And Local Chapter Read at Meeting

Members of Peter Robinson Chapter, IODE, met Wednesday evening in the YWCA for the annual meeting. Conveners' reports read with Miss Mary Greer, regent, in the chair, showed $1,665 raised during the year through splendid co-operation and keen interest.

Miss Greer thanked the members for making such a fine showing and remarked that the Chapter's books spoke for them. She then installed three new members, Mrs. W. Jeffries, Mrs. R. Gamble and Mrs. J. Cuthbert.

Empire study convener Miss M. Bailey gave a paper she had prepared which related the history of the IODE. It was on February 13, 1900, that the Order came into existence she said. It was planned and founded by the late Mrs Clark Murray of Montreal who felt there was great need for organized women to carry out women's work in the Empire.

New Officers

Mrs. Harold Baker was named new regent of the Chapter in the slate of officers presented by Mrs. Frank Jobbitt and was welcomed to her position by Mrs Hooper as were the following. first vice regent, Mrs P. Sanders; second vice regent, Mrs J Johnson; secretary, Mrs C. C McIntyre; treasurer, Mrs. C. L Upper; education conveners, Mrs W. A. Hinds; Echoes secretary, Mrs. J. Heffernan; standard bearer, Mrs. L. Carlyle; films, Mrs. I H. Keefer; post war, Mrs. N. Gell; corresponding secretary, Miss M Cameron; Empire study, Mrs. G. Coleman; press, Mrs W. Hardwicke; welfare, Miss D Burgess; pianist, Mrs. D. Munro; card secretary, Mrs. H. Buller; membership and attendance, Mrs. C. Elliott.

Head councillor is Mrs. H Chown with the following to assist: Mrs. R. Lewis, Mrs. N. Hambly, Mrs. W. C. McCreery, Mrs. S. Braund, Mrs. M. Hardill, Miss M. Greer, Mrs. F. Jobbitt.

Miss Bailey explained how the founder's plans had been continued during 50 years in which three wars were fought and the soldiers and their families cared for. Schools have been adopted scholarships arranged for veterans' children, welfare and other phases of work looked after throughout the world.

In connection with the golden jubilee there will be a special service at St. Paul's Church on Sunday evening, February 12.

Chapter History

Mrs. Fred Hooper who presided for the election of officers, gave the history of Peter Robinson Chapter which was brought into being on April 11, 1916, as a children's chapter with Jean Harstone as regent. As she read the list of regents from the Chapter's book and accounts of some of the outstanding work of the years, members justly felt they had played no small part in the IODE work of this city.

Retiring regent Miss Greer was presented with a gift as an expression of the Chapter's gratitude and pleasure in having had such a good regent for the past two years. The presentation was made by Mrs. I. H. Keefer.

Mrs. Baker took the chair for the final business and closing of the meeting. Refreshments were served by the executive.

Mrs.D.J. Fitzgerald Opens Home For Assoc. Tea

An afternoon tea was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. D. J. Fitzgerald, 522 Homewood Ave. by the Parent-Teachers Association of St. Peter's Parish. Splendid success attended the delightful event. Receiving with the hostess was Mrs. Earl O'Toole, first vice president.

A silver bowl filled with narcissus, iris and hyacinths gave a springtime touch to the beautifully laid tea table with lace cloth and silver candelabra containing blue and white tapers.

The tea was poured by Mrs. P. J. Doris, Mrs. S. Houlihan, Mrs. John Madden and Mrs. P. J. Anglesey. Servers were Mrs. M. J. Collins, Mrs. W. J. A. Fair, Mrs. W. J. Cunningham, Mrs. J. M. Marino, Mrs. O. Ouimet, and Misses Belanger and Neville, teachers at St. Anne's School.

Mrs. J. C. Rutherford was in charge of the table and the tea convener was Mrs. D. J. Emery.

Mrs. W. A. Richardson sold tickets on a cake which was donated by Mrs. Emery. The draw winner was Mrs. Frank Hickey.

Mrs. J. C. Donnelly was the treasurer.

Skirts All Short Even for Bride In Paris Showing

PARIS, Feb. 2—(Reuters)—Paris' newest fashion show today rang in the old look of shortened skirts and more coverage above.

Fifteen and a half inches from the floor for daytime: a full inch shorter for evening: that was the decree of Pierre Balmain in the first of the style-setting Haute Couture shows.

In a radical change of the evening picture, he replaced the bare look of last season with demure V or strap necklines. Skirts, slim or full, were all short.

The dancing mood was felt in ribbon panel skirts and the swallow tail overskirts.

Even the bride will walk to the altar in a short skirt. Dignity was given the ensemble by a ground length train swinging from the shoulders, covered with 18th century lace.

There was a feeling of 1920 in clutch coats brought up to date with flying back panels, dresses retained the slim line interpreted in chiffon, real silk and light wools.

St. James' WA Banquets Choir

Members of the senior choir of St. James' United Church were entertained for supper and a social evening Wednesday by the Women's Association of the church. Guest speaker for the occasion was Mr. Jack Telford who gave a talk about oddities of the past thousand years pertaining to currency.

The Rev. F. W. Craik was chairman for the interesting program. A toast to the church was proposed by Mrs. A. Saunders to which Mr. Craik replied. A toast to the choir was given by WA president Mrs. G. Harris and Mrs. W. Niahs gave the response.

A lively sing-song was led by Mr. Telford and Mrs. H. Doig played the piano accompaniment. A piano selection was given by Miss Ruth Pitchford.

Newly elected choir president Mr. J. Worrell in a short speech asked for co-operation during the coming year and pledged himself to serve to the best of his ability. He also moved a vote of thanks to the WA.

The evening ended with games and contests conducted by Mrs. H. Turner.

A BLACK CREPE cocktail frock with beaded velvet trim, has V-neck and slim, draped skirt.

MENTAL HELP

More than 3,200 patients are being treated in Alberta's six mental institutions.

DedicateNewFlag At Chapter's Annual Meeting

Annual meeting of Otonabee Chapter, IODE, was held Wednesday evening, commencing with a banquet in the Empress Hotel.

Regent of Municipal Chapter, Mrs. W. Gordon Hall, was a special guest and presented a paper which gave the history of the flag. She then performed a ceremony dedicate the Chapter's new flag which will be used publicly on Sunday, February 12, at St. Paul's Church evening service when all chapters celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Order.

Mrs. A. A. McIntyre was called upon to install the officers and she performed this duty in the most impressive and dignified manner.

Mrs. A. McWilliams took the position of regent for the fourth term. Mrs. B. Jackson is second vice-regent, and a first vice is to be installed later. Other officers are: standard bearer, Mrs. W. A. Burrell; secretary, Mrs. D. E. Bell; treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Davern; assistant, Mrs. I. R. Rattenbury; press secretary, Mrs. H. Wilson.

Conveners: education, Mrs. F. D. Kerr; Echoes, Mrs. A. E. Dryland; flowers, Mrs. B. McLean; post-war, sewing, Mrs. L. Davis, wool, Mrs. W. A. Burrell, food boxes, Mrs. C. Sherwood; pianist, Mrs. H. Wilson with Mrs. W. G. McLaren as assistant.

Councillors, Mrs. A. E. Dryland, Mrs. F. Gray, Mrs. D. E. Bell, Mrs. F. J. A. Hall, Mrs. J. H. Valiery and Miss A. Fabin.

Conveners' reports, showing an exceedingly profitable year, were favorably received. It was decided to mail notices of meetings in future instead of telephoning.

The next sewing meeting will be at the home of Mrs. E. McWilliams on Monday, February 6. It was announced that 185 articles were sent overseas last year.

Members were urged to attend the anniversary church service.

NEW HEAVYWEIGHT TIDE gets clothes dazzling clean
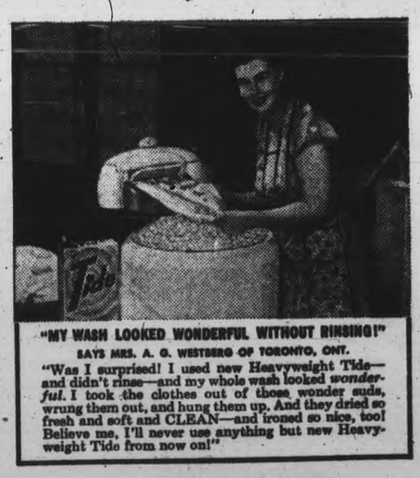
WITHOUT RINSING!



"MY WASH LOOKED WONDERFUL WITHOUT RINSING!" SAYS MRS. A. G. WESTBERG OF TORONTO, ONT.

"Was I surprised! I used new Heavyweight Tide—and didn't rinse—and my whole wash looked wonderful. I took the clothes out of those wonder suds, wrung them out, and hung them up. And they dried so fresh and soft and CLEAN—and ironed so nice, too! Believe me, I'll never use anything but new Heavyweight Tide from now on!"

Cuts washday work in half!
Just wash – wring out – hang up!

All over Canada women are talking about the amazing fact that you can wash with new Heavyweight Tide—without any rinsing at all. Some women just plain don't believe it—and you can hardly blame them, for it's the most revolutionary thing that ever happened to washday. But whether or not you find it hard to believe, it's absolutely true.

When you wash with the new Heavyweight Tide, you can take your wash right from those wonder suds—put it through the wringer and onto the line, without rinsing! You see, new Heavyweight Tide gets the dirt out of the clothes—then holds it suspended in the sudsy water. As the clothes go through the wringer, the dirt runs out with the wash water, leaving the clothes so bright, fresh and CLEAN, you'll be amazed.

IT'S NEW! IT'S GOT STEPPED-UP WASHING POWER to do your heaviest, dirtiest wash!

AT YOUR DEALER'S NOW —IN THIS SAME FAMILIAR PACKAGE

Just wait till you see how clean new Heavyweight Tide gets hard-to-do things like workshirts and overalls! Because of its new stepped-up washing power, every grain does more work . . . licks your toughest laundry problems. Yet with all this terrific new washing power, it's safe for all your colored washables!

Get New Heavyweight Tide! Try it without rinsing and save yourself time, and work . . . and hot water. See how beautifully fresh and clean your clothes come . . . see how nice and soft they dry . . . how easily they iron. All without rinsing!

More for your money! So much more washing power, every package goes much farther!

No other washing product known matches NEW HEAVYWEIGHT TIDE for getting out dirt and soap film too! ...yet it's truly safe for colors!

DOROTHY DIX

Parasitic Child Demands Full Support from Father

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man 55 years of age, totally disabled for the last two and a half years I have a small income that could provide the necessities of life for us because my wife is willing to do all the housework and make the dollar go very far. We have four children at home The oldest girl is 24, healthy and strong. She is not a bad girl, but the tragic part about her is that she does not want to work, refuses to even look for a job in spite of the fact that we are not in a position to support her. She gets up late in the morning, goes to sleep again after lunch and goes out whenever she has a chance. What worries me in addition to her unwillingness to support herself is her influence over the young children who are 21, 20 and 16.

Dorothy Dix

I ask your advice on this family problem.

ANXIOUS PARENT

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I doubt if there is any problem in the world that is more dificult to solve than how to deal with lazy, selfish, parasitic children. Unfortunately we cannot emulate the example of the birds who cast their young out of the nest when they are big enough to depend upon themselves, for we are held back from taking these heroic measures not only by our affection but by our sense of responsibility.

Is Parents' Fault

What the parents should do who have these grafting children is hard to say because, after all, the fault is the parents' and they are more to blame than the children In the last analysis children are what their parents make them and they treat their parents as they were taught to treat them

I am sorry I cannot give you any remedy for dealing with your daughter. If she had any generosity of soul, any affection or sense of duty, she would be eager to put her strong young shoulde under the load and help you and her mother bear it. So would the other children, all of whom should be earning their own livings and assisting you instead of being a burden upon you, just as hundreds of thousands of other girls and boys less well prepared for life than they are helping their fathers and mothers.

It is a pity that your youngsters cannot be made to understand the contempt with which people regard lazy idle boys and girls who sponge on their old fathers and mothers. And it is still more a pity that they cannot be made to comprehend how much happier they would be at work than they are loafing.

DEAR MISS DIX: The expressions "how to catch a man" and "how to hold a husband" are degrading and take away the beauty and sanctity of courtship and the marital estate. Nature intended man to be the pursuer and all modest women acknowledge and adhere to this precept.

MRS. F. P. F.

ANSWERS: Perhaps Nature did originally intend that man should be the pursuer and woman the pursued, and we still pretend to believe in that romantic theory, but, in reality, we know it is no more true than is the myth about Santa Claus For ninety-nine times out of a hundred and maybe the hundredth time, it is the woman who sees the man first and gives him the high sign that attracts his attention to her.

Nor do I see why it is immodest or degrading or in any way whatever reflects upon a woman to pick out the man she wants as a husband and for the father of her children and to use every art and wile she knows to catch him Marriage is her business in life. It is what her happiness and prosperity depend upon, and she would be a fool not to go after what she wanted

Personally, I deplore the fact that this has to be done by stealth and that a woman has to camouflage her intentions toward a man and pretend she is running away from a man when she is really running after him.

Nor do I understand how it degrades marriage or makes the sacred relationship between a husband and wife less sacred for her to deliberately try to keep him in love with her.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What do you think of designing women who strip married men of the money that should go to the hard working, thrifty wives who have helped make and save it, and that is needed for the rearing and education of his children?

W. R. A

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think that a highway robber or a porch climber is a fine and admirable character compared to such a woman For these women are sneak thieves who steal from babies in the cradle and who, worst of all, not only take away from a sister woman the pennies she has scraped together by a thousand self-denials and economies, but rob of her husband as well.

U.S. Beach Wear Has Admirer Across Atlantic

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP) — American playsuits for British beaches is the aim of Captain Molyneux, one of London's "Big 10" in the fashion world.

"American playsuits and beach 'separates' are charming and practical," says Molyneux. "It is of interest that this contribution to fashion leadership by American designers should be acknowledge."

And from March onwards copies of American play clothes under the name of each designer will be shown in Molyneux salons, in London and Paris.

In the United States these clothes sell for about $25, but in Britain they will cost about £15 ($46.50) due to higher costs of materials and taxes, However, the £15 will get a British woman a complete ensemble of separates.

One of the ensembles will consist of a basic black elasticized swim suit topped by black jersey blouse and white linen shorts. For day wear there is the addition of a full swing floral print skirt; for evening wear the black strapless swim suit can top a cotton emerald-blue sarong skirt.

Ensemble For $20

"Paris," says Molyneux, "gives fashion inspiration to the world, Yet in nowhere but America can such inexpensive, practical and beautiful beach wear be found.

"Often a full ensemble of separates costs only $20. And many of the American play clothes are made of British materials."

Molyneux's spring shows in Paris and London will give fashion parades of the 25 playsuits bought on his recent tour in the United States.

Among the nine American designers whose names will soon be known this side of the Atlantic are three New Yorkers: Brigance, Carolyn Schnuser and Tina Lesser.

Hostel for Blind Women Honors Helen Keller

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 2 — (CP). — Australia's newest home for blind women honors a noted United States woman author.

The Helen Keller Hostel, which opened in Sydney recently, is named after the famous deaf and blind American writer who visited Australia in 1948. When Miss Keller was in Sydney she took great interest in the proposed home and sent a cable of congratulations at its opening.

The home has every comfort and facility for the 20 women who will live there. It is operated by the Royal Sydney Industrial Blind Institution, who converted a graceful old colonial style home in the suburb of Woolahra at a cost of £30,000 ($72,000).

All bedrooms open on a wide sun verandah and have hot and cold water, central heating and large windows. Twelve of the women will have large single bedrooms; the others will share double rooms.

Stairs have been eliminated wherever possible with gently-sloping ramps. Smooth paths to the gardens and lawn have handrails for guidance. There is also a large Braille library.

The women are from 16 to 70 years of age, and all have been trained in handicrafts. One of them, an expert typist, goes to business in the city each day.

Pakistan's Women Ask Free Schools

KARACHI, Pakistan, Feb. 2— (CP). — Free and compulsory education for all Pakistan children has been urged by the All-Pakistan Women's Association.

The association's governing body, which met here recently, was presided over by Begum Liaquat Ali Khan, wife of Pakistan's Prime Minister. It urged the government to take immediate steps to provide primary education throughout the country.

Membership in the association now totals 4,000. Branches in the provinces have set up social service centres where women are taught reading and writing, given religious and physical instruction and free medical aid. Members visit institutions such as orphanages and hospitals and report to authorities where improvements can be made.

DARING GUNMAN

WALTHAM, Mass., Feb. 2 (AP) —A gunman Wednesday night bluffed his way past the front desk at Metropolitan State Hospital, locked two attendants into an office and then freed a prisoner who was undergoing observation pending trial on various charges. Officials identified the freed prisoner as Atwood White, 24, of Boston.

No Bones, No Waste, No Hash When Turkey Is In Bundle

By JAMES D. WHITE

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP)—If you like to eat turkey often than just at Thanksgiving and Christmas, Dr. Sherman Dickinson has news for you.

More and more Californians are driving up to his big turkey ranch near here and buying the boneless roasts of turkey he puts up. He calls them "turkirolls."

They vary in size from three to 12 pounds. They're all meat. They leave no trail of leftovers unless you want them. They taste just like the festive roast turkey.

Dr. Dickinson is a former teacher of agriculture who has put his ideas to work. From 1924 to 1946 he was head of the department of agricultural education at the University of Missouri's College of Agriculture. He retired in 1946 to head a two-year agricultural mission to Brazil. When he got back in 1948 he considered the American turkey.

"Here was a large bird which almost everyone likes to eat. But it's too big for most families unless there's quite a celebration and lots of company. The turkey is also a headache for the grower, who sells most of his output in two months and practically none the rest of the year," reasoned Dickinson. "There ought to be some way to make turkey available to the consumer the year round and create a broader, more reliable market."

Dickinson thought it could be done with the help of rapid shipment and quick freezing.

Began Last March

This eventually led him to a 500acre turkey farm in the upper Valley of the Moon, eight miles southeast of here. He moved here less than a year ago with his two sons, both graduate engineers. Together, they have raised and sold nearly 10,000 turkeys since last March.

Most were dressed and sold as ordinary turkeys for the traditional American holiday feed. Dickinson has no quarrel with that.

"There'll always be people who will want the fun and ceremony of the stuffing, the carving at the table—even the hash and other leftovers," he says.

But he also has a stock of "turkirolls," prepared in white meat, dark, or both, in varying sizes to fit different family needs. He sells them either fresh or frozen, at about twice the price per pound of ordinary dressed turkey. You pay more, but there is no waste.

"There's nothing new about the idea," says Dickinson. "Rolled roasts of boned fowl have been around for a long time—but not often in the family kitchen."

Dickinson is the one, however, who has worked out the way to take the meat off the bones and assemble it, inside the skin, in a symmetrical roll, adaptable to line production. It is bound like any other roast and sold in a plastic bag.

He is experimenting now with curing and smoking the rolls, and later on my try putting them up in tins. His dressing plant is equipped to slaughter and dress 350 to 500 turkeys daily, and at the height of the season keeps 18 people busy.

CARTOONIST ON NEW JOB

LONDON, Feb. 2 (Reuters) — With the biggest newspaper fanfare in years, Britain's top cartoonist, 59-year-old David Low, Wednesday switched from Lord Beaverbrook's Conservative Evening Standard to the Labor Daily Herald. Across six columns at the top of its front page, the Herald displayed the first of Low's cartoons for his new employers. It showed the cartoonist himself demanding admission, to the Herald offices, of a suspicious and alarmed doorkeeper.

5—Deaths

CHAMBERLAIN, Mrs. Robert Henry—At Civic Hospital, Peterborough, on Tuesday, January 31, 1950, Mary Ann Peever, in her 75th year, beloved wife of the late Robert Henry Chamberlain, dear mother of Mrs Wilfred Hix (Myrtle) of Cobourg, Wesley, Frederick, Leonard and Kenneth of Norwood. Resting at the Tedford Funeral Home, Norwood, for funeral service on Friday, February 3, at 2.30 p.m. Interment Norwood Cemetery.

6—In Memoriams

CHAPMAN—In loving memory of our sister, Mrs. C. B. Chapman (Ollie Foster), who died February 2, 1949
"What would we give, her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife.
And clasp each other's hand once more,
In heaven, that happy life."
—Sadly missed by sisters Clara, Ethel and Madeline and brother David.

LIVINGSTONE — Marguerite, passed away 27 years ago today.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
Her weary trials and troubles are passed,
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home, she suffers no more.
—Sadly missed by mother, dad and family.

7—Cards of Thanks

Mrs. S. Pooley and family wish to thank the nurses and orderlies of Civic Hospital, also attending doctors, Rev. Craik and the Excelsior Bible Class of St. James Church, Peterborough, IOOF No. 111, members of the Kawartha Encampment No. 6, the Golden Link Rebekah No. 81, the De Laval Co. and Social and Athlette Club, the Armature Department, Canadian General Electric, Waterworks and Filtration employees, A. Wander Ltd. and the old associates and especially the neighbors and all those who sent flowers and cards or helped in any way during our recent sad bereavement.

42—Legal Notices

I, ARTHUR CINDRE, STEWART ST., occupation Section Man C.N.R., will not be responsible for any Debts contracted in my name by my Wife, from this date on, January 31, 1950.—Arthur Cindre.

IN THE MATTER OF THE MUNICIPAL ACT AND IN THE MATTER OF A PROPOSED BY-LAW OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH TO STOP UP AND CLOSE AN ALLOWANCE FOR HIGHWAY AND LEASE THE SAME TO HARRY B. McGINNESS, OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Section 498 of The Municipal Act, that the Corporation of the City of Peterborough proposes to consider and if deemed advisable to pass at its Regular Meeting to be held at the Council Chamber, in the City Hall, in the City of Peterborough, on MONDAY, the 6TH DAY OF MARCH, 1950, at 7:30 o'clock p.m., a BY-LAW to Stop Up and Close ALL AND SINGULAR that certain Parcel or Tract of Land and Premises situate, lying and being in the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, and the Province of Ontario, and being composed of that part of Bethune Street south of McDonnel Street and west of George Street, in the said City, shown coloured red on Plan of Survey made by John G. Pierce, O.L.S., and dated January 24, 1950, which said Parcel may be further described as follows, that is to say:

COMMENCING at an iron post marking the north-westerly angle of Lot Number 9 south of McDonnel Street and west of George Street in the said City;

THENCE southerly along the westerly limit of the said Lot Number 9, 98.51 feet to a point;

THENCE westerly parallel to the southerly limit of the said McDonnel Street, 8 feet, to a point;

THENCE northerly parallel to the said westerly limit of the said Lot, 98.51 feet, more or less to a point in the said southerly limit of McDonnel Street;

THENCE easterly along the said limit, 8 feet to the point of commencement, and to Lease the said Allowance for Road above described to Harry B. McGinness of the City of Peterborough.

AND TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that before passing the said By-law at its Meeting to be held at the time and place above mentioned, the Council of the City of Peterborough shall then and there hear in person or by his counsel, solicito, or agent any person who claims that his land will be prejudicially affected by the said By-law, and who applies to be heard.

DATED at Peterborough, this 31st Day of January, 1950.

E. A. OUTRAM,
Clerk.

Fenders Damaged

Two cars bumped fenders as one attempted to make a left turn at Wolfe and Reid Sts. Wednesday.

One car, driven east on Wolfe St. by Wilfred E. Armstrong, Norwood, started to turn north into Reid. The car met in collision with a car driven south on Reid St. by J. S. Munro, 708 Bethune St.

The right front fender of the Munro car and the left front fender of the Armstrong car were damaged. Constable Ed. Niziol investigated.

PRINCE OF WALES SCHOOL

One of the most popular events of the year, "Father's Night" took place at Prince of Wales School Tuesday evening.

The chair was occupied by Mr. A. Kearns, ably assisted by Mr. Jack Sage as recording secretary, and Mr. Syd Ray as treasurer. Mr. Kearns opened with a few pertinent remarks about father's place at Home and School meetings, and concluded with a word of praise for hard-working mothers who carry on the rest of the year. A short business period followed.

The "Lift Lock City Four," J. Ridyard, B. Collison, A. Sands and J. A. Fife, entertained with a number of their songs, in true "barber-shop" style, unaccompanied, and in perfect harmony. Their first group consisted of "The Old Songs", "Drink to me only with thine eyes", and "Coney Island Babe". Community singing followed with Mr. Collison the inspiring leader. Another group by the quartet, "You had a dream", and "The Bones Song", ended the musical program.

In absence of the Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon, scheduled speaker, the Rev. H. G. Douglas stepped into the breach at short notice, and gave an instructive and interesting talk on the legacy to be left the children. He pointed out that to a child, its home is the world in miniature, and emphasized how important it is to keep peace within the home. "The wise parents realizes that each child desires recognition, and is careful to avoid showing favouritism to a particular child. Problem children are very often the result of problem parents", he said.

Mr. Douglas went on to suggest that parents should create in their children love of truth, hatred of falsehood, and freedom from prejudice of all kinds. These are the things which tend to build good character, and we can possess no finer legacy than this."

In conclusion, the speaker said parents owed their children three things: happy memories of a happy childhood, good habits taught by good example, lofty ideals.

Mr. R. Bolton, principal, thanked the speaker for his talk and for the many services he renders to the school.

The evening came to a close after lunch was served by some of the fathers in attendance, under supervision of Mr. A. Kearns, hospitality convener.

Ontario Fire Losses Show Decline In '49

TORONTO, Feb 2 (CP) — Ontario fire losses in 1949 showed a decline over 1948.

The quarterly bulletin issued by William Scott, Ontario fire marshal, showed 17,776 fires occurred last year involving insurance losses of $14,221,492, compared with 18,418 fires in 1948 involving insurance losses of $15,903,730.

In 1949 there were 114 deaths due to fires and 467 persons injured. The fire marshal's office said the list does not include death toll and loss of the steamer Noronic which burned at Toronto last September with 119 deaths.

Pay Embassy Costs

PARIS, Feb. 2—(Reuters). — France will pay the costs of a new Canadian embassy here under an interim settlement of a $13,500,000 debt for post-war relief owed to Canada. Under the agreement France will meet Canadian expenses in this country for the next two years and provide an embassy for the staff of 63, at present occupying three separate rented offices.

Approximately 500 hunters are killed and another 3,000 injured annually in the United States.

Eight Children Undergo Tests

MONTREAL, Feb. 2 —(CP)— Eight children from a lonely northern Quebec village are in hospital here today undergoing tests for poliomyelitis—but a Labrador doctor says he doesn't expect there will be any more evacuations from the epidemic area.

Merlin Shattler, 7, and Richard McKinnon, 8, were flown to Montreal by the RCAF Wednesday night from the Strait of Belle Isle village of St. Augustin, where a polio epidemic has been raging since Jan. 18.

In a Montreal hospital they joined six other children from St. Augustin who were flown out by the RCAF last week.

Dr. Bert Porter of St. Mary's Harbor, Labrador, who accompanied Merlin and Richard, said no more children are expected to be evacuated. There are a number of other children suffering from polio in the small village near the Labrador-Quebec border and about 12 are in serious condition.

Innocent By Insanity

GREENFIELD, Mass., Feb. 2—(AP)—Robert Lesure, 21, Wednesday night was found innocent "by reason of insanity" of the "unhappiness" slaying of his 18-year-old brother, Walter, last Sept. 9. He was ordered confined to a mental hospital for life. At the time of the slaying he said he had killed his brother because "my mind was so impressed with how unhappy he looked."

Super-Salesman Tackles Canada

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 — (CP)—A super-salesman from Britain said Wednesday that country may sell her way into a balanced trade with Canada by next year.

Sir Cecil Weir, who has a key part of the selling job as chairman of the British dollars exports board, also expressed optimism at a press conference over prospects of boosting sales to the United States to obtain more dollars.

Sir Cecil is on his first selling mission to Canada and the United States as chairman of the board, an independent body representing industry, labor and finance. Chief function is to boost British exports to the dollar areas.

Sir Cecil, who is a director of Bank of Scotland, said he would be returning from this visit more encouraged than he had anticipated. While the United Kingdom had a $300,000,000-a-year gap to bridge in trade with Canada, he considered that was a "not impossible task."

Farm Forums Play Progressive Euchre

BAILIEBORO, Feb. 2 (ENS) — Bailieboro and Lakeview Farm Forums met in Centerville Hall on Monday. Charles Barnard was chairman and 10 games of progressive euchre were played.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Howard Fair and Mrs. Harland Seens, Ken Dawson and Wilbrid Nurse.

Lunch was served and the next meeting will be on February 27 in Centreville Hall.

Record Spending Cut

ALBANY, N.Y., Feb. 2—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey submitted to New York's legislature Wednesday a state budget of $861,722,632, proposing a record $77,6000,000 cut in spending but no change in taxes. The proposed 1950-51 budget still ranked as the second highest in the state history. It is topped only by the all-time high of $939,287,644 for the 1949-50 fiscal year, ending March 31.

Tale Of A Wolf

SARNIA, — (CP))— An overeager hunter produced the entire carcass of a wolf at the county treasurer's office to claim his bounty. Ralph Butler was told to take it away and skin it first. He did—and collected the $25-bounty on the wolf's pelt.

Flurry Of Snow Said Cause Of Accident

A flurry of snow and steamed-over car windows were given as the reason for a collision between two cars at Charlotte and Reid Streets Wednesday.

Miss Carmel Shaughnessy, 525 Parnell Street, driving south on Reid Street, stopped at Charlotte Street. As she started across Charlotte Street, she met in collision with a car driven east on Charlotte Street by John Allair, 181 Dalhousie Street.

Constable E. E. McDonald reported that Miss Shaughnessy said she had been temporarily blinded by a flurry of snow and the side windows of her car were steamed up.

The right rear fender of the Shaughnessy car was damaged, and there was a slight dent in a bumper of the Allair car.

Try Libby's Winter-Style!

CANADA'S FAVOURITE TOMATO JUICE

TP13-49

Try it steaming hot. Serve it this way on cold blustering days when the children come home from school or back from play. It's delicious—garden-fresh and flavour-rich. To prepare it this way, heat through, but don't boil. Libby's is an excellent dietary source of the vitamins A and C which you want to protect because an insufficiency of these vitamins lessens resistance to colds and other winter infections. See that your family enjoys at least one big glassful of Libby's every day.

ARREST BRITISH OFFICIAL AS ATOM SPY

Charge Russians Using Hirohito Trial To Cover Own Failures

United States Ready To Reject Demand For Emperor's Trial; Want Soviet Explanation On 370,000 Japs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—The United States charges today that Russia's demand for trial of Emperor Hirohito as a war criminal is an effort to cover up "Soviet failure" to explain the fate of more than 370,000 Japanese war prisoners. A State Department statement made clear that the Russian demand to put the Emperor on trial in an International Military Court will be rejected by the United States. Officials indicated that the Soviet proposal to try four high-ranking wartime Japanese generals also will be turned down.

The State Department made public, along with its statement on the Russian demand, the key paragraphs of the 2 page Russian note which Soviet Ambassador Panyushkin handed to State Secretary Acheson Wednesday.

Found Guilty

The note said that last December a Soviet military court at Khabarovsk had found 12 Japanese army officers guilty of plotting and using bacteriological warfare.

It charged that the B. W. units were created by a decree of the Emperor and that high-ranking Japanese staff officers were responsible also for the operation

Bergman Baby Shocking News To Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3 (AP) — In a town not easily shocked, the news of Ingrid Bergman's baby hit the film colony today like an atom bomb.

The word quickly spread around the studio lots and other hangouts of the stars. Many Hollywoodites had tended to discount reports of her pregnancy when it first was rumored some months ago. Official statements by Miss Bergman and Roberto Rossellini that they were "ignoring" the rumors accented a widespread disbelief.

But, a top studio executive admitted today that the industry is "stunned."

"This isn't the sort of thing we prefer to let our stars make public statements about," the executive said. "But I can tell you it hit Hollywood with the greatest impact I've ever witnessed. That's all anybody is talking about."

RKO-Radio Studio announced that the baby's birth will cause no change in the release of the picture, "Stromboli," starring the Swedish actress and directed by Rossellini.

It is due to hit movie houses in two weeks, preceded by one of the heaviest advertising outlays in movie history.

Training Forces To Act Quickly

OTTAWA, Jan. 3 — (CP) — Canada, similar to the United States, is building forces that will be ready for instant action, defence officials said today in commenting on U.S. Defence Secretary Johnson's speech Thursday night in Washington.

Officials here said it will be some time, possibly several years, before the forces Canada plans to have ready for instant defence are fully ready but they are already taking form. They are going to be designed to be capable of handling any likely enemy raid on Canadian soil.

The Air Force has started to build an interceptor fighter force of jet planes backed by radar and communications systems. The Army is training an airborne brigade. The Navy has small fleets in both oceans, other ships in reserve and has ordered three new anti-submarine vessels.

As for "licking hell out of Stalin," officials here put it another way. They say in the event of aggression from any direction Canada will mobilize her forces as she has in two wars and send them to major battlefields. Those battlefields, they hope, will develop on soil other than North American.

46,000 Left Homeless By Rising U.S. Floods

CHICAGO, Feb. 3 — (AP) — More than 46,000 persons in the United States were homeless today and other thousands faced possible evacuation from rising flood waters in seven central and southern states.

But the flood-causing rains have ended and skies were clear. Barring further rain, flood dangers seemed likely to decline over the weekend in several critical zones.

The homeless included 22,000 in Arkansas, 12,000 in southeast Missouri, and 12,000 in Kentucky.

Pick Committee Boost UK Trade

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP)—A 10-man working committee today was established by the dollar-sterling trade board in a further effort to help boost sales of United Kingdom goods in Canada.

The committee is composed of prominent industrialists in a variety of fields, including foods, textiles, chemicals, steel, consumer goods, coal and books.

James S. Duncan of Toronto, chairman of the board, also announced creation of a special 11-member publicity committee to make Canadians aware of Anglo-Canadian trade problems.

Both committees will unite forces with the board in moves designed to divert Canada's importing channels from the United States to the U.K.

Rescues 3 Children

ROCKLAND, Ont., Feb. 3 (CP)—Roy Simpson, 45, suffered hands and face burns early today while rescuing his three young children from a fire which destroyed their home. Damage was estimated at $3,000.

Mary Ann Simpson, 4, last child to be carried from the two-storey frame building, suffered minor burns. Mrs. Roy Simpson, led to safety by her husband, and two other children, Bernard, 7, and a six-months-old baby, were not injured.

Rockland is 20 miles east of Ottawa.

Injured By Sign

LINDSAY, Feb. 3—(CP)—Mrs. Phoebe Balfour, 88, suffered a broken hip and slight concussion Thursday when struck by a falling railway crossing sign. The sign was dislodged when an automobile driven by Craig Sedgwich, 26, went out of control on an icy road and struck the signpost.

Trappers Plan To Organize Liaison Group

SUDBURY, Feb. 3 (CP)—A permanent counsel to act as liaison committee between the Association and the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests will be set up by the new Ontario Trappers' Association. The decision to name a group of members to this counsel was reached by the Association during its annual convention here Thursday.

The setting up of the counsel was suggested by Jack Grew, trap-line supervisor of the department in an address to the convention. The members on the counsel will be named at today's concluding sessions.

"A counsel that can represent you before the department is one of the most forward steps you can take," Grew told the convention.

He told the members that the spring meetings of trappers which were instituted last year have proved invaluable to the department in obtaining expressions of opinion, especially with respect to drafting new regulations and open seasons.

"Trappers have been neglected for too long and were almost the forgotten men of the north, but the department is today trying to co-operate to the best of its ability in bringing in legislation which will be beneficial and meet with your requests," Grew stated. "One of the best ways to achieve this is to present good resolutions to the department."

H. C. Haskins, wildlife specialist, from North Bay, complimented the organization in introducing the idea of the fur auction, and the annual beaver skinning and stretching contests.

Island Cut Off Doctor Flies In

KINGSTON, Feb. 3 (CP)—The first "mercy flight" to Amherst Island was made Thursday as the big island just east of here in Lake Ontario remained cut off by ice, too thick for the ferry but not thick enough for motor traffic.

Dr. A. J. Hadley of Kingston flew across to treat Edna Fostella retired government employee, who was stricken with illness.

Bread supplies were flown to the island Wednesday and food supplies are expected to last for some days. Island residents however are wondering what to do with hogs ready for market and with large quantities of cream piling up.

US Sale of Surplus Foods Not Such a Good Bargain

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (CP)—The United States big sale of surplus foods at rock bottom prices apparently isn't going to be such a bargain after all.

The prices aren't as good as they first appeared.

Two weeks ago, the U. S. government announced that millions of dollars worth of surplus farm products were being made available at bargain-basement prices to foreign buyers and certain domestic welfare organizations.

All the buyer had to do was haul they away and pay shipping charges.

Right on top of the bargain list are American-grown Irish potatoes, going dirt cheap at one cent for 100 pounds bagged at country shipping points. The list also includes corn, barley, oats, linseed oil, shelled peanuts and dried beans, milk and eggs.

It looked like the kind of a sale that a foreign buyer couldn't afford to miss.

The announcement created uneasiness in Canada, who also has a big stake in the export food market. Then, it is reported in Ottawa, the Canadians took another glance at the price tag and the conditions attached and decided the U. S. move wasn't too competitive. They based that reasoning on two factors:

1. Canada has practically no surpluses of the commodities being offered by the U. S. Thus there is little clash in Canadian and American export interests.

2. Commodities in which Canada might have an interest aren't going as cheaply as preliminary announcements indicated. The very fact that the foreign buyer has to pay shipping charges all but eliminates the apparent advantage of a low sale price.

That appears to be the catch in the deal—shipping charges. By the time the importer gets his purchases home, the over-all cost is high.

Gave Secrets To Russia Yard Charges

Scientist Charged With 2 Violations Official Secrets Act

LONDON, Feb. 3—(CP)—Klaus Emil Julius Fuchs, a Ministry of Supply scientific officer, was charged in court today with giving away atomic secrets "directly or indirectly useful to an enemy."

Fuchs, 38, was in charge of theoretic physics at Harwell, the British Atomic Research Establishment. He spent three years in the United States working on the development of the atomic bomb. During that time he made several visits to Canada and Mexico.

High officials in a position to know said the charge involved two specific atomic leaks to Russia.

The specific charge said one leak was in the United States in 1945, the other in Britain in 1947.

Fuchs, German-born atomic physicist, was brought into Bow Street Court today. This trial was set for next Friday.

Careful Evidence

Court officials said later the only evidence presented was that of a Scotland Yard inspector, Leonart Burt, who told only of the circumstances of Fuchs' arrest.

Inspector Burt, who is commander of Scotland Yard's special branch, related at the hearing how he went to Harwell, found Fuchs and told the scientist he was under arrest.

"I told him the nature of the charges," Burt said, "I cautioned him (that anything he said might be used against him) and he made no reply.

"He asked to see a Mr. Perrin of the atomic research, who came to the room.

"Fuchs said to him 'Do you realize the effect of this at Harwell?' "

"Perrin replied to the effect that he thought he understood.

"I took the accused to Bow Street, where he was formally charged and he made no reply to the charges read over to him."

Child, Mother Found Wounded

SARNIA, Feb. 3 (CP)—Mary Lou Sparks, 8, is in serious condition in hospital here suffering from wounds, said by police to have been caused early this morning by "a blunt instrument."

Her mother, Mrs. Mamie Sparks, is also in hospital from wounds but is in less serious condition.

Corporal A. V. Dymond, of the Ontario Provincial Police, said he is investigating the possibility of an attempted murder and suicide.

Mary Lou is Mrs. Sparks' daughter by adoption.

The two were taken to hospital by ambulance today after they were found in their Tashmoo Avenue home lying in a pool of blood. It is believed that they had been lying there for several hours. Hospital officials said the pair suffered serious loss of blood.

Hair Pulling Spree Disgusts Magistrate

OSHAWA, Feb. 3 (CP)—Magistrate F. S. Ebbs blames too much talk for the trouble between Mrs. Irene Alfred and Mrs Dorothy Reid, who live in the same house.

Mrs. Reid, complainant in an assault case, showed a handful of hair pulled from her head by Mrs. Alfred. But the charge was dismissed when Magistrate Ebbs learned that Mrs. Reid pulled Mrs. Alfred's hair, too.

"How do your husbands get along?" he asked.

"They do speak but they don't argue," both women agreed.

"That's a good thing," said the Magistrate. "If you women didn't speak there wouldn't be any arguments."

CRASHES DURING SEARCH — This C-47 US Army plane, one of a huge fleet engaged in a search for a missing US Air Force plane with 44 aboard, plunged into the forest along the Alaska Highway Monday. Six persons were injured in the crash but aid soon arrived from a nearby search base.

Toronto Applies For Merger Of Municipalities

TORONTO, Feb. 3—(CP)—Toronto will make immediate application to the Ontario Municipal Board for authorization to amalgamate the 12 Greater Toronto municipalities, Mayor Hiram McCallum said Thursday.

He made the statement following a 19-2 vote by city council approving the move. The two dissenters — Aldermen Nathan Phillips and Norman Freed—said the city was premature in its application but that amalgamation was inevitable and likely in the best interests of people concerned.

Amalgamation would merge Toronto with the towns of Leaside, Mimico, New Toronto and Weston; the villages of Forest Hill, Long Branch and Swansea; the townships of East York, North York, and large sections of Scarboro and Etobicoke. Mayors or reeves of some of these have already expressed opposition to the plan.

It would increase the Toronto area five times and bring the population figure to more than 1,000,000 from about 750,000.

Five-Hour Meeting

The majority vote followed a five-hour meeting between council members and civic department heads. Palmer Kent, deputy city solicitor, said it was improbable that amalgamation would be confirmed at the next session of the provincial legislature.

Fred G. Gardiner, chairman of the Toronto and York Planning Board and former reeve of Forest Hill village, said that while amalgamation might mean increased taxes for some people, it would also mean that everybody would be paying his fair share.

Under existing conditions persons living in Toronto were bearing the financial burden of servicing surrounding communities, he said.

A. J. B. Gray, Toronto assessment commissioner, said the sound position of many surrounding municipalities was a direct result of Toronto supplying many necessary services at no capital cost to these areas.

British Liberals Reject Churchill

LONDON, Feb. 3 (CP)—Britain's Liberal Party, still fighting shy of electoral entanglements, has delivered another rebuff to Winston Churchill's Conservatives.

In a defiant statement, the Liberals said Thursday night that there are at least 88 seats which the Conservatives stand "little or no chance" of winning in the Feb. 23 general election.

"The Liberal Party is not asking the Conservatives to leave the field clear to the Liberals," the statement said. "It leaves it for the Conservatives in these divisions to decide, since they cannot have a Conservative, whether they prefer a Labor or a Liberal to represent them."

Defence Secretary Says US Can Lick Russia Any Time

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—In some of the toughest language yet used in the cold war, Defence Secretary Louis Johnson said Thursday night the United States is ready to "lick hell" out of Russia on an hour's notice. "Joe Stalin will know that if he starts something at four a.m.," Johnson declared, "the fighting power of the United States will be on the job at five a.m."

Johnson's words, delivered to a gathering of 300 fellow alumni of the University of Virginia, were perhaps the sharpest to be aimed at Russia by an American cabinet officer since U.S.-Soviet relations began to sour after the Second World War.

Speaking from pencilled notes, Johnson said the U.S. defence set-up is more powerful than it has been since 1945. Then he added:

"In all we are doing, we are seeking peace.

"There is only one nation in the world that would start a war. We seek to have a military establishment sufficient to deter that aggressor and to lick hell out of her if she doesn't stay deterred."

Getting Stronger

Johnson said the country's defences are getting stronger daily and will soon reach a point where they will be ready for anything in an hour's time.

"In the field," he commented "the sun shines on unification and the army, navy and air force are ready to go as a team.

"There was no unification at Pearl Harbor," he added. "or Pearl Harbor wouldn't have been."

What's more, Johnson said, he is "not sure peace would last a few hours" today, if Russia considered this country unprepared for war.

Johnson said that despite plans to reduce armed forces strength by 100,000 men this year, "there will be more in combat units ready to fight than before the reduction." This is being accomplished largely by shifting men from desk jobs to combat units, he said.

Blizzard Grounds Search Planes

WHITEHORSE, Y. T., Feb. 3—(CP)—A search for a United States Skymaster missing with 44 persons today will be shifted farther north in the Yukon and continued in central British Columbia because snow and low-hanging clouds again shroud the main search area southwest of here.

The weather grounded all but six planes Thursday and prevented any night search. The aircraft swept the territory south of Watson Lake to no avail.

"If we get 10 aircraft out Friday we'll be lucky," Air Commodore Martin Costello, search co-ordinator, said Thursday night.

He said he doubted that the reported sighting of a low-flying aircraft in central British Columbia would lead to the transport. A settler reported seeing a large plane a week ago Thursday night, the night the transport disappeared, but RCAF officials said this would mean the transport was far off its course.

Costello also said he saw little hope in a report by Joseph Kewchuk who stated that he saw a big plane with red wing tips, like those on the missing plane, flying at 200 feet with laboring engines during a snow storm 18 miles north of Whitehorse last week.

Kewchuk had no calendar and did not know whether it was Thursday or Friday.

Leave Cabinet

PARIS, Feb. 3 (Reuters)—The French Socialist Party today decided to withdraw its ministers from the coalition cabinet of Premier Georges Bidault.

Suggests Global Aid Plan To Head Off Atomic Race

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—A proposal by Senator Brien McMahon (Dem. Conn.) that the United States try to head off an atomic armaments race through a $50,000,000,000 global aid plan brought this cautious reaction in the Senate today:

"Well worth considering."

Those words, uttered by Senator John Bricker (Rep. Ohio), appeared to mirror the feeling of most of Congressmen who heard the chairman of the Senate-House of Representatives Atomic Committee offer his plan Thursday.

McMahon buttressed his suggestion with the warning that "armaments races lead to war — under today's conditions, hydrogen war."

While he was among the Congress members who strongly backed President Truman's order to proceed with development of the powerful H-bomb, McMahon cautioned against believing the weapon would provide real security for the U. S.

"It only promises the negative result of averting, for a few months or years, well-nigh certain catastrophe," he asserted.

In brief, McMahon's plan calls for the U. S. to spend $10,000,000,000 annually for five years to: (a) Develop Truman's "point four" program to help underdeveloped areas; (b) develop atomic energy everywhere for peace, and (c) give general economic aid to all countris, including Russia.

In return, the U. S. would insist on general acceptance of international control over atomic energy, as well as an agreement by all countries, enforced through inspection, that two-thirds of their present spending on armaments be "devoted toward constructive ends."

Canada-U.S. Work Out Defence Deal

Will Allow Dominion Buy Equipment; Have Fewer Strings

OTTAWA, Feb. 3—(CP)—Canadian and United States officials are working out the last details of a plan to permit Canada to buy defence equipment in the U.S.

Agreement in principle has been reached. The stumbling block of clashing U.S. and Canadian legislation remains to be cleared.

Back of it all is the huge U.S. Military Aid Program under which $1,000,000,000 worth of arms and military equipment will be given to bolster Western Europe's defences.

Canada, however, will pay cash. This fact led her to demand, and get, different treatment than the European countries which will receive the aid free.

It is understood the U.S. wanted to qualify the sales to Canada with conditions involving cash in advance, a promise of military aid to the U.S. and its allies and a promise not to export equipment containing U.S. parts.

Withdraws Conditions

The U.S. now has withdrawn these conditions, it was learned, and Canada will not go beyond her commitments under the Atlantic pact to do her full share in any emergency.

The use of letters of credit may overcome the legislative difficulties arising from U.S. legislation, requiring cash for any such sales to be paid in advance, and Canadian legislation, permitting payment only on receipt.

The first equipment Canada will buy probably will be spare parts for the American-designed F86 jet fighters being built at Montreal.

How much Canada will buy, however, depends on exchange problems Canada has been trying to persaude the U.S. that the two countries should integrate their arms production, with the U.S. buying some equipment in Canada so Canada can earn the dollars to buy equipment in the U.S.

Howling Gale Damages Liner

LONDON, Feb. 3 (CP)—The 30,000-ton United States liner Washington today was hurled against a Southampton dock and holed in a howling gale that lashed western Europe from Britain to Portugal.

Most of the liner's 622 passengers were shaken up but none was reported hurt. The number two hold was flooded. The cargo there included automobiles.

Sixty mile an hour winds stranded the Cunard liner Queen Mary in Cherbourg harbor with 1,848 passengers aboard. The big ship was unable to approach the docks in a raging sea.

The gale snarled shipping, tossed the sea over sea walls and flooded coastal roads in many parts of Britain.

Heavy seas demolished the sea bastion wall of Sandgate Castle, built on the South Kentish coast in 1537 by King Henry VIII as one of a chain of invasion forts.

Britain And France To Fight Blockade

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 — (AP) —The United States will be joined by Britain and France in striking back at Russia's new "little blockade" of Berlin, it was reported today.

Soviet restrictions of transport between Berlain and Western Germany prompted an announcement Thursday that the U. S. will retaliat. Officials said joint counter measures against the Soviet zone of Germany are being discussed among the three western allies.

Presumably, any step they take will follow the pattern of last year's counter blockade, which eventually brought trade between Eastern Germany and Western Europe to a halt.

Britain Opens Election Drive Today

12th Parliament Ends By Proclamation, Campaign Under Way

LONDON, Feb. 3—(CP)—Britain's 12th parliament of the 20th Century passed into history today, its five-year life ended by Royal Proclamation

To signify the dissolution of the parliament that brought the country socialism, the doors of both houses were closed, members and peers were barred and the grey-stoned buildings overlooking the Thames once more were the Royal Palace of Westminster, in charge of the Lord Chamberlain.

Thus the stage was set for Britain's world series of party politics—the Feb. 23 general election.

Before dissolution Labor held 393 of the 640 seats in the House of Commons and the Conservatives 201. The King's proclamation signalled the official start of the campaign in which Winston Churchill's Conservatives will seek to unseat Labor.

Campaign Opens

The formal campaign opens tonight with the No. 2 men of the two big parties making the initial speeches. Herbert Morrison, Labor's Deputy Prime Minister, will speak at Leeds. Anthony Eden, Churchill's party deputy, will appear at Liverpool.

The 75-year-old Churchill will follow Morrison into Leeds tomorrow. Attlee starts out on an eight-day, 34-speech automobile tour in Watford Wednesday.

In less than five years the Socialist led parliament has wrought great changes in Britain.

It took over Britain's coal mines, gas, electricity, railroads, canals, long truck lines, coastal shipping, airlines, the Bank of England and cable and wireless.

It passed a law which will put the country's steel industry in state hands next Jan. 1. But the Conservatives say if they get in, they will repeal the law.

By a heavy tax program in which highest paid Britons lost as much as 97½ per cent of their income, the government financed one of the world's biggest social services plans.

2 Farmers Executed

BUDAPEST, Feb. 3—(AP)—Two kulaks (prosperous farmers) were sentenced to death by a Court-Martial Thursday and then executed after confessing to the murder of a local official of the Hungarian Workers (Communist) Party. A third kulak among five defendants also was sentenced to death but appealed to the presidential council. The other two were sentenced to life imprisonment.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Today:
Night low...15 Noon...23
Noon barometer.....29.6

Yesterday:
Highest....29 Lowest..4

One Year Ago:

2 inches snow.

The storm which threatened Southern Ontario on Thursday has moved eastward rapidly and is now causing extensive snow and freezing rain over the Maritimes. Fine weather covers the remainder of the Dominion except for occasional snow in the Yukon. The prairies are enjoying a breather from their long battle with winter and temperatures have actually climbed above the zero mark. But colder air is on its way, and will cover the prairies and Northwestern Ontario by Saturday morning.

This cold air will continue to advance slowly southward and is expected to cover that portion of the province north of the Sudbury-North Bay line by Saturday night. Meanwhile temperatures will moderate steadily in Southern Ontario and Saturday's sunshine is expected to bring them to the 40 degree mark by afternoon.

Forecasts:

Southern Lake Huron, Eastern Lake Ontario, Haliburton regions: London city: Cloudy clearing this afternoon Saturday sunny and milder. Winds west 15, light tonight, southwest 15 Saturday. Low tonight and high Saturday at London 15, 40; Trenton 15, 35; Killaloe 15, 35.

Summary for Saturday—Sunny and milder.

YMCA Classes In Lifesaving

Classes in life saving are being held in conjunction with the meetings of the YMCA Swimming Club each Thursday night. Twenty boys, 11 in the bronze medallion class and nine in the intnermediate class, are attending the classes. Both courses are expected to be completed and the boys ready for tests by March 1.

Gord Minty, honorary swimming director at the YMCA, is teaching the intermediates. David Adam is the instructor for the medallion class. Mr. Adam is a graduate of Albert College in Belleville, where he earned his bronze medallion and an award of merit from the Royal Life Saving Society. He also holds the senior YMCA life saving certificate.

Youthful Thief

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP) — A 12-year-old boy who told police his escapades were "more fun than going to school," Thursday was arrested on four charges of theft and one of break-in. Police said the boy had stolen a total of $305 mostly by rifling cash registers in downtown department stores after casually ringing up the "no sale" key.

CNR HAS APPOINTED Stanley F. Dingle, 49, as vice-president in charge of operation. He succeeds N. B. Walton, who died last month.

CNR Appoints Dingle Vice-President

MONTREAL, Feb. 3.—(CP).—Appointment of Stanley F. Dingle, 49, as vice-president in charge of operation was announced by Canadian National Railways today.

Mr. Dingle, with 30 years of experience behind him in the engineering and operating departments of the CNR and its predecessor companies, will take over the departments headed by N. B. Walton, CNR vice-president who died last month.

The new vice-president will have system jurisdiction over the operating forces on the 24,100 miles of the Canadian National system in Canada and in the United States concerned with the operation of train services, terminals, right of way and equipment of all kinds.

Educated In Winnipeg

He was educated in the Public and High schools at Winnipeg, and took special studies at the University of Manitoba. He started his railway career in 1920 in the engineering department of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a predecessor company of the Canadian National, at Winnipeg.

In 1946 he was chosen for the post of chief of transportation for all CN lines with headquarters at Montreal. He was chosen by Mr. Walton in 1948 to be assistant vice-president of operation, a post which he has occupied until the present time.

Mr. Dingle was on the directorate of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers Football Club and now is director of the Montreal Football Club.

Price Support Plan Needed–Agriculture

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 3 (CP)—Organized agriculture claims the need of a price support program in the best intetests of both agriculture and the consumer. W. J. Parker, first vice-president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, told the annual farmers' night of the St. Catharines Rotary Club Thursday night:

"When our farms catch cold, our whole economy sneezes." Mr Parker told the group, which represented nearly every agricultural organization with membership in this area. He said that the 'automatic controls" of supply and demand could not work with the farmer because "the irresistible force in the agricultural industry is nature, not economic."

Farmers cannot look ahead and predetermine their output for the year because the size of the crop was largely dependent upon natural forces such as weather, which are outside the farmer's control," he said. "Can farmers produce abundance and still remain solvent?" Mr. Parker asked pointing out that in years of plenty, prices drop.

Callous Conductor

LEEDS, England, Feb. 3—(CP)—A Magistrate called bus conductor Ronald Radford, 37, "despicable and callous" for turning two children off his bus 30 miles from their home because they had no tickets. The conductor, who was fined £5 (15.50) for failing to be civil and orderly, told the Magistrate: "I realize now I should not have put them off. I am sorry."

Freight Trains Collide

GANANOQUE, Feb. 3 (CP)—A diesel locomotive and several freight cars were damaged when two Canadian National Railways freight trains collided late Thursday at Gananoque Junction, 15 miles east of Kingstin. No one was hurt as one freight train, backing up, smashed into the locomotive of a following freight.

Killed By Brother

MONTREAL, Feb. 3 (CP) — Police reported Thursday that a 14-day-old baby was fatally injured by his three-year-old brother while their mother was away from their midtown Dorchester Street home. Apparently the boy took the baby from his crib and dragged it across the floor, causing fatal injuries.

MORE ABOUT—

Gave Secrets

The proceedings took only 15 minutes. Fuchs was not required to enter a plea of guilty or innocent, since this was not a preliminary hearing.

One charge was "that being a British subject . . . on a day in February, 1945, in the United States of America, (he) communicated to a person unknown information relating to atomic research . . . which might be directly or indirectly useful to an enemy . . . ."

The second charge was that Fuchs "for a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the state on a day in 1947 communicated to a person unknown information relating to atomic research which . . . . . might be directly or indirectly useful to an enemy . . ."

Curtain of Secrecy

The British government dropped a tight curtain of secrecy around the arrest of Fuchs.

The Prime Minister's office at 10 Downing Street, Scotland Yard, the Home Office, and the Supply Ministry all refused to answer any questions concerning Fuchs.

At the Supply Ministry, which directs Britain's atomic energy research, a press office said only: "The decision has been taken to say nothing whatever about Fuchs."

Fuchs was taken to a cell at the Bow Street jail. Jailers said he would be transferred to Brixton Prison, in southeast London, later in the day.

The question of bail was not raised at the hearing.

The Supply Ministry press officer said:

"As the result of legal advice, we cannot say anything about the charge or the man himself."

Law Forbids

In Britain, the law forbids officials connected with a case to give any information which might prejudice a fair trial for the man accused. This usually, however, is interpreted to mean information which bears on the charge.

Simultaneous with Fuch's arraignment in Bow Street court, the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington issued a brief announcement disclosing that it played a part in breaking the case.

Fuchs, 38-year-old German-born physicist, worked on the A-bomb project in the United States from late 1943 until June, 1946.

U. S. officials here said his place in Britain's atomic set-up is comparable to that held during the war by Dr. J. Robert Openheimer, who directed the Los Alamos, N. M., A-bomb laboratories.

Two Breaks

American officials said the case involves two specific atomic leaks to Russia. One occurred in the United States in 1945, they said the other in Britain in 1947.

The U. S. officials provided this account:

The FBI "many" months ago began an intensive check into suspected relay of atomic secrets to Soviet agents. The check was ordered on the basis of bits of information obtained from various sources.

Among the things investigated were the trips Fuchs made to the U. S. during the war and afterward as an officially accredited visitor.

Digging into his background, the agents found that Fuchs was naturalized as a British subject in 1943. His father is a college professor now living in the Soviet occupation zone of Germany.

The younger Fuchs originally went to Britain in 1933 as a student and remained there as an instructor in physics. He first came to the U. S. in November, 1943, on an atomic mission for the British government and remained in the United States until June, 1946.

Changes Work

After landing at Newport News, W. Va., he spent some time with the British Ministry of Supply office in New York City. Later he was assigned to Washington, to the atom plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and to the Los Alamos laboratories which produced the first A-bomb.

Fuchs made trips to both Mexico and Canada before returning to Britain.

He came to Washington again in November, 1947, to attend atomic security conferences with American officials, and shortly afterward went back to London.

The FBI turned over its findings on Fuchs to the British intelligence service, which carried on the investigation in Britain.

Urges Food Sent

MONTREAL, Feb. 3—(CP)—Dr. F. Cyril James, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of McGill University said Thursday night if Canada made food available to India under a "Marshall-Plan" arrangement, it might be the turning point in Commonwealth-India relations. Dr. James recently visited India as a member of the American delegation of the India-American conference.

Great Clown Sid Fields Dies

LONDON, Feb. 3 (CP)—Sid Field, 45, one of the greatest clowns the British music hall ever produced, died suddenly today of a heart attack.

A few hours earlier he had taken his nightly bows after a usual heart-warming performance as Elwood P. Dowd, lovable inebriate in Mary Chase's long-running comedy "Harvey."

He came to the forefront of his profession through the grinding mill of two-a-night variety performances in the British provinces. For years he had out-of-town audiences in stitches with his famed vaudeville character "Slasher Green," a loud dressed, loud-voiced wiseacre who had all the answers but couldn't stay out of trouble.

London success came late to Field. He didn't hit the west end for keeps until the war years. Then in a series of long-running reviews, last of which, "Piccadilly Hayride," carried over after the war ended, established him solidly.

Car Hits Trailer

About $225 damage was caused to the car of Donald Nicolson, Campbellford, early Thursday night when it ran into a trailer parked on Highway 30, seven miles south of Campbellford.

The trailer received only slight damage.

Nicolson was driving north on the highway when he ran into the rear of the trailer driven by Gordon Stephens of RR. 5, Campbellford. It was dark at the time and it is said there were no lights on the rear of the trailer.

Provincial Constable D. W. Coffey investigated.

Industrials Chalk Up 5th Successive Advance

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP)—Industrials chalked up their fifth successive day of advancing prices as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Activity slowed slightly but market leaders showed gains ranging from fractions to two points.

Volume for the first three hours was 556,000 shares.

Today's advances in industrials carried the list to the highest level in more than two weeks. Hahn Brass, Canada Malting, Canada Cement showed gains of more than a point, Ford of Canada A was active and higher.

Golds weakened slightly on penny losses in key junior producers. Several individual issues were brisk traders. Chemical Research traded heavily for a strong gain and Laguerre continued brisk.

Base metals slowly continued Thursday's advance. Consolidated Smelters and Noranda added fractions. Silver Miller, a feature of Thursday's session following news from the property at Cobalt, settled under pressure of profit-taking.

In western oils, Federated Petroleum was active and well ahead in early trading but lost most of advantage by the half-way mark.

Plant Diseases Studied At Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 3—(CP)—For an institution studying plant diseases, Sault Ste. Marie's new laboratory of insect pathology will be fussy about the germs it allows on the premises.

When the building opens next April, it will be equipped to prevent any bacteria under study from leaving the premises and any strange bacteria from getting in.

The laboratory, a maze of 60 small rooms erected by the federal agriculture department's entomology division, will plan a barrage of fungus and virus diseases to throw at destructive forest insects.

Police Arrest 28 In Gambling Raid

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—(CP). — Police arrested 22 men and six women on gambling and liquor charges in two raids Thursday night.

Walter Janicki, 54, was charged with keeping a common betting house and being engaged in bookmaking. Eight men picked up in a raid on Janicki's downtown Queen Street room were charged with being found-ins.

Lloyd Patterson, 23, and his wife, Grace, 24, were charged with keeping liquor for sale in their downtown Gerrard Street house. Twelve men and five women were charged as found-ins.

$6,600,000 paid to N.A.L. families

In 1949, the protection of their North American Life policies was realized by thousands of families. The very essence of the Company's service is the payments made to its insured families, either to alleviate the financial effect of death or to assist in retirement and at other important financial turning points. Since it was established in 1881, North American Life has paid more than $155,000,000 to policyowners and beneficiaries.

Safeguarding the future of many more families are the 178,419 ordinary policies and 23,663 group policy certificates which are now in force. These afford the policyowners protection totalling over $554,000,000 and require the Company to hold assets of over $132,000,000.

The 69th Annual Report indicates the continued growth of the Company and its strong financial position. Highlights of the report are:

New Life Insurance and Annuities arranged	$ 69,670,981
Net Life Insurance and Annuities in force (Increased $48,949,594)	$554,336,627
Total Premiums Received	$ 16,176,456
Payments to Policyowners and Beneficiaries	$ 6,616,495
Liabilities to Policyowners and others	$125,130,891
Special Reserves and Surplus Funds	$ 7,140,298

54.3 Mill Rate Proposed In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 6 — (ENS)—At a special meeting of the Campbellford Council, held in the council chambers Thursday night, a start was made on setting the tax rate.

Estimates were given by the committees, and members endeavoured to pare expenses to the bone in an attempt at a rate which would not exceed last year's. This proved difficult with a raise of $8,000.00 in debentures over last year. The rate arrived at is not yet definite due to the lack of school estimates. However, a rate of 54.3 mills was arrived at, as compared with a rate of 56 mills last year. This will be finally checked at the regular council meeting on Monday, Feb. 9.

J. F. McGregor, clerk, asked council for two new steel filing cabinets. These are necessary with records accumulating and no place to store them. Council was well aware of the rather inadequate equipment at the disposal of the officials of the town, and so provision in the 1950 budget was made for these. The cost is estimated at about $110.00.

Jas. Parcels, the local garbage collector, asked for an increase of $400.00 on his yearly salary to take care in the extra work involved in removing large quantities of refuse from the stores of the town. Under the terms of Mr. Parcels' contract, he is not obliged to remove "store refuse; and other bulky material," and if this is left on the streets of the town, something will have to be done. Mayor Ayrhart said he would have a talk with some of the store owners who appear to be the worst offenders, and ask them to make some provision for removing this material. It was pointed out that on numerous occasions there is approximately half to three quarters of a truck load at one particular store.

The property committee decided it would need $350.00 to provide for looking after the Cenotaph.

Ice Under Subway Annual Traffic Hazard

COBOURG, Feb. 3—(ENS)—Ice and water in the shallow depression of the pavement under the Division St. subway, resulted in an accident Thursday involving two cars. Nobody was injured and due to the slow pace at which the automobiles were travelling, damage was slight.

Although the streets department cleans off the grill of the drain under the subway, it freezes over rapidly as surface water collects and presents a continual traffic problem at this time of the year.

Just A Lark

RUNCORN, Cheshire, England, Feb. 3 (Reuters) — Dorothy Coombes, 26-year-old Runcorn girl, Thursday night denied as "nothing but a lark" a story that she was ready to give herself in marriage to the highest bidder for the benefit of the United States "March of Dimes" fund to help polio victims. The story was broadcast Thursday in "The March of Dimes" program of the American forces radio network in Germany, but Miss Coombes said that "the whole matter had been taken too seriously."

Parks Board Renews Lease With S. Williams

COBOURG, Feb. 3—(ENS)—The smallest of three tenders for a five-year lease of Cobourg Pavilion was chosen by the parks board when the tender of Stan Wiliams, present lessor of the pavilion, was accepted.

Mr. Williams tendered in the amount of $1,500 a year and during the five-year life of the lease, he is to spend up to $5,000 on repairs. The other tenders were $3,100 and $2,000 a year. However, a renewal option clause in the old lease gave the tender to Stan Williams.

Sugar Industry Grows

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP) — The government Thursday told a sweet story of how Canada's sugar industry is expanding. It also disclosed more honey is going into storage. Bureau of Statistics figures showed that sales of refined sugar in 1949 climbed to 1,359,847,000 pounds, a jump of about 50,000,000 pounds from 1948 sales of 1,299,778,000.

Begs Princely Sum

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP) — The story of a professional pauper who begged a princely sum as he travelled country-wide beat came to light Thursday. A tin cup and pencils brought Robert T. Ingles $15,000 in bank accounts from Maine to Florida—and death in a pauper's ward of Bellevue Hospital here last Jan. 22.

On Six-Day Week

DETROIT, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Ford Motor Company, aiming at a production record, Thursday put 15,000 of its hourly-rated workers on a six day week. All are employed at the company's huge Rouge plant, which will see a 30 per cent increase in their pay as a result of the move, officials said.

Dunns Celebrate 50th Anniversary Of Wedded Life

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 3. — (ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunn of Campbellford, who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on February 4, were entertained at a gala celebration in their honor in the Legion Hall on Wednesday. This was the first time the Legion Hall had been used for such an occasion, and those attending numbered more than 100.

A large three layer cake, baked and decorated for the occasion by the Perfection Bakery, was cut by Mr. and Mrs. Dunn.

A presentation of a pair of wool blankets, an electric heating pad and a purse of money was made, and an address was read by Mrs. Tom Dunham. Messages of congratulations were received from nieces and nephews in Ohio and California, Mayor J. E. Ayrhart of Campbellford, and Senator William Fraser.

Among the members of the immediate family present were Mrs. Ernest Ingram of Norham, Mrs. Percy Windover, Norham, and Mrs. Arthur McKenzie, Campbellford, all daughters of the couple, and a son, Henry, of Peterborough. Two granddaughters, Marilyn and Julia Anne Dunham, were also present.

The guests enjoyed an evening of square and modern dancing, and lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn, aged 84 and 81 respectively, were married 50 years ago in the Methodist parsonage in Campbellford. They have always lived in Seymour township and operated a farm.

Mississagi Salvage Operation

Elsewhere on this page are pertinent excerpts from a long report sent us by the Honourable Harold Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests. It is in response to an editorial published in these columns on Wednesday, January 25th. In this editorial we called attention to a letter written by a Parry Sound student of entomology who was employed by the Federal Department of Agriculture in the Mississagi and Chapleau districts last summer. The writer, William Howe, was censorious of the salvage operation as he saw it.

* * *

The official departmental report gives a more reassuring picture of the operation, and from an overall view. Despite the detail and length of the report, however, some of Mr. Howe's more serious allegations are not met. His letter, readers may remember, referred to incompetent immigrant labour being used, a smaller river drive than in the preceding year, "thousands upon thousands of logs . . . culled and left in the bush, logs that would have survived the insect plague if put in the water early". "Through poor management on the part of these so-called lumbermen, and poor supervision on the part of the Government many thousands of dollars are still rotting in the bush." Mr. Howe wrote that "because of poor planning the operators built mile upon mile of road only to abandon it on completion without having used it". The official report says that in December, 1948, "the last link of the Mississagi-Chapleau Highway was pushed through as a winter road. This connected the operations in the Chapleau District to those on the Mississagi watershed". It must be presumed that this piece of road is of some value and permanent use.

* * *

We feel that Mr. Howe's letter has at least done the service of rousing public interest in the worthy purpose of salvaging vast quantities of timber from the burnt-out area. It is obviously an extremely costly operation. It is to be hoped that the matter will be brought up in the Legislative Assembly when the Ontario Parliament next convenes, and that members who know the area will give it critical examination—and a public airing.

Who Will Touch The Untouchables?

The Constitution of the New Republic of India puts an end to the existence of "untouchables"—that is to say, people so low as to have no caste, and who are regarded as of no importance in society. Undoubtedly this is a move toward a more democratic state in India, but only very hopeful people will expect it to have much practical result in our time. India will be very lucky if this move does not bring, for a few years, disturbances of an ugly kind.

When, after the Civil War, the Negro slaves of the U.S.A. were free to do as they pleased and to move, theoretically, through the country as free men, there were some very ugly disturbances, and "uppity niggers" were "put in their place" by white people who had not accepted the legal situation. In some of the more backward States today uppity niggers are still put in their place, from time to time, and in the opinion of their white fellow citizens that place seems to be hanging from the limb of a tree. It is easy to legislate for equality, hard to make people accept it. And the more ignorant the population is, the harder the task of fostering a democratic attitude toward newly enfranchised citizens.

The Indian untouchables have, for many generations, done the dirty work; possibly they are rather dirty people, with disagreeable habits; it is certain that they are ignorant people, quite unused to the liberty which they now possess in theory. We must not expect that they will be joyously embraced by all classes of Indian society, and if there are outbreaks in which some of them are injured, let us remember that even in godly Ontario we have places like Dresden, where discrimination against poor and ignorant people is openly practised.

San Vito To Peterborough

This week a Canadian mother, Mrs. Gennaro De Noble, died, leaving her husband, three daughters, six sons, thirty grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, all of whom live in Peterborough. Mrs. De Noble had lived in this city since leaving her native town of San Vito, Italy, 43 years ago.

San Vito, if we remember the same San Vito, is an antique town on the Adriatic coast, where the tempo of life is slow, the work in vineyards, olive groves and little fishing boats hard, the joys simple, the comforts few for humble folk. But the Italian sun is warm in summer, the winter is short, and the jealously cultivated bits of soil productive produce beloved foods. To leave one's native village even for the profusion of Canada is a wrenching step; to leave it forever and adopt a new land and raise one's family in it is pioneer fortitude.

While Mrs. DeNoble lived quietly in Peterborough in her last years, Peterborough sons were fighting through her San Vito and across the Moro river on to Ortona; after Ortona fell, these young men returned to rest and relax in San Vito hostels set up by the army welfare organizations. They became familiars of the San Vito which a Canadian mother left so long ago that she might raise a large family of Canadians in health and plenty.

Canadian Seaweed

Does the cocoa settle in the chocolate milk that you buy? If it does, the maker is probably unaware that one pound of a seaweed extract, carrageenin, will stabilize one ton of chocolate milk. Does the ice cream that you buy lack smoothness? If so, probably the manufacturer is not using sodium alginate, another seaweed product, as a stabilizer. You know of penicillin. The first penicillin was produced on agar, which is a seaweed extract, and agar is used extensively in testing penicillin. Are you interested in fire resistant insulation for your house? A seaweed will provide it.

This is the opening paragraph of a report prepared by Dr. R. C. Rose, of the division of applied biology, National Research Laboratories, and published by the Chemurgic committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. The account stimulates our interest in seaweed, heretofore confined to a mild distress with its smell and the litter it causes on beaches.

Marine plants are, it seems, very important sources of extracts, useful in food industries as stabilizers, thickeners, jelling agents as well as being sources of food for peasants. Seagrass (eel-grass) is an insulator for buildings; agar and carrageenin are used in canned meats, soups and salad dressings. Agar has additional uses in pills and ointments. Some seaweed extracts are used in cosmetics and soaps. Agar bearing weeds grow abundantly in warmish climates. There are quantities in B. C. waters, but apparently New Zealand has copped the agar industry (after its demise in belligerent Japan) and Canada is too late. Alginate and carrageenin bearing weeds grow in temperate zones, and there is an abundance along our eastern coasts, particularly of Irish Moss or Carrageen on the shores of P.E.I., Nova Scotia and Newfoundland.

The carrageen industry developed quickly in P.E.I. because of wartime shortages (the weed could not be imported from Europe as formerly). In 1945 production exceeded a million pounds. It is raked in, washed, sun-dried combed for impurities, baled, weighed and shipped to Boston for processing. Three tons of dried carrageen are needed to make one ton of carrageenin. Carageenin extract goes into products as diversified as ice cream, shaving soap (it gives a velvety lather) and pills for intestinal disorders.

Dr. Rose, the Canadian expert on seaweeds, believes that the home market is not yet large enough to maintain a complete industry, and that the export market is unobtainable now (even the U.S.A. puts a big tariff on seaweed imports.) However, the harvesting and first processing are proving important occupations, and the time may come when carrageenin and alginate products should be extracted "from Canadian weed, in Canadian factories, by Canadians".

NOTE AND COMMENT

Victor Hugo said: "In the 20th century war will be dead, hatred will be dead, frontier boundaries will be dead, dogmas will be dead." But he still had the foresight to die in 1885.

It is reported that Margaret Truman makes $75,000 a year from her singing, which is as much as her father gets for being President of the U.S.A. Complete candour compells us to suggest that she turn two-thirds of her earnings over to him, in recognition of his publicity value.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Why are there no good book stores in Peterborough. A city of this size, surely, could afford one. Book stores here seem to feature sentimental novels, hymn books, and American magazines. There's not a decent collection of Penguins, Everyman, World's Classics, Modern Library, the better new novels and books of science, art and modern thought to be seen on any of their shelves.

ANSWER: Even with my anonymity, I would not go so far in my criticism of Peterborough book stores. A book store is primarily a business; it may be that they have found by trial and error that large selections and good books are dead losses. Perhaps the Peterborough reading puolic is at fault. I do suggest, however, that now the war is over and the shortages ended, our book-sellers could try stocking more and better books (not merely the most expensive). An enterprising book store might find that Peterborough's new and increased population is eager for them.

SIR: Is it polite to kiss a girl good-night the first evening you see her?

ANSWER: Are you trying to mock me with Dorothy Dix? . . . It depends on why you want to kiss her, and if you want to. If you are merely planning on getting an invitation to supper next evening with her Daddy and Momma, I think you would be taking an unfair advantage of a situation . . . I once tried to kiss a French girl (in Paris) good-night on my first evening, and she whacked me smartly. French girls are excessively moral, even prim.

ALPHA: I want to protest against all the American news in our papers and over the radio . . . That hubbub about the U.S. battleship Missouri, "The Mighty Mo", that was due to be towed somewhere and got stuck in the mud somewhere. It makes me want to vomit . . .

ANSWER: For the information of other readers, this letter went on entertainingly for three pages . . . Sir: You do not need to read the items, you do not need to tune your radio to an American station, you do not need to cock an ear to American news over Canadian stations. Lots of people listen to such news (as the Mighty Mo and the newest wife-slaying in Kansas) the way they do to hockey games, or in childhood, to fairy stories. I know a gentle lady of advanced years who listens to every hockey broadcast, yet she has never seen a hockey game in her life. She knows all the players, knows that there is a blue lines (she probably could not say where it is—perhaps on the face of Leaf supporters when the Leafs are down), and she knows intimate details like the weights and diets of her favourite players. My grandfather, aged 90, became as excited about the Mighty Mo as he did in 1911 about Recriprocity. Why fret about the American news? Thousands enjoy it as they would reports from Heaven or Mars. And in our papers and over the radio you get all the Canadian news that is fit to print or to be heard; and it is the Canadian stuff which people ponder. The rest (especially the excitement from across the border) is fantasy.

MORE HALL DETAILS: A member of the family has kindly sent me the following genealogical information: Thomas Hall came to Canada from near Edinburgh in 1827 with the following members of his family: Adam Hall, (stone mason), John Hall (stone mason), William Hall (bachelor merchant, with Robert Nicholls), Mrs. Nancy Scott, Mrs. Isabella Walton.

The Adam Hall family settled in Smith Township and consisted of: William Hall, farmer in Fenelon Township; Andrew Hall, farmer in Smith; Thomas Hall, likewise; Adam Hall, tinsmith; Robert Hall dry goods merchant, Mrs. W. G. Ferguson, Miss Isabella Hall. Miss Isabella Brealey of Mark Street is a niece of Andrew.

John Hall (son of Thomas, settler of 1827) lived in Smith Township, and had this family: William A. Hall, farmer in Smith; John Hall, likewise; Richard Hall, drygoods merchant who took over the business of William Hall and Nicholls (see first paragraph above) and was a partner with Robert Innes and Robert Hall (see paragraph two above) . . . The business was known as Hall, Innes and Company before becoming the Richard Hall store; Mrs. Agnes Fitzgerald; Mrs. Julia Taylor, Miss Christina Hall, Mrs. Isabella Taylor.

Mrs. Scott (daughter of the 1827 Thomas Hall) had two daughter, Miss C. Scott, and Mrs. Hogg.

Mrs. John Walton, another daughter of the 1827 Thomas, had this family: William Walton, farmer in Smith; Joseph Walton, likewise; Miss Bessie Walton, Mrs. Fairbairn.

PIN-SETTER TO TEN-THIRTY: Last week a local teacher asked what could be done about one of her young pupils who was allowed to work in a bowling alley each week night until ten-thirty. My reply was: beat the parents. Another reader of this column has informed me that the law has something to say, if the boy does work until 10:30. Section 15-2 of the Children's Protective Act states that "no boy under 16 years of age shall engage in any street trade or occupation between ten in the afternoon and six o'clock in the forenoon of the next day". In other words, the boy may legally work in the bowling alley to ten p.m. but not later.

FOR THE RECORD. A person of sensibility and not of juvenile years must long for the spring, as I do. The winter thus far has had tantalizing foretastes of it. I was raised a Presbyterian, so now I am shuddering dismally at the though that we have to pay for the mild December and January in a fierce February and March. When one gets old, one resents the winter we have to endure for the privilege of being Canadian. I thoroughly commend the vigour of the Parks Commission in taking down the outdoor rinks this week (surely a record). If there is any outdoor skating, which my Presbyterian conscience says there will be, let the skaters frolic on the canal and Little Lake. Anyway, the chief joy of skating in Peterborough is to be able to zip to Lakefield and back freely. Rink boards are confining to the spirit.

TOSS-UP TO SEE WHO SHARES THE OLD BOY'S DISCOMFORT

Mississagi Salvage Operation

SIR: On my return from Northern Ontario I have caught up on my reading of back numbers of the Peterborough Examiner, and I notice on your editorial page of Wednesday, January 25th, some comments on the Mississagi salvage.

I thought that the readers of the Peterborough Examiner would be interested in having the true picture of the case, and I am enclosing a report on this up to the present time.

Your sincerely
HAROLD SCOTT

Ed. Note: The report enclosed by the Honourable Harold Scott is a 13-page document, too long for reprinting completely. We believe that the following excerpts, a third of its length, fairly represent the full report.

I—THE FIRES

On May 25th, 1948, two fires were reported in the Mississagi Provincial Forest. . . The main fires were considered under control near the end of June, but dry conditions again prevailed and outbreaks from smoldering material occurred during most of July. On July 24th the Chapleau fire was reported officially out and the Mississagi on July 31st . . . . The final fire reports on these fires showed 594,555 acres of forested land, mostly in the Mississagi Provincial Forest in 54 townships exclusive of lakes, had been swept over by fire. Seventy five percent of this area was in mature forest types. Timber damaged was estimated at 230 million feet of white pine, 81 million feet of red pine and 151 million feet of jackpine. Though not estimated a large volume of spruce and jackpine pulpwood throughout the fire area was also destroyed.

The burned area roughly corresponded with the forest on which most of the balsam was infested with or dead from the spruce budworm. This dead material contributed to the rapid spread of the fire and added to the difficulty of suppression. . .

Logging of the more accessible timber along the Mississagi and White Rivers and their branches has been carried on for decades. However, rough terrain and the longer hauls to the rivers had left what was the second largest reserve of white and red pine in Ontario.

II—PREPARATIONS FOR SALVAGE

Before the fires were under control it was realized the loss to the people of Ontario if this large amount of white and red pine were not saved. . .

A field party from the Forest Insect Laboratory at Sault Ste. Marie explored the burned area in the first part of August 1948, to estimate the damage already done by wood borers. Their investigations revealed that borers had already entered the wood of fire-killed jackpine, spruce and white pine but not red pine. It was evident that if any salvage of fire-killed white pine was to be accomplished it would have to be carried out in the logging season 1948-49. . .

The finance committee of the Cabinet Council with representatives of the Department of Lands and Forests were unanimous in recommending that the salvage of this fire damaged timber should be proceeded with even at the risk of considerable cost to the Government, and the following recommendations were submitted for approval:

Timber operators will be asked to carry out the whole operations from bush to the completed product, and, in order to assist with the necessary financing, the Government will offer:

(a) To advance $1.50 for each log of red and white pine and .75 for each log of jackpine and spruce when they are in the water.
(b) to pay one-half or such greater proportion as the Minister of Lands and Forests may determine of the cost of constructing some 67 miles of roadways, estimated to cost approximately $3,000.00 per mile.
(c) to undertake with any banks concerned not to insist on its priority for Crown dues on such timber as is brought out ahead of the repayment of such bank. . .

An Order-in-Council, incorporating the above recommendations was approved on September 13th, 1948. It also provided a sum of $1,500,000 to cover the financial obligations of these recommendations for the remainder of the fiscal year and previous expenditures made on behalf of salvage operation. . .

Conditions were also included whereby the Government would assist up to $1500.00 per mile to build access roads. Persons, enquiring to the above advertisement and all District offices were supplied with copies of these supplementary "Operating Conditions"

By October 1948, all sawlog chances, as laid out, had been tendered on and accepted. Only three small pulpwood chances remained open for tenders. . .

In two areas where more than one operator used the same access road the Government paid the total cost of construction and built each by contract. These roads were considered of permanent value. One was the Rapid River road to Toodee Lake of nine miles in length. The other was approximately sixteen miles long up the Kindiogami River to Kindiogami Lake from the White River road.

All agreements called for monthly financial statements of the operation. These were required before advances could be made so as to protect the Government's interest in the logs. . .

III—PRODUCTION

Woods operations were delayed in starting due to the lateness of the season when the access roads were built and mild wet weather in November and December. By mid-November cutting had begun on all but two or three operations. In the third week of November 1948, approximately 38,000 logs were cut and skidded. At this time 23 tractors 50 trucks, 307 horses and 1076 men were engaged on all salvage work. Production increased rapidly after freeze-up. The weekly peak was reached in the last week of January, 1949, when 1814 men, 645 horses, 44 tractors and 95 trucks produced 77,442 logs on skidways, scaling 4,550,000 feet, Royle Rule.

Hauling commenced in January on most chances. Lack of time to prepare suitable haul roads in the preceding autumn plus lack of snow and soft weather in January hampered hauling all season. When the break-up came in April many logs were still on skidways. Truck hauling was resorted to in May and June as soon as the roads dried up, and new roads could be built, to haul logs left in the bush plus those cut on spring operations.

All cutting under agreements for the season 1948-49 was stopped in the first part of July 1949. Total production cut and skidded for the season 1948-49 was 1,671,734 logs, scaling 96,701,742 feet Doyle Rule.

IV—MILLING AND MARKETING

. . . The lumber industry as a whole was concerned over the possibility of a large volume of lumber over and above normal production, being dumped on the market. The Government too realized this danger and when a plan was submitted by one of the companies experienced in white and red production and marketing to overcome this problem the Government willingly considered it and entered into a formal agreement for the operation of a wholesale lumber concentration yard near North Bay. An agreement between the Company, The Great Northern Woods Company, Ltd., and the Crown, provides that the Company would undertake to:

(1) Build and establish the concentration yard for the processing of Government owned lumber only.
(2) Supervise the sawing and shipping of this lumber to the concentration yard on account of the Government.
(3) Grade, tally, pile and ship out, as sold, this lumber, at the risk of the Government.
(4) Assist in the sales of the lumber.
(5) Establish a dressing plant in this concentration yard for general custom dressing.

By this Agreement the Government would undertake to:

(1) Furnish capital to build this concentration yard by way of a capital loan up to $180,000.00.
(2) Pay all operating expenses of this yard except those incurred in connection with the dressing plant.
(3) Pays sum of $10,000.00 per annum for supervision for the duration of this Agreement.
(4) Pay a charge of $24,000.00 per annum as fee for the duration of this Agreement.

This agreement is for four years. . .

The first years operation i. e. during the 1948-49 season concentrated on fire killed timber only. The second year or the 1949-50 season's effort is more to recover the values from areas which suffered from ground fire only. On these areas the timber is partly dead or dying—the butt log in most cases having been damaged. For the final cut of the 1950-51 season green timber occurring in patches will be cut. These areas are not sufficient in themselves to justify an operation apart from the salvage.

How Time Flies

FEBRUARY 3

1920 Albert Rowe's house in Douro township near Young's Point is destroyed by fire.

The exhibition board asks the city council for $5,000 toward cost of a new cattle building.

Hon. Manning Doherty says this county's request for an experimental farm is being considered.

1930 Campbellford suffers a fire, with damages estimated at $54,000, in the business section.

The council decides to renew the C.G.E. Co. lease of power at the water works dam.

W. G. Morrow opens the curling bonspiel here, and a presentation is made to John Steele of Millbrook.

1940 The board of works' estimates of more than $100,000 have jumped $40,000 in a few years, F. T. Tuggey points out.

A delegation of fire department employees asks the finance committee for a salary raise of 15 per cent.

Fred Thain, Rawdon township farm neighbour, is charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wellman.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And it came to pass, when king Hezekiah heard it, that he rent his clothes, and covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the Lord. . . .

And Hezekiah prayed unto the Lord, saying, O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, that dwellest between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth: thou hast made heaven and earth. Incline thine ear, O Lord, and hear; open thine eyes, O Lord, and see: and hear all the words of Sennacherib, which hath sent to reproach the living God. . . .

Now therefore, O Lord our God, save us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou art the Lord, even thou only. . . .

Therefore thus saith the Lord concerning the king of Assyria, He shall not come into this city, nor shoot an arrow there, nor come before it with shields, nor cast a bank against it. . . . For I will defend this city to save it for mine own sake, and for my servant David's sake. (Isa. 37: 1, 15-17, 20, 33, 35.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Justice and judgement are the habitation of thy throne; mercy and truth shall go before thy face. Blessed is the people that know the joyful sound: they shall walk, O Lord, in the light of thy countenance. (Ps. 89: 14, 15.)

Letters To The Editor

JEALOUSY AT ROOT OF CRITICISM?

Sir: In reply to your letter appearing in the January 31 issue on married women working.

It all makes a pretty picture for you to sit back and criticize us for working but you being married twelve years therefore you most likely bought your home within the first five or six years which means you'd pay maybe half of what we have to today. The same with your furniture. Let me tell you from experience we don't get up and go to work at seven o'clock then come home and work half the night for the fun of it. We have to if we ever intend to have a roof over our heads. Sure if we were in your shoes we'd stay home too and maybe (if we were smart) we could learn to sew and cook in twelve years but when we have to start from rock bottom it will be quite some time before we own a home and car besides a bank account like you do. You are pretty fortunate; you must have inherited a nice start or are you just plain jealous that we might some day be able to enjoy decent living standards as you are doing.

A lot of us came to work when industry was crying for married women during the war while others thought it was beneath their dignity to work in factories. Why shouldn't we have jobs if we want them? And why should we have to explain to you why we work?

Now in conclusion I'd like to say if you are so busy as you pretend to be making things pleasant for your husband and daughter I can't understand now you have so much time to worry and criticize what others are doing. In my opinion its none of your business.

Thank you,

A Married Woman Worker.

GRATEFUL FOR BIBLE MESSAGE

Sir: The quotations from God's book which you put in your splendid paper I enjoy very much, it is grand to see one in your position holding on to the faith of our fathers.

The Bible made our Empire great and will again when we return to its teaching. Man is a poor creature without God, however much he tries to exalt himself as the present world confusion and despair has demonstrated.

Surely His care for us and His help when we scarcely needed it should bring us to repentence.

God bless you for the good you do.

(MRS.) R. BONNEY.

A Generous Alberta Offer

We can't say we blame these ski resort owners, because we know how it feels when Alberta wheatlands don't get enough moisture for proper growth. Nevertheless, we may have a solution. Southern Alberta at the moment is covered by at least five hundred billion tons of snow. In Waterton Lakes National Park, for instance, snow covers the ground to a depth of 10 feet in some places and the occasional drift is anywhere from 15 to 30 feet deep. Most of this snow is no good to anyone. When it melts it will cause floods, and it is certainly of no possible use in its present condition. But to Quebec and Ontario skiers it would be invaluable. We therefore suggest that they come and get it, if they can talk the railroads into low enough freight rates.—Lethbridge Herald.

Municipal Board Keeps Eye On Communities

TORONTO, Feb. 3 — (CP). — An organization set up in 1906 to handle disputes between the many private railways then operating in Ontario has grown to a powerful body which acts as financial policeman, counsellor and court to the province's municipal governments.

The Ontario Municipal Board, a five-man group appointed by Provincial Government, is empowered by Acts of the Legislature to act in 62 different fields ranging from annexation to bicycle fees. Some municipal officers feel that it has too much authority and that some of its powers should be held by elected representatives of the people.

But W. P. Near, its vice-chairman, likes to emphasize its "steering or guiding" function, rather than its directive power.

"We don't do anything that any well-organized municipality does not do for itself," he says.

Board members have a variety of backgrounds.

Chairman R. S. Colter, a native of Cayuga and former lawyer, is chairman. Mr. Near, formerly of St. Marys, and W. J. Moore, who is from Pembroke, are engineering graduates of the University of Toronto. Mr. Near served at one time as city engineer in London and St. Catharines, while Mr. Moore was county engineer in Renfrew. R. Howard Yeates, from Hamilton, formerly practised law. R. C. Rowland, orifinally of Walkerton, served for several years on Forest Hill Village Council and York County Council.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

THE LONE EAGLE of 1927 was Charles Augustus Lindberg, an obscure airmail and barnstorming pilot who overnight became America's top hero. The whole world waited breathless when Lindy took off from Roosevelt Field, N.Y., on that morning of May 20, 1927, and headed his plane, the "Spirit of St. Louis," toward Paris, fame and fortune. The drama of the handsome young flier tackling the broad Atlantic alone in a tiny monoplane captured the the world that he had landed near Paris, totalling unprepared for world's imagination. On the evening of May 21, word flashed to the wild reception that greeted him there.

Federation Asks Boost In Eggs At All-Day Meet

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb 3 —, (CP). — The Canadian Federation of Agriculture Thursday supported poultry farmers' demands that the Federal Government be asked to increase price support for eggs from 38 to 42 cents a dozen at storage points.

CFA directors agreed that the four-cent boost would still mean a loss to poultry farmers of several cents, based on the price before the loss of the British market.

At a closed all-day session on Thursday, directors also approved a resolution asking that a floor price be set on poultry meats which, producers claim, have slumped badly since the drop in egg prices.

The board rejected in part the hog producers' proposal that a floor price of $36 a hundredweight be set for pork until July 1, scaling down thereafter at the rate of $1 a month until the government floor price of $32.50 has been reached.

Press Freedom Conference Topic

LONDON, Feb. 3 — (CP). — Freedom of the press, a topic of interest to newspaper men the world over, is the No. 1 item of a crowded agenda for Commonwealth journalists when they meet in Canada next summer at the seventh Imperial Press Conference.

The conference, sponsored this year by the Canadian section of the Empire Press Union, will be opened formally in Quebec City June 8. Subsequent business sessions will be held in Ottawa and in Ontario's vacation-resort district of Muskoka, north of Toronto.

Also listed for discussion are such topics as Colonial press laws, training for journalists, press communications, distribution of newspapers and periodicals within the Commonwealth and the EPU itself.

Names of delegates from Australia, South Africa, India, the West Indies, and other countries were announced previously.

Labor Members Feel February Poor Month To Hold Election

By LARRY SMITH
Canadian Kemsley Scholar in Journalism

If February 23 turns out cold, blustery, snowy or rainy, and should those meteorological conditions perchance coincide with a setback for the British Labor Party, a lot of Socialist ex-members of parliament will give voice to a loud "I told you so."

They are the men who wanted a "snap" election in the autumn, when weather was good and economic prospects grim. Failing that, they felt the election should be delayed until June, hoping that the economic climate would improve and feeling, at least, that June would provide better campaigning and polling weather than February. Further, they would have had the party's 50th jubilee celebrations, now cancelled, to help whip up the old fighting spirit.

The weather problem, which Labor seems to feel might hurt its chances most, is complicated by the new limit placed on the number of cars a candidate may use to get voters to the polls. Under the Representation of the People Act, passed in 1948, a candidate is limited to one car for every 1,500 electors in his district.

Fewer Members

Other features of the Act make the results of this election more difficult to predict, for the whole electoral pattern has been changed. There will be 625 seats in the new Parliament, instead of the present 640, and only 62 seats are unaffected by the new distribution which has redrawn the line of most constituencies.

The general policy of the new act was to revise constituencies so that each elected member should represent approximately 60,000 voters. To achieve this there has been a considerable amount of "carving" and amalgamation. In some cases, predominantly rural constituencies have had their character greatly altered by inclusion of an industrial town, perhaps tipping the balance the other way.

Another feature, affecting the number of seats, has been elimination of university representation and the redrawing of the City of London as a constituency. Formerly, for example, an Oxford student or a city businessman was entitled to a vote in his place of residence and also at university or in his place of business. The City of London, with only 12,500 residential electors, had a representation of two M.P.'s. It is now merged with a larger area to form a new constituency with one member.

The number of voters to choose the holders of a reduced number of seats has increased by approximately 1,500,000. What these new voters, many of whom will be casting their first ballot, decide is a big question.

Also giving much concern are the 7,863,121 voters who did not take the trouble to visit the polls in 1945. There is far greater interest in the forth-coming election, and doubtless many of these will vote. Conservatives are confident that many of their suporters didn't vote last time, feeling sure that Churchill, the architect of victory, could retain power without their support. Labor, on the other hand, has laid no claim to these people, although it will certainly woo them.

Service Vote Small

The so-called service vote poses another unpredictable factor. The vote itself is negligible this time—there are about 140,000 qualified voters in the forces. But in 1945 there were 3,000,000 service voters, and it is held by many that those votes put Labor into power. Nobody can prove that, but everyone wonders how the three million will vote after four years of civilian life. Last time the fighting was over, there were twiddling thumbs in distant lands, and Labor promised them a fast boat to Blighty. Some say, too, that many of them might have voted Labor in 1945 because the service vote, among the ranks, is more often than not "agin the government."

It appears that there will be a record number of candidates in the field, with perhaps two-thirds of the seats being decided in three-cornered fights. Conservatives and their National-Liberals plan to confuse the picture with at least 400 candidates and the Communists will probably muster just over a hundred.

The Liberals, with but 11 members in the last Parliament, provide another of the imponderables, for no-one knows just what the potential Liberal vote is today, nor how many would hesitate to vote Liberal for fear of rendering their vote virtually useless. Critics are jocularly saying that the Liberal M.P.'s in the next Parliament can drive to the House in one taxi!

Retain Welsh Seats

Liberals will undoubtedly retain their seven Welsh seats, but the four English seats are all precarious. Three of them were decided by narrow majorities of 1965, 198 and 949, respectively, in straight two-party fights last time.

Dissolution of the present Parliament finds the Labor Party holding 390 seats, the Conservatives 194, the Liberal-Nationels 13 (they support the Conservatives) the Liberals 10, and Independents and others, 33.

In 1945, the Labor Party received 12,000,000 votes, (including 4,000,000 who had obviously never voted Labor before) while the other parties combined polled a few hundred thousand more.

As in many another country, it requires only a small shift in the total number of votes polled to produce some amazing results in the make-up of the House of Commons. The question which will plague people until the wee hours on election night is what kind of shift there will be in those 35 million votes.

St. Aidan's Reports All Allotments Paid

SELWYN, Feb. 3—(ENS)—The annual vestry meeting of St. Aidan's Anglican Church, Young's Point held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Darling on Monday. Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald acted as vestry secretary.

Arthur Morris presented the secretary-treasurer's report, showing all allotments paid and the church in a good financial position.

Mrs. Fife reported on the Sunday School work and Mrs. Leonard Wilson gave the report of the year's work done by the Women's Auxiliary.

Arthur Morris was re-elected people's warden, but the rector's warden, Andrew Wilson, tendered his resignation owing to poor health. This office was left open for the time being.

Sidesmen are: Braden MacNaughton, Leo Traynor, Leonard Wilson, David Darling, Ron Nicholson and Walter Hinze.

Robert Johnson or Peterborough was reappointed auditor and Sir Henry Drayton, lay-delegate to the Synod, with A. Mackey, alternative. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Dave Darling for her work as organist and also to Arthur Morris. Mrs. Darling served refrestments.

Whip and Yukon Eric Draw In Main Bout of Mat Card

Whipper Bill Watson and Yukon Eric wrestled to a draw at the Brock Arena last night before a record crowd—with standing room only—in the main mat event. However, the last bout stole the show. It was a prelim, put on last to let Whip get away for a St. Louis plane, between Johnny Barend and Joe Christie. This pair put on more whirlwind action than the champ and his colorful opponent, who had packed the place.

Eric won the first fall of the main event in 10 minutes with his back-breaker special. The 235-pound champion was faster, trickier and more experienced, but he was stymied on the huge, chesty 272-pound Alaskan. The latter settled for plain bull strength and it appeared enough to match the mat wiles of the Whipper. Each had a good following from the big crowd, but all the fans got a big kick out of seeing the lumberjack flatten the champ for that first one. Eric appeared quite unimpressed by his noted adversary.

Whip took the second fall in just nine minutes with his famed "Commando" unconscious grip, twice speedily slipping through the legs of his slow opponent who had him pinned in the corner and was giving him the battering-ram chest treatment. His speed and experience paid off there, though he had trouble even then felling his strong foe with the lethal neck grip. Eric had earlier shed any of the Whip's attacks and slammed him around casually, only receiving the odd warning from Referee Bert Maxwell, as both grapplers played it pretty clean.

The final round went a bit better than eight minutes and both were counted out of the ring. The Whipper appeared to have Eric again—after some hard going—with the "Commando," when the big northerner from Fairbanks—he is 28 years old—rolled over, and both tumbled out of the ring. As the count went on, each in turn tried to climb back but was pulled back by the other. Watson got in just after the count and argued strenuously that he had beaten it, but Maxwell said "No," and that was that. They finally shook hands and settled for the draw, as the crowd gave them a hand.

A Swell Bout

The 228-pound rough Joe Christie and speedy Johnny Barend, scaling 220 pounds, battled to a furious 30-minute draw in the final tussle of the evening. It had the crowd yelling hard most of the way and a great many on their feet around the ring at the finish. Several times it appeared about over and fans would start surging toward the doors, but everyone remained till the hot finish. Christie was warned often for illegal stuff, and finally had some tape on his wrist ripped off. The popular 20-year-old Barend offset these illegal tactics from his bigger and rougher opponent with speed and some nifty mat science that drew applause. He showed a barrel of stuff in the sizzling scrap, and the fans really went for that rousing bout.

Blond Steve Stanlee, 232, and towering 290-pound Hi Lee battled 14 minutes in the prelim before Lee got the popular Steve with is back-breaker grip. Hi played it dirty from the start, but Steve got in a few odd licks himself to bring cheers from the gallery. It was a rough match while it lasted, with the tall Texan too big and too tough for his opponent, even though Stanlee used several holds to advantage. Sheer weight, with blows and kicks, slowed down Steve, and the plodding Lee finished him off fairly handily at the right time. He didn't get a hand for his efforts, either.

King Edward Wins

In an intermediate Public School Hockey League contest at Civic Arena, King Edward showed too much punch for Prince of Wales and romped to a 5-0 victory. Beggs counted twice for the victors, with Rusaw, Keeting and Hunt each netting the puck, despite a valiant defence put up by the losers. Teams:

King Edward: Halcrow, Keeting, Rowe, Hunt, Stevens, Rusaw, Sutherland, Beggs, Curtis, Mills, Saunders, MacArthur, Fisher, Simmons, Ferguson.

Prince of Wales: Bowen, Tripp, Peel, Johnson, Morton, Allen, Foster, Rye, Douglas, Godfrey, Hancock, Northrop.

Referee, C. Crown.

Queen Mary Gets It

Queen Mary won 3-1 from Queen Elizabeth yesterday at Civic Arena in an intermediate School Hockey League fixture. Brown scored both goals in the first frame, and Friar got one from Jones in the third, Whitnell tallying then for the losers from Medland. It was a tidy tussle throughout. Teams:

Queen Elizabeth—Tighe, Whitnell, Cameron, Ward, Lyons, Medland, Gilders, Harrison, McMillan, Hall, Hicks.

Queen Mary — Dafoe, Beck, Brown, Jones, Hillier, Lincoln, Putnam, Dobbin, Dubay, Dunn, Reynolds, Friar.

Jack Playford Rolls 356 In Men's Loop

Competition was keen in the Men's City Five-Pin League last night as only one shutout was registered, Cavanaghs taking six points from Empress Old Timers.

McGillis took four points from Charlotte Credit Jewellers and took high pinnage 3518 and high single game 1238.

Tem scored a four-point victory over the league-leading Shockey squad while Fashion Craft, Sunocos, Esquires and Babes Place won by the same margin over Clappers, Capitol Taxi, Campbell and Best and De Laval.

Jacck Wade had 810 and Jack Playford high single of 356. Eldon Downer rolled 340, Art Pilling 324, Jack Wade 317, Jim Herron 310 and George Walton 306, as most of the bowlers failed to come up to the usual high standard.

Doug Abraham leads the average race with 249, approximately 650 pins up on his closest rival. Shockeys are in first place, 14 points ahead of the Cavanagh entry with McGillis in third place.

Bowling Notes

Artists rolled high with 3,509 pinnage and one game of 1,198 this week in the YMCA senior men's bowling circuit to lead the loop with 62 points. Commercials have 58, Aberdeens 54, CPC 51, Quakers 48, Tip Tops 38, Jay Bees 38, and B'nai B'rith 37. The Packers blanked Aberdeens as Artists beat Tip Tops 6-0, Jay Bees taking Quakers 4-2, and B'nai B'rith winning 4-2 over Commercials. G. Coleman led the trundlers with 930, including neat singles of 343 and 353. Other high counts were: P. Mack 886 (314), G. Walton 838 (319-323), R. Bennett 809 (339), F. Fisher 746, R. Suddards 739, P. Blodgett 714. F. Worsencroft 711.

In the YMCA lasses' loop, all wins were by two points, Tigers, Hurricanes, Lucky Strikes and Corvettes winning from Commandos, Glengarrys, Bombers and Aces. Marion Timm, ace of Lucky Strikes, smacked the pins for an 813 high triple of the year, as Gladys Pinch rolled 731, Ag Anderson 694, Gladys Hamilton 672, Ethel Stanbury 666, J Alexander 636 and Dot Martin 625. High single honors went to Thelma Grierson with 292, followed by Betty Castle 289, G. Pinch 286, M. Timm 283 twice, G. Hamilton 278, E. Stanbury 254, A. Anderson 243, Maisie Cunningham 241 and Beryl Csumrik and M. Mahood 240 each. Aces rolled top game of 1,029.

Charles Thomas whacked out a 251 single and 680 triple to lead men in the Mercantile Bowling League, as Kay Lowes' 267 topped lasses' singles and Gladys Hamilton's 648 was best for girls in threesomes. Other neat counts were: Marg Behan 256, Addie Jackson 251, Mae Willshaw 252, Don Penrose 250, Harold Cawker 243, and in threes Don Penrose 664, Rollie Willshaw 649 and H. Cawker 658. New Centre took four points from Lift Lock, as Braund's No. 1, Prudential, Bond's and Utilities took three from Loblaw's, Braund's No. 2, A & P and City Hall. Braund's No. 1 led with 3,000 and a single of 1,157, as Mae Willshaw took the Collis' nylons with 262. Harold Mesley leads to date with 345 as Frank Worsencroft's 813 cross stands, and Don Penrose has high average of 220 for men. Ruby Pearse tops ladies with a nifty 352 and average of 205 as Verna Hopkins has tops in threes with 748. Points to date: New Centre and City Hall 50 each, Braund's No. 1 47, Lift Lock 41, Utilities 38, Loblaw's 37, Prudential 25, A & P 24, Bond's 19, Braund's No. 2 with 12.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

No less than six basketball games here tonight on three fronts. Let's see if we have it straight. Two at the YWCA, Nurses Srs. vs. CGE, and Black's vs. Normals. An exhibition men's tilt at the YM, Oshawa vs. Al Clark's "Y" crew. And three boys' tilts at the Collegiate, Lindsay bantams first 'gainst PCVS, and then North Toronto junior "A" and senior squads meeting Bev Goulding's good teams. Tomorrow night at the YM, two men's City Loop fixtures, Kawarthas vs. Clapper's, and Shockey's vs. Marine Bees. While Marines "A" team is idle, most of those players will see action in the City League contests.

* * * * * *

Bob Pierson of the OLA senior "A" Petes informs us that he'll have important club news for the large fan following here shortly. Re new players, we imagine. Manager Pete King and his able executive buddies are busy now lining up things for a bigger and better lacrosse season than ever before in these parts. The Petes will be a strong contender for provincial "A" honors in 1950, according to Bob, if they get the players they now expect. Big guys, too, as the 1949 edition proved too light in this rugged company. Great stuff, and we'll pass along the info as soon as we get it, there being 2,000 or more hot OLA fans here.

Nylons Play Petes

Don't pass up that OHA senior "B" scrap tonight at 8.30 in Civic Arena, Kingston Nylons vs. the Petes. It promises to be a humdinger. Some talk of Honey Tompkins being back in the lineup and also of a couple of newcomers—transferred on work—here for the Petes, though we don't guarantee they'll be out tonight. But Ed Foley's flock will be hustling hard on home ice and trying to upset those high-flying cuties from Kingston. That Partis-Catlin-Gerow line is really sashaying now, with Udall mighty tough to beat in goal. And a husky defence to bounce opponents around. Yep, this one rates another big puck crowd.

* * * * * *

Jack Hope, local insurance agent—who lives out around Lang or Indian River—is an amazing man. Other night in Keene, he hurried out of curling togs and got into the Keene lineup in time to score a goal and assist in two more in a torrid Otonabee Rural Hockey League encounter. They've moved him up from defence to the front line for his scoring punch, you know, and Jack feels he should devote more time to those rugged Rural Loop hockey battles and less to curling, not such an active sport. So what, you say, so what is remarkable about all this? It happens that Jack is 57 years old, that's all! He uses the equipment formerly worn by the retired Bun Kingdon, who is his son-in-law.

Minors Going To It

OMHA playdowns have commenced all around the district, and it won't be long till the Peterborough minor puck representatives are plodding down the provincial playdown path. Hastings midgets took Omemee 15-4 last e'en, the return tilt of the goals-to-count series being in Omemee next Monday. At Lakefield last gloaming, the North Hastings bantams eliminated Lakefield 8-2 on the round, but the Lakefield midget "C" crew rubbed out their North Hastings opponents—from Bancroft, Coe Hill and Apsley—by a 15-3 round count. Meantime, these PMHA jousts are billed for here tonight: Trojans vs. Optimist midgets at 5.30, and IOOF vs. Trojan juves at 6.30. Tomorrow, it's Trojans No. 1 vs. SPS bantams at five bells, followed by Keene vs. the midget Marines.

* * * * * *

A standing-room-only crowd at the Brock Arena last eve saw Yukon Eric and Whipper Watson go to a main bout draw. Nothing settled yet and it won't be, likely, until they meet in Maple Leaf Gardens about two months hence. As the Whipper was taking a plane out of Toronto early this a.m. for St. Louis and then heading for a six-week tour of Western Canada. That's why their bout was put in second place on the card. The Whip was fast and tricky, but the Alaskan had a big pull on the weights and was really powerful, so it's still a question of 235 pounds of speedy mat science against 272 pounds of sheer strength. The windup go between Joe Christie and Johnny Barend was a humdinger, winding up in a time limit draw. And the prelim saw huge Hi Lee beat Steve Stanlee.

Hither And Yawn

Legion won't play in Gananoque until Feb. 11 and that'll wind up the schedule . . . Nylons took an 11-4 victory over the Gans for their 10th straight senior "B" victory . . . King Edward intermediate school puckists blanked Prince of Wales 5-0 as Queen Mary won 3-1 from Queen Elizabeth . . . Quakers beat CGE and Vent. Shades took De Laval last e'en in industrial hockey . . . Indian River won 3-1 o'er Assumption Hall in the Otonabee Loop . . . Junior "B" IOOF-ers are off to Bella Villa tonight . . . Petes tangle with Legionnaires on Monday, and that should pack 'em in again . . . The Lakefield Indians are off to Cobourg tonight and go to Port Hope on Monday . . . Hugh Stewart is on the Ontario Trotting Association executive . . . Hugh Davis' Parsons ran third yesterday in the third race at Dufferin . . . . Haliburton, Lindsay and Bobcaygeon have entries in the Ontario school boys' bonspiel at Guelph . . . S'long now.

Indian River Wins

KEENE, Feb. 3 (ENS)—Indian River yanked out a 3-1 win over Assumption Hall last night in the Otonabee Rural Hockey League here. Walt Fife scored in the first from Percy Elmhirst, and Don Crabe got one next heat from George Davidson. Walt Fife tallied in the third again with Art Steed assisting. Frank Walsh got one back in the third from the losers, aided by Fred Clancy. Teams:

Assumption—R. Crowley, C Carey, R. Clancy, G. Carey, S Clancy, F. Clancy, J. Fitzgerald, F. Walsh, L. Crane, Frank Crowley, G. Doris, B. Clancy, V Fitzgerald, D. Fitzgerald.

Indian River—R. Elmhirst, P. Elmhirst, W. Fife, B. Fife, L Millar, S Stewart, H. Hope, A Elmhirst, R. Clysdale, A. Steed, D. Crabe, G. Davidson, P. Evans.

Quakers-Shades Win

Ventilating Shades defeated De Laval handily in their Industrial Hockey League encounter last evening at Civic Arena, while Quakers squeezed out a 2-1 decision over CGE Toolroom. H. Willshaw and R. Willshaw scored the winners' goals, the latter also having one assist. Only the Quaker lineup was turned in, as follows: W. Hartwick, O. Wesenberg, W. Weaver, H. Willshaw, D. Willshaw, R. Willshaw, G. Helmes, J. Hill, A. Beavis, and N. Harris.

Curling News

The program for tomorrow is the same as usual:

Men's bonspiel 2 p.m., mixed rink bonspiel 7:45 p.m. — both draws from the board.

Seven mixed rinks from our club are playing a friendldy game in Lindsay Saturday afternoon.

To those curlers concerned: When members received their application for membership early last fall, there were printed on these applications certain obligations that each member is expected to observe. It now appears that some have neglected to live up to these obligations. 'Nuff said. Contact R. F. Downey at once.

Playing in Oshawa yesterday in the Tankard group playoffs, local rinks skipped by C. Giroux and Dr. R. Clark lost out to the Toronto Curling Club, but won the right to play in the Burden Trophy finals at the Granite Club today.

Regarding the District Cup rinks skipped by F. Green and V. Brown, the reports this morning are not very clear; but the last we heard, late last night, was that our boys were trailing five shots with two ends to go. Hope we are wrong on this

IN CANADA NOW — Vivacious, red-haired Mrs. Imre Bernolak, 23, who teamed with Ede Kiraly in Paris last year to win the 1949 world pairs skating championship for Hungary, is now a political refugee in Canada. Here, she practices on the Governor-General's outdoor rink with her new partner, Nigel Stephens of Ottawa. She came to Canada with her husband, employed in the Federal Department of Labor, three months ago. Under present rules, she won't be eligible to compete in North America for five years but she and Stephens hope to compete in the 1951 world championships.

Mrs. Doughty Bows To Ottawa

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Feb. 3—(CP)—Mrs. F. Earle's Lachute, Que., rink Thursday scored the first major upset in the 19th annual Sewell Trophy bonspiel here by downing the defending champion, Mrs. T. J. Agar, of Toronto Granite, 10-6, in the opening round of play.

Mrs. J. L. Dawson, Ottawa, scored an 18-2 win over Mrs. T. Doughty, Peterborough, in a game which finished with a count of seven for the victors in the last end.

Two Toronto Granite rinks survived opening play with Mrs. J. A. Kearns winning 9-6 over Miss C. Wilson, of Perth, Ont., and Mrs. E. M. Thompson scoring a 12-6 victory oyer Mrs. E. H. Wood, Ottawa Rideau. Mrs. H. W. Mackenzie marked up a win for Outremont, Que., by defeating Mrs E. A. Cone, Pembroke, Ont., 8-7.

Thursday night's games continued until well after midnight. The Morrisburg, Ont., foursome skipped by Mrs. H. Meikle scored a lopsided 12-1 victory over Mrs. H. Johnson, of Sherbrooke, Que., while Mrs. C. H. Brereton, of Toronto Granite, was beating Mrs. C. A. Moyle, of Hawkesbury, Ont., 11-6. A Peterborough group led by Mrs. G. A. Wood downed Mrs. E. Christian, of Royal Montreal, 13-5.

Havelock Victors

HAVELOCK, Feb. 3—(ENS)—Havelock defeated Campbellford by a score of 3 to 1 in a juvenile hockey game on Wednesday night at the Havelock rink. It was a good clean game. The first goal was scored in the first period by Kemp, of Campbellford. In the second period, Heath, of Havelock, got the first goal for the locals with A. Smith getting the assist. In the third period, the local team scored two goals, Heath getting one unassisted and William Laing one assisted, by his brother James. Two penalties were handed out, both going to Campbellford.

Havelock had J. Southward as goalkeeper, P. Kumpf and K. Vaughan on the defence, William Laing, centre, and B. Pollock and J. Laing on the wings. The following were subs.: G. Bales, A. Smith, W. Cosgrove, G. Heath, J. Thompson.

For Campbellford Ingram was in the goal with Sheppard and Bennett on defence. Other players were: Darken, Ibe, Jeffs, Dunk, Herd, Darrah, Hay, Billings, Reid, Garran and Kemp.

Another game will be played in the league between Campbellford and Hastings before the playoffs begin.

The standing of the teams at present are: Hastings 10 points, Havelock 6, Campbellford 5, Norwood 1.

Bethany Boys Tie

BETHANY, Feb. 3—(ENS)—On Wednesday the Bethany School hockey team journeyed to Mount Pleasant, and the game was a tie of 2-2 with Maurice Driver and Jack Neals getting the Bethany goals. Members of the team are: Keith Sargeson, Maurice Driver, Charles McGill, Allan Bigelow, Reginald Palmer, Levi McGill, Jack Neals, Bobby Ryley and Barrie Smith, with their teacher, Mr. Lawrence Millson, as coach.

Decide Canada Will Get Empire Games

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Feb. 3 — (CP)—The 1954 British Empire games will be held in Canada but the site remains to be decided.

Four cities—Toronto, Vancouver, Montreal and Hamilton — are known to be interested.

The general assembly of the Empire Games Federation awarded the games to Canada at a meeting today.

Maj. Jack Davies of Montreal, manager of the Canadian team at this year's Empire games, said he was delighted in the selection of Canada as host in 1954.

He added it would be at least five months before the Empire Games Association of Canada selected a city.

"It will be necessary to weigh in balance offers from various centres and to see what each is prepared to offer," said Maj. Davies. "But I will say I am strongly opposed to the use of the games as a civic promotion scheme."

Empire Angle

"The site must be decided from an empire angle, and many factors have to be considered, such as the amount of travelling involved for visitors from Commonwealth countries and the facilities for staging the games."

Canada was the only country to apply for the 1954 games.

Different opinions have been expressed as to which of the four Canadian cities should hold the 1954 meet. Some officials say Hamilton, having had the games in 1930, should give the others a chance. Others feel that since they were held in eastern Canada before, this time the west should get them—giving Vancouver the inside track.

Prevalent opinion among Canadian officials here seems to be that Toronto is the best bet.

Canadiens, Injuries and All Bowl Over Rangers 4-1

By JIM BASTABLE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Montreal Canadiens can take injuries in their stride and win hockey games in the bargain.

The Habitants, sporting an assortment of sore muscles and backaches, came up with a 4-1 victory over the fifth place Rangers at Montreal Thursday night in the only National Hockey League game.

The victory gave the Canadiens a firm grip on second place with 52 points, eight behind the leading Detroit Red Wings and three ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Colds, wrenched knees and back injuries may have slowed up stars like Kenny Reardon, Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard, but it didn't stop them from setting up goals for rarin'-to-go teammates—namely big Butch Bouchard, Calum MacKay, Rip Riopelle and Ken Mosdell.

Ruins Shutout

Edgar Laprade ruined ailing netminder Bill Durnan's shutout when he beat him on a hard shot in the first period.

A Montreal Forum crowd of 13,869 saw Canadiens open up the scoring when MacKay tallied in the first period on a perfect pass from Mosdell.

Bouchard's goal—the first for the big defenceman this season — sent Canadiens two up, but Laprade cut the margin before the end of the period.

Montreal scored two goals in the second period. Riopelle got the first on assists from Lach and Richard. Mosdell got the other.

Durnan, backache and all, was called to handle 23 shots against 29 for Chuck Rayner in the New York goal.

Coming Schedule

The Canadiens next see action when they meet the last place Chicago Black Hawks in two weekend games—in Montreal on Saturday and Chicago on Sunday. In another game Saturday, Red Wings will clash with Leafs.

Sunday, the Leafs will meet Boston Bruins and the Rangers will take on Red Wings.

The Leafs will be after their first victory over the Wings on Toronto ice Saturday. So far this season, Red Wings have an overall margin of seven wins and three losses. But the Wings haven't fashioned a victory in their last six starts.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard stepped into a third place tie with Boston's Paul Ronty Thursday night while other top marksmen in the National Hockey League were idle.

The Montreal right winger, pushed out of third place by Ronty last week, was credited with an assist when Canadiens downed New York Rangers 4-1. Richard boasts 26 goals and 17 assists; Ronty's 43 point total is composed of 19 tallies and 24 helpers.

Still leading the field is Detroit's Ted Lindsay who, with 17 goals and 33 assists, is one point up on teammate Sid Abel.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts
Lindsay, Detroit	17	33	50
Abel, Detroit	25	24	49
Richard, Montreal	26	17	43
Ronty, Boston	19	24	43
Howe, Detroit	19	21	40
D. Bentley, Chicago	10	29	39
R. Conacher, Chicago	16	22	38

2 Peterborough Rinks Lose To Oshawa Men

TORONTO, Feb. 3 — (CP) — After some exciting finishes in the playdowns, group winners today contested the semi-finals of the Ontario Curling Association's four major double-rink trophies.

Winners of the sectional playdowns held at Toronto, Oshawa and Kitchener were in quest of the Ontario Tankard, its consolation event the Burden Trophy, and the Governor - General's Trophy and its consolation, the Globe and Mail Cup.

Narrowest victory margin in Thursday's regional finals was the 30-29 win by the Toronto Curling Club's twin rinks over Oshawa, in the Tankard final at Oshawa. N. McNicol, of Toronto, beat Dr. J. Brock, of Oshawa, 20-14, but Bert White, of Oshawa, beat T. S. Graham, of Toronto, 15-10. Graham was eight down to White starting the last end, when the Torontos got two counters and Graham drew in with his final stone to count three, losing his own game by five but giving the Torontos a single point margin on the aggregate.

Semi-Finalists

In the Tankard semi-finals the McNicol-Graham rinks will be accompanied by rinks from Fergus, Orillia and one from Kitchener, where the winner had not been declared at an early hour today.

Fergus, skipped by Mel Dunn and A. E. Henderson, won by 41-19 over Renfrew rinks skipped by T. Fishendon and H. McGill. The Orillia double rink with skips Stan Sarjeant and R. J. Miller rolled up a 40-13 count over Midland's Del Hastings and Dr. C. N. James.

Semi-finalists in the Governor-General's are Elmvale, Chatham, Oshawa and the winners from Kitchener. Chatham's G. Hudson and H. Thompson rinks won by 28-16 over Renfrew's T. L. Cuthbertson and F. G. Dench in one of the regional finals. Oshawa's L. Eviness and Rev. Pereyma won 36-27 over Peterborough's J. O. Brown and F. J. Green.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

New York City 23 years ago today demanded more hockey. The Americans were drawing great crowds and Conn Smythe of Toronto organized another team — the Rangers, who won the Stanley Cup in 1928 and 1940 and the N.H.L. championship in 1928, 1932 and 1942. The Americans never got to the top disbanded in 1942.

Canadian Curlers Give Dinner For Scots

EDINBURGH, Feb. 3 (CP) — Canada's visiting curlers Thursday entertained the Scottish curling fraternity at a luncheon in which the menu was all Canadian.

There were 410 persons at the luncheon—the largest company to eat together in Scotland since the state visit of the King in 1937.

Sir James Denbigh-Roberts, president of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club, told the gathering that because of Britain's dollar shortage it will be three years before Scotland can send a team across the Atlantic to give Canadian curlers an opportunity to win back the Strathcona Cup.

The Canadians lost the cup by 30 shots—830 to 800—in the series of five test matches which ended Wednesday.

Trinity School Whips Pickering College 8-2

PORT HOPE, Feb. 3.—Trinity College School's first hockey team defeated Pickering College Firsts, 8-2 at Newmarket. The match was fast and well played although TCS held a decided edge throughout. Bruce Little, captain of TCS, played well, scoring two unassisted goals and setting up two others.

On Port Hope ice TCS Seconds and Thirds defeated Pickering teams, 6-0 and 8-2 respectively. In basketball, Pickering Firsts beat TCS, 46-41, but the TCS juniors overwhelmed Pickering 40-19.

Gets Highest Score

DAVOS, Switzerland, Feb. 3 — (CP). — Alena Vrzanova of Czechoslovakia, world figure skating queen, Thursday received highest number of points ever scored in a first-class test of the International Skating Union. Out of a possible 198 points on 11 figures, Miss Vrzanova, who succeeded Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa as world champion, registered 179.8.

Hastings Gets First Against Omemee

HASTINGS, Feb. 3 (ENS) — In the first of a two-game series Hastings midgets defeated Omemee 15-4 here, with the return game in Omemee Monday. Hastings had a decided edge in experience, and carried the play most of the night. While the entire team looked good, the line of J. Morrow, W. Dodd and K. Forde were the main cogs in the attack. Dodd was high man with five goals, and four assists, while Morrow with three and four and Forde with three and three were close behind.

Mitchell, Parker and Stevenson looked best for Omemee. James in the nets was very shaky.

Hastings—Goal, D. Montgomery; defence, B. Chambers, B. Orr; centre, J. Morrow; wings, W. Dodd, K. Forde; alternates, W. Fisher, J. Warrington, D. Cordan, D. Fisher, B. Wilson.

Lakefield Midgets Take Puck Series

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 3—(ENS)—The Lakefield midget "C" pucksters eliminated North Hastings 15-3 on their OMHA playdown round here last night, while North Hastings took the bantam "C" series over Lakefield by 8-2 on the round. The first games were played in Bancroft. The bantam score last night was 2-1 for North Hastings, Downs, G. Crosby and Lane doing the scoring with N. Crosby getting an assist.

North Hastings—Goal, Andrews; defence, N. Crosby, Palmateer; centre, McCormack; wings, Caverley, W. Tucker; alternates, Griggs, Lane, Martin, Whitmore, G. Tucker, G. Crosby, Landon, Wiggins, Dafoe.

Lakefield—Goal, R. Wingett; defence, Crapp, McIlmoyle; centre Spencer; wings, Downs, Hill; alternates, Henry, Murphy, McIlwain, Wilford, Heffernan, Darling, Whitney, Dracup, McCracken.

Easy Victory

The midget melee was an easy win for the homesters by a 9-2 tally. Coyle and Wayne each scored twice in the first, Coe having two assists and Twist one. Spencer, Coyle and Henry counted in the second, an assist each going to Pue and Twist. In the third, Pue, Henry, Twist and Heffernan hit the mark, an assist apiece going to Pratt, Todd and Coyle.

North Hastings—Goal, Brown; defence, Jackson, Adams; centre, D. Jacobs; wings, J. Jacobs, Taylor; alternates, Wilson, Severin, Coe, Wanamaker, Tucker, Sprockett, Earnshaw, Wayne.

Lakefield—Goal, K. Wingett; defence, Pratt, Price; centre, Twist; wings, Coyle, Hefernan; alternates, Hunter, Spencer, Todd, Darling, Henry, Brown, Berger, Leonard.

Referee, E. Nicholls; linesman, B. Houle.

Ingrid Bergman Gives Birth To Baby Boy In Italian Clinic

By PHILIP CLARKE.

ROME, Feb. 3 — (AP) — Ingrid Bergman and her blue-eyed baby boy born Thursday night "are doing nicely this morning."

That was the report today from Dr. Pier Luigi Guidotti, who delivered the seven-pound, 14-ounce baby born to the Swedish actress who plans to marry Italian film director Roberto Rossellini when she obtains a divorce from Dr. Peter Lidstrom of Hollywood.

Dr. Guidotti said the birth was "absolutely normal."

The baby "resembles his mother," said Dr. Giuseepe Ferdinandi, director of the Villa Margherita clinic, where the child was born at 7 p.m. (1 p.m. est) Thursday.

Miss Bergman asked for her child 20 minutes after his birth, the doctors said. She smiled happily at the infant as it was placed beside her on the bed.

Both Happy.

"Miss Bergman and Rossellini both were very, very happy," he said.

The clinic announced that the attending doctors administered a pain-killing drug to the actress and that it "was completely effective."

The child is Miss Bergman's second. She has an 11year-old daughter by her estranged husband, Dr Lindstrom, whom she sued for divorce in Juarez, Mexico, last week.

Miss Bergman's baby had been expected early this month, but apparently the arrival came as a surprise. The 34-year-old movie star was driven to the hospital at 3:30 p.m. (9:30 a.m. est) Thursday by Dr. Guidotti.

Rossellini was on location for a new film but arrived in time for the delivery. He recently obtained Italian approval of the Austrian annulment of his previous marriage to Marcella De Marchis.

When Dr. Guidotti left the hospital after an early morning call, he had to thread his way through reporters and photographers.

The clinic director, who Thursday night summoned police to keep reporters out of the hospital said this morning, "now that the news is out, things are much easier."

Rumors Confirmed.

The widely publicized romance of the actress and the 43-year-old Italian director-producer erupted into headlines last spring on the lizard-infested volcanic isle of Stromboli, where they made the movie "Stromboli."

Reports that Miss Bergman was pregnant have been current for several months. Only last week Rossellini angrily refused to confirm or deny them and lashed out at the press for prying into Miss Bergman's private life.

In Hollywood Thursday night Dr. Lindstrom's personal representative said he doubted his client would have anything to say about the report of his wife's son.

A spokesman for Rossellini was quoted her as saying Miss Bergman and the director have agreed to baptize the child and bring him up in the Roman Catholic faith.

Barbara Gratton Leads Girls For Junior Title

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 3 (CP) —True to predicted form, tiny, dark-haired Barbara Gratton, of Toronto, today held a good lead in the junior women's singles, first event on the card of the Canadian Figure Skating championships.

Barbara, the smallest and the second youngest competitor on the ice, still has to compete successfully in the free-skating tonight to clinch the junior title. Sixty per cent of the points are awarded for the compulsory figures in which Barbara led yesterday, and 40 per cent are awarded for the free-skating tonight.

Today the junior men's championships open, with the senior men's and women's titles to be decided Saturday.

Skating after girls as much as four years older than herself, the 13-year-old schoolgirl from Toronto's Loretto Abbey scored 540.1 points of a possible 700 in the junior women's singles. Next was Dawn Steckeley, 15-year-old Oshawa girl, with 534.5.

Barbara earned the right to be considered a potential junior champion when she placed second at Ottawa last year to Maureen Senior, of Toronto. Miss Senior now is competing in the senior event.

Jane Kirby, 16, of Ottawa, took third place with 531.3. Barbara Gratton's 14-year-old sister Elizabeth was fourth with 528.4.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A Noranda, Que., hockey referee has an idea that would brighten the lives of his unloved brethren. It would also brighten the already colorful surface of every rink in Canada.

Len Howard's suggestion, forwarded to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association by Carl Palangio, of North Bay, referee in chief of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, would take one of the occupational hazards out of a referee's life.

Howard proposes a new set of face-off circles, five feet in diameter, to make opposing centres keep their distance while the official drops the puck. The present 20-foot circle keeps other forwards and defencemen from horning in on the act.

In Toronto, W. A. Hewitt, CAHA registrar, said the association will consider Howard's proposal.

The propeller and shaft trouble which dogged Miss Canada IV last summer will be checked by Rolls Royce engineers in England, Harold Wilson, the powerboat's owner-driver announced Thursday night.

He will leave for the United Kingdom by air Saturday to confer with company officials. The propeller was shipped to England last month for tests.

Wilson also plans to see Don Campbell, who may pilot a British entry in this year's Harmsworth Trophy races on the Detroit river. Campbell is the son of the late Sir Malcolm, holder of several water and land speed records.

At present Miss Canada IV is the lone official challenger for the trophy held by the United States.

Coach Murph Chamberlain was ejected from the rink at Sydney Thursday night after a run-in with a referee in the last five minutes of a Cape Breton Junior Hockey League playoff game which his Sydney Millionaires won 8-4 from North Sydney Victorias.

The former Montreal Canadien National League forward was escorted out by league president Stewart MacLeod at referee Larry Dobranski's request.

The Toronto Globe and Mail today came out with a new sports-page columnist, drafting from its own editorial ranks genial, six-foot Bruce West to take over the column vacated by Jim Coleman.

West, native of Huntsville, Ont., has been with the Globe for 18 years, since before the purchase of the old Mail and Empire when the newspaper became the Globe and Mail. About 40, he is married with two children.

At Los Angeles, Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh Pirates' home run king, was signed Thursday to a two-year contract at $65,000 a year. General manager Roy Hamey made the announcement at the conclusion of a brief conference with the 27-year-old Kiner, who hit 54 home runs—six behind Babe Ruth's all time mark—last season.

Tulsa's United States Hockey League club has been assigned Marcel Clements, promising young amateur player, by Boston of the National League, the Tulsa club announced Thursday.

Clements, 20-year-old, six-foot 180 pound left winger, will join the Oilers Sunday in Kansas City for a three game trial. He has been playing with the Oshawa

A total of 160 teen-aged players have entered the Quebec Junior Badminton championships which will be held here next Saturday and Sunday, it was announced Thursday night.

Fred M. Saigh, president of St. Louis Cardinals, said Thursday he will protest to baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler the signing of Paul Pettit, 18-year-old high school boy, by Pittsburgh Pirates for a reported $100,000 bonus. Saigh in a statement described the action of the Pittsburgh club as an "outrageous evasion" of the baseball bonus and high school rule.

Kingston Nylons Trounce Gananoque 11-4

KINGSTON, Feb. 3. — Nylons ran their winning streak to 10 Wednesday night in the Harty Arena when they drubbed the lowly Gananoque team 11-4.

The visitors, using the services of only five alternates against Nylons' eight and lacking the winning incentive, were overmatched in this joust against the hottest team in the OHA Senior "B" group, but they tried hard with what they had.

Goalkeeper Jack Stone, who filled in for Glyn Udall, was the only member of the winners who did not figure in the scoring summary, the points being well distributed among 13 attackers Roy Hawkins, Kenny Partis and Harrison, each with three points, were the pace-setters, while Neil McCarney, who scored twice, was outstanding for the Gans.

WATER STRIKE. — To water-short New Yorkers the finding of a new water supply is cause of rejoicing. Here, officials of the Ambassador Hotel are all smiles as they watch workers tap an old, unused well in the hotel's basement. The spring was used by a brewery once located on the site.

Advertising Aids In Keeping Prices Lower

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor

Not many people quarrel with the slogan "it pays to advertise," but like any other generally-accepted proposition it can stand re-stating now and then.

It was among the things discussed by the Canadian Retail Federation in their three-day conference this week, with Charles A. Massey, president of Lever Brothers, Ltd., Toronto, big soap manufacturers, doing the "re-stating."

"There is," he said, "a school of thought that looks upon advertising as an unnecessary expense that merely adds to the consumer cost of goods.

"Advertising is anything but an added expense to the consumer. It is rather the most economical means yet discovered on broadening the demand for a product thereby making possible, through mass production methods, substantial economies in production costs. These economies are passed along to consumers in the form of lower prices.

Advertising Helps

"We have found in our business that advertising has given us a more stable demand for our products which we can forecast very accurately, and so our factories have been able to plan and maintain a uniform flow of production. This has a profound influence on our ability to produce goods cheaply.

"We have also found that in the long run advertising has tended to increase the demand for the products of industry as a whole, as well as for the individually branded lines.

"Advertising also reduces the other component costs of distribution. Our experience has been that a product in public demand can be sold more cheaply because wholesalers and retailers are more ready to stock it."

Mr. Massey said that one of the cardinal rules of the successful advertiser is to mistrust his own opinion when it comes to deciding what the public wants.

It is much safer and cheaper in the long run, he stated, to seek the correct answer to these problems with the aid of modern scientific consumer research.

PASTURIZED MILK

It is estimated that about 65 per cent of the milk in Canada is pasteurized for human consumption.

Radioactivity In Lungs Detected In New Tests

By GEORGE KITCHEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(CP)—The United States is undertaking the biggest-breath-sampling test since prohibition. The work is being done by the United States Bureau of Standards — and is strictly non-alcoholic. It's radio active. Using a gallon-sized brass chamber so sensitive that it can detect radioactivity which doesn't even register on a Geiger counter, the Bureau is sampling the breath of scores of radium workers throughout the United States to protect their health. health.

After the First World War, a number of employees in plants manufacturing radium dials for watches and aircraft died from the effects of inhaling radioactive particles. There was no effective means of determining radioactivity and human tolerance to it.

Now, in the Bureau's Radon testing laboratory here, six men and 27 of the Brass Radon Ionization Chambers are getting the answers and sending them out daily to industry, State Health Departments and military establishments.

The project, aside from its research value, is largely an industrial health aid. Similar testing laboratories have been established in private business, but virtually all health authorities look to the bureau's work for the right answers.

In one of the Bureau's many rooms there are rows of what appear to be stunted milk cans. Some are flasks of human breath. Other flasks contain air samples taken from rooms where workers spend their day on some phase of radium work.

The radium worker, in breathing, inhales tiny air particles of radioactive material. When the particle, often too small to see, reaches the lungs, it begins to emit radon gas. The life of the gas itself is short, but the particle remains in the lung. The danger is that day-to-day inhalation will cause illness.

When breath-testing day comes in a plant, selected workers inflate a ballon. The air then is fed in to a vacuum-flask and shipped to the laboratory. There, the breath is started through a process, the principal phase of which is the ionization chamber.

Farnham Camp Ruled Surplus

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 — (CP). — The Army's summer camp at Farnham, Que., has been declared surplus and turned over to the new Surplus Assets Disposal Corporation.

At the same time it was learned that RCMP are continuing investigations into the theft of items valued at $3,500 from the camp.

A corporation official said on Thursday that the camp, built 10 years ago, has been put up for sale by the government agency established at the last session of Parliament to replace the old War Assets Corporation.

Two civilian caretakers are under suspension in connection with the thefts at the camp 40 miles east of Montreal. Findings of a military court of inquiry held into the thefts were forwarded to Ottawa by Quebec Army Command last month. Names of the two men have never been disclosed.

Cattle Prices Steady During Week

TORONTO, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Cattle prices were steady to strong at the Ontario Stockyards this week, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today. Hogs, calves, lambs and sheep were steady.

Cattle receipts were 6,112 head. After an unsettled early trade, the domestic and export demand proved sufficient to clear the supply at steady to strong prices.

Medium to good weighty light steers sold at $21-$23.50, with a few choice at $24. Good light steers sold at $21-$22.50 and good heifers were $20.50-$21 with a few at $21.50. Common light steers and heifers sold downward to $17. Good cows were $15.75-$16.50. Canners and cutters ranged from $11-$13.50. Good export bulls were $18-$19. Fed yearlings were mostly $21-$24 a hundredweight with tops at $25. A few picked stockers sold at $18.50-$20 and common stockers sold as low as $15.

Calves totalled 1,281 head. Prices were steady at $29-$31 for choice vealers with common to medium grades from $17-$27. Grassers and heavy calves sold for slaughter at $14.50-$16 a hundredweight.

Hogs totalled 3,011 head. The prices held steady at $26.50 for Grade A, off trucks. Sows were mostly $15 dressed.

Sheep and lambs were only 339 head. Good feed-lot lambs brought $26 with a few culls and bucks from $18-$25. Good light sheep were $11-$13.

Ottawa Wins Debate

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 3 (CP)—University of Ottawa Thursday night won an Intercollegiate League debating match from the University of Western Ontario, taking the negative side of the topic, "resolved that Canada's liberty would be endangered by a welfare state." The Ottawa team was Kevin Mooney and Don Ryan, while Leo Vamplew and Sinclair Stevens, both of London, represented Western.

ARRIVED AT MONTREAL AIRPORT this week are the two airmen who were expelled from Prague. Left to right are, Cpl. Gaston Vanier, Sgt. Reginald Danko, Mrs. Dango, and their two children, Ralph and Brian. The fliers were ordered to leave by Czech authorities who charged them with espionage. They were flown to Ottawa by an RCAF Dakota a short time after their arrival in Montreal.

Name Oliver White Senior Dairy Grader

STRATFORD, Feb. 3 (AP) — The Federal Department of Agriculture has promoted Oliver H. J. White of Toronto to the position of senior dairy produce grader for the Province of Ontario with headquarters in Toronto, it was learned here today.

Mr. White, a native of Stratford and long a prominent figure in the dairy industry, will devote all his time to supervising inspection service for dairy products and for butter grading throughout Ontario.

He has been in charge of the Toronto office of the dairy products division, marketing service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, since 1946.

Co-incident with Mr. White's promotion, headquarters of the service has been transferred from Ottawa to Toronto.

Formal Wedding Appeals To Young Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3 (AP) — The organ started humming "Here Comes The Bride."

Elizabeth Taylor clutched the arm of her father, smoothed the front of her wedding gown and paced down the church aisle to take a husband—for a movie of course.

"Well, I finally made it," giggled the young star, who had two widely-publicized near-misses at matrimony.

The wedding (to Don Taylor) is the climax of the picture, "Father Of The Bride." Actually, it is the second film wedding for Elizabeth, who married Robert Taylor in "The Conspirator." But that one wasn't as fancy.

The Great Moment

"This is how I want my wedding to be," she remarked, gazing at flower-decked church. There were six ushers in cutaways and six bridesmaids in frilly gowns.

"I think every girl wants to have a big, formal wedding," she said. "It's the greatest moment of her life.

"I think there's something sneaky about elopements. When people steal off to get married they make it seem as though they're doing something wrong.

How Can You Tell

When is her real wedding to take place? I mentioned printed statements that she would not marry for a few years, but would devote the time to a career.

"I never said that," she corrected. "It would be silly for anyone to say when they thought they'd get married. How can you tell?

Added information: On the 27th of this month, Miss Taylor turns 18, a highly marriageable age.

PLOUGHING IN JANUARY is a rare spectacle but it has been accomplished this year by a few farmers in this part of Ontario. The picture shows Kester Winters of Owenbrook ploughing on the farm of Arthur Winters at Glen Alda in the north eastern tip of Peterborough County, Chandos Twp.

Shamattawatamoose Proves Big Attraction As Trappers Frolic In Northern Ontario

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 3 (CP)—Now comes the Shamattawatamoose, to join the Ogopogo sea serpent and other fabled denizens of Canada's West.

It's a weird animal currently a big attraction at the trappers' festival, northern Manitoba's annual fur fair and frolic.

Despite unkind allegations that the carnival display is a product of some squaw's knitting needles, the Shamattawatamoose poses a problem for visitors.

The object looks a little like an am-phibious, misshapen moose. It has a horn in front and one behind, long flat feet and patches of white fur over its eyes.

Some spectators suggest the Shamattawa Indians, who brought in the Shamattawatamoose, may not be lacking in funny bones.

However, the ice worms turned out to be real.

Fetch the Shamattawatamoose rifle, son. We may be goin' shootin'!"

W. H. Peryer, Bandmaster For Forty Years Retires

"The desire of Capt. W. H. Peryer to continue his association with our Citizens' Band after retiring from its leadership is a very fine gesture, and is evidence of his warm personality and of the good relations which he has fostered within the band."

That tribute was expressed today by Ald. Hurrell Dodds who had been active in the organization of the band three years ago. "Captain Peryer was not content to hand over the baton to his successor Wallace Parnell," said Ald. Dodds. "He wished to remain with the band as cornetist and further in an advisory way. No one would have criticized him if he had retired to the side lines on the advice of his physician, but his sincere interest prompted him to stay on as actively as he can. We are all appreciative of that quality of co-operative sentiment and also of the genuine personality of Capt. Peryer. That kind of example should be a real asset to the spirit of the band, because what Capt. Peryer has done is not to drop out of things, but to stay with us and help in any way he can."

Became Civilian Band

Ald. Dodds said that changes in the militia establishment here after the war set the regimental band adrift. It was then faced with dissolution, but the members generally wished to continue their association in music, and the city council of that year considered that Peterborough should not be left without a band. Ald. Dodds was appointed to consult with the bandsmen, and it was then suggested that they should change to civilian status. That was the manner and circumstances of the transfer with Capt Peryer as director. He has been a bandmaster in Peterborough since 1909 when he came from Cleveland, Ohio, to assume the leadership of the Salvation Army Band.

Forty years of responsibility for the bands which have responded to his baton, for their harmony in spirit and tone, gradually bore upon the sturdy shoulders of Capt. Peryer, and at the beginning of this year he decided to leave the podium for someone else.

Toured Britain

Capt. Peryer was bandmaster of Peterborough Salvation Army Band in their tour of Britain in 1914. It has often been recalled that the band was to have crossed from Canada on the Empress of Ireland which was lost at sea with all her passengers and crew. The band had subsequently booked passage on the following boat, and made a memorable tour of the Old Country.

About a year after hostilities broke out, he enlisted in 1915 and headed the 59th Battalion band overseas. All of its members were Peterborough boys. For the next four and a half years, the band was kept intact. King George V personally congratulated Mr Peryer on the abilities of his band.

Returning to Peterborough in 1920, he was still bandmaster of the same band, although its name had been changed to the Great War Veterans' Association Band. It is interesting to note that, while Mr. Peryer led many bands in Peterborough, the service bands were essentially the same bands, changing in name only as the name of the Peterborough Regiment changed. Included in these bands were the 4th Machine Gun Battalion, Peterborough Rangers, Prince of Wales Rangers and the present organization, the Citizens' Band.

Mr. Peryer holds the army rank of Captain, Director of Music and is vice-president of the Canadian Band Association. A son, Stan V Peryer is band sergeant with the Royal Canadian Artillery Band at Camp Shilo, Manitoba.

Apart from his long service as bandmaster here, Mr Peryer took a keen interest in playing with the orchestra at the Grand Opera House 30 years ago as a trumpeter.

However, he considers his personal instrument the cornet.

Mrs. Jordan has been a resident of Peterborough since coming from England. She was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

Surviving are 12 children, John and Patrick of Peterborough, Edward and Francis of Toronto and Joseph of Rochester, Mrs. R. Sutherland (Mary), Mrs. E. Alconbrac (Marie), Mrs. Fred Montgomery (Beatrice), Mrs. G. McPhee (Margaret), all of Toronto, Mrs. James Curran (Kathleen) of Rochester, Mrs. James Moher (Elizabeth) and Mrs. H. Keith (Annie) of Peterborough.

Funeral will be held at St. Peter's Cathedral at 9 a.m. Saturday from the Anglesey funeral home. Interment will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

126 On Relief Year's Welfare Rose By $7,000

Peterborough Department of Welfare had 126 persons on its relief rolls during 1949, A. G. Metheral, welfare officer, said in his annual report to the City Council. Of the 126 on relief, 19 were totally chargeable to the city, 74 received assistance because of illness or age, 18 because of desertion of the head of the family, 10 because of imprisonment of the head of the family, three while waiting for the old-age pension. Two were unmarried mothers. The department investigated 242 cases during the year.

Ex-patients, numbering 17, from sanatoria, including two charged to the city from other places, received post-sanatorium care. Total after-care cost for the cases was $3,650.79. Four Peterborough people were recommended to receive free insulin, and a total of 22 persons received free insulin chargeable to the city at 25 per cent.

Total welfare expenses for 1949 were $50,818.78, compared with 1948's $43,737.75. The total for 1947 was $32,088.50. After Government grants, the actual cost to the city during the year was $32,350.37, as compared with $27,239.91 in 1948 and $19,278.76 in 1947.

Contributions of the province, 50 per cent. shareable on relief, reached $17,400.96 for the year.

The cost of food for the distribution to those on relief cost $21,428.03 in 1949. Other large items were: shelter, $5,73970; fuel, $4,909.37; sanatoria after-care, $3,650.79; clothing, $1,600.32; doctors' fees, $1,268.68.

The department investigated 238 hospital cases during the year resulting in 189 admissions and 49 refusals. Of the 189 admissions, 70 were to the Civic Hospital, 66 to St. Joseph's Hospital and 53 to outside hospitals (24 to sanatoria, 10 to provincial hospitals and 19 to other hospitals).

Total cost of the hospitalization in the Civic and St. Joseph's Hospitals was $12,532.45, of which $1,615.05 was for relief recipients and the balance for indigent residents. Collections amounted to $794.04, leaving a net cost to the city of $11,738.41, a decrease of $48.47 from 1948.

Mr. Metheral said that the municipality paid for 21 patients in outside hospitals, including five in the Ontario Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Total hospitalization costs for 1949 were $13,613.24, a decrease of $780.79 from 1948's figures.

Dog Hits; Wrist Broken

Mrs. Gordon Niblett, 593 Aylmer St., fractured her wrist when a dog knocked her down as she walked out of the house Thursday. She was taken to Civic Hospital for treatment.

TO MAKE REPORT

A committee of four, F. J. Hickey, John R. Marshall, A. E. Borland and William Graft, was appointed by the Library Board to report at the next meeting on the establishing of a library branch in the proposed civic building in the south end. The city hopes to have the building house a sub-fire station, a sub-police station, a branch library and a branch of the department of health.

JAMES HALSEY

Pedestrian Hit Crossing Street

Sixty-year-old James Halsey was knocked down by a car and suffered a possible fractured skull and lacerations of the head Thursday night on Charlotte St. west of Aylmer St.

He was rushed by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital where officials said today his condition was fair.

Driver of the car was Norman Booth, 50 Jackson Ave. The accident occurred as Halsey was walking across Charlotte St. from the south to the north side.

Constable M. D. Traynor reported that Booth said he saw Halsey start to walk across the street and then stop when he blew his horn. However, Booth said, as the car was quite near the elderly man he started walking again and walked into the car.

Booth's car was taken by police to be checked. There were no marks on the car to indicate what part had hit Halsey, but Booth said the left front corner of the car collided with the old man.

Driver Charged

The car driver, 22-year-old Norman Booth, 50 Jackson Ave., was charged today in police court with careless driving and not having adequate brakes on his car. He pleaded not guilty to both charges and was remanded on $500 bail until Thursday.

Need More Snow To Have Skiing

Skiing in the Peterborough area this week-end will be left to those who like to live dangerously." At noon today there was only two inches of old snow with a light fluffy layer of new snow Skiing will be poor even on the slopes with grassy bases.

Discouraged by the lack of snow the local Ski Club met Thursday night to make plans for the Southern Ontario Zone meet scheduled at Bethany and Kempt's hill February 11 and 12. A decision will be made Tuesday whether the meet will be held or not. A four-way meet, the skiers will see action in the cross-country event Saturday morning at Kempt's Hill and the jumping events in the afternoon Sunday the downhill and slalom events will be held at Bethany.

Big Wolf Hunt Plan Change Needed At Once

By NICK NICKELS

Some very interesting information has come to light on the eve of the large mass military-civilian wolf hunt to be on Saturday between Mount Julian and the north-east perimeter boundary of Eel's Brook.

National Film Board director Jean Marie Couture and Game Wardens Robert Trotter and Ray Simpson spent Thursday walking over and around the designated district. They found snow-track evidence of three small wolf packs which are using three beaten runways at the Brook boundary. This sound very encouraging indeed.

Mr. Couture went on the expedition to visualize the lay of the land so that he could plan his film script and prepare a shooting schedule for his cameraman Wally Sutton who arrives in Peterborough today. He picked good guides in crack woodsmen, who know that country better than most, The two game wardens, after a 12-mile hike saw that the hunt, in order to be a success, would have to be subject to an overnight change of plans on the part of the directing body of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association and personnel of the 50th HAA Regiment who are co-operating on the hunt.

First Plan

They examined the first plan which was explained by director Norman Bradley of PFGPA. It was briefly this. The firing line was to be deployed along the western edge of the triangular 12 square-mile section and beaters and the advancing line of hunters would start at the eastern and northern Brook boundaries and converge to the firing line. This, officials thought, would flush varmints and drive them to the shooters who would finish them off.

After Thursday's examination of signs of game, their habits and the nature of the area, Simpson and Trotter were convinced that the above original plans would have to be entirely reversed to ensure any success.

Wolves Would Backtrack

In the first place, wolves already in that area only go into it for the running of small game. Their real food is deer. Where wolves cause destruction is in the Eel's Brook Game Preserve which is out of bounds to guns. Any attempt, say Thursday's observers, to drive from east-north to a western firing line would alert wolves to by-pass the beater line of hunters and make their way back into the sanctuary of the preserve through the three existing runways they are now using.

With this knowledge in mind the new expert suggestions is that the firing line of hunters should drive from the Peterborough starting point to Crowe's Landing on Stony Lake and cross the lake on foot (the ice is not safe for cars) to and along the west side of Eel's Brook about as far as High Falls. The rest of the body could drive Highway 28 to the original rendezvous on the Mount Julian Road.

It is unfortunate that this logical reasoning has come to light so close to the Big Day but at least the possible solution toward a successful hunt is offered, in good faith, by these two independent observers for what it is worth. And there is still time to change.

Unfortunately also, Norman Bradley is out of town until tonight and Sgt.-Major William Pushie, who was to head the military, has been directed to duty in Halifax; it means that after all his work on the hunt he will not be able to attend. It is believed that Sgt. B. L. Smith will carry on in his place.

This worthy effort can be either fumbled or made to go over the top. It will be a reflection on the Peterborough district which ever way it goes. It is still not too late to make it a success.

Saw Friends Lined Up, Shot Many Others Were Tortured

After years of unhappiness under German occupation and more recently suffering from ill treatment during the guerrilla warfare in her native Greece, Mrs. Angeline Houpes arrived in Peterborough this week. Two years ago she met a U.S. naval officer in Greece and she waited until last Saturday for her wedding, in Toronto.

Mrs. Houpes has been waiting for permission to live in the U.S but owing to strict quota regulation she still has to aw it permission from the U.S. government. After spending a few days in Toronto after her wedding, she came to Peterborough as the guest of Mrs. William Coros, whose husband is proprietor of the Churchill restaurant. Her husband, who is a cousin of Mrs. Coros, returned to the States and is now seeking permission for entry of his wife.

Travelling to Canada via New York, Mrs. Houpes saw, for the first time, a world of molern industrialization. "It is wonderful to see everyone working for a living instead of living in the poverty that occupation and war have brought to Greece," is Mrs. Houpes' first reaction.

Mrs. Houpes has witnessed many atrocities which she says are too terrible to describe. During the German occupation she saw a group of friends lined up and shot by machine gun because of a discovery of underground activities.

Many of her friends were taken away from their homes by guerrillas, supposedly for trial, but from the stories of the few who returned, she learnt that they had been brutally tortured.

When the guerrillas were approaching her home in Corinth, Mrs. Houpes moved, with her family, to the safety of Athens. On the family's return, the house was found stripped of everything.

During the war many Greek people lost their money, which was confiscated by the enemy. The subsequent ransacking of homes and farms has left them destitute with neither homes nor money to rebuild.

Unable to speak English, Mrs. Houpes is only able to tell her story by means of an interpreter Mrs. Coros, who left Greece 20 years ago still has excellent command of her native tongue.

City Auditor Humpage Hopeful of Surplus In City Treasury for 1949

Peterborough's financial statement for 1949 appears to be taking more favorable form than it presented a month or two before the end of the year, City Auditor Edward Humpage told the Examiner today.

Prospect of a deficit is becoming less in the present balancing of the books by City Treasurer A. S. Couper and Mr Humpage.

"We don't want to be too optimistic," Mr. Humpage said, "but we expect to have a report for the council by the middle of next week which may close the financing of 1949 possibly on the right side of the ledger."

Weeks ago, Mayor Swanston was gloomily predicting a deficit of something close to a mill, and around $30,000 to $35,000. An appeal was made to department chairmen and heads to cut down on their final spending for 1949.

"I think they have accomplished something," Mr. Humpage said today. "One of the departments that did not expend all their appropriation was the Recreation Commission. There has also been an improvement in the requirements for the latter part of 1949 for the new Civic Hospital, and so on."

Mr. Humpage said the present accounting is for the year's total expenditure of more than $1,500,000. It was one of the peak years of expansion in the history of Peterborough entailing a great deal of new work to keep pace with the extension of residential areas.

Three Break-ins, Police Hold Two Youths

Three breakins were reported to police today, but only $3 in cash and about six packages of cigarettes were taken.

The loot was lifted from McWilliams Service Station, on the Chemong Highway at Wolsley St.

Two youths, Francis Peek, 21, Peterborough, and Norman Wood 19, no fixed address, were today charged in police court with breaking, entry and attempted theft from Withers and Baird service station on Park St. at Murray St.

Early Morning Take

The young men were intercepted about four a.m. today near the service station, by Sergeant Percy Sexsmith and Traffic Officer Claire McGillen.

A pane of glass had been broken in a door at the rear of the service station. Apparently nothing was missing.

The Quaker Oats clubhouse north of Hunter St. bridge, was broken into and the building ransacked. The whole window frame of a rear window had been smashed in. Some of the furniture was broken and the whole interior was in a shambles. As far as is known, nothing was taken.

At McWilliams service station, entry was made through a broken back window.

Wants Records To Circulate From Library

A small collection of 250 records has been built up in the past three years at the Public Library, William Graff reported to the Library Board Thursday. To date, he said, the records have been used for the library's record concerts, by the juvenile department and a few groups in the community on special requests.

Mr. Graff explained that many requests had been received for the establishment of a circulating collection, operated on the same lines as other libraries in the province. He added that this library is the only one in a city this size in the province that doesn't provide the service. As an example, he said one city of a population of 20,000 has a collection of 1,200 records. The records are rented at a daily charge of two cents and revenue from the rentals permits the collection's growth.

Annual Meeting of Peterborough Federation Tuesday, Feb. 14 At Noon Luncheon — Albert Seiling Of Elmira, Speaker To Peterborough Poultrymen, A Versatile Farmer — Wins Coveted Honor At Holstein Convention

Albert Seiling, Elmira, recent speaker at a meeting of Peterborough district poultrymen, was presented with a Master Breeder Shield at the convention of the Canadian Hostein-Friesian Association in Toronto Wednesday.

The presentation was made by Carl Wooster, Union Hill, N Y past president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America Mr. Seiling becomes one of the forty Holstein breeders in Canada receiving this award since it was established in 1930 Study of genetics has paid off for Mr Seiling in both poultry and Holsteins. He has a good Aberdeen-Angus herd and an outstanding kennel of beagles that have been winners at field trials.

Mr. Wooster mentioned the humble beginning of Mr. Seiling in the chicken business 30 years ago. His first investment was with an incubator in the corner of his bedroom. He has now one of the most successful poultry farms in Ontario.

When he went into Holstein cattle he leased Montvic Rag Apple Pietje from T. R Dent of Woodstock as herdsire. It was followed by Silver Acres King Abbekerk Pabst, a double grandson of the noted "Peneral Posch"

"The Seiling herd," said Mr. Wooster, "was thereby built on Rag Apple-Posch families."

"I learned to farm by living among good farmers," was a tribute to the Seiling community of Elmira as quoted by Mr. Wooster: also this axiom of experience "To have champion milk producers you have to breed it into them and feed it out of them".

One of the Seiling cows that helped build up the reputation of Albert Seiling was his Rag Apple Achilles Daisy, world champion for both milk and fat in senior three year old class on three times time a day milking. Her yearly record was 30,030 lbs, milk containing 1,117 lbs. of fat.

James R. Henderson, Holstein judge at Peterborough Exhibition last year, was one of the breeders receiving superior and long-time production certificates. His aged cow "Supreme Ruby Echo" has a life time record in twelve lactations on twice-a-day milking of 220,855 lbs. of milk containing 7694 lbs. fat, average test 3.46% butterfat.

A. W. Peterson, assistant director of production service, federal Department of Agriculture, presenting the certificate, said the "Ruby" production was a world record for milk and fat on twice-a-day milking.

The convention authorized their directors to consider an amendment for submission next year stressing production of dams in registration of bulls.

It was recommended that no bull calf be accepted for registration from a dam that had not qualified in R. O. P., excepting a first calf heifer whose own dam had an official record of production at least 20% more than qualifying requirement on twice-a-day milking, or 40% n twice a day.

Another exception was in the case of a dam grading very good gold medal or excellent in advanced registration. This proposed amendment, W. Ray Wilson president, said, would be another forward step for the improvement of the Holstein breed in Canada

FEDERATION ANNUAL FEB. 14

R. A. Stewart of Almonte, vice-president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, will be the speaker at the luncheon meeting of Peteborough Federation Tues. Feb. 14 at the Empress Hotel. He is a former president of the provincial association.

W. W Dawson, president of the Peterborough county branch, said he had received today confirmation of Mr. Stweart's acceptance The luncheon will be the occasion of the annual business of the county Federation. Incidentally this is Valentine Day and should bring out a large representation of the distaff side of Peterborough Federation. Members are reminded of this opportunity of having their wives as guests.

Election of officers and review of the year are details of the business which should bring out a big attendance.

✦ ✦ ✦

ENDING SUBSIDIES

The British Government has announced the ending of subsidies on feedstuffs and fertilizers, and of the ploughing-up grant. This action will reduce Government spending by between £45 and £50 million. The feedstuffs subsidy of about £27 million ends in February; the fertilizer subsidy of £13 million annually is due to end in June; and the ploughing-up grant of £6.5 million ended December 31.

✦ ✦ ✦

U. K. FARM OUTPUT

Net agricultural output of British agriculture for 1949 is estimated to be 135 per cent of pre-war level. The 1946-47 output was 123 per cent of pre-war level. The objective for 1952-53 is fixed at 150 per cent.

✦ ✦ ✦

U. K. EGG IMPORTS

Under a recent trade agreement Denmark will deliver to Britain 85 per cent of her surplus eggs at prices fixed for each season of 1950. The average price for the year will depend on the quantity delivered, but will, be lower than that fixed for 1948-49. It is expected that a greater quantity will be supplied in 1949-50 than under the previous contract.

✦ ✦ ✦

TAXES TAKE TWO-THIRDS

Government taxes skimmed two-thirds of each successful bid at the "world record" Bargower Ayrshire sale in Scotland, as related in the Canadian Ayrshire Review.

'Bargower Crown Diamond" sold for 9,000 guineas and the herd average was £2,796 for 22 head. Total proceeds was £61,500.

The Review reproduced an article on the sale written by Alex Yeaman in Farming News of Scotland. It began on this sardonic note: 'Every time a catalogue waved a successful bid at Bargower, two-thirds of the money offered was getting ready to fly away to buy wigs for the bald in Bridgeton, or unwanted road rollers for the peanut area of Tanganyika.

That, one supposes, is what the Minister means by injecting new capital into agriculture.

But let me explain the riddle. Bertie Drummond at the end of Saturday's historic Ayrshire sale has acquired £61,500—on paper. Mr. Drummond will tell you that he's really breeding these great "milk-line" bulls for nothing

How much of the money involved in each transaction will ultimately disappear in tax? Less than half?" the writer asked the owner.

"Much more. You will be nearer the truth by saying that nearly two-thirds of each successful bid are eaten up by the tax"

It is disconcerting information —something the people who talk easily about a wealthy and spoon-fed farming industry don't know anything about.

That little calf on Saturday realized something like 3,000 guineas and not 9,000, and the remarkable average of £2,796 for 22 head was worth little more than £932 after all."

(Note—The English pound is 20 shillings and the guinea 21 shillings.)

DIET OF CANADIANS

Forum subject for Monday, Feb. is "Are Canadians Well Fed?"... answer will probably be "yes" with some reservations.

The Guide says surveys indicate that from 30 to 40 per cent of the people of Canada use "little or no milk". That estimate suggests the extent of the selling job that beckons to the advertising of the milk industry, producer and processor.

Citrus fruits or tomatoes are used regularly in only about half the homes of this country, and other fruit such as apples, bananas, peaches, etc., are neglected by one-third of the people. Potatoes are eaten once a day by nearly all Canadians, and twice a day by many. Half the people do not eat two vegetables daily in addition to potatoes.

Whole grain breakfast cereal is used in half the Canadian homes, but is neglected in the rest. Most of the bread is white. The Guide says meat, fish or eggs are found twice a day in most diets. Hence, the supply is adequate. To reduced some of the food surpluses use more: milk, honey, whole wheat bread, cheese, apples.

✦ ✦ ✦

SUGGESTS SOIL NEGLECT

"If farmers had given as much attention to soils as to boosting milk production of cattle, harvests would have increased 50 per cent in the last 15 years."

That assertion was made by Dr. F. Stinson of OAC in a talk at Ridgetown Farmers' Week.

"The physical condition of the soil is just as important as the chemical. In many areas of this district organic components have disappeared to the extent that the land has become like cement. Ideal soil should be 50 per cent soil material, 25 per cent water and 25 per cent air."

Frank C. Paterson returns to the subject that is probably at the top of his list of recommendations, in season and out, concluding a circular letter he has been sending out this week: "Good soil, plenty of legumes and grasses, good use of manure and adequate commercial fertilizer are all important items in building soil fertility, producing big yields of good feed per acre and lowering the cost of production of meat or milk...Barley and oats mixed—50 pounds each—of good clean seed will produce more livestock feed than either barley or oats sown separately. Varieties ripening about the same time should be used. Hay and pasture crops require attention in the program of live stock production and are highly important in improving fertility, in increasing organic matter in soils and reducing erosion. Clovers and grass seeds are in keen demand and high in price. Your requirements should be secured soon, or you may not get what you need."

ONTARIO PLOWMEN MEET

Dr. H. J. Barre, head of the agricultural engineering department of Purdue University, Lafeyette, Ind., will be one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Ontario Plowmen's Association in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, Feb. 6 and 7.

V. C. Porteous, president, says: "We are happy Dr. Barre is coming because we believe a serious building program confronts Ontario farmers. The price that could be obtained for many farms today would little more than replace the buildings, and in less favored locations might not do that. Large expensive barns may have been justified when they were built, but systems of agriculture are changing, and the speed of mechanizing agriculture must be taken into account. We wonder, too, if types of buildings could be recommended which would reduce labor and permit use of more power in the barns and stables. We hope Dr. Barre will throw some light on this subject."

✦ ✦ ✦

HELPFUL EGG PRICE

G. A. Brethen, Norwood, sends an appreciative comment on the official action of providing an emergency cushion for the poultry and egg industry.

"The government floor price for eggs as recently announced is very close to the price we have been advocating.

We are pleased the government quoted prices on the basis of the local grading station as suggested prices at Montreal, etc., were misleading in not disclosing what price the farmer actually received.

At the floor price announced, 32c grade "A" large, at grading stations, it actually means an increase of seven cents a dozen over the 25c price the day prior to the announcement.

We are pleased that the government in the face of a present, but, as everyone realized, a temporary situation, decided to ignore floor prices which were too low for encouraging Canadian shipment, and have taken steps in a big way which will not only relieve the present situation immediately, but should assist the consumer also by bringing greater supplies on the market later."

✦ ✦ ✦

RATIONS AND BUTTER FAT

Ernie McWilliam of Dewart Milling Co. contributes the following article on the qeustion of feed rations affecting the fat content of milk.

"Recently the Milk Producers' Association have taken steps to control the marketing of fluid milk through regular channels by enforcing the regulation on the fat content of milk that is sold.

All quota milk must contain a minimum of 3.25 fat. This milk is purchased at the price of $4 per cwt. on the basis of 3.4 fat. All milk failing to measure up to the minimum requirement is purchased as "off quota" milk and at the manufactured milk price.'

The difference in price of these articles make a considerable difference to the producers income and may seriously effect many local producers.

There have been many suggestions brought forward as to how the fat content in milk can be increased and it is the intention of this article to clear up some of the misunderstanding on this subject.

If a cow receives sufficient nutrients to maintain her body weight and if her ration contains the standard amount of fat, the percentage of fat in her milk cannot be increased markedly for a reasonable length of time by increasing the fat content of her feed. A drastic change in her ration may cause a change in the fat content of the milk but it will only be for a short time; in fact it may decrease the percentage of fat.

Temporary increases in fat content have been obtained by adding considerable quantities of flaxseed, soyabeans or peanuts to the ration, or by feeding one pound per head of linseed oil, cotton seed oil or corn oil. The feeding of linseed meal, cottonseed meal or soyabean meal is non-effective probably because most of the fat has already been removed from these feeds.

The feeding back of whole milk to cows usually increases the yield of milk but only increases the fat content temporarily.

On the average, increasing the fat content drastically in the ration increased the fat content in the milk such a small degree that it was of no practical importance

The feeding of four ounces of cod liver oil or menhaden oil per day decreased the fat content of the milk producer.

When a cow of high productive capacity calves in a fat condition she may yield milk containing a considerably higher percentage of fat than normal; losing markedly in body weight. This is done by withdrawing fat from her body and putting it into her milk breeders with cows on record usually take advantage of this fact.

In light of the work that has been carried out all over the world on this subject, it becomes clear that the ability of a cow to yield milk with a high fat content is inherited, and this factor cannot be influenced to a practical degree by feeding."

✦ ✦ ✦

ASSOCIATION OF FAIRS

The 50th annual convention of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies will take place Feb. 8, 9, 10 at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. Bligh Dodds of Syracuse, N.Y., immediate past president of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions, will be the chief speaker He is a director of the New York State Fair Others on the program are: Dr. J. G. Taggart, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Toronto and Prof. G. N. Ruhnke of O.A.C., who will speak on "How British Agriculture Looks Ahead." Prof. Ruhnke made a recent study of farming in Britain

Delegates from societies conducting 247 fairs throughout the province are expected.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS, running water and several other comforts of home are missing from the Myiow residence, in the Indian reservation of Caughnawaga, near Montreal, which, however, does not lack contact with the outside world as evidence by the telephone. Heating in the freezing temperature is effected by a coal stove within touching distance of the bed.

KRIPTIN Checks Cold Misery!

Not in days—but in hours!

This is no ordinary cold pill, quinine, or acetylsalicylic acid that just "soothes" cold misery!

This is KRIPTIN, the new anti-histamine drug that checks cold misery in a matter of hours—before a cold can get a foothold. Here are more facts you should know about KRIPTIN:

PROVED IN U.S. NAVY TESTS

In tests by the U.S. Navy (during the winter of 1947-48) the KRIPTIN formula and several other anti-histamines were tested for cold treatment.

In 9 out of 10 cases, cold symptoms disappeared when anti-histamine treatment began within an hour after the appearance of the signs of a cold.

Even when treatment started within 6 hours, symptoms vanished in 74% of cases ...in 70% of cases when treatment began within 12 hours.

And in all these tests, patients preferred the KRIPTIN formula over all other anti-histamines tested!

IMPORTANT! For best results, take KRIPTIN at the first sign of a cold!

KRIPTIN works at its very best when taken at the first sneeze, sniffle or sign of a cold. So buy KRIPTIN now... don't wait till hours count. Keep KRIPTIN handy in your purse or pocket for instant action against cold misery.

50 tablets ONLY $1.25
2½ cents each!

Check cold misery for 30c or less! You save money by buying the family-size 50-tablet bottle!

CHECK COLD MISERY WITH KRIPTIN

Available at all good drug stores. No prescription required!

Possessive Mother Masks Plan to Keep Son for Self

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man in my middle 20s. Good education. Fair job. I could support a wife and I am in love with a girl but I hesitate to marry her because my mother objects to her for no reason at all except that "the girl is not good enough for me." This has been the case with every girl I have ever known. My mother always finds something wrong with her. Why can't I find someone I love and who would satisfy my mother? Must I remain single because I can't find a girl who pleases my mother?

UNCERTAIN

ANSWER: You are certainly headed for bachelorhood if you wait to find a girl on whom your mother will put her O. K. For there is no such person.

Your mother is one of the possessive mothers who ruthlessly sacrifices their children to themselves. They cannot endure the thought of their children caring more for any one else than they care or them, or going away and living lives of their own, and they use every devilish trick they can devise to thwart their children in their natural instincts to mate and set up homes of their own.

Purpose Camouflaged

Your mother's deadly purpose is camouflaged by her maternal solicitude for your welfare. So she craftily puts the fire out under each romance. She destroys the illusion about every girl you find attractive, and she will keep on doing it until she sweeps away the glamour that girls have for you, and kills the love impulse within you. The inclination to marry will be atrophied in time and you will drift into old bachelorhood.

Any mother who can break off half a dozen incipient romances and keep her son from marrying until he is past 30 is fairly safe in keeping him for herself forever. The ardor of youth will be gone. He will have settled into the habits of celibacy. He will have grown cold and cautious and fearful of the risks of matrimony.

How any woman can desire to deprive her son of the happiness he will find in a normal family life is hard to understand. Selfishness can go on further and a man is weak and foolish who lets such a mother dominate him.

Inasmuch as she will never find any girl whom she is willing for her son to marry, he should make his own choice and please himself and then tell mother after he is safely married. She will accept the situation then and give them a belated blessing.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you think of a husband who in this modern age denies his wife all household conveniences although he is amply able to provide them? I have been married thirty years, have reared a large family and have done all my housework such as cooking, washing, ironing, sewing, baking, scrubbing, even attending to the furnace. I have never had a gas range. What do you advise me to do to better conditions for myself?

A FAITHFUL WIFE

ANSWER: My remedy for your trouble is very simple, but I guarantee that it will work. Go on a shopping orgy. Put on your hat and go downtown and buy all the mechanical contrivances that take the slavery out of housework and that save a woman's back and her temper and her nerves.

Perhaps your husband will raise Cain about it at the beginning, but you can make a neat comeback by asking him if he hasn't got all of the latest labor-saving devices in his business. Tell him that your work is just as important as his, and that you can't run a house efficiently without the proper equipment any more than he can run a business, and after he has grumbled awhile he will be as proud as punch of all the new electrical servants you have installed.

But I haven't many tears to shed over any woman who permits herself to be the victim of her husband's unreasoning selfishness. It is always her own fault when she lets a man impose upon her. If she had the spunk of a worm, she would turn and put up a fight for her rights, and she would get them.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you say about a woman whose husband has been out of employment and who has been the breadwinner? My husband feels that he is being gossiped about because I am working while he is not. What is your candid opinion of this situation.

A WIFE WHO WORKS

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I think that any woman would be a poor wife and a poor sport who was not glad to go out and earn the living when her husband, through no fault of his own, is out of employment. Under the circumstances no stigma attaches to the man and no one has the right to criticize him. The only man who deserves censure is the lazy one who sits down in idleness and lets his wife support him.

Aging Chorus Line Becomes Hit of the London Stage

LONDON —(CP)— Five dancing mothers, every one a former pantomime principal girl or boy, have formed themselves into a flower girl dancing act.

Most of them are over 60 and one or two admit to being grandmothers.

They are delighting children and grown-ups alike in a lavish children's show, "Christmas Party," produced by Cecil Landau at the Cambridge Theatre.

Maudie Vera, Brixton-born has two daughters and three grandchildren. She started her stage career at five and later toured the world in pantomime and musical comedy.

"It's 20 years since I danced professionally," Maudie said, "but I can still show the youngsters a thing or two."

Millie Deane, who boasts of being the "oldest of the girls," has been 50 years on the stage and still does "the splits." Veteran variety-goers remember her as the female half of the comedy duet Fred Miller and Millie Deane.

Dark-haired, vivacious Mary Rigby doesn't even look middle-aged, but has a grown-up son playing in repertory. She has been on the stage since she was five years old.

Mary Minto in 29 years of stage work had one of her best parts in the First World War comedy "The Beter 'Ole." She started her career as a chorus girl.

"There's nothing like show business for keeping you young," said Kay Cooper, the fifth member of the troupe. "I've been on the stage ever since I could walk."

Outline Qualities Of Good Model

MONTREAL, Feb. 3 (CP)—It takes more than the body beautiful and perfect features to make a successful model sway the heads of a Montreal modelling school and an agency. The two experts agree that the girl must be "natural."

Miss Madeline Alarie, who as head of a modelling school has watched the ups and downs of many girls, believes a successful model must possess "a bit of everything"—charm, a good technique, natural poise, interest in study, and above all personality.

"It's what a woman makes of herself that eventually determines her appeal," says Miss Alarie, "little details count perhaps more than the whole and that's why the model must have above all personal daintiness.

Steel vs. Nylon In Ladies' Hose

VANCOUVER — (CP) Women can have their legs sheathed in steel instead of nylon if they wish.

Hosiery can be made from finely-spun wire, says Lucien Bineau of Montreal, executive of one of Canada's leading nylon stocking companies.

But Mr Bineau, here on a recent business trip, told an interviewer he thought women were hardly prepared to enclose their legs in steel stockings. He had seen a sample experimental stocking made of wire which was "flexible and pliable."

The nylon executive said he was confident that his product has replaced silk in stocking manufacture to a large extent.

"And there is no truth in the rumor that nylon could be made that would last forever," he said "It just isn't so."

"Anyway, 98 per cent of women's hosiery is not worn out. They are ruined by contact with a rough object."

Spectators Cheer Short Skirts At Wartime Level

PARIS, Feb. 3—(AP)—Christian Dior, the designer who created the "new look" in 1947, today unveiled short-skirted styles for spring.

Spectators stood up and cheered.

Some of Dior's skirt lengths were at wartime level, only a couple of inches below the knees.

Dior started the show with brief, loose, skimpily cut jackets and narrow, short skirts. Gradually he drifted back to the extravagant fullness of his earlier work. As the silhouettes changed, the hems dropped a little.

Sleeveless bodices were featured throughout, with tight waists and large round and horseshoe necklines. Modesty vests of pique are used in cases where the neckline falls below the bust.

A Chinese influence is displayed in angular coolie hats and mandarin coats.

YW Gym Girls Observing Health Week

Gym and ballet class members had a frolic night at the YW on Thursday and marked health week with a special program. Miss Mary Pickens, from the Civic Hospital, took the weight and measurement of each girl before classes. During the rest period between routines she gave a health talk in which she told of health conditions she had seen while in Europe last summer. She mentioned that they were very poor in Germany but felt they are on a par in other countries.

Other nurses who had given similar assistance in observing health week at the Y are Mrs. W. J. Vanstone, Miss C. Wilson, Mrs. H. MacDonald and Miss Mildred Drope.

After the gym class Thursday evening Dr. Mildred Green spoke to the business girls in the recreation room giving information and rules on keeping healthy. She stressed eight to 10 hours sleep every night and advised a yearly medical check-up. After the address Dr. Green answered many personal questions privately.

Miss Edna Rule and members of the Gym Auxiliary had planned the refreshments specially for health week and served biscuits with cheese and celery and coffee.

At the close Miss C. Littlefield, instructor, announced that all classes next Thursday evening are cancelled because of the YWCA annual dinner and meeting. The Thursday gym class will be combined with Tuesday's class.

A number of health posters have been put up in the building by Gerry Vinette and Ann Price An interesting one was made by six-year-old Margaret Monk and displays the fruits that are necessary in a healthful diet.

Scottish Scenery Becomes Setting of Gaelic Styles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDINBURGH, — (CP) — An Edinburgh photographer never liked the idea of southern belles and southern scenery being used to advertise Scottish textiles.

So John Wood started the first photo fashion business to be found in Scotland. His idea was to photograph Scottish-made goods against typical Scottish backgrounds on Scots girls and he's carrying it out.

The 31-year-old photographer put his idea up to an Edinburgh firm who commissioned his first set of pictures.

These were taken with Edinburgh Castle as a background They were so successful the firm commissioned further photographs.

To this end, six sports suits Mr. Wood and one of his models—Miss Barbara Taylor—were Trossachs bound.

Tartan And Stole

On Ellen's Isle, Loch Katrine, Barbara poses in an all-round pleated Stewart tartan skirt with dark dolman jumper. The outfit is set off with a shoulder stole which swathes the figure, is caught at skirt waist, and falls loosely to the hem. A soft felt hat with doubled-back halo brim matches the jumper and is mounted by tail pheasant quills.

In a garden that has for its background the bleak grimness of Ben Lomond. Barbara wears a sport model in brown, tan and beige check tweed. It is a classic, tailored dress having all-round pleated skirt and collared blouse-top of diagonal checking.

The tailored jacket with softly-squared shoulder line and a soft, wool halo hat with scarf attachment, finishes the picture, the twisted scarf looking snuggly warm against the wintry background of the Scottish hills.

Neither Barbara, nor any other of Mr. Wood's models, are professionals. But the pictures are good and Mr. Wood hopes they will fulfil his object of interesting oversea visitors in Scottish-designed garments bought in Scotland.

Cigarette Holders Complete 1920s Style Atmosphere

PARIS, Feb. 3—(AP)—The curtain was raised on the spring fashion scene today when prominent French designer Carven launched the first style show of the season. Short skirts, sleeveless dresses, belted suits and collarless topcoat with elbow-length sleeves were the main features.

Carven's skirts reach only a couple of inches below the knee.

Her suits come with long jackets and tight waists, some fitted, others belted and pouched at the back.

Fashions resembling those of the 1920 era, with short skirts, narrow coats, sleeveless dresses and dangling drapery were displayed at Pierre Balmain's showing. He did not show any long skirts. He made short evening dresses 16½ inches from the ground—one inch shorter than his day dresses.

To further the 1920 atmosphere his mannequins wore long drop earrings, bracelets high on the arm, and carried long cigaret holders. To feminize this 1920 silhouette he puts the waistline in its natural place and builds the sleeveless bodice out sufficiently to hide the shoulder bone.

Flying panels develop out of the back bodice at shoulder blade level on some box coats and on straight wrap-around or belted topcoats.

Balmain introduces coats that are like sleeveless jerkins, with panels strung from a brief shoulder yoke. They are held into the waist with a belt. Most of his skirts are straight and rather tight, and plastered all over with pocket flaps or large petal motives. He uses chiffon for full-skirt dresses, and some of the party dresses in tulle and chiffon have as many as seven skirts.

Red Cross Swells U.S. Bank Supply Of Healing Blood

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, —(AP)— Today there are about 1,800 health banks in the United States taking in and spending one of mankind's most potent medicines.

These are blood banks. The medicine is human blood, and the banks, by expert estimate, now handle about 2,500,000 pints of blood a year to aid the sick and injured.

In 1936 there was just one bank, in Chicago. The phenomenal growth since then is only the beginning—if the hopes of doctors and health authorities come true The greatest growth has come since the war. The war showed dramatically what blood and blood products could do to save lives.

Hospitals expanded or started new blood banks after the war. Most obtain blood by asking patients or relatives to replace blood, or to give in advance There are private banks that buy blood. There also are some community banks, with clubs or other organizations scouting for blood donors.

Then came one of the boldest public health steps in history—the national blood program of the American Red Cross.

The boldest part is the belief that Americans will continue to give blood free, in peacetime, as in war. In five wartime years men and women donated more than 13,500,000 pints of blood through the Red Cross.

The Red Cross program began Jan. 12, 1948, with opening of a regional blood bank centre in Rochester, N.Y. Now there are 30 regional centres supplying blood to nearly 1,600 hopsitals in 35 states.

More than 500,000 pints have been donated. Red Cross funds pay for collecting, testing, typing processing and delivering blood to hospitals. Doctors or hospitals may charge for medical services and for giving blood, but not for the Red Cross blood or blood products themselves.

By next July, the Red Cross expects to have 40 regional centres, and 52 by July, 1951. The goal is to blanket the country so blood and blood products will be available to anyone, anytime, anywhere.

The centres, staffed by volunteer workers, serve communities 10 to 50 or more miles way. A Red Cross centre is set up only if local doctors, hospitals, and health agencies invite it, and each is designed to meet local needs. It adds a new source of blood, from volunteers, without interrupting existing banks.

Many sick and injured people need whole blood transfusions Others need the special blood products.

One is plasma, the fluid part of blood, which can be a quick shock fighting substitute for whole blood. Another is a blood protein, serum albumin, that fights shock.

Another, gamma globulin, is to prevent or ease attacks of measles or jaundice. From blood comes the anti-hemophilic agent for people with that bleeding disease Febrinogen, a clotting substance in blood, can be made into sponges or films for use in surgery. Concentrated red cells are given to people with chronic anemia.

"Chemists, pathologists, and other experts believe we are just beginning to discover the life-saving and life-prolonging uses to which human blood can be put," declared Dr. Ross T. McIntire director of the Red Cross program.

MENTAL SICKNESS

There are on the average 200,000 Canadian people disabled from mental sickness—100,000 permanently and 100,000 temporarily.

Judy Bond phoned us today. They have called in all their salesmen because they are sold up. This means they cannot accept any more orders, too much business, more women wearing Judy Bonds.

Altogether they have about 200 sample Judy Bonds which they are sending down to us to sell at $3.95 and most of these styles have not even been delivered to any store in Canada yet because they haven't even started to make them. We haven't had any ourselves and we consider ourselves a very good Judy Bond account.

However, since all samples are size 16 (that's it, the catch we were talking about) we honestly believe there are 200 smart, thrifty Judy Bond shoppers in Peterborough who can wear size 16 and who would be excited enough to shop at Levinson's Saturday and see for yourselves.

4.95 Tissue Faille
5.95 Embroidered Nylon
6.95 Lace Trim Crepe
7.95 Pure Tie Silk

There should be about fifty different styles, so take your time. The girls won't rush you into making a selection, as you know. Just brouse around, you'll buy one or two for yourself and a friend, too. Shop early 16's.

TASTE PANEL—Three members of the Agriculture Department nibble dills as they help home economists of the department's consumer section decide on a dill-pickle recipe. The three are members of one of the department's taste panels, held whenever the section's food experts want an opinion on some new recipe. Bunny Sargent, a clerk in the department's Fruit and Vegetable Division, has a pensive look as she samples a pickle. Gertrude Gerlach, one of the department's home economists, and Howard Tewsley, a member of the department's Information Service, await the result.—(CP Photo).

Experts on "Taste Panel" Nibble Before Commending

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP). — Sharpe taste-buds and a love of food are prerequisities for him who would join an agriculture department testing panel.

Whenever home economists of the department's consumer section work up some new recipes they look around for a few gourmets to try them out on.

The result is a "taste panel" — made up usually of 10 persons who will spend upwards of a half hour nibbling at a dozen or so differently prepared batches of, say, strawberry preserves, pickles —whatever the food experts happen to be working on at the time.

One day chutney, another day jam, may appear on the panel's single-item menu. The original recipes may have come from Canadian newspapers, magazines, cook-books, even from friends. The experts prepare them and it's the panel's responsibility to "taste" a winner. Flavor, color, texture, all enter into the judging.

Recipes which evoke the most lip-smacking are then recommended for Canadian housewives to try in their kitchens.

Sometimes the cooks themselves make up the panel. At other times persons are brought in from outside. But whoever they are, they must like the kind of food they are tasting. At the moment the consumer section is looking for more persons to put on the panel "call" list.

"We have so much to taste at this time of the year that the girls get tired of it," said Laura Pepper, head of the section.

A few weeks ago pickled cherries tickled the palate of a department taste panel, and more recently dill pickles were the favored items.

Elimination Process

Miss Pepper recalled that with the dills it was necessary to take a lot of recipes and weed out gradually the ones which didn't turn out well. The home economists finally brought the recipes down tot four "quite good" ones. They worked out variations of these and the result was taken before a panel for judgment.

Within three months the food experts hope to be moved from their old kitchen in the Confederation Building, just below Parliament Hill, across the street to new streamlined kitchens.

Located in the old British American Bank Note Building, where the consumer section has had its offices for the last two years, the new cooking spot, in effect, will be three kitchens, one alongside the other. One will be for recipe testing and in another the home economists will work on food preservation.

The third will be confined to the study of quantities. Miss Pepper said it will be planned with the type of equipment which would be practical for the small restaurateur to use.

As well as the kitchens, there also will be space set aside for the panel, a long counter with swivel-stools, and probably with partitions separating members, in order that they can make up their own minds about the substances they happen to be tasting.

RECRUITS' SIZE

Figures on recent British recruits 18 years old show an average height of 5 feet 7½ inches and an average weight of 135½ pounds.

HEALTH WEEK

All Nurses Playing Role In Field Health Education

"We are accustomed to think of the public health nurses in the community as being much more concerned with the prevention of illness than their colleagues in our hospitals," states the Canadian Nurses' Association. "Though the former group are dealing very largely with persons who are apparently well, advising them in the matter of immunization, the correction of physical defects, the importance of periodic health examinations, every nurse has an important role to play as a teacher of health.

"Early in the preliminary period of their training, the student nurses are given a thorough grounding in the principles of personal hygiene. They apply these principles to their own living habits. When they make their first contact with patients some two or three months after their admission to the school of nursing, they conscientiously observe and instruct their patients in these principles.

A detailed study was made by a special committee of one of the provincial registered nurses associations to ascertain the degree to which a knowledge of current health practices and an awareness of the social implications of the various diseases is integrated into the undergraduate curriculum. The findings of this survey showed that student nurses in general are able to advise patients of community resources, clinics, and health services that are available. It was found that to a considerable extent the health aspects, including mental hygiene and community health, were integrated into every phase of study throughout the entire course.

There is an increasing trend toward providing brief periods of observation and, where possible, practical experience for as many student nurses as possible with public health organizations, particularly with the Victorian Order of Nurses. This insight into the health practices that are being carried out every day gives the student nurse an appreciation of the value of prevention that she never loses, no matter what branch of nursing she may eventually go into.

6—In Memoriams

CHAPMAN—In loving memory of our sister, Mrs. C. B. Chapman (Ollie Foster), who died February 2, 1949.
"What would we give, her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more.
In heaven, that happy life."
—Sadly missed by sisters Clara, Ethel and Madeline and brother Dick.

TUCKER—In loving memory of Matilda Tucker, who passed away one year ago today, Feb. 3, 1949.
She is gone, but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of her are always near.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Ever remembered by her husband Joseph; and family, Roger, Myrtle, David and Gordon.

TUCKER—In loving memory of mother, Mrs. Joseph Tucker, who passed away one year ago, February 3.
In life, loved and honored,
In death, remembered.
—Remembered by Margaret, Orville and Donna Marie.

Lindsay Hands Trenton 7-1 Defeat In First Tilt

TRENTON, Feb. 3.—Lindsay handed Trenton a 7-1 defeat in the first game of their OMHA Midget "B" first-round playoffs here.

Lindsay jumped into a 3-0 lead in the opening period with each team counting once in the middle stanza. The visitors tallied three times in the final 20 minutes.

Bernard Brown topped the winners with three goals and an assist, while Jack Graham, Bill Burns, Bud Martin and Ross Lockwood accounted for the others. Ralph Defosse tallied Trenton's lone goal.

100,349 Books Borrowed

Down 300 borrowers in 1949 the Public Library still had an increased circulation during the year, William Graff, librarian, reported to the Board Thursday night at the annual meeting. The number of books borrowed totalled 100,349, while in 1948 there were 98,198. There were 74,054 fiction books out and 26,295 non-fiction, allowing an increase of 737 fiction and 1,414 non-fiction in 1949.

Fiction led the popularity list, followed by fine arts, literature, biography, magazines, travel, history, social science, psychology, science and religion. The fine arts section did not increase over last year but remained about the same as in 1948. They include books on handicraft and painting, home painting and decoratng books.

Magazines are no longer being read only in the library, said Miss Muriel Preston, circulation librarian. Current topics are found there, she reported, so much more fully that they are being used in circulation as well as reference.

Despite the fact that books on religion are at the bottom, two of the longest requests lists are for religious books, one fiction, "The Big Fisherman," by Lloyd C. Douglas, and a non-fiction, "Seven Storey Mountain," by Thomas Merton.

Library Branch Ups Circulation

The Public Library's circulation started off on the right foot for 1950 as it topped last year's figure by 3913. The total circulation for January was 16,764. William Graff, librarian, in his monthly report to the Library Board Thursday attributed the increase to the branch library which was not operating last January.

Circulation in the adult department at the main library was 9237 while the branch's figure was 1299. The children took 4671 books from the main library's juvenile department during January. The branch's circulation for the juvenile department was 1557.

The increase in the adult department at the main library was 440 and 617 in the juvenile department.

Bruce Sopha Dies Suddenly In Bush

MARMORA, Feb. 3 (ENS) — Bruce Sopha, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Sopha of Cordona Mines, died suddenly Tuesday in bush country north of Noranda.

For about 10 years he was employed as cook by the Exploration Drilling Company. On Tuesday morning he started from the camp to get a pail of water. He suffered a heart attack which proved fatal.

The baby was found by the camp foreman a short time later. He was unmarried and had been employed by various Northern Ontario mining companies for about 25 years.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon proceeding from the residence of Mrs. Terry Fitzpatrick, Cordova Mines, to Cordova Church for service at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Rockdale Cemetery.

Melchoir Snubbed

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—Lauritz Melchior Thursday night sang his swan song — both as tenor for the Metropolitan Opera and in the title role of Wagner's "Lohengrin" at the Opera House. The Metropolitan's top Wagnerian tenor for 24 years, Melchior said Tuesday that he felt snubbed because the Met's new manager, Rudolf Bing, had not broached the subject of his contract for next season.

Younaster Drowns

SUTTON, Ont., Feb. 3—(CP)—Jack Cooper, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper, of Jackson's Point, Ont., was drowned Thursday night in the Black River. The body was recovered five hours after a cap and one mitt was found beside a hole in the ice where the youngster had plunged through. Sutton is 55 miles north of Toronto.

PCVS Students Tour Factories

A series of tours to industrial plants in the city has been arranged for grade nine pupils of PCVS by the Vocational Guidance Department. The department hopes that in this way the students will see the openings and opportunities that exist in the city. The trips to the plants will be part of the Grade IX occupations course.

Starting Monday, two students from each class will form a group to visit a factory. They will be accompanied by Howard Moebus or B. W. Switzer and will be expected to speak about the visit to their class at their next occupations period. Twenty students will go out on each trip and Mr. Moebus hopes to take a total of at least 300 out of the 400 first formers.

The Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Ltd. will be the first factory visited, and the Canada Packers, the C.G.E. and the Peterborough Lock Company will be other February destinations.

Vote $100 Bonus For Summer Study

LINDSAY, Feb. 3. — Public school teachers who are willing to pass up six weeks of their annual summer vacation in favor of summer courses, will find that the sacrifice is not unappreciated. The Board of Education has passed a resolution granting a bonus of $100 to those teachers taking summer courses.

The Board was informed that in order to undertake a building program in connection with the South Ward School, the need would have first to be established with the Ontario Department of Education. This body has also said that it did not favor such an extension because of the small size of the present school site.

Rashotte Transport Sold To Cliff Tanner

TWEED, Feb. 3. — Rashotte Transport of Tweed has been sold by Mr. Felix Rashotte, to Cliff Tanner, proprietor of Toronto-Peterborough Transport, it was announced this week.

It is understood that the Toronto-Peterborough Transport have plans for the construction of a large warehouse in Tweed. The warehouse will be sufficiently large to service customers in Belleville and other neighboring points. Shipments from Toronto to Belleville will be routed via No. 7 Highway to Tweed and transferred in the warehouse here. There will be a daily service from Tweed to Toronto and all intermediate points.

Denounces Profiters

ATHENS, Greece, Feb. 3—(AP)—Retired Gen. Theodorus Pangalos, Dictator of Greece in 1925-1926, said Thursday night Marshall Plan aid for Greece should include 12 electric chairs. Pangalos, who in 1926 hanged the Salonika Chief of Police and two other men before 150,000 persons for embezzlement of public funds, said the chairs should be used to execute profiteers who he declared are sabotaging Greek recovery.

Only A Dream

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP) — Use of artificial rain-making methods to improve Canada's climate is only a dream that may never prove feasible on a large scale, a weather expert said Thursday. Dr. T. G. How, superintendent of weather services at the public weather office here, told a service club luncheon that scientists who have experimented in Australia were more optimistic.

Asks End of Ban

PARADISE, N.S., Feb. 3—(CP)—Dr. Otto Strasser, 52-year-old former Nazi who fled Germany in 1933, has appealed to President Truman of the United States to "end the ban" on his return to German. Strasser now is living in exile in this tiny Annapolis Valley settlement. Strasser has made numerous appeals to be allowed to return to Germany but all have been rejected.

Barter For Grain

VANCOUVER, Feb. 3—(CP)—Enquiries regarding the possibilities of bartering goods for Canadian grain have been received from the Communist-controlled North China Trading Company, grain trade sources said Thursday. The sources said pig bristles, rugs and general merchandise are being offered in exchange for wheat and machinery.

Home Building Hit

VANCOUVER, Feb. 3—(CP)—Winter has thrown a monkey wrench into Vancouver's building industry. Home building, it was reported Thursday, has plunged to the lowest mark on record. Only 25 permits for homes were taken out in January. Their total value was $149,930.

Canada To Get New Atlas, Ready By 1952

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP) — An ambitious project has been launched by the government to produce a new Canadian atlas.

Almost every government department is taking a hand in preparation of material and the atlas is expected to start rolling off the presses early in 1952.

The new maps will contain up-to-date maps in color It will have almost 200 pages inside 20-by-16 inch covers and will be called the National Atlas of Canada.

"You could call ours a People's Atlas," said Dr. J. W. Watson, director of the geographical branch of the new Department of Mines and Technical Surveys.

"It's being put out by the government for the people and there are 48 specialists in all departments working on it now."

Preliminary work was started a year ago when it was decided the present Canadian atlas required revision.

The first National Atlas published early in this century, was one of the first put out by any country said Dr. Watson. The present official atlas was published in 1915 by the old Department of Interior Most of the information, maps and charts now are obsolete.

Heads Project

Heading the inter-departmental committee co-ordinating work on the project is Dr. George Hume director-general of scientific services in the Mines and Technical Surveys Department.

"We are not yet in a position to say exactly what will be in the atlas when it is finally published," Dr. Hume said today. "A working plan has been set up and we are starting with that as a basis There may be some changes as we go along."

There probably will be two editions, one library and reference edition for business and industry costing more than $20. A cheaper edition will be issued for schools and the general public. It may be published in both loose-leaf and bound form.

One major change between the new atlas and that now in existence is that Canada will be shown for the first time as having 10 provinces It also will be shown as extending to the North Pole. Canadian territory previously has been shown as cut off a comparatively short distance beyond the Arctic mainland.

DAVID BALL MANSUR, president of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation — the government-operated housing authority — learned about housing problems while working with the mortgage department of an insurance company in Montreal. He was appointed head of the crown corporation in 1946 after working with the Foreign Exchange Control Board and the National War Finance Committee during the second world war. Born at Rock Island, Que., Aug. 27, 1905, he is a graduate of the University of Manitoba.

Judge Plays Cupid

VANCOUVER, Feb. 3 (CP) — Chief Justice W B. Farris of the British Columbia Supreme Court Thursday cast himself in the role of cupid. He advised a young married couple to "kiss and make up" —and offered to pay for a get-together party at a city cabaret. He adjourned until March the 19-year-old bride's petition for a separation allowance from her 29-year-old husband, a truck driver

Square With Law

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Feb. 3 (AP)—William T. (Bill) Tilden, former tennis champion, apparently is square with the law, having registered as a convicted sex offender. Police said that because Tilden registered Wednesday after being arrested and charged with failure to do so, they do not contemplate any further action.

Village Gives $120

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP)—Campaign officials of the Canadian March of Dimes, recruiting funds to fight poliomyelitis, announced Thursday that inhabitants of the tiny fishing village of St. Augustin, Que., have subscribed $120.

REBEL LEADER, Capt. Paul ("Turk") Westerling, above, a former reserve officer of the Royal Dutch Indian Army, is leading a rebel army of fanatic Moslems against the newly established United States of Indonesia. Westerling began his campaign to set up an Islamic state by marching on the west Java town of Bandung. Observers predict all-out war between the new Indonesia government and the rebels.

Quebec Cancels Ballet Concert

QUEBEC, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Quebec City, capital of a province whose cities and towns frown on such things as bare midriffs, movie divorces and scantily-clad females in card-display advertising and picture magazines, Thursday turned thumbs down on the Ballet de Paris.

Mayor Lucien Borne ordered cancelled the ballet's Feb. 14-15 engagement at Palais Montcalm, a concert and recreation centre operated by the city. The mayor heads a committee which directs Palais Montcalm.

Principal objection, it was learned, concerned a "certain bedroom scene" in the ballet "Carmen," one of four ballets in the production.

FIRST PRINTER

Printing from moveable type was first practised in China in the 13th century.

FLYING MEDICO — Dr. Clarie Neville-Smith, of the Grenfell Medical Mission at Harrington Harbor, Que., battled, single-handedly, a polio epidemic at St. Augustin, a remote hamlet on the border of Quebec and Labrador. She flew to Montreal with seven of the victims.

Return Mrs. Andrews Agricultural Chairman

NORWOOD, Feb. 3 — (ENS)— The women directors of the East Agricultural Society met in the library basement on Tuesday evening. Present were: President G. A. Brethen, secretary Gordon Parker, Mesdames Frank Andrews, Golden Andrews, Alfred Bongard, C. A. Copp, C. Coughlin Fred English, A. Gill, M. D. Macpherson, C. McMillan, Gordon Parker and Percy Williamson. Mrs. Wes. Chamberlain was a new member appointed to the board. Mrs. Golden Andrews was unanimously re-elected as chairman of the committee Mrs. C. Coughlin and Mrs. Fred English were the delegates appointed to the Area Convention in Toronto February 10-11.

Check Fire Hazards

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP)—Premier Frost has ordered a check of all Ontario government buildings to remove potential fire hazards In the provincial parliament buildings themselves, a fireproof wall behind the centre elevators is being built in the main block. A new emergency escape route has been added to the legislative chamber.

Dismiss Appeal

VANCOUVER, Feb. 3 (CP) — Judge C. J. Lennox ruled Thursday that flank straps, widely used in rodeos, constitute "unnecessary abuse to a horse." The county cour judge dismissed the appeal of Herman Linder from a police court conviction on the cruelty charge. The Cardston, Alta., radio promotor must pay a $100 fine or serve 30 days.

Split Rail Wrecks Train

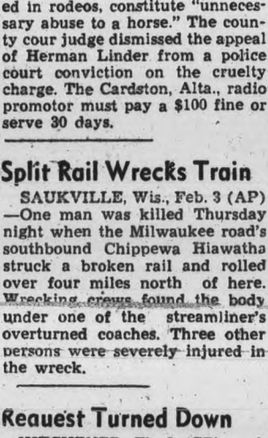
SAUKVILLE, Wis., Feb. 3 (AP) —One man was killed Thursday night when the Milwaukee road's southbound Chippewa Hiawatha struck a broken rail and rolled over four miles north of here. Wrecking crews found the body under one of the streamliner's overturned coaches. Three other persons were severely injured in the wreck.

Request Turned Down

KITCHENER, Feb. 3 (CP) — A Chamber of Commerce request for restoration of Canadian National Railways train No. 39, between Toronto and London, has been turned down. Donald Gordon, CNR president, referring to the coal shortage, said "we can only hope conditions will so improve that we may soon be able to restore all of the trains that have been temporarily cancelled."

Stalls On Tracks

OSHAWA, Feb. 3 (CP)—Aylmer Wood's car stalled on the Canadian National Railways tracks here and a freight train was flagged to a stop. The train was held up several minutes while the train crew helped remove the car Thursday Wood was fined $25 and costs or one month when he pleaded guilty to "obstructing the free use of the Canadian National Railways."



Hodge Heads Holstein Men

TORONTO, Feb. 3 — (CP). — W. A. Hodge of St. Iaurent, Que., Thursday was elected president of the Canadian Holstein-Friesian Association at the annual meeting. He succeeds W. Ray Wilson of Kenmore, Ontario. J. D. Innes of Woodstock, Ont., George W Henry of Todmorden, Ont., J. W. Hosford of Edmonton, and M. R. Martin of St. Thomas, Ont., were named vice-presidents. Directors include Cecil J. Packman of Stratford, Ont.

Ayrshire President

TORONTO, Feb. 3 (CP)—Erskine Rodgers of Lachute, Que., was elected president of the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association at a directors' meeting Thursday. Stewart Hyde of Dundas, Ont., was named vice-president. J. I. Ballantyne, Atwood, Ont., and D Cumming, Glengarry, Ont., were elected to the executive.

IN RUNNING — Campbell Calder, 39-year-old London Liberal member of the Ontario Legislature, has announced his candidature for the leadership of the provincial party at the forthcoming convention. A lawyer, Mr. Calder served on the city council before entering the provincial legislature in 1948.

Public Make Use Of Film Council

Film distribution during 1949 by the Public Library was slightly higher than in 1948, William Graff, librarian, stated in his annual report to the Board.

The library listed 996 showings to 110,024 people during 1949 as compared with 981 showings to 103,837 persons in 1948. Mr. Graff included figures for 1946 and 1947 which were: 230 showings to 28,000 in 1946 and 629 showings to 88,412 in 1947.

Mr. Graff said that 1,908 films were circulated in 1949 as compared with 2,034 in 1948 and 1,148 in 1947. The chief reason for the decrease, he said, was the factor of better utilization by the organizations. He explained that they are finding it is much better to show one film rather than overload by showing three or four.

The Film Council, he said, now owns four Bell and Howell projectors and a movie-mite, screens, three-inch lens, a power booster, and 36 films of which 21 were bought in 1949. In addition there are 30 films from the National Film Board which are on deposit and are constantly being replaced by a block of 10 each month.

Mr. Graff said in his report that the Film Council is of extreme importance in the community because it provides a common meeting ground for people of all creeds, races and politics; a place where vital issues of the day on international, national and local levels can be discussed freely.

LEWIS REJECTS TRUMAN TRUCE PLAN

Says H-Bomb Secrets Given Russia

Hoover Says Fuchs Moscow Agent As Early As 1939

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 — (AP)—Alarmed United States Congressmen today demanded rigid new secrecy measures after receiving reports that a top German-born British scientist had passed hydrogen bomb—as well as atomic—secrets to Russia.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, wartime head of the United States Atomic Energy project, indicated today that a top British scientist suspected of atomic spying for Russia may have had access to data about the proposed hydrogen super-bomb.

With the biggest atomic spy case of all still unfolding there were these developments:

1. Lt.-Gen. Leslie Groves, retired wartime head of the Atomic Energy Project, faced questioning by the Senate-House of Representatives Atomic Committee about the activities of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the 38-year-old accused scientist who became a British subject in 1942.

2. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was quoted by senators as having reported to them that Fuchs had been planted as a paid Russian spy in the British atomic set-up and had given the innermost atomic secrets, and some information about the hydrogen bomb, to Moscow.

3. A group of senators demanded that Britain—and all other countries—be cut off from any information about H-bomb developments.

Groves was called upon to explain how Fuchs, who headed the British wartime atomic mission to the U.S., got across to top American atomic secrets.

Don't Want Strangers Fixing Wages

Doubt Direct Order From Union Boss Make Men Return

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 — (AP)—John L. Lewis advised President Truman today the miners do not wish "three strangers" to fix their wages and working conditions.

The statement of the leader of the United Mine Workers was taken as a flat rejection of the President's proposal for a truce in the coal strike in the United States while a presidential board investigates and recommends a settlement.

A 500-word letter from Lewis was delivered to the White House. It did not in so many words reject or accept either the fact-finding proposition or the presidential plea that "normal" production be restored Monday while negotiations continued.

Lewis made his reply in the midst of reports that strikes would continue or possibly spread in the fields next week.

May Ignore Order

There was doubt, too, that even a direct order from Lewis would restore normal work in the mines.

Lewis' reference to "three strangers" was to Truman's proposal for a three-man fact-finding board. Under the Truman plan, all three would be named by the president and would represent the public—with none from industry, labor or the government.

There was nothing in Lewis' letter to confirm or deny the reports that a full-scale mine stoppage is imminent.

The bitter contract struggle which began last spring has kept the mines closed down or working only a three-day week since a mine-union contract expired on June 30.

Demand Contract

From, Western Pennsylvania home of half of the 100,000 miners who were on strike last week, came word that only a contract would send them back to the pits now.

Reports from Illinois, mainly from operators, but also from at least one union committeeman — said that Lewis already had telegraphed United Mine Workers locals across the US to call out all of the 400,000 soft coal miners Monday.

Other reports from similar sources denied this.

Lewis gave no advance tip about the nature of his reply to Truman's peace formula.

Truman's main proposal was for a 70-day truce at "normal production" to permit a fact-finding board to look into the dispute and suggest a settlement.

The operators have accepted the fact-finding plan.

200 Offer Blood

NEWMARKET, Feb. 4—(CP)—Gordon Pugh, a garbage collector, has more friends than he realized. Thursday night he had a leg amputated. Friday more than 200 persons from nearby Aurora, his home town, swarmed York Memorial Hospital here to offer blood for transfusions. He was injured in an automobile accident.

Flying Squads Raid Underworld Nab 150 Men

MONTREAL, Feb. 4—(CP) — Flying squads of detectives early today swooped down on poolrooms, all-night restaurants and shady night clubs in a series of raids that netted 150 prisoners.

It was the second wholesale cleanup in less than three weeks by the specially organized detective forces.

Gathered in were all known criminals and others who could not give a satisfactory account of themselves.

Some were released after questioning. Of those held, most were charged with minor offences such as loitering, vagrancy and drunkenness.

Suspects who possessed criminal records were not allowed bail pending arraignment.

Means Business

Detective Chief Wilfrid Bourdon said the raids would serve as a warning on the underworld that the city "means business" in its drive against crime.

Police said no "big fish" were landed but at least one man wanted on a warrant was found in a routine raid on a St. Lawrence Boulevard poolroom.

Although provincial police announced they had cleaned up last Sunday night's holdup of Banque Canadienne Nationale at St. Pie de Bagot, two armed gunmen late Friday held up the Caisse Populaire ("People's Co-operative Bank) at nearby Ville St. Michel and escaped with $2,000.

The robbery of the little suburban bank followed by only a few minutes the arrest of Roland Grise, 33, former resident of St. Pie, who police claim was the brains behind last Sunday's successful robbery in the south shore town.

Two other men, Roland Duclos, 28, of Granby, and Fernand Cyr, 27, Mantreal were previously arrested in connection with the same robbery.

Maritimes Hit Hardest By UK Dollar Troubles 2 Industries Almost Ruined

Coal Industry Showing Brighter Picture As Canada Bigger Market; Ship-Owners Having A Rough Time Too

HALIFAX, Feb. 4—(CP)—Trade difficulties springing from the United Kingdom's dollar doldrums are probably reflected no more markedly in Canada than in the Maritimes. Industries which depend wholly or in part on the British market are slowly deflating like a punctured balloon. Two, in fact, may have been all but ruined, although any improvement in Britain's dollar position would in all likelihood revive them.

On the other hand, Maritime industries that have found their chief markets in the United States, other parts of Canada or in other dollar areas, have been getting along in pretty good shape.

Take an example of the two sides:

In 1936, the north-shore area of New Brunswick and southwestern Nova Scotia launched a pitprop industry. Pitprops are used to shore up the roofs of mines, and Britain bought them all. By 1949, it was an $8,000,000-yearly business.

This year, the United Kingdom decided it couldn't afford to buy pitprops. Result: the industry has been pole-axed and hundreds are out of work.

Coal Boom

On the other side, the coal industry has found most of its markets in Canada. Right now, miners in Cape Breton are digging like mad to keep up with orders

Canadian ship-owners have had a rough go of it. Britain can operate her ships more cheaply, so they carry the cargoes while dozens of freighters lie idle in Canadian ports.

The iron ore mines in Newfoundland sold half their yield to Britain. The UK is not buying as much and mine operations have been curtailed.

Newfoundland's pulp and paper industry has also taken a mauling as has the apple industry. The paper industry is desperately

53 Passengers Injured On Big Liner

LONDON, Feb. 4. (Reuters) — Fifty-three passengers were injured on the liner Queen Mary during one of her roughest Atlantic crossings, it was learned when she reached Southampton just after midnight — 24 hours late.

Most of the injuries to passengers were slight, chiefly bruises, but two women and a man received fractures.

Captain G. E. Cove, master of the liner, said:

"It has been very rough all the way from New York. I reduced speed at times to 19 knots to ease the rolling. The waves at times were 40 to 50 feet high."

Police Shoot Nab 4 Youths

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP) — Four youths, one wounded by police bullets, were captured early today after a break-in at the Tease Knitting Company Ltd., on west-central Lansdowne Avenue.

Albert Renzetti, 20, was shot in both legs below the knees by Motorcycle Officer James O'Rourke. Robert Hendry, 20; Edward Torosian, 18; Mitchell Simko, 17, and Renzetti were booked on charges of breaking and entering.

O'Rourke said he was making a routine check of the factory when he spotted the youths inside. They saw him and made a break for it. O'Rourke brought down Renzetti; the other suspects were nabbed later by police reinforcements.

Detectives said a 500-pound safe had been removed from the factory office.

Tear Gas Bombs Thrown At University

EDMONTON, Feb. 4—(CP)—A pitched battle developed late Friday between engineering students and those of other faculties at the University of Alberta. Two tear gas bombs were thrown.

The fight started when two students attempted to make off with ballot boxes being used by the engineers to elect a queen for their annual ball tonight.

The two bombs forced the handful of engineers guarding the boxes out the door but they returned with 200 reinforcements while about 300 students of other faculties besieged the building.

While the tear gas was holding the engineers at bay, a student tried to seize the ballot boxes but an electrical alarm rigged by the engineers gave the warning and the student was captured. He was taken to a laboratory and thrown into a large vat of water.

The 200-man engineers army turned fire hoses on the attacking students, holding them at bay at the entrance to the building.

The demonstration climaxed a series of events this week, which culminated in the canning of the student newspaper, the Gateway, following publication of a special engineers' edition Wednesday.

Mother Expecting 4th Child Forced To Give Up House

OSHAWA, Feb. 4—A 26-year-old housewife, expecting her fourth child in about 10 days, will be forced from her home unless accommodation can be found. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vandewalker and their three small children have been told by Central Mortgage and Housing officials from Toronto that they would be evicted from their wartime home on Drew St. here.

The reasons given Mr. Vandewalker are that he is not a war veteran, and he had sublet the dwelling through its original occupant. Central Mortgage contracts permit no subletting.

An official of the corporation said it appeared that the Vandewalkers were illegally occuping the house. He did not know they had been ordered to vacate.

Refuse Rent

"They have refused for the past four months to accept my rent," Mr. Vandewalker said. "I have offered to buy the place, but they won't listen to me. Just because I'm not a veteran doesn't mean I failed to do my part during the war. I worked on munitions at Ajax and helped build Mosquito bombers here.

"There are a number of families subletting wartime houses on this street," he claimed.

Worried by their predicament, Mrs. Vandewalker explained they sublet the dwelling in September when civic authorities made them move from a flat where nine persons lived in three rooms. The premises were located over a store and Oshawa's MOH condemned them as unfit for human habitation.

"The officials told me they'd place our youngsters in the Children's Aid Society and put our belongings out on the street," she sobbed.

Vandewalker said that since they first received word months ago that they would have to leave the house, they have been trying to find new quarters, with the usual rebuff. There are rooms and apartments all right, but nothing for families with children.

Find Baby's Body Hidden In Trunk

KINGSTON, Feb. 4 (CP)—The partly-decomposed body of an infant was found in a trunk at Sunnyside Child Centre here Friday, it was learned today.

The trunk is the property of a former member of the domestic staff who left the orphanage in December after working there for less than a month.

She was expected to return to her duties but a few days ago she advised Sunnyside officials she would not return. She asked them to send her trunk and other belongings to Hamilton.

While preparing the trunk for shipment officials noticed an offensive odour.

Police were called and after opening the trunk found the body concealed under some clothing.

No charges have yet been laid and the identity of the girl has not been revealed.

Russians Let Trucks Through

BERLIN, Feb. 4 — (AP). — The Russians abruptly dropped all inspection of Berlin-bound truck traffic shortly before noon today.

Soviet frontier guards started moving stacked-up vehicles through the Helmstedt frontier post at the rate of one every minute.

Earlier today the Soviet Zone Economic Commission had sent word "normal" clearance of the truck traffic would start Monday.

West German border police said the backlog of waiting trucks that had reached a maximum of 230 was rapidly disappearing.

The police said at the rate the Russians were waving all traffic through, the border would be clear by mid-afternoon.

The Russians Friday night halted all truck traffic for nearly three hours, explaining the highway to Berlin was "dangerously icy." Later they opened the road and began clearing trucks at the rate of five an hour.

Prince Charles Sturdy Baby

SANDRINGHAM, Norfolk, England, Feb. 4 (CP)—Friends of the Royal Family say Prince Charles strenuously objects to going out in his pram.

He is becoming a sturdy boy—one year old last November—and runs about outside in all weathers. Sometimes his "Nanny," sister Helen Lightbody, takes him for long walks in the grounds of the King's Norfolk estate.

In case he grows tired, she takes the pram along, but Prince Charles resists any attempt to put him in it, preferring to push.

Princess Elizabeth, who joined the King and Queen at Sandringham on New Year's Eve, had hoped to go to Malta again about the middle of February. HMS Chequers, in which the Duke of Edinburgh is serving, is due back from exercises then.

But her engagements between now and the end of February have so piled up that the Princess has postponed her visit until the spring.

The King's health has improved steadily during his stay at Sandringham and he looks fitter than for some time.

Stop Giving Cigars After 5th Set Of Twins

DENISON, Tex., Feb. 4—(AP) —Mrs Henry White of Durant, Okla., has run out of names and Mr. White stopped passing out cigars long ago.

They've just had twins for the fifth time.

That makes 19 children for the Whites. Sixteen of them are living. The first twins arrived in 1932, the second in 1938, the third in 1947 and the fourth in 1949.

Two sets were girls and the other three were mixed.

Railmen At Cartier See Exploding Star

SUDBURY, Feb. 4 (CP)—A tale of an exploding star was told today by C. Paquette of Sudbury, who works as a Canadian Pacific Railway yardman at Cartier. He and two other workers in the Cartier yards saw the unusual sight at 2.04 a.m. Thursday.

"It was a slightly foggy night and we couldn't see the stars, but the moon was good and bright," Paquette said. "All of a sudden there was a flash as bright as lightning that showed on the ground and then bright fragments flew out in all directions. It was just like a bursting sky-rocket."

To back up his story, Paquette has foreman Eddie Poirier and yardman Jack Blanchard, who were working in the Cartier yards at the time.

Death Sentence Has Been Lifted

NAPANEE, Feb. 4—(CP)—The death sentence on Alfred Childs, 17-year-old farmhand sentenced to be hanged Feb. 10 for murder in the rifle-slaying of a farmer near here last summer, Friday night was commuted to life imprisonment.

Childs was convicted by a Supreme Court jury here Nov. 19 in the slaying of Elijah McQuaig, fatally wounded by rifle bullets fired from a barn while working in a field June 29.

The Napanee Ministerial Association and Col. Wallace Bunton of the Salvation Army recently made pleas for commutation of the death sentence, because of the youth of the accused.

U.S. Soldiers Check Signals

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., Feb. 4—(CP)—American troops today were posted at two points 40 and 50 miles south of Haines Junction on the Alaska Highway to monitor the 500 kilocycle frequency used for radio distress signals.

They will remain there for at least one more day. More U.S. troops will move into another location at Pon Lake, in the immediate vicinity of Haines Junction, to monitor radio signals that may bring new clues as to the whereabouts of the missing United States C-54 transport plane and its 44 occupants. Haines Junction is 102 miles west of here.

The listening posts were established Wednesday in locations where voice and code radio messages were reported heard on emergency frequencies.

Air Commodore Martin Costello, of Winnipeg, search coordinator in Operation Mike, said the Americans picked up a few signals but they were identified as normal ship communications.

Ten American B-29 planes took off from Great Falls, Mont., Friday and made a 200-mile search swath around the eastern and northern end of the main Yukon search area and landed at Fairbanks. They had nothing to report.

Lord Norman Banker Dies

LONDON, Feb. 4. (AP)—Lord Norman, 78, longtime governor of the Bank of England and one of the most famous of the world's bankers, died at his home here today.

He was born Montagu Collett Norman. The king, on the advice of Winston Churchill's wartime coalition government, raised him to the peerage in 1944.

He had headed the Bank of England from 1920 to 1944.

Labor Gov't Class Warfare Tears UK Apart—Churchill

LEEDS, England, Feb. 4 (AP)—Winston Churchill accused the Labor Government today of tearing Britain apart with class warfare at the most critical hour in its peacetime history.

Churchill said the Labor Party, taking a leaf from Soviet Russia's book, has kept wartime controls in order "to get everyone into their power, and make them stand in queues for the favors which an all-wise and all-powerful governing machine chooses to bestow."

In a speech prepared for an election campaign rally in the town hall of this Yorkshire textile centre of 500,000 people, the 75-year-old Conservative Party leader declared:

"Even if all our strength were united we should be confronted with the hardest task and problem we have ever faced in time of peace.

"But we are a deeply divided nation. Class warfare has rent the unities and comradeship which brought us through the war. Party politics dominate the scene. A great gulf of principle and doctrine is open in our midst."

Leeds is one of the biggest cities in the industrial north of England, which both of the major parties regard as a main battleground in the general election Feb. 23.

Churchill said all the governments of the western world except that of the labor administration of Prime Minister Attlee desired strongly to lift wartime controls as soon as possible after peace came.

Churchill conceded that "with so little home-grown food we in Britain must move with caution."

Car Skids On Icy Road Father, Son Injured

MORRISBURG, Feb. 4—(CP)—A father and son were injured near here Friday night when their automobile skidded on icy stretch of Highway No. 2 and pitched down a steep embankment.

N. H. Lawson, teacher at the Aultsville Continuation School, suffered a fractured pelvis and was taken to Cornwall Hospital. His young son, Billy, was allowed to return home after being treated for head and leg injuries.

New Cheese Contract To Stabilize Industry

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP) — Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, said Friday Canada's contract with Britain for sale of 85,000,000 pounds of cheese will have a "stabilizing influence" on the dairy industry.

'With care in marketing," he told the Ontario Cattle Breeders' Association, "Canada may look forward to even a larger cheese outlet in Britain."

Sabotage Attacks Spread By Reds Across Europe

PARIS, Feb. 4 (AP)—A Communist sabotage attack, aimed at smashing the Atlantic pact and Marshall aid, is spreading over Western Europe.

For the moment the attacks seem confined largely to France. But United States sources here think the biggest drive ultimately will come in Italy.

In France there are two immediate objectives:

1. To prevent unloading of American military equipment coming to Europe under the military aid program.

2. To cripple France's effort to save Indo-China from the Communists. Forces fighting the French-sponsored regime there of former Emperor Bao Dai are viewed by the French government as the spearhead of a Red thrust through southeast asia.

The Communist operation plan here in France is clear-cut. A real grievance held by a local group is linked to a Cominform political aim. And the Communists have real "workers' grievances" to exploit.

Wages have lagged behind prices. Months ago the government promised to lift the freeze order on wages and permit some collective bargaining. The freeze still is on.

Often the Reds have manoeuvred social labor unions into demonstrations against low wages, American aid, and the Indo-China affair, all in a bundle.

Communist leaders well-known in France have been sent as shock troop organizers to the main centres of the country. Dock workers at Marseille, always a trouble spot, refused to load ships carrying arms and men to Indo-China. Supplies for the troops in the Far East often arrive sabotaged.

5 Planes In Search Find No Wreckage

BALTIMORE, Feb. 4—(AP)—Five planes of the Maryland National Guard returned to their bases Friday night after a futile three-hour search for an unidentified aircraft reported down in Chesapeake Bay.

The search started when a man called the Baltimore airport to say he had seen an aicraft trailing heavy black smoke plunge down in the bay about 10 miles off Baltimore.

Police and airport officials were unable to find anyone else who had seen any plane crash into the bay.

Armed Thugs Kidnap Truck Driver

Drive Him Six Miles From Beer Truck Rob Him Of $200

TORONTO, Feb. 4—(CP)—Two men, one armed with a revolver, kidnapped and robbed a brewery truck driver of $200 in suburban Markham Township Friday and released him unmolested at Toronto's northern limits.

James Shields of 523 Woburn Ave., North York, told police the men stopped his truck and forced him into a car.

"They did not touch me. Just took $200 I had collected on my rounds," he said.

Shields is employed by Hardy Cartage Co.

The men let Shields out of their car at Bathurst St. and Sheppard Ave. in North York.

"I was so excited I was only able to describe one man, the one with the gun," said Shields.

He said the man wore a ski cap and jacket and light trousers. The man was about 23 years of age.

Taken 6 Miles

Chief Constable Clarence Wideman of Markham Township, who is investigating, said the men took Shields about six miles before releasing him.

Shields said he was going west on the Whitchurch-Markham town line about 4 p.m. when a car pulled up alongside of him and forced him to pull his truck to the side of the road.

"Both men got out and one pointed a gun at me and told me to get out of the truck and get in the car. The other man took the collection money," said Shields.

He said one man did all the talking. Neither struck him or used violence of any sort. When he was let out of the car he immediately went to a farm house and called police.

The beer truck was found on the side road.

Elderly Woman Fractures Hip

LINDSAY, Feb. 4.—Skidding as he crossed the railway tracks at Victoria Avenue while travelling east on Colborne Street, Craig Sedgwick was involved in an accident which resulted in serious injuries to an 88-year-old woman, Mrs. Phoebe Balfour.

Road conditions were poor and although the Board of Works has finished sanding operations at the scene of the accident less than 15 minutes before it occurred, the sand had not penetrated the ice sufficiently to provide traction for vehicles. When Sedgwick applied his brakes coming over the slight rise at the track, the resulting skid catapulted him into a cross-arm railway warning sign, which broke. It is believed that the sign fell on Mrs. Balfour, and her injuries include a broken left hip and a slight concussion. Mrs. Balfour was taken to Ross Memorial Hospital for X-ray.

High Mass Celebrated For Late Mrs. De Noble

Solemn requiem high mass was celebrated at Sacred Heart Church Friday for Mrs. Gennaro De Noble, 472 Parnel St., who died Tuesday. The celebrant was the Rev. F. M. Grant, Rev. G. F. Sullivan was deacon and Rev. G. J. O'Sullivan, sub deacon.

Pall bearers were John Cupoli, Camille Mattucci, Patrick White, Frank Lucano, Enberto Marangoni, John Dangelantonia, Thomas Ammola and Atello Chichette.

Graveside prayers were said by the Rev. G. S. Sullivan who was assisted by the Rev. F. M. Grant. Burial was in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Newspaper Guild Loses Vote On Toronto Telegram

TORONTO, Feb. 4.—The Toronto Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL), a local of the American Newspaper Guild, Friday night lost a collective bargaining vote among editorial employees of The Telegram. The Guild was favored by 46.5 per cent of those eligible to vote. There were 158 eligible to take part in the vote.

The Guild received 74 votes — six short of a required 80 for a majority.

Application for certification was made by the Guild to the Ontario Labor Relations Board early in December, 1949, and a hearing was held Jan. 4.

The Guild filed 104 cards representing members. An intervening group of employees filed a petition signed by 54 editorial employees opposing the Guild. Another petition was signed by 85 asking that a vote be held.

The three parties to the hearing —The Telegram, the Guild and the intervener—agreed on the vote. The labor board ordered a vote in a decision handed down Jan. 13.

During the hearing, counsel for The Telegram asked for the exclusion of 13 office boys and record room employees from the bargaining unit.

In its decision, the labor board included the two categories in the bargaining unit—but excluded the head of the office boys and record room. Also excluded below the level of city editor were sports editor, financial and women's editor.

Duplessis Asks Hear Views On Taxation

QUEBEC, Feb. 4 (CP)—Premier Duplessis has asked Federal authorities to express their views on the question of Federal and Provincial taxation rights.

In a 1,100-word reply to Prime Minister St. Laurent's Jan. 27 letter advising it might be appropriate to start work on a provincial agenda for the autumn Federal-Provincial conference, the Quebec premier said his government was convinced the provinces had a priority in matters of direct taxation.

The reply, dated Feb. 1, was released by the Premier at his weekly press conference Friday along with the 27 word letter from Prime Minister St. Laurent

Would Define Powers.

"We are convinced that in spirit and letter the Canadian constitution grants to the provinces a priority at least in matters of direct taxation; however, since there are contrary opinions which we respect without sharing, there would be an occasion to define clearly, the taxation powers of each and all the authorities of Canadian government," the letter stated.

"We believe further that a delimitation beyond question of federal powers and provincial powers is needed even if we are convinced that certain contestation of provincial powers is ill-founded."

In another press conference matter the Premier made known that his government was not prepare to put aside the over-all provincial roads program for the sake of the Trans-Canada Highway, though it wishes to co-operate in that project.

C. A. Weir To Head Community Programs

Charles A. Weir, recreation director for Stratford for the past 2½ years, has been appointed field representative for the Ontario Government's community programs branch in the Peterborough area. The announcement was made Friday by Herbert Parker, Stratford Recreation Commission chairman.

D. A. Garvie of Toronto community programs director for Central Ontario, said that he had not been notified of the official appointment of Mr. Weir. He explained he expected that once Mr. Weir is acquainted with the territory he will take over the district for the community programs. Mr. Weir is a native of Saskatoon, Sask.

VISIT SWIMMING POOL

Mayor Swanston and some of the members of the council have been over to see the advanced stage of the Lion Club swimming pool. They came back with highly complimentary impression of what the club has done for the community in this project. Its estimated cost was around $35,000 and will be nearer $50,000.

Collegiate Girls Win Two Games

Both Collegiate girls quintets successfully invaded the Cabourg Collegiate gym Friday taking the Lakeshore seniors 31-14 and the juniors 14-6. Both games were sewed and packed away in the first halves. The wins were the second straights over the Cobourg lasses by the locals.

Led by Margie Lang and Lorraine Derry, Miss Eva Scott's juniors piled up a 12-6 score in the first half as Marg Clarke, Anne LaPointe and Audrey McGee starred on the rear guard position. The Cobourg girls came back in the second half to hold the PCI'ers to one basket by Phyllis Peryer while they were being held scoreless.

Margie Lang had five points for the locals while Lorraine Derry had three, Pat Nixon, Ida Holland, and Phyllis Peryer two each. A McCuaig led the Cobourg squad with four while I. Reedy had two points.

Miss Doreen Pemberton's seniors walked over the Cobourg quintet in the first half 19-5. Mary Craw with 10 points and Betty Jaquith were the Collegians big guns during the half. The Cobourg girls tried to even the play in the second half led by D. Medhurst but Mary Braund, Mary Craw and Peggy Estlick, backed by a sound defence which made plays break fast, scored to keep the PCI'ers up 12-9.

Mary Craw was well out in front in the scoring summary with 15 points, seven baskets and a foul shot. Betty Jaquith placed second with seven and Mary Braund third with five. Other points went to Peggy Estlick and Carol Raper two each.

D. Medhurst scored six points for the Cobourg seniors while M. Webb sank four points, B. Thompson and K. Tunney two each.

Industrial Fair To Be Part Of Centennial

Dates for Kiwanis Industrial Fair, one of the events of Peterborough's centennial celebration, were sent for June 5-7 by the reception committee of the council Friday afternoon.

Board of Governors of the new Civic Hospital are being requested to fix a date for the formal opening as a guide to the committee and the council in its desire to co-operate in the planning for this outstanding feature of the 100th anniversary of Peterborough's municipal incorporation.

Directors of the Exhibition are being asked to consider means of investing their August show with atmosphere accentuating this year of civic celebration. A recent suggestion that the churches of the city arrange for a centennial Sunday has already brought first approving replies indicating that this will develop into probably the religious event of the general program.

With an eye to one of the colorful details, the committee is appealing to business, particularly in the down town area, to send its festive flags to the laundry to restore the beauty of these Union Jacks. This suggestion applies especially to the flags for which there are curbline footings.

Additional Members

The co-ordinating committee appointed by the council is inviting Ross L. Dobbin and Robt. J. Bolton to join them. The original members are James Hamilton, Wm. J. Ovens and Robertson Davies. Mr. Hamilton said that he is planning a late winter holiday trip, and because of his absence during those weeks he suggested that some one else should be named to assist this special committee.

Representatives of military service and ex-service groups are being asked to send representatives to a meeting with the co-ordinating committee Wednesday, Feb. 8 at 4 p.m. to consider plans and scope of Warriors Day for which Civic Holiday has been proposed.

These are some of the unit activities which are beginning to take shape in the broad and continuing pattern which Peterborough has chosen for its centenary.

Dismayed By Story

The story Hoover unfolded at a three-hour closed meeting of a Senate appropriations sub-committee Friday brought astonishment, dismay and grim determination to the men who heard him.

As outlined by the senators present, Hoover's story was this:

Fuchs became a paid Moscow agent as early as 1939. A physicist, he went to Britain from Germany and applied for and received citizenship papers in 1942.

He worked his way to the top of the British atomic delegation and came to the U.S. cleared by the British security agencies, he was given unquestioned access to American atomic secrets.

He took part in atomic matters in the U.S. from late 1943 until June, 1946.

Senators quoted Hoover as saying Fuchs has confessed to passing along atomic and hydrogen bomb information to the Russians. The scientist faces trial in British courts, but possibly on a relatively minor charge so that still secret information will not be revealed in testimony.

Pick Up Trial

The FBI picked up Fuch's trail through information gathered about the Canadian atomic spy ring, which was broken four years ago. This information came within the last six months and was passed along to British authorities, who arrested Fuchs quickly.

A scientist who worked with him said that Fuchs got enough information to advance the Russian atomic time table at least a year.

Advance Bomb Year

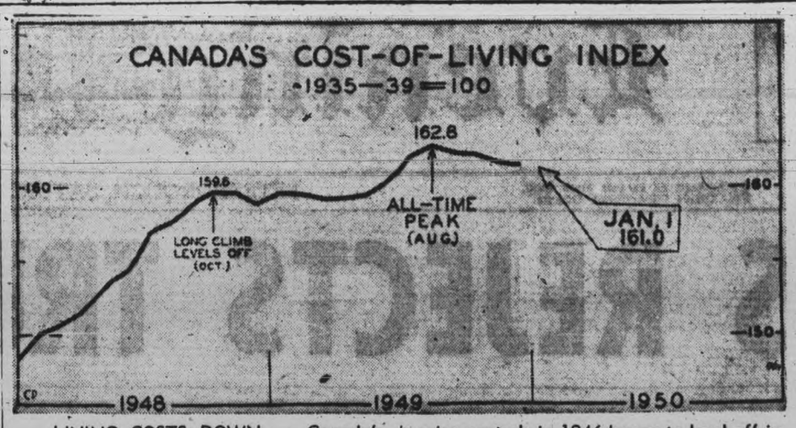
Dr. Earl Long, professor in the chemistry department at the University of Chicago's Institute of Metals, said:

"If he really did transmit information, I should think that his knowledge is such that completion of an atom bomb could conceivably have been advanced by one year."

The Fuchs case cut loose a torrent of demands from Congressmen that the United States go it entirely alone in development of the super-destructive H-bomb.

Watch Plant Closes

WALTHAM, Mass., Feb. 4 — (AP)—The 100-year-old Waltham Watch Company—oldest in the United States—shut down on Friday amid bitter charges the American watch-making industry was being "sold down the river." A company representative and labor union leaders joined in denouncing the Reconstruction Financing Corporation for refusing to extend the firm another $2,000,000 in working capital to keep going.



LIVING COSTS DOWN — Canada's cost-of-living index continued to decline in December. On Jan. 1, 1950, it stood at 161.0, a drop of a half point in a month and the fifth consecutive monthly decrease. The long climb from the ending of major price controls in 1946 began to level off in October of 1948. It rose slightly during the summer of 1949 to reach an all-time peak of 162.8 in August. The December decrease was due largely to a sharp drop in the price of eggs.

Joseph Curtis Injures Hip

HAVELOCK, Feb. 4 (ENS)—Joseph Curtis suffered a severely injured right hip Friday afternoon when struck by a car travelling west on No. 7 highway, driven by Captain Robert S. Richards, of the Canadian Army, Ottawa.

Mr. Curtis was standing off the sidewalk on the corner of No. 7 highway and Oak Street talking to a friend. He had just completed his conversation, loked in the westerly direction for traffic and turning around to go back to the sidewalk stepped in front of Capt. Richard's car coming from th east. He was thrown into the air.

Mr. Curtis was taken to Mrs. Cumming's Nursing Home where he is under treatment by Dr. D J. Holdcroft, who reported that in addition to the hip injury, he is suffering from severe shock Mr. Curtis is more than 60 years old.

Captain Richards, who has been on duty in Washington, D.C., was returning there to bring his wife and family to Ottawa. Chief of Police Bell investigated and decided no charges would be laid.

Mrs. William H. Bell Dies At Age Of Ninety

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 4 — Mrs. William Henry Bell died today at the home of her son Henry, in Emily township, at the age of 90. She was a daughter of the late Solomon Dunk and Martha Whatley and before her marriage was Maria Priscilla Dunk.

For the past 11 years she lived at her son's home and had lived previously in Lakefield. She was educated in Dummer.

A member of Murray St. Baptist Church, Peterborough, she was also an Orangewoman, being a member of Warsaw Lodge.

She leaves four children: Mrs. Joseph LaRush (Ella), of Port Arthur; Mrs. Gordon Armes (Annie), of Toronto; Henry of Emily, and Edward of Warsaw.

A service will be held at the Funeral Home, Lakefield, Wednesday, at 2 p.m., conducted by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, of Murray St. Baptist Church, and burial will be in St. Mark's Cemetery, Warsaw.

Obituary

MRS. SARAH HEFFERNAN

After a four-month illness Mrs Sarah Heffernan of R.R. 6, Peterborough (Keene Rd.) died early today in a Peterborough hospital.

Mrs. Heffernan was the former Sarah Maguire and was believed to be the last remaining member of her family. She was born near Grafton, daughter of the late James Maguire and Elizabeth Fitzpatrick.

Since 1923 she lived in Otonabee township.

She leaves three daughters—Mrs. Albert Lynch and Mrs. Leo Keogan, both of Hastings, and Mrs. Harry Lynch of Peterborough; and three sons—Thomas Frank and Joseph, all of Otonabee.

Her late husband, John Heffernan, died in 1935. Mrs. Heffernan married twice. At the time of her second marriage she was Sarah Maguire Burns.

She was a member of Our Lady of the Assumption Church.

The funeral will be from the residence of her son Frank, Lot 21, Concession 11, Otonabee on Monday to Our Lady of the Assumption Church for requiem mass at 9 a.m.

Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Grafton.

Drop In Some Food Prices Cuts 1949 Cost of Living

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 (CP)—The Canadian cost-of-living index dipped steadily for the last five months of 1949. But at the end of the year it still was 1.5 points higher than at the beginning.

During 1948, the index rose 9.5 points.

The index, based on 1935-39 average prices equal 100, began 1949 at 159.5.

During December, eggs fell an average of 15 cents a dozen, pulling the index down half-a-point to 161, the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

The index reached its 1949 peak —162.8—in July and declined steadily for the rest of the year.

In December, eggs led such foods as pork, lard, shortening and some homefurnishings in price declines. Partially offsetting these were higher prices for fresh vegetables, sugar, coffee, beef and lamb.

The food sub-index fell 2.5 points to 199.4, the first time it has dropped below 200 since April, 1949.

Clothing Declines

Prices for homefurnishings and clothing declined. Rents were unchanged and fuel and light and miscellaneous items were higher.

The clothing index dropped from 183.7 in November to 183.3 Homefurnishings declined from 167.1 to 167, the result lower prices for blankets, dishes and laundry soap with slight increases in telephone and laundry rates.

The fuel index, as a result of higher coke prices, especially in Ontario, rose from the previous high of 135.2 to 135.6.

The miscellaneous index reached a new high of 131.6 from 130.5 The miscellaneous index, usually the most stable, is based on an annual survey by the bureau and the increase reflected the results of the last survey. It found higher prices for drugs, hospital care, medical, dental and barbers fees and newspapers.

The rent index—based on a quarterly survey—was unchanged at 125. The last rent survey was in November.

trying to hunt up new customers in the United States.

The Cape Breton steel industry has stood up well and so, in the main, have agriculture and fishing in the Maritimes.

Peculiar Economy

The trade picture would probably not show such a marked contrast if the Maritimes had a more diversified economy. But the seaside provinces have, in view of their geographical position, stuck mostly to industries growing out of natural resources. Comparatively few secondary industries have been developed.

Right now, the Maritimes are hoping for the re-balancing of old trade scales with Britain. Until Britain—and a lot of other countries—lick the dollar problem, it is going to go fairly hard with a lot of easterners.

Norwood Victors

NORWOOD, Feb. 4 (ENS)—The Intermediate Circle League teams, Havelock and Norwood played in Norwood arena Thursday evening, with the homesters winning 5-2. Play was rough throughout, threatening to get out of hand altogether in the third, when 10 penalties were meted out. Stew Rusaw was gated for five minutes for talking back to Referee Hamilton.

There was a good sheet of ice but no crowd.

Following the game, a dance was held in the Town Hall, sponsored by the Circle League. Round and square dancing was enjoyed to the music of Art Jones and his Melody Men. Lunch was served by members of the teams.

Lineup:

Norwood: Goal, H. Stenson; defence A. Lobb, B. Gardeni; centre, F. Waldon; wings, J. McMillan, K. Button; alternates, 'Bay' Webb, K. Cuthbertson H. Scott, S. Rusaw, A. Scott, C. Lobb D. Andrews, J. Robson, A. Fairfield.

Red Poll Club Has Good Year

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP)—Members of the Ontario Red Poll Club, comparative newcomers to the ranks of purebred cattle breeders, are prepared for a bright future.

At the annual meeting here, members said they would make every effort to keep up breed standards of the Red Poll and do their best "to make an Ontario man the next president of the national association."

The Red Poll is a large, dual-purpose animal, becoming more steadily popular on diversified farms in Ontario. It runs about 1,200 to 1,500 pounds for females and 1,800 to 2,000 pounds for males.

The Ontario group, which listed eight breeders in 1934 and 74 last year, passed a motion asking that Ontario be the 1951 site of the Canadian association's annual meeting.

In "Fair" Condition

James Halsey, 60, who was knocked down Thursday by a car while crossing the street at Aylmer and Charlotte, is reported to have rested "fairly well" at St. Joseph's Hospital. He suffered head injuries and his condition reported "fair" on Friday has not changed.

Earl Putman, president of the Canada Health and Accident Assurance Corporation, Waterloo, will be the guest speaker at the Rotary Club's luncheon Monday. His topic will be "The Common Denominator of Success."

Donations Made For Research Do Most Good

COBOURG, Feb. 4—Addressing the Rotary Club here Friday, Dr. Fred Blackwell questioned whether money raised in recent health campaigns was being spent where it would do the most good.

"Does it go to assist the men who are doing research work to further health," the speaker asked. He added that financial appeals for health were worthy projects, but felt that such money devoted to research channels would do most good.

Referring to the recent campaign for the Hospital for Sick Children, Dr. Blackwell declared it was a great cause, but he wondered how much the contractors and equipment supply houses "knocked off" their contracts to make the financial load easier for the hospital.

"I don't mean the laborer on the job, but the contractors and the companies who supply equipment. How much did they discount their prices to help the hospital? It would be informative to know the answer to that quesion," he said.

Speaking on National Health Week, Dr Blackwell said emphasis might well be placed on a healthy tuture for boys and girls of 16, rather than people in their forties.

He mentioned a story in a Toronto newspaper about a Toronto girl who discussed the relationship of children and parents and told what parents should do.

"At the bottom of the same page there was another story about a different matter. There we had reference to something which should not be done," said Dr. Blackwell. He apparently was speaking of a series of Ingrid Bergman pictures.

Car Strikes Truck

Mrs. K. Henderson, 47 Conger St., was unable to stop her car Friday on Water St. at Hunter, in time to avoid colliding with a truck travelling immediately in front of her and driven by W. R. H. Fife, Emily Twp.

The incident occurred at 5.30 p.m. when both Mrs. Henderson and Mr. Fife were travelling north. Mrs. C. E. Prest, 47 Conger St., who was a passenger in Mrs. Henderson's car, had her glasses broken.

Damage to Mrs. Henderson's car included a broken headlight, fender dented and punctured, smashed grill and dented hood.

G. B. Shaw Talk Of Broadway With Two Plays

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(CP)—A wise and witty old man with a trenchant pen is the talk of Broadway now. He is George Bernard Shaw, 93-year-old playwright, who has two dramas currently appearing on the Manhattan stage.

At the City Centre a brilliant cast this weekend completes a brief revival of "The Devil's Disciple," Shaw's comedy about the United States Revolutionary War. Meanwhile his "Ceasar and Cleopatra" has triumphantly passed its 50th performance at the National Theatre with Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Lili Palmer as the principals.

Maurice Evans heads the company at the Civic Showcase and is ably abetted by Dennis King, Marsha Hunt and Victory Jory. The production has done so well that Richard Aldrich and Richard Myers are moving it to a midtown theatre as of Feb. 20.

Enchanted Arden

While Shaw is captivating theatre-goers, Shakespeare-lovers are having their innings with one of the bard's lesser work, "As You Like It." It has been given a lavish and enchanting production by the Theatre Guild.

Katharine Hepburn is back on the stage for the first time in seven years as Rosalind, the heroine of this picturesque, lovely and nonsensical trifle. Miss Hepburn is engaging and good to look at, even if not quite as ethereal as she might be.

Light-hearted, Light-Weight

Ebullient Lee Tracy is back again in a light-hearted play called "Mr. Barry's Etching," just arrived at the Forty-Eighth Street Theatre. Playwrights Walter Bullock and Daniel Archer have a happy idea in their comedy about an artist who goes in for etchings — and finds he can turn out excellent $50 bills. The artist is played by Tracy.

There are laughs all the way through but somehow they are never quite as hearty as they should be. The audience is asked to accept a little too much, particularly when the artist holds up a slick pair of counterfeiters with a toy gun. Vicki Cummings looks grand and is grand as the head of the counterfeiters.

Richard Carlyle, a native of St. Catharines, is engagingly dumb as one of Miss Cummings' henchmen, Sawbuck Sam.

Fined $10 and Costs

Milton B. Barnard, 27, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk on Simcoe St. Thursday night and was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court Friday.

Clare T. Callaghan, 411 London St., pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance and was remanded for sentence Monday.

Deny Diverting Tourist Trade

NORTH BAY, Feb. 4—(CP)—An emphatic denial that any official source of information in North Bay has ever attempted to divert the tourist trade from Northern Ontario was made Friday in a letter sent by Bruce McLeod, secretary of the North Bay Chamber of Commerce, to Mayor John Sumbler of New Liskeard.

Mayor Sumbler charged Thursday that "certain factions" in North Bay consistently attempt to keep tourists from going farther north to centres such as New Liskeard, Kirkland Lake and Timmins. He claimed, as an example, that tourists were told of poor road conditions to keep them from travelling any farther north.

Mr McLeod, in answering the charges, said:

"In the past such statements have been made by other officials in northern towns but upon investigation by this Chamber of Commerce they were found to be without foundation in fact.

"Naturally such a broad accusation as you made contributes little to inter-community goodwill and I do hope you will be good enough to advise me by return mail the identity of the 'certain faction' which you accuse."

Mr. Harry Tinney is spending a vacation in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Miss Audrey Keene and Miss Jean Dempster, Toronto, and Miss Mary Tinney, Port Hope, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sutton this week.

Community Honors Newlywed Stewarts

CAVAN, Feb. 4—(ENS)— Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stewart, who were recently married, were guests of honor at the Farm Forum meeting Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sharpe.

The broadcast forum was followed by euchre when first prizes went to Mrs. W. White and Mrs E. Baldwin. Arthur Stewart won the men's prize and Mrs. Harold Bradburn and Harry McCanus the consolation.

Mrs. Tom McCamus read an address to Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Gordon Finnie and Mr Edward Baldwin made the presentation of a mohogany writing desk. Lunch was served.

Book Borrowers Increased 1,295

The number of borrowers at the main and branch libraries increased 1,285 in 1949, according to figures in the librarian's annual report. Borrowers, registered for a two-year period, were 9,660 for 1949 as compared with 8,375 for 1948.

Possibly because the branch library was opened in February there was a slight decrease in borrowers at the main library where 4,563 persons were registered. In 1948 there were 4,851. In the juvenile department, 3,542, was a slight increase over the previous year, and the branch library had 1,189 borrowers.

Twenty-seven per cent of the Peterborough citizens were borrowers at the library as compared with 24.32 per cent in 1948.

10,000 Children Enter Festival

KITCHENER, Feb. 4 — (CP) — Ten thousand school children are expected to participate in the Waterloo - Wellington County Music Festival in Kitchener April 17-22.

The festival was an outstanding success when held for the first time last year and attracted more than 6,000 pupil participants. District schools, public and separate, elementary and secondary, are represented in the competitions.

The festival is this year under the auspices of the music educators of Waterloo county and the Ontario Music Teachers' Association.

A four day event last year, the festival has been extended to a full week. Three new adult events have been added to the competitions. They are college, church and community choir events.

Spot West Of Kenora Junction For Highway

WINNIPEG, Feb. 4—(CP)—George Collins, Manitoba deputy minister of highways, said Friday that it has been "no secret" that Ontario and Manitoba have planned to join their sections of the trans-Canada highway at a spot just west of Kenora, Ont.

Kenora is about 32 miles east of the Manitoba-Ontario border and the joining place would be at a place called West Hawk Lake. Mr. Collins said that there also are "elaborate" plans for an interprovincial park at that point. He added that the plans for the park were considered years ago but had been "shelved" by the war.

Municipal Appointment

MARMORA, Feb. 4—(ENS)—Percy Embury has been appointed municipal officer and constable in succession to Thomas McCann who resigned.

Euchre At Legion

NORWOOD, Feb. 4—(ENS)—Forty people were present at the Legion euchre party Wednesday. Matt Allman was master of ceremonies and prize winners were Mrs. George Oitment and Mr Archie Aldred. Lunch was served.

$100 STUDEBAKER

STUDEBAKER CORPORATION OF CANADA, IN HAMILTON, ONTARIO, have announced, effective immediately, that due to the terrific public acceptance of our Canadian built cars, production is such that it has enabled a price decrease on all models of $100.00.

STUDEBAKER is now making its bid for recognition in the low price field, as the best value per dollar the industry can offer.

POINTS YOU SHOULD KNOW TO COMPARE:

1. 85 H.P. - L Head Champion Engine capable of speeds up to 93 m.p.h.
2. Guaranteed minimum gas mileage on standard equipment of 26 miles per gallon at 50 m.p.h. Maximum reported by local customers up to 34 miles per gal.
3. Centre point steering gives finger-tip control at any speeds on straightway or corners.
4. The longest coil springs of any car in its price field, and raked rearward at 15% angle to roll into the punch rather than pound straight up and down over rough roads—a riding and handling enjoyment you have to experience to appreciate. Sea leg rear shock mountings eliminate tail-whip and side-sway on rough and twisty roads.
5. Twist resisting frame with a new very low centre of gravity and tilting point, mounted on wide base safety rims and low pressure super cushion tires give a combination built for punishment. Road clearance is second to none at 8¼ inches.
6. No other manufacturer can give you all this in sure stop safety brakes — sealed against weather (foot regulated) requiring very soft pedal pressure, (self-adjusting) never need setting up, (self-centering) never pull to right or left and a hand brake separate from the foot hydraulics to assure brakes at all time, in any emergency.
7. Studebaker's broad, soft, form - fitting cushions wide, easy entrance doors and spacious carry-all trunks, provide a superb combination of roominess and ease.
8. Studebaker's air-conditioning provides a comfort you won't believe until you experience a trip at sub-zero temperature. Heating unit is built under the seat to assure no cold passengers or feet in the rear seat. The air passing through the heating unit is fresh from outside at all times. All windows are kept clear of frost to give mid-summer vision for all passengers. You can truly travel in your shirt sleeves under any weather conditions.

This list would go on indefinitely, such as bonderized rust-resistiing bodies, insulated bodies, rust-resisting chrome refrigerator type handles, black light instrument dials, automatic door lights, all dual equipment on horns, visors, etc.

All in all it adds up to the best buy for 1950. Thousands of Studebaker buyers across Canada can't be wrong when they enthusiastically say "Talk about economy, can that baby get out and go, it rides like a cloud and sticks to the road as if it were built to it," or "I have the most modern designed car available today, people stop and look at it, they always comment 'There goes a Studebaker.' With this car everyone in my neighborhood knows I have a 1950 model. My friends and business associates are so interested in Studebaker, I spend more time discussing my car and demonstrating it than I do looking after my business."

In other words, "Ask someone who owns one." The designers, the stylers, the engineers, have put every modern touch available into the building of the new 1950 model. The well-known top quality materials, workmanship and craftsmanship alawys associated with Studebakers are still there and always will be as long as they remain the largest independent manufacturers of automobiles in the world today. Their engineering department, research department and proving grounds at South Bend, Indiana, are second to none in the industry in size and developments of accepted firsts in the automobile trade.

Can you afford to miss inspecting and having a demonstration drive knowing all this—and priced—4 Door Deluxe Sedan, with license, spare tire and tank full of gas at $2,113,40.

Come in today and see for yourself or phone us for an evening demonstration:—

More Responsibility For The Young

Some remarks which were made by Joyce Sachs, a Toronto girl of seventeen, in the form of a sermon at a Unitarian church, have been reported at length in the Globe and Mail, and we feel that they deserve comment. Miss Sachs feels that young people—the group sometimes lumped under the unpleasant title of "teen-agers"—should be given more responsibility for their own actions than is customary at present. She points out, with logic, that a century ago a girl of sixteen was thought ready to marry and raise a family; why should a girl of that age now be hedged about with restrictions which suggest that she is a child? And the attitude of society in general toward young people is, in her opinion "unflattering"; it is the juvenile delinquents, rather than the thousands of well-balanced young people, who attract attention.

• • •

This is all quite true, and supports an attitude which we have often taken in these columns. It is an economic problem, in certain important respects. Young people today are not ready for economic independence as they were in 1850, and there is no escaping the fact that while their parents pay their bills their parents will want to tell them how to behave. And Miss Sachs must realize that it is just as natural for older people to disapprove of young people as it is for young people to consider their elders stuffy and out-of-date. The war between the generations is a very real one. The painful sense that the younger generation is knocking at the door — the problem which Ibsen explores so searchingly in The Master Builder—is always a thorn in the flesh to a generation which is aging.

• • •

Real understanding of their children is not given to all parents. Nor, it must be said, do some members of Miss Sachs' generation make it possible for their elders to understand them, for they repulse the advances of older people with calculated rudeness. Young people of the best sort undoubtedly are on excellent terms with older people of the best sort, and always have been so for generations, but far too many people are the prisoners of their generations; they have very little understanding of any point of view but their own.

• • •

Miss Sachs thinks that the intelligence and trustworthiness of her generation is undervalued, and we thoroughly agree with her. But we suggest that there are many among her generation who likewise undervalue the intelligence of their elders—pitiful though this may be in many instances. And the hard fact remains that respect comes only with independence, and our economic system permits independence to the young later and later in life.

Who Caused The N.Y. Water Shortage?

It had never occurred to us that the present serious shortage of water in New York might be the work of one man until we read the following statement:

"If you do not love men and keep my commandments I will curse your going out and I will curse your coming in and I will curse you in your storehouses and in your baskets! I said, I will dry up your rivers and I will dry up your streams! This water shortage in New York City has been just a slight sketch and a reflection of what I will do . . . Unless they repent, they shall in like manner perish as Sodom and as Gomorrah."

The utterer of these remarkable words is the Negro evangelist, Father Divine.

We presume that our readers know something about Father Divine. He admits that he is God, and he has persuaded a large number of people, chiefly from among his own race, to believe him. He lives in considerable style and he seems to provide his adherents with a happiness which they cannot find elsewhere.

In claiming responsibility for the New York water shortage we feel that Father Divine has gone a little too far. The city might decide to bill him for damages, and although this would provide a striking authentication of his claim, it would also cost him a great deal of money.

The World Awaits A Philosopher

Out of the great genius of Einstein have come in the last fifty years two mathematical formulas, so intriguing to behold that popular books and news magazines have printed them. Yet they mean nothing, absolutely nothing, to nearly all the readers. But they may hold tion of the microcosm and the macrowithin their symbols keys to an explanacosm for which philosophy has searched for three thousand years.

In our twentieth century have come new techniques, vast extensions of pure and applied science, and the power to blow up old worlds and to integrate new. In our time has come the human ability to have concourse with the very sun, which in old days was the centre of the universe.

What has great man, the instrument of all these discoveries, to say about what he has done? Nothing, save incomprehensible mathematical symbols and two bombs on a Japanese island. Yet, it seems that in his hand he holds the answer to the dichotomy of the ages, the dichotomy between mind and matter. And as surely as revolutionary techniques have been evolved, a revolutionary theory of knowledge has been made essential. Who is there, even among the scientists and philosophers, who dares or can set down the implications of the new science? None, it seems. An Alfred North Whitehead turned from mathematics and taught well. A Bertrand Russell, mathematician and philosopher, ponders. But Whitehead died too soon after the first atomic explosion, and Russell has never seemed capable of integrating the fields of knowledge he has explored. A social philosopher like Shaw has come too early on our scene to understand and validly assess the new science.

Almost 300 years ago the German man of affairs and philosopher Leibniz offered a theory of knowledge—an epistemological thesis in several books—which today challenges the paucity of our thinkers. He, with the limited seventeenth century science as his base—much of it long since demonstrated to be false—expounded the nature of substance in understandable words which are curiously fitting to twentieth century scientific discoveries. He postulated monads, by which he characterized matter as force.

"In the smallest particle of matter there is a world of creatures, living beings, animals, entelechies, souls. Each portion of matter may be conceived as like a garden full of plants, and like a pond full of fishes. But each branch of every plant, each member of every animal, each drop of its liquid parts, is also some such garden or pond. Thus there is nothing fallow, nothing sterile, nothing dead in the universe; no chaos, no confusion save in appearance, somewhat as it might appear to be in a pond at a distance, in which one would see a confused movement, and, as it were, a swarming of fish in the pond, without separately distinguishing the fish themselves."

In this century clever men of science have postulated and used substance as energy, and have upset the realities of space and time. The monad? We jump three centuries to the electron and practical science which explodes on a Japanese island. This revolution in scientific thought and practice demands reorientation of philosophy. Three centuries ago a young Leibniz was maturing who would dare to speculate on divine philosophy based on science as it was then perceived. Today our mathematicians and physicists have outrun the brilliant conjectures of Leibniz, yet they are mute.

Perhaps our knowledge has gone beyond our capacity to understand. Can intelligent men who are not of the priesthood of science understand the meaning of the symbols? Is science beyond philosophy? Yet somehow philosophy must pronounce on the new learning, and speculate on the teleological significance.

It took Leibniz fifty years to complete his theory of knowledge. Locke, whose system he challenged, published nothing before he was sixty. It may be that a philosopher of the twentieth century science is now at work, and that his lifetime study may redeem us from the darkness of incomprehensible symbols before science has blundered and doomed civilization without knowing what it does.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Life grows more and more complex for the pedestrian. Three of them were blown over and injured by a recent high wind.

Most criminals have a poor school record behind them, says the deputy commissioner of penitentiaries. So have many of our most respected citizens.

Torontonians are boosting Bloor Street west of Yonge as the developing "Fifth Avenue" of Canada. They are a little late; Montrealers already have a claim to the name for their Sherbrooke Street.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Genghis Marchbanks, Esq.
Dear Cousin Genghis:

I am laid low with a cold on my chest which I have been treating with medicated steam. How do you suppose the notion took hold of the gullible public that steam was good for such afflictions? For three days I have lived in an atmosphere like that of a Turkish bath, and I think I am worse, if anything. I have a roaring cough, and pains in my back and legs as though dozens of malignant gnomes were prodding me with old-fashioned bone hairpins. Other gnomes are busy among my tripes with knitting needles.

Steam has been my watchword in such afflictions since I was a boy. I well recall that when I lived in England a friend of mine burst into my room one day as I sat with a towel over my head inhaling the balsam fumes from a fragrant jug; he crept away on tiptoe, and told me afterward that he thought I was at some sort of special worship—a Canadian Day of Atonement—or perhaps weeping uncontrollably into the jug. But I have never found steam of much use. My face takes on a swollen, boiled look, and that is all. Still, steam is as good for a cold as anything else the medical profession has dreamed up.

Yours from the fog.
SAMUEL.

To Miss Nancy Frisgig
Charming Nancy:

When I reflect upon the flightiness of your sex I am inclined to lay much of the blame for it on the decline and fall of the mob-cap. How many women nowadays, I wonder, possess a mob-cap? And yet, when I was a boy, the swathing of the head in a mob-cap was a necessary preliminary to any sort of serious household work. Some women even slept in them, to hide their curling pins. But now, as I go to work in the morning the whole of the street is aflash with curling-pins nakedly exposed.

What happened to the mob-cap, do you know? It was worn, not to keep the hair clean or tidy, but as a sort of martyr's crown —a symbol of the White Woman's Burden. If women ever expect housework to be taken seriously again, it will have to be revived.

Yours warningly,
SAM.

To Mrs. Kedijah Scissorbill
Dear Mrs. Scissorbill:

I am aware that you, madam, as president of the Militant Female Advancement Society, are responsible for many of the outrages perpetrated by women in the present day and I am writing to complain of the conduct of a member of your sex who assaulted me with a revolving door. I was progressing peaceably through the door when a woman—a middle-aged, muscular woman with a jutting jaw and a villanous expression—also entered it and pushed so suddenly and so swiftly that she neatly clipped the lowest layer of leather off the heel of my right shoe. If I had had sufficient presence of mind I would have run this obstreperous hag round and round in the door until she screamed for mercy; but I was caught off guard, and did not do anything, except hop on one leg while the miscreant escaped. But I warn you, madam, women will go too far, and Outraged Mankind will be compelled to Take Steps.

Yours in deep chagrin,
S. MARCHBANKS.

To Miss Minerva Hawser
Dear Miss Hawser:

Yes, I have seen in the papers that Queen Mary is offering for sale a rug which she has hooked with her own hands, but it is useless to appeal to me to contribute to a fund to buy the thing for the Dominion of Canada. Frankly, I do not care whether it goes to the U.S.A. or not, even though that possibility seems to agitate you intolerably. If members of the Royal Family choose to go into the fancy-work business it is no concern of mine, and I will not be blackmailed to buy their stuff. To me a hand-made rug is a dubious object, however royal the hands which hooked it. In every realm of human endeavour I prefer the work of professionals to that of amateurs: I like professional music, professional dancing and professional acting; I seek professional assistance in medicine, dentistry and the preparation of my eyeglasses; I like my tailoring, cooking and distilling done by expert hands; why should I be enthusiastic about amateur rug-making, because the maker is a Queen Dowager? Queen Mary is ill advised I think, to enter a field in which she will meet with severe competition from Persians, Afgnans, Indians and others who have shown unusual aptitude for making rugs. They may even consider her unfair competition, for she has, in her ladies-in-waiting, an endless supply of cheap labour.

Yours sincerely,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

Business called me to Toronto recently, and as I hurried hither and yon in its business district I was impressed by the huge new banks which have either been built, or are now in the process of building. As the towers of cathedrals in the Middle Ages were thought to point the way to heaven, these vast temples of commerce obviously stretch themselves toward the clouds as symbols of unimaginable wealth. And how typically Canadian these huge bank buildings are! They have a kind of stony austerity about them, and a frowning, tight-lipped expression around their doors, which strongly suggests our national attitude toward the really important things of life, such as money.

But it is their sculpture which interests me most. Each bank facade is garnished by thick-waisted girls who contrive, though naked, to look unapproachable and No Fun, and by excessively muscular young men, who are tensed up, like young executives trying to Get Ahead. These creatures are all gods and goddesses in Banker's Mythology, and some of the more important ones are easily identified:

Frigidius is a god usually represented with a beard and washboard muscles on his stomach; he is the deity of branch bank managers, and is always represented with a frown, like a manager refusing to lend $50 to a small business man.

Avaricia is the goddess of thrift, and she is usually represented naked but unamusing, with a look in her stony eye as though she could buy a fur coat, if she wanted to be silly, like other girls.

Usurius is the god of compound interest and he is always represented with a thoughtful look, like a banker doing a sum in his head, and wondering whether he should check it on the calculating machine.

Transpiria is the goddess of professional secrecy, and she usually has one hand over her open mouth, and looks as though she were hinting to a Victory Loan salesman that there is a farmer out in the county with $5,000 in cash in a coffee can under the pigsty floor, and that his wife has $800 in egg money in a Savings Account.

Barometrus is the god of Future Security, and he is represented seated, gazing into the future, like a bank president trying to guess whether the credit companies will cut into his business much more during the coming year. Now and again one sees a representation of a young man chasing a young woman: this is not what you would expect, but Good Money driving out Bad.

So far as I know this school of sculpture, done with a sand-blasting machine, is peculiar to Canada. Let us cherish it.

Yours,
SAM.

A BOOK YOU CAN "CURL UP WITH"

Letters To The Editor

FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION WAS CO-OPERATIVE

Sir: In regard a news item appearing in your paper Friday January 13th past, "The Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association" would like to clarify a few items in the story both on its behalf and that of its past President Campbell L. Rowatt.

Our past president very shortly after taking office approached Mr. Fraser on the possibilities of a joint meeting of our executive with members of the Resort Operators section of the Chamber of Commerce.

This meeting became a reality, through Mr. Fraser sending the notices of meeting to the Resort Operators, quite contrary to the impression given in the news item of our lack of co-operation.

Our executive encouraged the resort operators to assist us in our fight for conservation of natural resources by becoming active members of our organization.

The ones that enrolled as members from then on were notified of meetings and also of important business to be brought up so that they might take an active part in any legislation we may ask for.

Had they taken this active part or least of all read the accounts of our meetings in your paper, especially on December 20th, 1949, they would not have said, I quote "The resort operators," added Mr. Fraser, "are opposed to the rumoured move on the part of the Fish and Game Protective Association to ban the use of minnows in the district".

This county is endowed with the blessing of having several kinds of game fish and unfortunately they do not all spawn at the same time, thus the Federal law governing this and 3 other counties under the "Special Fisheries Regulations".

However this association has the past few years and this past one is no exception made every effort to have the pickerel season opened on the 1st day of May instead of the 15th.

In reviewing the minute book for some time back it is quite evident the past president's disappointment at assistance given this association by the resort owners of this area would be no different than many of his predecessors.

As sportsmen, resort owners, guides, etc., it is essential that we co-operate our efforts in the conservation of all our natural resources.

Association,
The Peterborough Fish and Game
E. G. HILAND,
Secretary-treasurer.

(Ed. Note: It will be noted that this letter does not question the accuracy of our report, but the opinions expressed at the Resort Owners' meeting.)

CHIROPRACTIC VS. MEDICAL

Sir: Your editorial viewing the Chiropractic School System of Healing in contrast with the School of Medicine, was indeed well prepared. Both schools have their place in the great scheme of things. The writer of this letter has had sufficient experience with both to realize their importance and essential value to man's well-being.

The time has come for both schools to recognize each other's worth. It would only be fair to acknowledge the benefits the writer derived from Chiropractic treatments. Had Chiropractic not been known to him, he would have been a deformed person today. This dates back twenty-five years. So much for the Chiropractor.

Now for the Medical benefit. The writer had to undergo two surgical operations (and these were necessary). Conditions prevailing at that particular time, called for the surgeon's knife. Would it not be selfish to forget benefits of one system in order to favour the other. Both systems have their virtues, and should therefore be recognized on the merits which they have proven in service.

The public in Canada have been afraid to express their opinions on Chiropractic, fearing ridicule and disgrace. We should all be encouraged to speak our minds freely, one to another. Only by exchange of thoughts and ideas, are we able to rise above the level of ignorance.

Thank you Mr. Editor for your splendid editorials.

Sincerely yours,
ALBERT J. J. STRANGE

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And it came to pass, when David and his men were come to Ziklag on the third day, that the Amalekites had invaded the south, and Ziklag, and smitten Ziklag and burned it with fire and had taken the women captives, that were therein: they slew not any, either great or small, but carried them away, and went on their way . . . And David enquired at the Lord, saying, Shall I pursue after this troop? shall I overtake them? And he answered him, Pursue: for thou shalt surely overtake them, and without fail recover all.

So David went, he and the six hundred men that were with him, and came to the brook Besor, where those that were left behind stayed. But David pursued, he and four hundred men: for two hundred abode behind, which were so faint that they could not go over the brook Besor.... And David recovered all that the Amalekites had carried away.... And David came to the two hundred men, which were so faint that they could not follow David, whom they had made also to abide at the brook Besor: and they went forth to meet David, and to meet the people that were with him: and when David came near to the people, he saluted them.

Then answered all the wicked men and men of Belial, of those that went with David, and said, Because they went not with us, we will not give them ought of the spoil that we have recovered, save to every man his wife and his children, that they may lead them away, and depart.

A BRITISH OPINION

"As all the other members of our Housewives' League are decorating the polling booths with little blue crocuses, don't you think a large red geranium is a trifle anti-social?"

London Express Service

Backed by the experience of observing the first two civilian-military mass varmit hunts last winter, I will try to describe in advance their third hunt today.

In an area between Mount Julian on Stony Lake and the north-south boundary perimeter of Eel's Brook of the Crown Game Preserve, 150 hunters armed with shotguns are blasting their way through dense underbrush and bare oak ridges to corner and finish off any foxes or wolves in their path. The majority of hunters, mostly members of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association, are directed in the field by personnel of the 50th HAA Regiment in panel radio trucks, radio-equipped jeeps and by roving Gunners with walkie-talkies. Hunters are directed, too, by observers cruising aloft in planes and the mass sport will go over with military precision.

It is impossible to guess what luck the hunters will have but I did a personal survey by phoning Don Fowler at Mount Julian as to what he thought of their prospects. He said there was a family of wolves in the area and that chances of nailing them with such a highly-concentrated effort were good. There are bound to be a few other stragglers as well, Don thinks, and with two inches of snow on the ground and brisk weather prevailing, it will be a wonderful day's outing even if the game bag is only partly filled. Hunters will have to draw a straight bead, however, because the 12 square-mile area is only large enough to permit one sortie.

The men responsible for this effort are vice-president PFGPA Norman Bradley and Sgt./Major William Pushie for the military Commanding Officer Lieut.-Col. Max Clarke of the Regiment will be thanked by all in his generous contribution of the latest wireless equipment and trained men to operate it.

Wolf drives of this nature in Peterborough County are unmatched anywhere in Canada. They are important enough to the extent that National Film Board director Jean Marie Couture and cameraman Wally Sutton are "shooting" the operation from start to finish. The edited film will no doubt enjoy wide screening throughout Canada, the United States and in foreign countries.

• • • •

The Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association are miffed because their request from the County Council for a money grant was refused two weeks ago. For reasons best known to the Council they have not received a grant since 1946. Perhaps there is some lack of faith on the part of PFGPA because county councils, as a rule, are fairly generous. In Haliburton a few days ago their Tourist Association was granted $500 by the county council.

Crossbills Flock at Bobcaygeon

It is believed that the Peterborough Nature Club has been rather inactive since their last outing in the late fall. Certainly winter weather has not been conducive this year for hikes. One member said that with snow lacking, many of the northern visitors did not come down. Crossbills have been reported around Bobcaygeon. Two were killed, in fact, when a car ran through a flock. These curious birds of the finch family are said to be the only known bird in the world with a crossed beak, hence their name. It does not affect their feeding habits for their are very apt at picking seeds from pine and spruce cones with their peculiarly-shaped tongues. For identification of the two species, red crossbills have dark crimson bodies and black wings. White-winged crossbills have the same body colour but their dark wings have two distinct white bars across them. The species is slightly larger than the English sparrow.

• • • •

If district resort operators have been making application to the Department of Lands and Forests for hatchery fish plantings, it is to be hoped that the information on request forms was complete, legible and accurate. If it wasn't their requests will delay the restocking of public waters and, in extreme cases, result in complete failure.

Skunk At The Garbage Can

Last summer genial neighbour Mc MacIntyre and I used to watch a mother skunk looking over our respective garbage cans in the early morning hours. Neither one of us attempted to "shoo" the old girl away, however. Perhaps she was looking for her kittens. To recall these visits Mac handed me the following story the other evening:

Mama Skunk was worried because she could never keep track of her two children, named In and Out. Whenever In was in, Out was out; and if Out was in, In was out. One day Mother Skunk called Out in to her and told him to go out and bring In in. So, out went Out and in no time at all brought In in.

"Wonderful!" exclaimed Mama. "How in all the great forest could you find her so soon?"

"Easy," said Out, raising his tail in pride. "In stinct."

And with this little stinker we close the column for the week.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

Rose Of Sharon

I am the rose of Sharon, and the lily of the valleys.

As the lily among thorns, so is my love among the daughters.

As the apple tree among the trees of the wood, so is my beloved among the sons. I sat down under his shadow with great delight, and his fruit was sweet to my taste.

He brought me to the banqueting house, and his banner over me was love.

Stay me with flagons, comfort me with apples: for I am sick of love.

His left hand is under my head, and his right hand doth embrace me.

I charge you, O ye daughters of Jerusalem, by the roes, and by the hinds of the field, that ye stir not up, nor awake my love, till he please.

The voice of my beloved! behold, he cometh leaping upon the mountains, skipping upon the hills.

My beloved is like a roe or a young hart; behold, he standeth behind our wall, he looketh forth at the windows, shewing himself through the lattice.

My beloved spake, and said unto me, Rise up, my love, my fair one, and come away.

For, lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone;

The flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land;

The fig tree putteth forth her green figs, and the vines with the tender grape give a good smell. Arise my love, my fair one, and come away.

FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN—Plans for London Site

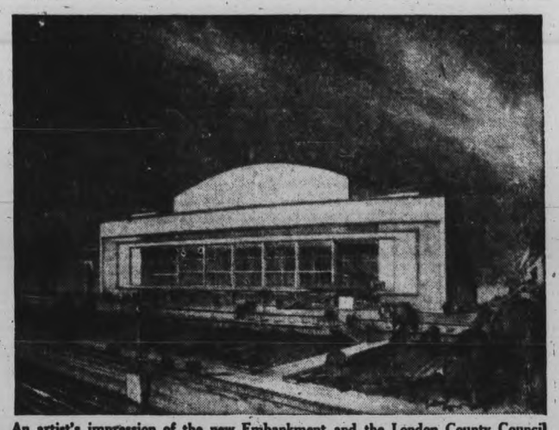
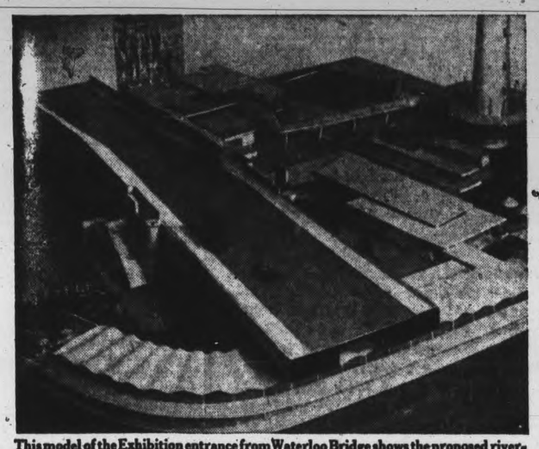
PLANS of the buildings for the Festival of Britain 1951 Exhibition site on the South Bank of the River Thames have been completed. Designed by Britain's leading architects, there will be thirty buildings, excluding the L.C.C. Concert Hall, on this 27-acre site. The Concert Hall will be the only permanent building the remainder will be constructed in a wide variety of materials, including steel, concrete, brick, wood, asbestos, glass, aluminium and fabrics of various kinds.

The Exhibition will tell a continuous story. The site is divided by Hungerford Bridge. Upstream will show the story of the land of Britain and what the British have derived from it; downstream will show the people themselves in their domestic surroundings.

There will be three other exhibitions, two in London and one in Glasgow, while two travelling exhibitions will visit provincial centres. The amusement section will be in Battersea Park. The gardens in between pavilions will provide a display of landscape gardening, with fully-grown trees transplanted on to the site.



An artist's impression of the new Embankment and the London County Council Concert Hall to be built on the South Bank site of the Exhibition. It is part of the South Bank redevelopment scheme and will be the only permanent building on the site.



This model of the Exhibition entrance from Waterloo Bridge shows the proposed riverside restaurant on the new Embankment. The architects were Jane Drew and Maxwell Fry, FF.R.I.B.A. There will be 14 restaurants and cafés, and also a mobile tea service.

The base of the old shot tower will display the history and development of the South Bank. The summit will be used as a lighthouse and to mount the aerial of a "radio telescope."

Progress of Peterborough: V

Townships Surveyed: Why Smith, Emily, Asphodel, Douro

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M. A.

The Newcastle District was formed in 1802 from Durham and Northumberland Counties, to which in 1818 were added the uncharted Kawartha lands which we now call Victoria and Peterborough Counties. The government gave the survey contracts for this new territory to Honourable Zaccheus Burnham of Cobourg and Charles Hayes; by the contract system they were not paid in cash, but were given 4½% of the lands surveyed, of which they gave ½% to the deputy-surveyors who did the actual work. In this way they accumulated large tracks of lands for themselves, which by law did not have to be cleared, and which might be sold at any time.

Burnham employed Richard Birdsall to survey the eastern townships between 1818 and 1825; another of his deputies, John Huston, surveyed Cavan, Emily, Monaghan, Ennismore, Harvey, Smith and Verulam before 1831. Later John Smith surveyed the rear townships such as Fenelon, Burleigh, Methuen and part of Harvey. The field notes of these surveyors are a valuable source of information about the actual state of these Kawartha townships 130 years ago.

The average township, after deducting road allowances, had about 60,000 acres, of which about 18,000 acres were clergy and crown reserves. The surveyors took another 2,500 or 3,000 acres, rich reward for their average costs of £348 per township. The outlines of the township were first laid out, and the surveyor began laying off concessions from the front edge, posting the lots as he went. The concessions were 1¼ miles or 100 chains apart, fronted on the road allowances of 60 feet width. Every fifth lot-line at right angles to the concession lines was also a road allowance, of 60 feet width near the front and of 40 feet near the rear of the township.

Many early townships, especially in the Kawarthas, fronted on streams or lakes, and the concession lines were run perpendicular to the waterfront to give more roads to market. A town-plot of standard size one mile square was left in each township, usually on its water frontage, or else in the middle; such a townplot was surveyed at the mouth of the Otonabee, which never became a village.

Each townplot was divided into (a) central lots of one acre each, and (b) outside park lots of 9 acres each. Townships varied greatly in size, with from 12 to 18 concessions, each with 20 to 40 lots, depending on natural limits. The ordinary 100-acre lot had a 30-chain frontage on the road and a depth about 135 chains, back to back with a similar lot facing the next concession, but some lots were as narrow as 20 chains (¼ mile) and deeper in proportion. Much confusion and litigation resulted from frequent inefficient surveying; 100-acre lots, often in reality varied as much as 30 acres either way, included many uncultivatable sections.

Township Names

Cavan Township, named for an Irish county, was one of the first in the district to be surveyed by John Huston in 1817 and 1818. It had good soil, sandy loam in the west and clay loam in the east, rather light in the front concessions, well-watered with numerous millsites. Emily Township, named for the sister of the Duke of Richmond, Governor of Canada 1817-19, was surveyed by Huston in 1817. Its soil was generally good, sandy loam in the hills and clay loam in the valleys and flats, with two good millsites.

Ennismore Township, known for a decade as the Gore of Emily, was because of its positio between Chemong, Pigeon and Buckhorn Lakes considered too small to be set up as a separate township. Because of its position it was withheld from early settlement by reserves and surveyors' grants; it was ideal for speculation, because its lots would bring good prices from 'gentlemen' settlers fonder of sports than of farming. In 1825, however, it was hurriedly re-surveyed to accomodate some of the Irish settlers, and Hillier, secretary to Lieutenant-Governor Maitland, wrote to Surveyor General Ridout, on March 30, 1827: "I am commanded to convey to you the pleasure of His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor that the tract of land lying between the townships of Smith and Emily, heretofore designated as the Gore of Emily, be in future denominated the township of Ennismore." This name was given by Maitland in honour of Viscount Ennismore, second Earl of Listowel.

Smith Township, named after the first Surveyor-General of Upper Canada, Sir David Smith, was surveyed in 1818. It had good loam soil, rather rocky in the northeast, but well-watered throughout the numerous millsite especially along the Otonabee River.

North Monaghan Township, like South Monaghan taking its name from Irish county, was [illegible] millsites except at the Peterborough townsite. This townsite on the plains west of the Otonabee was one mile square, and the surveyor marked out for himself 18 town-lots totalling about 9 acres and 8 park-lots totalling 43 acres.

Otonabee Township, taking its name from the river, was surveyer by Birdsall in 1819. The soil was good clay loam, with sandy plains on Rice Lake, well-watered but with no good millsites. The contract surveyor, Burnham, took a total of 3,832 acres in this township as reward for the surveying job.

Asphodel Township, named apparently for the flowers along the lakefront, was surveyed by Birdsall in 1820. Hillier, secretary to the Lieutenant - Governor, wrote to Surveyor - General Ridout on July 17, 1820: "I have submitted to the Lieutenant-Governor your letter of the 6th inst. enclosing copies of two letters from Messrs. Burnham and Birdsall on the survey of the township of Asphodel, and I have received His Excellency's commands to acquaint you that he accedes to the request of Mr. Burnham therein contained — that the northern boundary of Otonabee be extended for the rear or northern boundary of Asphodel." In this township the soil was generally good and well-watered, with several millsites. Burnham received title to 1,820 acres in Asphodel township.

Other Townships

Douro, Dummer, Belmont and Methuen Townships were all surveyed in 1823, the first two entirely, the last two partially in the front concessions; the last three were unsettled for many years, and had to be re-surveyed when settlement began. Douro was named for Baron Douro, one of Wellington's titles, by Maitland who had served under the 'Iron Duke'. It had excellent soil, a little stony and rolling in the north, and most fertile in the east farthest from the Otonabee River, well-watered but with few good millsites and several large swamps. Land speculators, surveyors and other who obtained large grants by influence usually chose their lands along the rivers and lake, and were quite disgruntled later when it was found that their lands were less fertile [illegible] Wm. Dummer Powell, Chief Justice of Upper Canada and Speaker of the Legislative Council. It was stony in the northern half, with poor soil, but fairly fertile in the south, badly-watered with no lakes or millsites of consequences. Burnham obtained title to 469 acres in Douro and another 2,988 acres in Dummer. Belmont, meaning 'beautiful mountain' was named for Belmont Castle in Perthshire and Belmont House in Kilkenny County, Ireland. Methuen was named after Baron Methuen another title of the Governor, the Duke of Richmond.

N-E Kawartha

The northern and eastern Kawartha townships should be briefly mentioned at this point. Harvey Township, named for a British officer, Sir John Harvey was surveyed 1821-23 according to one source. As it had few settlers, it was linked until 1866 with Smith Township for municipal purposes, and had to be re-surveyed in 1864-65 when its timber stands became valuable. Burleigh Township, named after the Elizabethan figure, Lord Burleigh, was partly surveyed in 1822 and in 1834, but the first complete survey was made in 1864-65. Galway Township, named after the Irish county of Galway, was surveyed in 1857. Anstruther Township, named after Sir W. Carmichael Anstruther was surveyed in 1861. Cavendish Township, named for Henry Cavendish, prominent 18th century Englishman, was surveyed in 1862. Chandos Township, allegedly named after Baron Chandos, another title of the Duke of Buckingham, was surveyed in 1862 also. To the west of Emily township, Mariposa was surveyed in 1820 and Ops Township in 1823-24; their Spanish and Roman names have no local significance. Eldon, named after the Earl of Eldon, Lord Chancellor of England, was surveyed 1826-29. Fenelon Township, named for a French-Canadian missionary who founded a Bay of Quinte Misssion in 1668, was surveyed in 1822. Verulam Township, next to Harvey on the west, was named after the Earl of Verulam, brother-in-law of Lord Liverpool, British prime minister, and was surveyed by John Huston in 1831. The northern townships along the Kawartha Lakes had occasional areas of fertile soil, but being on the edge of the Laurentian Shield were not consistently suited for farm settlement.

In Its 123 Years Post Office Has Had Wandering Career

The first weekly mail service to Peterborough commenced shortly after the Peter Robinson migration, or almost 123 years ago. The post office was in a little log house called "The Red Store" owned by James Grey Bethune and located on the southeast corner of the present market square and facing the present Empress hotel. Both store and post office were manged by Thomas Valentine Tripper who was succeeded as postmaster by James B. Ferguson with his office in a small square-cut frame house close by The Red Store to whose south side it was annexed.

Apparently the post office did not remain long in its original site for it was next located in the log building, then known as Government House, situated a little further north on Water St where is now the Peterborough Club. This Government House had been occupied during the early days of the hamlet by Peter Robinson and Captain Rubidge due to whose immigration activities the settlement of the district was fostered. Here the immigrants were housed on their arrival and stayed until they set out for their lots in the various townships.

The post office in Government House was in charge of Ephrian Sanford who died in 1843. He in turn was followed by S. J. Carver post-master during whose term the office was transferred to a frame structure on the east side of Queen St. where it remained until Peterborough became a town in 1850. Then it was twice moved to meet requirement for additional space. One location was on Water St. east side, just north of Simcoe St. Here in 1861 a great fire wiped out practically the entire block and badly damaged the post office which was adjacent to Hall's Biscuit and Confectionery Works then completely destroyed.

Face of Peterborough, 1914 Only 35 Years Ago, But Oh!

In 1914 "The Electric City" put out a booklet depicting Peterborough for all and sundry, but chiefly with the purpose of attracting industries to the city, it would seem—judging from the introduction.

"The city has several very fine parks, through which wind attractive driveways and walks and the beauty of which is enhanced by streams which flow through them. Its public buildings are in keeping with the progress of the city, and include the Armouries, Post Office, the Customs and Inland Revenues office.

"The city is somewhat proud of its educational institutions. Three hospitals, each well equipped, are provided for the caring for the sick and there are two homes for old people and two for dependent children.

"Peterborough is served by the two great Canadian railways, the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk.

"One of the features of the city is its supply of hydro-electric power. Several powers on the Otonabee river and connecting waters have been developed, and as fast as it may be called for, 30,000 horse power of electric power can be supplied. This, with the fact that the extensive works of the Canadian General Electric Company are located here has given to Peterborough the name of "The Electric City."

"The central location of the city, its shipping facilities and its abundant power have attracted and developed a number of prosperous manufacturing industries and resulted in an increase in population in the past ten years of over 70 per cent., the pupulation now being about 23,000."

Central Peterborough in 1914 would be recognizable today, despite much change. Victoria Park looked better than it does now; and the band stand (torn down a few years ago) sits comfortably to the north of the fountain (which is to be replaced this spring), Confederation Square that autumn (then called Central Park) had the same armouries; the smaller, original Collegiate building; the small memorial [illegible] now stands at the n[illegible]

[illegible] coal-oil side and rear lamp. One of the new Fords is a sort of closed contraption. This was the "Home of Ford and Reo Cars at Peterborough."

Mayor of Peterborough in 1914 was W. Buller. Aldermen were Jos. Saunders, M. McIntyre, W. Langford, G. W. Green, G. N. Gordon, A. H. Stratton, J. J. Duffus, W. J. Johnston, G. H. Duncan, J. C. Anderson.

The Board of Trade officials were: B. D. Hall, president; W. C. Ackerman, vice-pres.; A. N. Allison, sec'y; James J. Hamilton, managing director.

J. H. Burnham was M.P. for Peterborough West; E. A. Peck, MLA.

The city police force consisted of eight men and Chief D. Thompson. Five of them had good full moustaches. Two are pictured wearing bowlers; the chief wears a flat military-scout looking cap, and the constables have bobby helmets.

(One of a series of 14 special articles on the ancient art of tea-cup reading, written by the Examiner's own teacup reading expert. These are appearing intermittently on this Feature Page.)

No. II: Studying the Cup.

The reader should first make a leisurely examination of the fortune, sizing up the general atmos[illegible] [illegible] before [illegible] [illegible] powerful symbols, or those that stand out clearly and distinctly, will overshadow those of less importance or of clouded or wavering formation and will give the reading general character. Practice will develop the ability of the reader to combine the five great points—symbolism, sympathy, observation, the association of ideas and the ability to draw fitting analogies.

This first silent study of the cup will show whether the fortune is clearly apparent or shrouded in doubt and indecision. If the symbols are clear, even though formed by very few leaves, a very well connected fortune may be read from them. If the outlines lack character, are vague and shapeless, they are not worthy of any attention; the earnest seer claims that in such cases, either the consultant did not concentrate her mind when the pictures were being formed, or her whole destiny is still undetermined because she herself has not yet given it definite shape.

Kingston Racks Up 11th Win By Beating the Petes, 6-3

Kingston Nylons defeated the Petes 6-3 here last night to creep closer toward the top-place local Legionnaires in their OHA senior "B" group race with the schedule having a week to go. It was the 11th straight victory for the Nylons, though they were given a stiff battle by the fourth-place Petes, two of the victor's goals being flukey, the rubber glancing in off a skate and a stick belonging to local defencemen. Partis, Catlin, Gerow and Joyce paced the Nylons' attack, with West and Garvey leading the Petes, and both goalies outstanding in a speedy and fairly clean fray.

The Petes had more close-in chances as they missed a flock at close range through lack of finish or being robbed by Udy Udall while the Nylons made most of their opportunities pay off. Both sides stepped fast and worked hard throughout, few penalties marring the melee. The score was 2-1 for Kingston in the first frame and 4-1 for them going into the even third chukker. Jack Mortimer was lost to the homesters in the first frame when he suffered a four-stitch cut around the eye from a stick on a follow-through shot.

IN ON THREE—Junior West was in on all three of the Petes goals (Garvey scoring two) in a good showing here last night as the Petes dropped a 6-3 senior "B" tilt to Kingston.

Helped On Three

Junior West had three assists for the losers as Freddy Garvey counted two goals. Fife got one, as McMaster and Legrow each aided on one. Partis, Catlin, Gerow and Joyce were each in on a pair in a good showing, while Aitken, McKeown and Armstrong figured in on one apiece. The eight penalties were evenly divided, McMaster and Patterson spoiling good work by drawing two roughing penalties as they mixed twice. Legrow got a misconduct in the third for knocking an opponent's stick away.

The Petes scored early, Garvey from West in close. With McMaster off for charging, Kingson pressed and Mortimer went off hurt. Joyce tied it up when his shot glanced in off a skate and Gerow put Nylons ahead on nice work with Partis inside. Catlin got the first one in the second from Gerow on nifty combination on Harding's doorstep, and Partis' slap shot an Catlin's passout made it 4-1. Partis went off for cross-checking and Catlin followed for tripping, but the Petes failed to tally.

A Hot Frame

Play was hot and fairly even in the third, though the Petes had an edge for a time, with Udall robbing them several times. McKeown fluked one off a Peterborough stick. Patterson and McMaster were waved over for roughing but were back when Fife scored a nice one inside, West and McMaster earning assists.

Garvey whittled it down more on a hot shot at close range, West and Legrow being in on the play. Then Armstrong clinched matters on smart work with Joyce and Aitken to pick a net corner. Legrow drew his misconduct penalty and later Patterson and McMaster were gated again for roughing in the dying minutes of the game.

Kingston: Goal, Udall; defence, Patterson and Murphy; centre, Partis, wings, Catlin and Gerow; alternates Armstrong, Joyce, Aitken, McKeown Harrison, Ohlke, Graves and Plumb.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Horton and Leonard; centre, West; wings Creighton and Garvey; alternates Fife, Collins Griffin, Coughlin, Mortimer, Legrow, McMaster and Jopling.

Referee, R. Love; linesman, A. Heal

TO MEET SAMARA—Nanjo (the Banjo) Singh, shown above, who takes on Seelie Samara next Thursday in the main bout at the Brock. The Hindoo is probably the most hated grappler in the game today His attacks on Whipper Watson in Toronto have practically had him barred from the Maple Leaf Gardens. But he will meet in Samara a wrestler who can more than look after himself. It should be a rough go. Manager Jim Laidlaw is trying to get Joe Christie and Johnny Barend for the semi-final spot. The fans are demanding a return match betweeen this pair, after their showing here Thursday. The remainder of the card will be announced later.

Rockets Gain Close One Over IOOF-ers

Belleville junior hockey fans, 1200 strong crowded Memorial Arena last night as Dan Cowley's Rockets edged Bun Kingdon's league-leading Oddfellows 4-3 in what fans called the most thrilling match of the season to date.

Pete Green's low 20-footer at 4.26 in overtime on a pass back from Pletsch just as Desjardins replaced Wasson from the penalty box turned the tide for the home squad after Peterborough had knotted the count in the third on two beautiful goals by Desjardins and Ben Mason and seemed likely winners.

Three Bunched

Last night's victory puts Oddfellows, Oshawa and Belleville, who play here next Friday in a battle royal for the league leadership at the present time.

Don Hogan who starred throughout, scored the opener midway in the second as IOOF were a man short, taking Semark's pass close in to give Wasson no chance after the teams battled hard in a scoreless first period. Semark made it two, a few seconds later, on a fine solo effort.

With Peterborough back at full strength, the pace became terrific and Ron Turner drilled a doozy from 25 feet out to beat Tripp as the Wyatt, Floyd, Turner line clicked in fine style. Oddfellows continued to battle hard, well into the third when Hogan again found the mark on a clean breakaway. At this point, the Desjardins, Mason line came through with a great display, Desjardins scoring from his two mates on the neatest passing play of the night, from 10 feet out.

Tied the Score

Ben Mason tied the score from Birch near the three quarter mark as the latter passed a sizzler back and Mason sank it point-blank. With little to choose between, it became apparent the breaks would decide the issue as the teams went into overtime with eight goals apiece in three games played, including 3-2 scores of home and home games each way, up to that moment.

The game was clean throughout, despite majors to Green and Desjardins for fighting in the third. For Belleville, Hogan, Green, Semark, Bone, Graham and Pletsch were outstanding on a well balanced club while for Peterborough the work of Desjardines, Turner, the Mason brothers, Wyatt, Floyd and Birch deserved honorable mention with Doris and Baker who all worked like Trojans. The defence foursome of Millar, Fennell, Richlark and Wasson was a treat to Belleville — Goal, Tripp; defence, Trumble, Graham; centre, Hogan; wings, Semark, Bone; alternates, Green, Delaney, Wright, Brown, Gilmour, Strahan, Furland, Pletsch.

Peterborough—Goal, R. Wasson; defence, D. Wasson and Richlark; centre Turner; wings, Floyd, Wyatt, alternates, R. Mason, B. Mason, Birch, Doris, Baker, Fennell, Millar, Desjardins.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Puck fans have another treat coming up Monday at 8.30 p.m. in Civic Arena. Yes, an OHA senior "B" joust between those old city rivals the Petes and Legionnaires. These games by far outdraw any other in the group as the opponents put that extra try into it every minute and they bump as if they really meant it—on account of they do mean it. The Petes will certainly be trying to upset Legionnaires in this one, and they're about due to spring a surprise. Yeah, a red-hot scrap assured and every Petes-Legion battle packs the place.

Cleaning out a drawer recently, Ernie Brumwell came across a bunch of old newspaper clippings concerning local sports. So, he dropped them in to us. Ernie at one time played soccer for the Bridgenorth team and was Examiner correspondent at Bridgenorth. He was interested in various athletics some 40 years ago. One news photo in 1908 shows the Canadian Olympic team in London, and George Goulding of Toronto—Canuck walking champion—appears in it. He was the father of Bev Goulding, Collegiate coach here. And there's a piece about Dave Hartley of Peterborough winning a 12-hour walking race in Toronto, covering 57½ miles. He got a big reception on his return.

That Indian Runner

Many clippings dealt with Tom Longboat, Alfie Shrubb, St. Ives and other famous runners of that era. They had a $10,000 marathon in 1909 in the new Polo Grounds at New York. Toronto gave the Brantford Indian a civic reception for winning. Tom died broke a year or so ago. The clippings run for columns on a lap-by-lap description of these races, with headlines and pictures aplenty. Another story tells of the poor showing in England of the Canadian Olympic runners, the heat being blamed. Wrestling, fencing, archery, etc., were among the competitions featured in these Olympic Games.

They must have been interesting days on dusty George St. as huge crowds blocked the horse-and-buggy traffic at times to watch important bulletins put on the board in front of the old Examiner office. Put there by a young fellow named Fred Craig. Many a door must have swung in and out as the bloods of the day argued heatedly over running and walking races, lacrosse and soccer matches, fights and wrestling, hockey, et al, as sports then provided much of the small city's entertainment. They didn't have radios or cars or a lot of things. But they must have had a lot of fun back in the days of board walks and trailing skirts. Our fathers will agree emphatically with this.

These Nylons Tough

Looks like it'll take drastic measures to stop that run of the Nylons. They racked up No. 11 win here last e'en at the expense of the Petes 6-3 in a tidy OHA senior "B" tilt. A pretty good-sized gallery viewed a speedy and clean contest, with the Petes having lots of luck, but most of it bad. Score should have been maybe 4-3 for Kingston, or even a win for the Petes. Two goals were fluked by the Nylons—though they count, too—and the Foley flock muffed a million chances on Udall's doormat. Also, they missed Jack Mortimer, who suffered an eye injury early and couldn't return to the fray.

* * * * * * *

You have to give those Kingston cuties credit, especially that Partis-Catlin-Gerow line, with Joyce also prominent and Udall tougher to beat than a manslaughter charge. The forwards float around, but fast, and make few mistakes when they get a break going in. It would pay to put two wingmen on Catlin and Gerow and hang onto them grimly all the time, forgetting any other chore. West and Garvey looked good for the Petes all through, with Collins another hard worker, and Gus Leonard turning in a neat job. Harding wasn't giving anything out, and McMaster did some rousing bumping at times. The Petes really worked this time, but they were playing a redhot squad. And it should have been closer.

Grab The First Tilt

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 4. —(ENS)—Lakefield juveniles defeated Campbellford 8 to 6 here Friday to open a two-game series between the clubs, goals to count.

The two teams slowed down considerably in the third period, and no goals were scored, but Lakefield had an edge on the play here also. Jim Sloan got three of the counters for Lakefield, and Wilford two. McCrachen, Geraldi and Coyle each contributed one goal apiece to their team's total, while Dunk was top man for the home team, getting two tallies, as Ibey, Herd, Jeffs and Bennett each got one.

Line-up:

Campbellford— Goal, Ingram; defence, Bennett and Shepherd; wings, Ibey and Dooher; center, Jeffs; alternates, Darrah, Herd, Dunk, Kemp, Hay, Reid, Billen, Guerin.

Lakefield—Goal, Blake; defence, Montgomery and Morrison; center, Jim Sloan; wings, Coyle and Calberry; alternates, Wilford, Heffernan, McCrachen, Twist, Geraldi, Pew.

LAMOTTA TUNES UP

Middleweight champion Jake Lamotta began a tune-up for a June title defence by scoring an impressive ninth round technical knockout over a dead-game Dick Wagner of Portland, Ore., at Detroit Friday night.

PCVS Bantams Triumph As Others Lose

North Toronto Collegiate's Reds and Greys took both exhibition tilts with Bev Goulding's cage seniors and junior A's Friday night. The Torontos took the exhibition senior 40-33, while the juniors edged the locals 22-19. In a regular league fixture the Collegiate bantams beat the Lindsay Collegiate quintette by the narrowest of margins 22-21. The bantams have yet to taste defeat in league fixtures this year

Lindsay jumped to an early lead in the game 8-3 at the quarter,, but the PCI's tied things up at the half 12-all. Again in the third they outscored the Lindsay crew to take a third quarter lead 17-12. Battling back the Lindsay five fell short of taking the nod.

Graham led the scorers with 12 points for Lindsay, while Marshall had seven for PCVS. B. Boorman had three and McIlwain four

A Close One

Cunningham and McIlraith were the standouts on the junior squad who were considerably shorter than the Toronto boys. Finding the PCVS defence difficult to penetrate, the Torontos fell behind in the first quarter 7-4, but solved the problem in the second to forge ahead 12-9 at the half. Checking close and making opportunities count the Collegians from Toronto kept out in front in the third 17-15. The locals crept up on the Northerns 20-19 midway through the fourth. They missed three foul shots in the rough play which followed, while Toronto finished the scoring with one basket. Stevenson had seven points for Toronto and Faichney six, while Dave Langhorne led the locals with seven.

North Toronto seniors, smooth, fast-breaking squad, took advantage of the PCVS seniors not passing and missing close in shots as well as the long ones. Led by Elliott Krever, they built up a 13-3 score in the first. PCI outscored them in the second, but failed to take the lead 21-15. Momentarily in the third, they played good basketball, but slipped back in the late stages as Toronto kept ahead 27-19. A second time they swept back in the fourth with fast breaks to pull up close to North Toronto by three points, but again faltered; allowing the visiting Collegians to build up a good lead which they managed to keep intact.

Elliott Krever, pivot man for the Toronto quintette, led in the scoring with 14 points, while his teammates Nicholson had 11 and Milne 10. Northcott was tops for PCVS with 11. Grafstein had eight and Toronto six.

Peterborough Rink Winner At Chatham

CHATHAM, Feb. 4—(CP)—J. Allan of Peterborough skipped his rink to a close, 12-11 win over a quartet skipped by D. L. Trowbridge of Forest, Ont., in a first round draw Friday of the Western Ontario Colts Bonspiel.

Thirty-two rinks, mostly from Western Ontario and Michigan are competing in a three-day bonspiel. Finals will be held Sunday night.

NAVY'S PRIDE — Eddie Haddad, 21, is a leading member of the Canadian boxing team at the British Empire Games at Auckland, N.Z. A lightweight, Haddad is a supply assistant in the Royal Canadian Navy's station at Esquimalt, B.C., and has the rank of Leading Seaman. A native of Winnipeg, he was on the Canadian team to the 1948 Olympics but lost a highly-disputed decision in the quarter-finals.

High Park Rink Takes 2nd Round

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Feb. 4 (CP)—Mrs. M. C. Code of Toronto High Park Friday established the highest plus margin of 20 points in the second round of the 19th annual Sewell Trophy curling bonspiel.

Mrs. Code's rink beat Mrs. J. A. Wright of Pointe Claire, Que., 16-4 in the second round. Coupled with her 15-3 victory over Mrs. R. Edmison of Royal Montreal in the first round, Mrs. Code's score gives her the maximum plus score permitted. Mrs. T. M. Houghton made it two in a row for Quebec Curling Club when she won on an extra end from Mrs. C. A. Moyle, Hawkesbury, Ont.

Mrs. J. L. Dawson, Ottawa, won again to post a plus of 15 points. In the second round, Mrs. Dawson downed Mrs. E. M. Thompson of Toronto Granite 11-6. Yesterday she beat Mrs. T. Doughty of Peterborough 18-2.

Mrs. H. Meikle of Morrisburg, whipped Mrs. J. Medland, Toronto Granite, 24-4.

Nurses-Normals Victorious In Lasses' Loop

Nurses Seniors defeated CGE 22-10 while Normals edged out Black's 15-14 last night in two lively Girls' Basketball League fixtures in the YWCA. Some exciting cage work was dished up in both tilts, the first one being rather rough and the nightcap plenty close and interesting, though few fans took in the twin bill. There will be another double-header there next Friday night.

It was 8-3 for the Nurses in the first half, but Anita Davis got going in the second half to rack up 14 points and put it in the bag for her side. The winners had 11 fouls called on them and Nurses nine, two on each side clicking A. Davis, Barb and Joan Deyell and Bev Pringle were probably the pick of the victors, while Marg Batley, Marg Kennedy, T. Stewart and B. Luther looked good for the losers, all of whom worked hard.

Teams

Nurses Seniors—J. Smith, J. Deyell, B. Deyell 6, A. Davis 14, B. Pringle 2, M. Collins, S. Wilkinson.

CGE—M. Perrin, M. Batley 5, B. Luther, M. Kennedy3, T. Stewart 2, Marj Perrin.

Second Game

It was close in the second scrap, with the losers leading 9-4 at the half but fading under Normals' pressure the last part. They missed Ruth Hewitt in this tight tussle. Black's had a dozen fouls called on them against six for the winners. Normals' passing was good, especially the second stanza. Amy Curtis, Gladys Clarke, Marilyn Kerr, Shiela McEwen and Marj Coombs all looked good for the victors, with Marion McKee, Dot McNeely, Ruth Beard and Carol Ferguson best for Black's. Teams:

Black's—R. Beard 4, R. Nayler, J. Hickling, C. Ferguson 4, M. Beggs, M. McKee 2, M. McGill, D. McNeely 4, M. Knox.

Normals — L. Cullis 2, M. Coombs 4, M. Holroyd, S. McEwen 3, G. Clark, A. Curtis 4, M. Kerr 2.

Referee, P. Martyn; timer, R. Hendren; scorer, E. McIlhagga.

Gardiner Finds Injury Insurance Handy

By JIM BASTABLE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Cal Gardner, clutch player extraordinary, swears by injury insurance in such rugged company as the National Hockey League

Gardiner, six foot, 180 pound centre with Toronto Maple Leafs has been collecting a special policy since Nov. 11—the night he suffered a fractured jaw in a game against Montreal Canadiens.

The payments will probably stop tonight. He's just about ready for action again and may get in the lineup when the third place Leafs take on Detroit's high flying Red Wings in Toronto.

In the only other game tonight the last place Chicago Black Hawks clash with the second place Canadiens at Montreal.

Sunday it's Toronto at Boston Bruins, Montreal and Chicago and New York at Detroit.

Ready For Duty

There was no official word that Gardner would play tonight. He was ready for duty against the Black Hawks in Chicago last Wednesday but was told to sit the game out. He has been limited to brisk practices since he collided with big Kenny Reardon's elbow in Montreal.

Since then he's been getting payments equal to $100 a month—plus extra cash for being hospitalized. He said Friday that he kept his policy this season, although many other players in the league dropped out when the rates were boosted from $105 to $150 a season.

The insurance plan also calls for a flat rate payoff of $10 for every cut suffered in a game.

The Black Hawks usually have been easy prey for Habitants, and tonight will be gunning for their 16th victory in 48 games. In nine games against Canadiens so far, Hawks have won only two and tied two.

Tigers Dump Mercurys 10-5; Stratford Bounces Flyers

By The Canadian Press

Seldom does a hockey player who turns in a four goal performance in a winning cause have his feat overshadowed by a three goal effort. But that's exactly what happened last night in Hamilton Tigers' 10-5 victory over Owen Sound.

Max Taylor thumped home four goals in the Bengal cause, a game that meant nothing to either team. Pat McReavy of the losing Mercurys, however, stole Taylor's thunder when he rapped in three goals in 35 seconds in the second period, believed to be an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A record.

Hamilton edged to within eight points of second place Kitchener-Waterloo with the win. Owen Sound are already relegated to the cellar with no chance of bettering their position.

Wild Game

On the junior front last night fans at Barrie saw one of the wildest games there in years. In a free-wheeling affair 29 penalties were handed out as Stratford bounced the Flyers 5-4 in overtime.

In two other junior encounters St. Michael's Majors bowed 5-2 to St. Catharines and Guelph Biltmores turned the trick on Oshawa Generals 4-1.

It was all Taylor in the first period at Hamilton as Max scored all three Hamilton goals against an Owen Sound angle.

The Tigers pumped in four unanswered markers in the first five minutes of the middle session before McReavy came up with his superb performance. Buck Forslund added a single before Murray Comfort closed out the frame with a Hamilton tally.

Murray notched his second in the third and Taylor rapped home his sixth. Hamilton singles were counted by Carl Smelle, Liscombe, Hal Hursley and Polly Miocinovich. Smith notched the Mercury single.

Play Overtime

At Barrie, Dinny Flanagan's goal at 2:50 of the overtime session gave Stratford the win and boosted them out of the Junior A cellar.

The Kroehlers drove into a 2-0 first period lead and led 3-2 at the close of the second, a period in which Earl Clements of Stratford and Graham Shedden of Barrie received match misconduct penalties for continuing a fight in the penalty box.

Bibber O'Hearn was the only two goal man for the winners with singles going to Doug Williams, Doug French and Flanagan. Barrie marksmen were Stan Long, John Bobenic with two, and Stan Long.

Con Switzer scored twice in St. Catharine's 5-2 victory over St. Michael's at the new Niagara Falls Arena.

The third place Teepees were never headed after the opening minutes of first period as Switzer with his pair, Jack White Obie O'Brien and Jack McIntyre supplied enough steam to damper Irish ambitions. Will Marshall and Bill Dineen scored for St Michael's.

Oshawa and Guelph split singles in the opening session but Jack Dickenson's second period goal proved to be Guelph's winner. Other Biltmore markers were scored by Vic Dimaro, who tallied twice in the second, and Frank Bathgate. George Samolenko fired the Oshawa single.

Barbara Gratton Captures Skating Title

By SHAUN McQUILLAN.

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 4 (CP) —Barbara Gratton, 13-year-old Toronto schoolgirl, is the new junior women's figure skating champion of Canada.

Another Toronto entry, six-foot Peter Firstbrook, is the junior men's champion.

The Toronto girl and boy won their titles with brilliant displays as the Canadian figure skating championships proceeded today to its final features, selection of the senior men's and women's champions.

Favored to win the title, Barbara clinched the championship in the free skating section of the event Friday night, after leading in the compulsory figures skated earlier. Her 14-year-old sister Elizabeth was second.

Wearing a long-sleeved costume studded with sequins Barbara whirled through her free-skating to the music of a medley from the musical comedy "South Pacific," Jane Kiry, 16-year-old Ottawa girl, was awarded third place.

Almost Flawless

In the junior men's final, Firstbrook's display was called by one judge "almost flawless." Peter Dunfield, 17, Toronto, placed second, with 16-year-old Alan Anderson of Oshawa third and 12-year-old Charles Snelling of Toronto fourth.

The junior pairs title went to Jane Kirby and Donald Tobin of Ottawa, winners over Shirley Dayel and Paul Tatton of North Bay. Gail Authors and Ray Petre of Oshawa did not compete, as scheduled.

Tobin goes in the senior men's final today.

Favorite in the senior women's final is Toronto's Suzanne Morrow, 19-year-old winner of the title a year ago. Miss Morrow has been practising since last June at Lake Placid, N. Y., with such stars as Dick Button, the world's singles champion, and Yvonne Sherman the American queen.

MEDICAL MUSICIAN — Dr. Robert Graham, 24, doubles in medicine and music. A well-known violinist, he will be guest soloist Feb. 11 with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. Dr. Graham, a graduate in medicine from the University of Toronto, becomes senior interne in internal medicine at Toronto's Wellesley Hospital in June.

Lakefield Winners

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 4—(ENS)—In an exhibition hockey match here, the local Sea Scouts defeated St. Luke's 2nd Armour Troop of Peterborough 3-2. Scriver, Berger and Pratt scored in the first period and Hinton and McFee counted in the next. The visitors were coached by Harold Burns, while Ken Jakins handled the Lakefield team, aided by Lynn Pratt. Teams:

St. Luke's: Ellis, Barclay, McFee, Scriver, Johnston. Hamilton, Fairs, Butcher, Barker, Roberts, Burns.

Lakefield: Wingett, Pratt, Kingdon, Hinton, Berger, Hill, Leonard, Down, Doubt, Rath, Wilford, Henry, Edwards, Lean.

Canadian Play Entered By Manitoba

WINNIPEG, Feb. 4 (CP). — A three-act Canadian play will be among the three entries in the Manitoba Regional Drama Festival opening here Monday.

Manitoba had no entry in the Dominion finals last year; the winners of the Manitoba and Saskatchewan regional festivals were not among the 12 plays chosen for the All-Canada Festival.

This year Manitoba hopes for better things in the Dominion Festival in April in Calgary and one of its bids is the play "Love Story" written by Aubrey Green, former newspaper man and now an advertising executive. The production will be directed by the 29-year-old author's wife, Mrs. Aubrey Green. "Love Story" is a production of the Winnipeg Teachers' Dramatic Society.

In addition to directing her husband's effort, Mrs. Green will play the feminine lead in another entry — the Winnipeg Little Theatre's production of "Pygmalion" by George Bernard Shaw, a play directed by Robert Jarman.

The third entry is Moliere's "L'Avare" by the French language group, Le Cercle Moliere of nearby St. Boniface. This group has won the award for the best French play four time in the Do-Dominion Festival, only Manitoba dramatic society to win a major award in the past.

Orillia Takes Tankard Trophy

TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP) — The Orillia Curling Club came through on the final stone Thursday night to win the Tankard Trophy, main event of the Ontario Curling Association's bonspiel. Orillia won the two-team match 28-27.

The finishing touches were supplied by Stan Sarjeant of Orillia, although he dropped a 16-11 decision to T. S. Graham of the Toronto Curling Club.

Graham had a seven-shot lead over his opponent on the last end, but his stone was a shade wide, going right through. This left Sarjeant counting one and with the whole ring to draw to for the winning shot.

In the first game R. J. Miller of Orillia skipped his team to a 17-11 victory over N. MacNicol of Toronto.

The Burden Trophy, consolation match of the Tankard event, was taken by the Kingston Curling Club with a 33-22 win over Peterborough.

H. M. Reid started Kingston off with a 17-9 win over C. Giroux, of Peterborough and club mate J. W. Sands followed up by skipping his rink to a 16-13 victory over Dr. R. Clark.

Smith Of Cobourg Suspended 8 Games

TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association executive has suspended two players for eight games each for stick-swinging.

At a meeting Thursday night it also slapped an indefinite suspension on coach Al Tremblay of Brantford's Junior B Club for attacking referee Garry Karges during a game at Simcoe.

Eight-game suspensions were dealt out to Lloyd Monk Shuttleworth of the Woodstock Senior B club and Russell Smith of Cobourg's Junior C entry.

Referee Clare Van Horne of London charged Shuttleworth with a deliberate attack on Bernie Smith of Brantford in a game at Woodstock. Smith was suspended for striking a Lindsay player in a game at Cobourg last Monday.

Marmora Leads In Trent With An 8-6 Win

MARMORA, Feb. 4. (ENS) — Trent Valley League standing as at February :

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Marmora	7	1	1	15
Campbellford	7	2	0	14
Norwood	3	4	1	7
Hastings	1	5	1	3
Frankford	0	6	1	1

Frankford's return visit to Marmora on Friday drew a crowd of 450 which saw the homesters emerge victorious by the score of 8-6.

Due to the late arrival of the Frankford team which only had eight players, the game was three quarters of an hour late in starting. Marmora were without G. Leonard, Cousins and Kerr. At the end of the second period, the homesters were leading by 5-1. Frankford staged a rally in the third to tie the score and after Marmora had again taken the lead, one more got the equalizer. However, Davis who had played a fine game was beaten by Loveless and Stewart within the last five minutes and honors went to the league leaders. In the second period, Borland, the home goalie was injured but continued to play. Loveless also was off for part of the game with an injury. Goodchild, the third home player to be hurt in the second period, had to have three stitches and retired for the rest of the game. This player also lost a gold tooth for which an unsuccessful search was made and occasioned a humorous diversion. Stewart did the hat trick and Trumble got a couple of goals for the winners. Courtney and Cooke got a pair each for Frankford.

Teams:
Frankford — Goal, Davis; defence, Farmer and Hood; centre, Cooke; wings, Cole and Mitts; alternates, Rankin and Courtney.
Marmora—Goal, Borland; defence, Nayler and E. Leonard; centre, Stewart; wings, Lavender and K. Trumble; alternates, Goodchild, McInroy, Loveless, Gray, Darrah, spare goalie Sweet.
Referees—Bill O'Malley, Trenton; Dick Bridgman, Trenton.
The summary:

First Period
Marmora—Lavender (Stewart, Trumble) 4:35
Frankford—Cooke (Rankin, Courtney) 11:20
Marmora—Trumble (Stewart) 13:55
Penalties—Larmer, Gray, Hood.
Second Period
Marmora—Stewart (Leonard) 1:45
Marmora—Stewart (Lavender) 1:53
Marmora—Darrah (Trumble, McInroy) 13:12
Penalties—None.
Third Period
Frankford—Cole (Hood) 1:55
Frankford—Cooke (Cole) 2:45
Frankford—Mitts (Farmer) 6:00
Frankford—Courtney 6:25
Marmora—Trumble 15:45
Frankford—Courtney (Farmer) 16:23
Marmora—Loveless (McInroy) 18:10
Marmora—Stewart 19:05
Penalties—Darrah, McInroy.

IOOF Beats Lindsay

The IOOF juveniles blanked a Lindsay all-star squad 10-0 in Lindsay in a rugged puck tilt. Robinson scored four goals for the winners, with Buckton getting two, and Pammett, Jensen, Floyd and Shearer one each. Bacon clicked for three assists, Galoski having two and Pammett one. Reesor and Armstrong were gated for fighting.

IOOF—Batley, Armstrong, Bigford, Pammett, Buckton, Ferguson, Jensen, Galoski, Floyd, Shearer, Kimball, Robinson, Collins, Bacon, Ryan.

Lindsay — Foshay, Quibell, Reesor, Wakelin, Hickson, Caley, Johnson, McGill, Bonestell, Spratt, Murray, McDuffie, Sinclair, Fitzelle.

Coaxed To Make Trip Captures Skiing Title

RUMFORD, Me., Feb. 4—(AP)—Karl Erik Aastrom of Sweden, who had to be begged to make the trip, won the world 18-kilometre (11-mile) cross country skiing championship Friday as Heikki Hasu of Finland added the combined title to the Olympic crown he annexed two years ago.

Aastrom, 26-year-old, 143-pound sports store clerk, refused to make the trip originally because he had failed to make the Swedish team although assured of a birth as a reserve. He had gained the same spot on the 1948 Olympic team and had seen no action.

Friday he was granted a starting berth and swirled over the up-ond-down course through the foothills of the White Mountains in one hour, six minutes and 16 seconds.

Peterborough Sends Curlers To Sudbury

SUDBURY, Feb. 4 — (CP) — Ninety-six rinks, representing almost every major curling centre in Ontario, will compete in the 63rd annual Northern Ontario Curling Association bonspiel, which starts Monday.

The largest entry in the association's history will see some 400 curlers in the hunt for the President's Club, emblematic of grand aggregate trophy honors, and five other major trphies. The curlers will be in action on the ice sheets of the nickel district's three major clubs—Granite, Copper Cliff and Sudbury.

Southern Ontario will be represented by rinks from Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Peterborough, Kingston, Brampton, Pembroke and Perth.

Canadian Places Third In Sprint As British Empire Games Open

By VERNON MORGAN

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Feb. 4 — (Reuters) — Australia provided the opening-day British Empire Games track point-winners today but a near-explosive Canadian incident almost stole the show.

It kept tongues wagging for more than an hour and fizzled out in a gesture of goodwill by athletes and officials from other Commonwealth countries.

The week-long games were only a couple of hours old before a world record was equalled—in the women's 100-yard sprint—and British Empire Games marks toppled in the men's sprint, high jump and 440-yard hurdles.

But it was 23-year-old Don Pettie, of Calgary, who held the spotlight with shy, red-haired Marjorie Jackson, of Australia, who twice equalled the 10.8 seconds world record in the women's event.

Pettie finished third in the men's sprint final after officials waived a rule to make him eligible after two false starts—an automatic disqualification by international rules.

It was close. The 23-year-old Canadian sprint champion was ruled out of the race by starter Cliff Harbutt, of New Zealand, and some fast sprinting by coach Bruce Humber, of Victoria, B.C., on to the track stopped the official send-off without the slim Canadian.

Agree To Decision

After an hour's discussion between Canadian and games officials it was decided to let Pettie run. Other competitors in the final consented to the decision.

"The jury of appeal upheld starter Cliff Harbutt, of New Zealand, a decision which was in accordance with their interpretation of the international rules," an official announcement said. "However, in view of the fact that Canada as a practice interpreted this rule differently and competitor Pettie said this to the starter, the jury agrees that, with the consent of the other finalists, Pettie may take his place in the final."

Race Of Life

Pettie ran the races of his life on the Eden Park cricket grounds grass track before 40,000 persons. He did 9.9 and 9.8 seconds in preliminary rounds—the best times he has shown in his track career.

Otherwise, the meet belonged to 19-year-old Marjorie Jackson, from the New South Wales mining town of Lithgow. She won her races with ease and, if pressed, quite conceivably could eclipse the record set by the Netherlands' wonder woman, Mrs. Fanny Blankers-Koen, at the 1948 London Olympics. Team-maes Shirley Strickland and D. Johnston followed her to the tape in the final.

Treloar All Way

In the men's century final, it was Australia's Johnny Treloar all the way. He eclipsed the B.E. Games record of 9.7 seconds set by Cyril Holmes, of Britain, in 1938, by 1-10 second in his semi-final and equalled it in the final. Bill De Gruchy, also Australian, nipped Pettie to the wire for the second spot.

Olympic high jump champion John Winter, another Australian, set a games record with a six-foot-six-inch leap. The previous mark of six feet 5⅛ inches, held by Edwin Thacker, of South Africa, was set in the 1938 games at Sydney.

Another Olympic point-winner, Duncan White, of Ceylon, negotiated his 440-yard hurdles heat in 52.8 seconds, 1-10th of a second off the games mark set by Johnny Loaring, of Windsor, Ont., in 1938. Duncan placed second i the Olympics with a 51.8 time.

Bill Parnell and Jack Hutchins, both of Vancouver and Canada's main hopes in the 880-yard event, qualified for the semi-finals, but the rest of the "Canadian story" was tinged with disappointment.

Ask Ban Lifted

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Politicians could take a lesson from Alliston's kids on how to win a campaign.

Through a simple Hallowe'en prank, they've wheedled a $170,000, two storey ice arena from the taxpayers of this village 55 miles north of Toronto.

It started in 1946 when the old arena collapsed. Taxpayers grumbled about rebuilding.

When anti-rink talk hit its peak, the children went to work. On the morning after Hallowe'en 1947, Alliston awakened to find a soaped message on nearly every window in the village:

"We need a rink."

The kids followed this up with a parade through Alliston, carrying placards with the same message.

After Alliston's windows had been soaped a few more times, adults took the hint.

Alliston's last soap message from its kids on Hallowe'en, 1949, read:

"We got our rink."

Premier Frost said Friday the Ontario government will not allow night harness racing with pari-mutuel betting at the Thorncliffe race track here this summer.

The Premier recently stated the government is opposed to any further gambling facilities in the province. Night harness racing meets have been projected in the Toronto area by track owners as a weapon in their feud with the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association.

Peewee Reese, Brooklyn Dodger shortstop, Friday signed a one-year contract for what was believed to be $30,000. This would make him the second highest paid player on the Brooks. Jackie Robinson is reported to draw $35,000.

Betty Mitchell of Winnipeg stole the spotlight in the women's events as the North American outdoor speed skating championships opened Friday on Lake Onota at Pittsfield, Mass.

Miss Mitchell, defending champion, captured the senior 220 yard sprint and finished second to Janice Christopherson of St. Paul, Minn., in the senior mile. The Winnipeg skater's time for the 220 was 24.2 seconds, while Miss Christopherson took the mile in 3:48.1.

At Edinburgh, the Canadian curling team, its Scottish tour completed, broke up Friday — some leaving for Switzerland and the remainder staying in Scotland for a sightseeing tour.

Those staying in Scotland plan to make up rinks for the British curling open starting in Falkirk Feb. 6.

Friday the Canadian team, defeated Wednesday by the Scots for the Strathcona Cup, were entertained at a luncheon by Sir Andrew Murray, Lord Provost of Edinburgh.

Hastings Takes TVL Tilt Over Norwood

NORWOOD, Feb. 4 (ENS) — Though short on players, Hastings stepped into town last night and captured an 8-4 TVL verdict before a good-sized crowd. It was a lively fray and rough in spots, with Boyd Kelly suffering a cut around the mouth that required 12 stitches. Hastings were sparked by Morrow, Petticrew and Clapperton, while Webb and Hamilton went best for Norwood.

Teams
Hastings Goal, Mueller; defence, Ball, Petticrew; centre, Morrow; wings, Carr, Clapperton; alternates, Greenley, Edwards, Tucker.
Norwood; Goal, Aldred; defence, Petersen, G. Payne; centre, Webb; wings, Rogers Brown; alternates, Kelly, Evans, Clements, Lonsberry Hamilton, E. Payne, Smith.
Referees: O. Hendy and P. Nigh
Summary:

First Period

4 Sault Schoolboys Win Curling Title

GALT, Feb. 4 (CP) — Four Sault Ste. Marie youngsters are kings of Ontario schoolboy curlers after a dazzling two-day display which carried them to their second Ontario championship in two years.

Brilliantly skipped by red headed Glen Sagle, the Sault club won the big event Friday 10-7, over Vic McLeod's Parry Sound foursome. Sagles' stanemen had whipped Bert Lauderdale's Hamilton entry 11-2 in the semi-finals.

The Gore Mutual Trophy, second event in the bonspiel, was taken by Bill Thomson's Chatham rink. He edged out Mike Cassels of Hamilton Cathedral 10-7.

END THE MEANS TEST

The Means Test denies thousands of Canadians the right to receive an Old Age Pension.

The Means Test states that any amount received from children or any source must be calculated and held against the applicant for pension. Owning a house is a further stumbling block to a pension. A small allowance for military service, or for long years with a firm, all count against the old age pensioner.

We don't apply the Means Test when we pay Children's Allowances. There is no need to apply the Means Test to Old Age Pensions.

Spokesmen for every Canadian political party have criticized the Means Test. Only at Ottawa can the law be changed.

The matter will come before the session of Parliament opening February. 16th. Tell your member that you want him to vote to remove the Means Test.

Send this coupon to your Member of Parliament today. Letters sent to M.P.'s at the House of Commons, Ottawa, may be sent postage free.

G.E. WORKERS ARE UNITED

GE Violates Its Word

Last summer when GE was faced by a strong, united demand from its workers for negotiations on our 1949-50 contract the Company stated publicly:

> "In view of the fact that neither the UE nor the Company cancelled the Contract under the terms of this Article, the termination date automatically becomes June 30, 1950."

On November 18, 1949, the Company stated publicly:

> "Local 524 of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, so far as the Company is concerned, now has bargaining rights for employees in these works."

On Dec. 5th, 1949 the Company also said publicly:

> "The Company will continue to observe the Agreement it has with Local 524 UE as long as it is in effect . . ."

On the same date the Company also made the following public statement:

> "The Company does business with the properly authorized representatives of whatever bargaining agent is certified under the law as representing the majority of employees in the bargaining unit."

Having publicly admitted its obligations to our union GE then proceeds to illegally violate our Contract by:

1. Refusing to negotiate with us for 1949-50 amendments to our Agreement.
2. Witholding our dues money which we each authorized the Company to take out of our pay and turn over to our Union.
3. Refusing to recognize our elected officers, who have the full authority of our membership and our Constitution to act on our behalf.

GE Doesn't Bargain in Good Faith

Our negotiations with GE began in May, 1949. Because the Company refused to bargain in good faith we went to Conciliation in accordance with the labor laws of Ontario. The Conciliation Reports, which were made in January, 1950, weak and unacceptable as they were, did make recommendations for improvements in wages, hours and seniority in our Contract. After delaying a Contract settlement for a year with one excuse or another GE now ignores the Conciliation Board Reports and:

1. Deprives us of improved wages and our Community of increased consumer buying power.
2. Increases the threat of unemployment in Peterboro by withholding a reduction in hours that would spread the available work around.
3. Denies job protection through improved seniority rights in the event of layoffs, particularly to workers with 10, 15 and 25 years service.
4. Maintains unequal wage rates for women as part of the Company's customary policy of treating them as second class citizens.
5. Denies other improvements in wage rates and working conditions, which the Company could easily pay out of its profits and dividends, which are the highest in its history.

GE Defaults

It is evident from these facts that the Company is denying and defaulting on its own public statements as to its obligations to our Union.

GE gives as a reason for its unjust and illegal actions the claim that it is "confused" as to who represents its workers.

Yet there is no confusion among GE workers, who have demonstrated inside the plant their impatience with the Company's attitude.

We have virtually exhausted our lawful protections against the actions of the Company. Going to the courts would only mean months of delay in securing our rights.

What other alternative have we but to unite and demonstrate inside the plant by withholding the production out of which the Company makes its enormous profits?

As we have experienced year after year with GE, it is only demonstrations of unity inside the plant that will move the Company.

GE always uses the law, or ignores it, depending on which bests suits it purpose, to delay our contract settlements.

GE's Latest Tactic

Today GE is attempting to use the IUE, to do its work of division and delay.

We will use our unity in our own just rights in order to secure for ourselves and our families an improved living standard and greater job protection in the face of growing unemployment.

We call upon our fellow citizens of Peterboro to support our unity, which we are using to bring economic benefits to our entire Community.

First Church At Antioch Challenge To Christianity

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

It was at Antioch that the disciples of Jesus were first called Christians.

It is necessary to say Antioch in Syria, for this city, about 300 miles north of Jerusalem was one of 16 Antiochs in the ancient world, and these 16 were among 37 cities, built by Selucus Nikator a conqueror who lived 300 years before Christ, and who named these cities after himself or his relatives. The Antiochs were named after his father.

Of the 16 Antiochs—Antioch in Pisidia in another mentioned in the New Testament (Acts 13:14) —this Antioch in Syria was much the greatest and finest. It was situated on the River Orontes navigable from its seaport, 14 miles away. The city in its splendor was called the "Queen of the East," and its seaport at Selucus was strongly fortified, like an ancient Gibraltar.

The modern Antioch a writer has described as "a small, ignoble, and dirty town of 6,000 inhabitants," but the ancient Antioch, a city of half a million inhabitants was of an outward grandeur and magnificence that almost baffles the imagination.

A double-colonnaded street ran for five miles through the city from east to west, on which its inhabitants in rainy weather could walk under cover, and in conformity with this immensity were its public works and buildings, its pagan temples, its treasures of art, its trees, gardens, fountains and all the tokens of outward culture from every part of the world.

Many readers, like myself, have probably visited the immense sculptures of American presidents, carved out of the side of Mt. Rushmore, in South Dakota but over 2,000 years before Gutzon Borglum conceived that great project a Syrian ruler had ordered a sculptor to hew Mt. Silpius towering above the city of Antioch, into a huge statue of Charon the ferryman of the River Styx

It was fitting that the first church of disciples to be called Christians should arise in such a city Christianity had a challenge to offer to that pagan culture. But more fitting was a deeper challenge to the vileness and foulness beneath that culture; in a city that in its licentiousness and wickedness exceeded all other cities of its time.

When a Roman writer wrote of the immorality that had befouled Roman society, he expressed it by saying that "the Orontes had overflowed the Tiber."

That little band of Christians must have seemed insignificant in such a vast city, with the immensity of its culture, and the immensity of its sin. Yet here the Christian name began, a name soon to be heard throughout that ancient world, and to become a name of power in worlds then unknown, including new continents.

Nor was it only the beginning of a great name. Here, also, in Antioch was the beginning of the Christian missionary enterprise that started Christianity on its western way, fulfilling the commission to preach the gospel to the ends of the earth. It was a great beginning, and the end is still far off, as Jesus still leads on ward. "What manner of man is this" will be their enquiry. You are a man following in the footsteps of the THE SON OF MAN

THE LORD SAITH I AM AMONG YOU AS HE THAT SERVETH.

Gospel Pattern Of Service Was Challenge To Authority

The Son of Man Came Not To Be Ministered Unto But To Minister St. Mark 10: 45.

To understand the force of these words it is important to keep in mind that this Gospel was written for the Romans, a ruling race Years later St. Matthew copied these words into his Gospel written for the Jews, a spiritually proud race. The statement would not appeal to either race. Authority was the key in politics as well as religion The centurian makes his appeal to authority. "I also am a man under authority." The Jewish Carpenter places this new ideal before His followers. "The Son of man came not to be ministered unto but to minister." It is thought provoking even to-day A new religion is being founded: that of service for others.

A thinker of centuries ago wrote: "Force is not the outstanding character of God. Moses cried "Shew me They glory, O Lord" "I will cause my goodness to pass before thee' is God's answer. The goodness of God is the ideal for Moses to keep before his mind.

"The Son Of Man" This is our Lord's own name for Himself. He does not often say I but prefers this homely title. It catches the mind and imagination. The Teacher asks you to think First He is a real man. The earliest heresy denied His manhood. That He was not a real man, but looked like a man. Now you will understand this Scripture "Every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God. Again "The Son of man places the importance on the new truth that He is the Head of a new race. He puts it into practice: "Jesus knowing that the Father had put all things into His Hands and that He was come from God and went to God: He riseth from supper and laid aside His garment took a towel and girded Himself and began to wash the disciples feet and to wipe them with the towel wherewith He was girded. He is a Servant to the disciples. He set them the example.

Further more in that upper room He took Bread and broke it and said "This is my body which is broken for you Do this in remembrance of Me" You and I are to break our bodies in His service. His Spirit will enter into you and give you grace to break your energies for your brethren Such action will draw its own re-

Former City Teacher Tours Four Corners of the World Sheep Ranch To Arabia Fete

By HAZEL PAULL

For three years Miss Anne Jamieson, a former home economics teacher in city schools has been travelling round the world, visiting countries in the east and western hemispheres. Her activities included mustering cattle riding horse-back on a cattle station in Australia, teaching school in New Zealand, attending Hawaiian feasts and taking part in many functions during her travels in China, In- Egypt and Arabia, quite unfamiliar to most peoples of western countries.

First port of call after leaving the American continent was Honolulu and for seven and a half months Miss Jamieson lived in the Hawaiian Islands.

Typical of the friendly disposition of the Hawaiian people was the reception accorded the visitors as the ship arrived in the harbor. By custom all visitors to Honolulu are greeted by a band.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce boards every ship on its arrival and passengers are greeted, before setting foot on land, with leis — or garlands. The Hawaian hosts deck every visitor with garlands and it is the privilege of the man who places the garland round the lady's neck to give her a kiss.

On board the ship was Margaret O'Brien, the young film star, who was travelling with her mother and uncle.

Saw Pearl Harbor

Among the sights Miss Jamieson saw while in the Hawaiian Islands was Pearl Harbor, where several submerged ships were still to be seen as evidence of the attack which brought the U. S into the war.

Miss Jamieson visited all five islands and saw many memorials to Captain Cook. He is remembered as the man who brought sheep and pigs to the islands and it was the British born Boston missionaries who introduced sugar and pineapples, now the two leading industries.

The people are the nicest you could meet, Miss Jamieson says During her travels she met several who were acutely aware of the financial advantages of tourists. In the Hawaiian Islands, however, the people were too happy with life to bother chasing the dollar. They are a lazy people, but the nicest you could meet, is Miss Jamieson's overall impression.

Wherever Miss Jamieson travelled she often went off the beaten track of most tourists and many were her strange experiences as she took part in the lives of other races. While in the Hawaian Islands she attended a lua feast Pig, called pig, not pork, is the main food of the natives and raw fish is another common food.

Adapt the Customs

A traveller is accepted readily if she will adopt the customs of the native people who are her hosts, Miss Jamieson says and she carried this theory through in practice, eating with chop sticks or whatever was the custom of the people she was visiting.

On the island of Hawaii are two volcanoes, one extinct and the other still active. Miss Jamieson visited both and only three months after she left, Moana Loa erupted. She had been hoping to see the eruption. which sent lava a distance of 30 miles.

She was able to see evidence of former eruptions, however, where long stretches of lava had become fertile.

There are many fern forests in the Hawaiian Islands, where ferns growing considerably higher than a house are the main vegetation and at the base of the ferns grow beautiful wild orchids.

Many people are under the impression that Honolulu, the capital of the Hawaian Island is on Hawai. The capital, however, is situated on Oahu and the other islands are Holoaki, Maui and Kauai.

Many nationalities are represented among the inhabitants of the islands but both natives and others are proud of their entry into the U S. The Americans are a friendly people and have brought happiness to the islands, Miss Jamieson found. If Britain had acted similarly in India, the history of that large continent would have been a great deal happier, she observed.

To New Zealand

From the Hawaiian Islands Miss Jamieson went to New Zealand She was not impressed with the climate of either island but was greatly impressed by the magnificence of the mountains.

While waiting for a ship she taught school in the north island and was then asked to take charge of a high school class in the south island.

Although she had never taught art, Miss Jamieson had made it her hobby and when asked to help out in the girls high school, she undertook the work. "I did not quite know how I would manage at first" Miss Jamieson told a reporter, "but I had great fun and made some very close friends during that time."

FORMER CITY

MISS ANNE JAMIESON spent three years travelling round the world and is now back in Peterborough, where, until 1947, she was a school home economics teacher. From California she visited the Hawaian Islands, Australia, New Zealand, China, Burma, India, Egypt, Arabia, Italy, France, Switzerland and Great Britain. Teaching school in New Zealand and mustering cattle in Australia, feasting with natives in the Hawaiian Islands and attending an Arabian wedding dance were among her varied experiences.

Make Increase Of 10 Per Cent In Power Rates

Peterborough Utilities Commission is announcing today a general increase of 10% in electrical power rates effective with the first billing in March. It applies to three urban divisions of consumers, domestic, commercial and industrial.

This action is actually the passing on to the power-using public the increase recently imposed by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario. Late in the year, Hydro advanced the wholesale price of power from $29.40 per kilowatt a year to $32 80.

The electrical department of the Utilities Commission is engaged in the buying and selling of power. It is purchased from the Hydro, the producer, on a wholesale basis, and is retailed and distributed here among consumers, for use in homes, stores, offices and industries.

Increase of $61,000

The new Hydro rate per kilowatt-year added $61,000 to the Utilities Commission bill for 1950, and as a middleman the Utilities has had to relay the increase to the ultimate customers.

This course was adopted Friday afternoon, and the details of the increased charges are shown in an advertisement published elsewhere in this issue. It was said at the meeting that this was the first time since 1937 that the Utilities Commission had to raise its rates to Peterborough power-users.

Rural Charges

Electric power charges to rural consumers are applied directly by the Hydro-Electric Commission and not through the Peterborough Utilities Commission. However, collection is made through the Simcoe St. office of Utilities.

Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of Utilities, said Friday that township power users have been calling him and other members about charges and other matters outside Utilities authority. He suggested that Ross L. Dobbin, manager, prepare a statement for the information of Hydro customers in the townships.

Summer Estate Likely Annex Of Mental Home

COBOURG, Feb. 4 (ENS)—Recently reported purchased for an extension of the provincial training school for girls, the palatial Roe summer home may be used as an extra building for the Ontario Mental Hospital.

If the Ontario Department of Welfare decided on that transfer of use, the council of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham may be saved an expenditure of $60,000 on the enlargement of their home for aged people.

Additional accommodation is said to be necessary at the Counties Home, and the council has been considering its expansion to meet the requirements in facilities for old and feeble and senile persons. It has been expected that an enlargement would have to be undertaken.

However, if the Roe estate were made available for the needs of Ontario Hospital, particularly for the elderly mental patients, that acquisition would be a means of relieving the problem of additional space and housing room at the Counties Home. It is said that the Conservative committee here has been advocating this switch of purpose for the old Roe summer residence, and it has probably been discussed with Hon. Wm A. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare. If it does come about it would serve two purposes instead of one as at first intended, and the economy would be highly acceptable to the county administrators.

Two Youths Held For Five Entries

Five break-ins three of them in December, were believed to have been cleared up with the arrest early Friday of Francis Peel, 21, Peterborough and Norman Donald Wood, no fixed address, 19.

The pair were charged in police court with breaking, entry and attempted theft at Withers and Baird service station, early Friday. They were remanded to Wednesday and bail was fixed at $1,000.

Another break-in, at the McWilliams service station, which netted the thieves $3 in cash and some packages of cigarettes; was also laid at their doorstep.

Two entries into Reuben Wilson's garage at McDonnel and Reid Sts. made in December were as well believed to be the work of the youths.

Another December break-in in which a few dollars in silver was taken is also said to be the two youths' handiwork.

Wood, originally from Toronto has spent the last three years working on farms in the Peterborough district.

R. L. BEASLY, a boatswain's mate, floats in the water (lower left, left photo), while shipmates aboard the US aircraft carrier watch his plight during recent Atlantic manoeuvres. Beasly was picked up from the ocean by the crew of a helicopter based on the ship. In photo at right he dangles from the plane as it comes over the flight deck of the carrier. A sailor grabs his leg and another on deck runs towards him. The Navy said Beasly was accidently thrown overboard during re-fueling operations.

Police Record On Big Map All Accidents

During January 92 accidents were reported to Provincial Police in the five counties comprising District 8 H. Q. Forty-nine people were injured but there were no fatalities.

That, in brief, is the traffic story so far as the Provincials are concerned. Figures indicated do not take into account accidents occurring within the jurisdiction of municipal police forces.

The police say that the number of accidents is unusually high for this time of year.

At District 8 H. Q. in Peterborough the police are keeping a careful check on them. The Highway and location (down to a tenth of a mile accuracy) is noted. A large wall map with a colored pin marking the site of each accident allows an easy visual check to be made.

Survey Along Front

Highway 2 which has the heaviest traffic also leads in the number of crackups, 36. Highway 7 is next with 13, 7A, one accident; 28 nine; 30, one; 35, three 36, none; 45, one, and 46, one.

There were 20 on county roads and seven on township roads.

By counties the break down is as follows: Durham 24, Northumberland 29, Peterborough 21, Victoria 12, and Haliburton six.

By marking the wall map with colored pins (yellow for an accident involving car damage only blue for injuries and red for fatalities) the Provincial Police will be able to tell at a glance where the danger spots are on the local highways.

Constables on patrol will be able to pay particular attention to traffic converging on these locations.

Chicken Prices Ease On Market

Few buyers and sellers braved the chilly northern winds to attend the weekly farm market today. Eggs, chickens and apples were the most in supply.

Apples ranged from 60c a six-quart basket to 35c. Spys and macs were 50c a six-quart, sweets and greenings 40c, lasalles, starks and baldwins 35c a six-quart. Delicious apples, rosy reds, were selling at 60c a basket.

Average prices for eggs were 32c a dozen for grade A pullets; 35c for mediums; 40c for large and 45c for the extras. A few farmers were 42c and 45c for the large eggs at the same time asking 48 and 50c for the extras.

Chickens were slightly cheaper on the outside market, year-olds 35c a pound and spring chicks 40c a pound. Inside the spring chickens were 45c a pound and some capons 48c. A few ducks made their appearance being offered at 60c a pound. Jelly pressed chicken loaves were 60c a pound.

A large assortment of home-cooking was offered the buyers. Pies were fairly general at 40c each while tarts were 40c a dozen, cookies 25c and 20c a dozen, bread 20c a loaf, buns 25c a dozen, and donuts 30c a dozen.

Car Snaps Off Pole

A telephone pole was snapped off Thursday night on Highway 7, just west of the Chemong Road junction, when a car ran into the ditch.

The car, driven by Hubert O'-O'Neill of 30 Lee St., was proceeding east on the Highway when it went out of control, plunged into the south ditch and snapped the pole.

Mr. O'Neill was uninjured but damage to the car is estimated at $100.

Provincial Constables George Henderson and Ed Patterson investigated.

Winter Clothing Sales Poor In Men's Stores

Winter is finished — at least as far as men's clothing merchants are concerned. And it hasn't been too happy a winter for them.

The sale of winter clothing for men in Peterborough is down anywhere from 20 to 35 per cent according to a sample of the merchants questioned. Only one store of those asked had not had considerable cuts in the amount of winter merchandise sold.

Overcoats gave the most trouble. As the proprietor of one store said, "You couldn't sell an overcoat now if you put the price at $10. Men just don't need them."

Jackets of all kinds, sweaters, mitts and heavy underwear, all the articles which men wear who spend considerable time outdoors, have been affected.

The money put into this clothing has not been lost, but the capital is tied up in winter clothes when store managers and owners would rather have it in spring and summer dress.

All agreed they might just as well pack up their winter clothing and start showing spring and summer merchandise. Need new bathing trunks?

Coal, coke and other heating fuels have not sold so readily this winter, either. But the picture does not seem as black to fuel dialers. On the whole they have been able to maintain their supplies.

If a long cold spell settled on the city, the whole picture could easily change. But so far a fair estimate would probably be that the fuel sales are down about 10 per cent.

DESIGN OF CREST

A draft design of Peterborough's civic crest has been received from the College of Heralds, London, Eng. No official opinion has been given as to the correctness of its symbolism as intended for Peterborough, but some of the details are regarded as definitely significant and appropriate. Some changes will likely be suggested if it is accepted.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

When the engine of Miss Dorothy York's car stalled as she was driving it out of the laneway by her home, 466 Patterson St. Friday evening, Morley James, 182 Adeline St., who was passing, was unable to stop his car before the two vehicles collided. Mr. James applied his brakes, but the car skidded on the slippery road surface. His car had a damaged front fender and headlight, fog light and grill. There was no apparent damage to Miss York's car.

41 C.N.R. MEN OUT

Forty-one C.N.R. employees have been laid off at Lindsay, as an effect, it is said, of motor transport competition. Their collective wage amounted to about $8,000 a month. E. R. Granger, CNR agent, said further suspensions might become necessary. He suggested to the people of the railway town that they should demand delivery of goods by rail. Some 205 CNR men were employed in Lindsay prior to the layoffs. Their monthly payroll was $38,950. There are 25 or more railway pensioners living there.

NEARING COMPLETION

Part of the new wing of St. Joseph's Hospital is already in use, but the date of the formal opening has not yet been set, Sister Priscilla said today. "It will be completed sometime this month, but we would like to have the grounds looking presentable However, nothing has been decided yet."

FENDERS DAMAGED

A collision between a car driven by Morley Powell, 661 Rubidge St and Donald Ken, 173 Rubidge St occurred at 1 p.m. Friday, as Mr Ken was about to back his car into the curb on Stewart St. Seeing a collision was likely, Mr. Powell swung out to try to avoid it, but his car was in collision with Mr. Ken's and also struck another car parked on the side of the street and owned by Donald Boulton, 123 Stewart. Damage was mostly confined to fenders.

KITCHENER FLOODLIGHTS

Kitchener has let a contract for eight floodlights for its athletic park at a cost of approximately $40,000. Peterborough ball club is asking for lights at Riverside. Some people here would switch most of the commercial sports from that park, get rid of the fence, which is regarded as a blemish, and concentrate on the beauty of the river front grounds. and plan to enhance and further exploit it. In their suggestion, games for gates would be shifted to Morrow Park.

30-Car Motorcade Convoys 150 Hunters To Wolf Shoot Game Assured In Stony Area

Sharp on 8.30 a.m. today a 30-car motorcade, consisting of about 150 red-capped huntsmen, pulled out of the King St. Bus terminal and parking area. They were on the first lap of the much-publicized wolf hunt in the Mount Julian-Eel's Brook district. The lead car as the pulled out was that of Game Warden S. . Windso., followed by two jeeps and three large trucks of the 50th HAA Regiment (Wireless Section). One of the jeeps and a truck contained radio equipment for inter-communication between the groups of hunters and possibly ground to air.

Private cars containing shotgun-laden hunters swung into line behind. Plans called for a 30-miles-an-hour trip to the rendezvous at Ottis Northey's farm, at the Viamede turnoff near Highway 28.

Two stops were scheduled, one at Lakefield and the other at Young's Point, to allow other hunters to join the party.

Hunters Briefed

The hunters assembled at the parking lot and then gathered around Norman Bradley, vice president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Assoc., who briefed them roughly on the plan of campaign.

A few queries and a few last minute instructions and the motor column was off. Hunters from as far east as Marmora and as far west as Orangeville joined the motorcade.

Newsreel cameramen from Ottawa and Toronto flurried around grinding out a record of the take-off and the weather was ideal.

Swinging onto King St., and north onto Water, the line of cars made an impressive sight and after a half-hour of brisk driving pulled into the farm of Ottis Northey at the Viamede turn off Highway 28. Game Warden Robert Trotter of Apsley was briefed on Friday evening to meet the party at the Northey Farm and have a bubbling cauldron of coffee ready for the hunting party.

Planes Ready

Two skiplanes parked on the ice of Little Cedar Lake beside Highway 28 waited for take-off over the 12 square-mile hunting area to the east. The firing line hunters are being driven over a north bush road that will take them to picturesque High Falls on Eel's Brook on the eastern perimeter of the hunting area. A few more are off to Mount Julian landing to be deployed along the north shore of Stony Lake as far east as Eel's Brook.

Hunt Master Norman Bradley is giving an aerial signal from one of the skiplanes, when all hunters are in position, a signal for the beaters to start through the rugged countryside toward the firing line.

The hunting area has had a more intensive survey than either of the two previous wolf hunts held in 1949. Game Wardens Trotter and Simpson looked it over on foot on Thursday and again by air on Friday. There is every indication of a bag of the wolves whose tracks have been noted in some abundance near Eel's Brook.

The hunt is due to last more than five hours and expert observers feel that there is an excellent opportunity of blasting the varmints from the bush. Many things can happen on an affair of this kind to prevent filling the game bag. There can be a lack of game, but everyone participating is at least having a day's outing to remember for many years to come.

Runaway Gallops Down Charlotte Scattering Pies

Early this morning traffic on Charlotte St. came to a halt as a wild-eyed horse, dragging the remains of a broken harness, galloped toward George St.

The animal had been pulling a bread waggon on Bethune St. and the driver left him standing for a couple of minutes while he made a call. In the interval a train came up the track, parallel with Bethune St., and the noise of its shunting apparently frightened the horse.

Dragging the bread waggon with it the horse started off in high speed for a less frightening neighborhood. It rounded the corner onto Charlotte and headed east. At the south-west corner of Aylmer and Charlotte the waggon smashed into a steel pole, shattering the shafts and splintering the whippletree.

Trail of Pies

A trail of pies, bread and driver's account books extended from Bethune to Aylmer.

Once free of the encumbering waggon the horse made like Seabiscuit down the centre of Charlotte while motorists and pedestrians gaped. The sound of thundering hoofs brought many curious people to their windows.

Halted At Red Light

Frightened though he was, dobbin was no law breaker. He came to a halt at the George St. red light. Then he started off again but with less enthusiasm.

Gordon Blodgett of RR 8 Peterborough saw the run away animal, parked his car quickly, and captured him near the Capitol Theatre.

Together with Police Constable W. G. Scott, Mr. Blodgett calmed the horse, adjusted his harness and looked after him until some bread company employees arrived to take him back to the stable.

Methuen Hunter Shot 8 Foxes

Top hunter for the week is Milo Van Volkenburg of Methuen township, who collected $24 from the County Clerk and Treasurer for bringing in eight fox pelts.

Mr. Volkenburg trapped five of the foxes and shot the other three. Runner-up was Sherman Sweeting of Smith, who brought down four with his rifle..

Last week five wolf pelts were brought in, but this week there was not one. The 150 hunters scheduled to take part in the organized wolf hunt in Burleigh today hope to bag a record number.

Since the $3 bounty was placed on foxes December 1 there have been 202 claims. This week there were 30.

Following are the successful huntsmen and the number of fox pelts they brought in:

W. J. Irwin, Harvey, one, shot in Harvey; M. Conroy, Peterborough, three, shot near the Lakefield Road, in Smith; A. Lasenby, Peterborough, one, shot near the Otonabee River in Otonabee; Earl Carl, Peterborough, one shot near the Bensfort Bridge in Otonabee; Earl J. Pollock, Belmont, four, trapped in Belmont; Alex. Mott, Curve Lake Reserve, one, shot in Smith; Roy Hunphries, Asphodel, two, shot in Asphodel; David Henderson, Peterborough, one, shot in Otonabee; Milo Van Volkenburg, Methuen, five trapped and three shot in Methuen; James Barrons, Belmont, two trapped in Belmont; Everett Richardson, Asphodel, one shot in Asphodel; Sherman Sweeting, Smith, four, shot in Smith, and Stanley Barcroft, Harvey, one shot in Harvey.

Deny DP's In Canada All Fascist-Inclined

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP).— Charges that displaced persons in Canada are either not union-conscious or are Fascists were termed "twaddle" at Friday's convention of the Ontario Federation of Labor (CIO-CCL) as racial discrimination was discussed. Lloyd Peel of the Oshawa United Auto Workers Union local made the charges about DP's, suggesting that unions be allowed to screen immigrants for their attitude towards labor unions.

Committee Discusses Training Of Veterans

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 — (CP). — The University Advisory Committee on Veterans Training will meet Monday with Veterans Minister Gregg. Officials said the meeting would be routine and concerned largely with studying reports on the progress of the Federal program that has assisted thousands of Canadian veterans to take university training after their discharge from the forces. Among those expected to attend will be Malcolm Wallace of Queen's University.

50 Radio Hams Meet

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 — (CP). — About 50 amateur radio operators from the Ottawa, Montreal, and Quebec areas will meet here this week-end for the first convention of members of No. 5 Area of the RCAF Amateur Radio System. Among those attending will be Bert Knowles of Lansdowne, Ont.

Dismiss Appeals

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 4—(CP) —Appeals of four men convicted of conspiring to distribute narcotics in what the RCMP termed a country-wide ring were dismissed Friday. The British Columbia Appellate Court turned down the appeals of Carmen Chiovitti of Toronto, Dan Gasberini of Hamilton, and Mike Kushman and Steve Bohach, both of Vancouver.

Canadian Airmen Taught To Conquer Arctic's Dangers

FORT NELSON, B.C., Feb. 4 (CP)—Life and death are the main subjects taught in a unique classroom in this northern British Columbia outpost.

The classroom, for two and a half days in a two-week course, consists of well-heated quarters. After that it expands to the bushland surrounding the area and pupils, with just enough food to keep them uncomfortably hungry for that length of time, are on their own.

It's the RCAF's "Survival School," one of the world's toughest, designed to train flyers how to get along on their own in the northland in case they should be forced down some time.

So far, the school has graduated more than 200 officers, and the air force intends to put all service aircrew through the course twice —once during the summer and again during the winter. To speed up the job, it plans later this year to operate a second school from Cambridge Bay, 175 miles inside the Arctic circle on the southern edge of Victoria Island.

Courses would be extended to three weeks and given at both points, with students first going through training here, and then being flown to Cambridge Bay for further training.

Graduates generally complete the course with uniforms sagging noticeably about the middle. One lost 16 pounds.

"If you're still alive at the end of 11 days," said one graduate "you know you've passed the course."

However, since the course began about a year ago there have been no "casualties."

Years of Experience

Instructors are RCAF officers with years of Arctic experience, aided by northern-bred Indians. The air force doesn't expect the two-week course to work miracles but goes after two main objects: removing from the minds of its personnel the long-standing fear of the Arctic and making fliers able to look after themselves should they be forced down.

Fear of the Arctic, says Flt.-Lt. S. E. Alexander, survival specialist at the school, has hampered man's efforts in northern exploration for years. This fear must be overcome if survival techniques are to be learned, just as one must overcome fear of the water before learning to swim.

"A lot of people, even today, scare up bogeys in their own minds about the north and the Arctic, bogeys that actually don't exist," he said. "There's nothing really mysterious about the north.

"Survival is merely a question of knowing just what the dangers are, and how to recognize them and how to take advantage of the resources offered by the country. It's a matter of using common sense plus various techniques. Our boys have the common sense—our job is to teach them the techniques.

Alexander, a 37-year-old former Mountie from Vancouver, joined the R.C.A.F. in 1942. His job at Air Force headquarters keeps him behind a desk, but he manages to get out of the school often enough to keep his hand in.

In charge of the school itself is another former Mountie, 38-year-old FO. R. J. Goodey, of Chilliwack, B.C., who speaks several Eskimo dialects and who has 15 years' experience in the Yukon and the Arctic. Goodey is assisted by FO J. B. Prescott, of Toronto and by several Indian guides.

Survival training at the Fort Nelson school is based on a manual produced by Alexander and Goodey which contains a wealth of advice to those who find themselves afoot in the Northland. Arctic authorities say hundreds of northern explorers died in the past because they tried to fight a knock-down battle with the north instead of making it work for them.

Comprehensive Manual

The manual covers northern geography, emergency navigation for ground parties, mosquitoes and flies, general care of the body, building shelters, hunting, travel natives, care of firearms, food and clothing under Arctic conditions and means of living off the country.

Included is what might be termed the world's most unusual cook book, which gives detailed information concerning available foodstuffs in the north. About 30 different types of edible plant life found in the Arctic and sub-Arctic are listed, and the book tells how to recognize them and how to prepare them for eating. More than 50 different types of animal life and sea foods are included ranging from whales to Arctic mice.

The cookbook may never catch on with Canadian housewives. One recipe is for a stew of boiled mice and lousewort, the latter being described as the most tasty food plant found in the north.

Some of the north's basic foods are such forms of plants life as lichen, seaweed, Alpine Fleece flower, and willow shoots, and such animals as bats, snakes, sea cucumbers, and walruses.

Another piece of advice warns against eating snow in its natural state. This will cause dehydration of the body instead of relieving thirst, it cautions, and it explains that snow must be thawed first in the hand, and can be eaten when melted to a slush. Approximately one quart of water a day is needed by a person active in the open in the Arctic.

Students learn that working up a prespiration in the Arctic can be, during cold weather, as deadly as falling through the ice. They learn not to apply snow to a frozen ear or nose.

When they hit the bush, each man is dressed in suitable clothing and takes with him a sleeping bag and emergency kit for 11 days. This kit includes emergency rations and fishing gear, and is similar to that carried in service aircraft. A limited number of firearms are issued to the group, to be used collectively.

The emergency rations are sufficient to keep a man alive, but instructors say "they leave an awful empty feeling in your middle if they're not supplemented by something else." Getting hold of "something else" by use of the firearms, by fishing, through use of snares, or by recognition of forms of plant life suitable for eating, and chopping wood to keep warm keeps everyone busy. Shelters are what the students themselves can build.

WCTU Observes N. Health Week

SELWYN, Feb. 4 (ENS).—Fairview members led by Mrs. Fred Bell provided the program at a meeting Thursday of Smith and Lakefield WCTU at the home of Mrs. Elmer Milburn.

The president, Mrs. Gordon Mann, was chairman.

Miss Margaret Milburn read the scripture and the commentary was given by Mrs. Harold Lewis. The speaker was Mrs. Clarence Mann.

In keeping with National Health Week, Mrs. Mann chose as her subject, Health and Nutrition. She said there were six rules to carry out in order to have good health, namely: cleanliness, rest, exercise, relaxation, dental care and nutrition.

Mrs. Mann spoke of alcoholic drinks and declared parents buy milk for their children according to the cents they have, but do not stop to consider the cents it takes to buy a bottle of pop or the amount of money it takes to bring home a case of beer.

Indifference and lack of knowledge is the cause of poor health conditions in some homes, Mrs. Mann claimed. She illustrated her address with posters and was assisted by Miss Olive Bell.

A vote of thanks was proposed by Miss Margaret Milburn.

The president took charge of the business, Mrs. Elmer Milburn reported that there were 99 papers written on the recent scientific temperance, and four had completed the five year course and received pins. They were Nola Wilson, Sanford Trotter, Marion McMullen and Ernest Trotter.

Miss Margaret Milburn and Mrs. W. A. Roseborough gave a short travelogue on their trips to Florida.

Awarded Damages

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP). — Mr. Justice G. A. Rigoletto To Open Canadian Opera Festival

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP). — An enthusiastic audience Friday acclaimed the Royal Conservatory Opera Company's presentation of Verdi's Rigoletto, launching the first all-Canadian Opera Festival. The festival, regarded as a milestone in Canadian music, will consist of 10 performances of three famous works — Rigoletto, Mozart's Don Giovanni, and Puccini's La Boheme. It marks the first time opera has been presented using only Canadian talent. The singers, ballet dancers, musicians and technicians come from many parts of Canada.

Doubts Strachey

GLASGOW, Feb. 4 — (CP) — When Food Minister John Strachey telephoned the Glasgow Food Office tonight a switchboard girl told him: "I've never heard of you." Strachey announced his office but the girl still stalled suspecting a practical joke. A Glasgow Labor party official and woman reporter had to come to the phone and testify before the minister could be put through.

Ontario Hydro forges ahead!

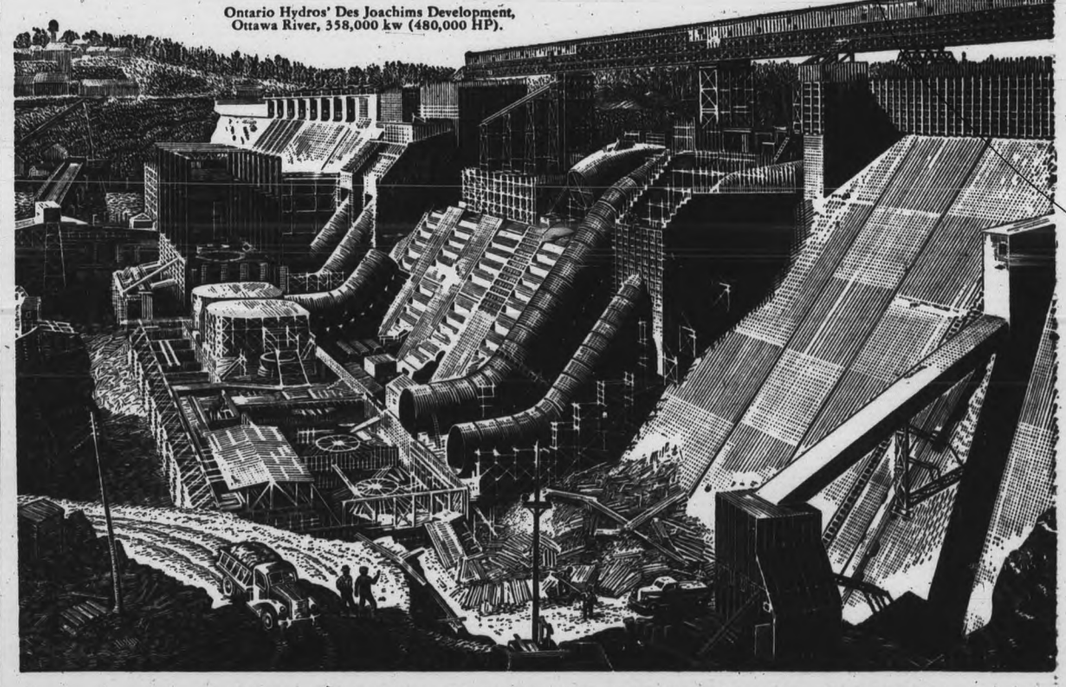
11 NEW POWER PLANTS—OVER 1,600,000 HP!

A rising level of industrial activity, a rapid increase in commercial and domestic loads, and widespread extensions to rural service in Ontario have brought about a very large growth in the use of electrical energy.

To meet this increased demand and to provide for future requirements, The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario has well under way a large scale expansion and development program. A total of 11 new power projects will add to Ontario's power supply more than 1,200,000 kilowatts (over 1,600,000 horsepower). Of this amount 162,500 kw (217,500 HP) is now being delivered to Hydro consumers from 4 completed projects. A further 460,000 kw (616,500 HP) will become available in 1950 and the balance in 1951 and 1952.

The Commission is also engaged in a frequency-conversion program in a section of the province, so that 60 cycles will be the standard frequency throughout Ontario.

This huge two-fold program will enable the Commission to provide still better service to the industries, farms and homes of Ontario, contributing to a high standard of living and helping to maintain production at peak levels.



Ontario Hydros' Des Joachims Development, Ottawa River, 358,000 kw (480,000 HP).

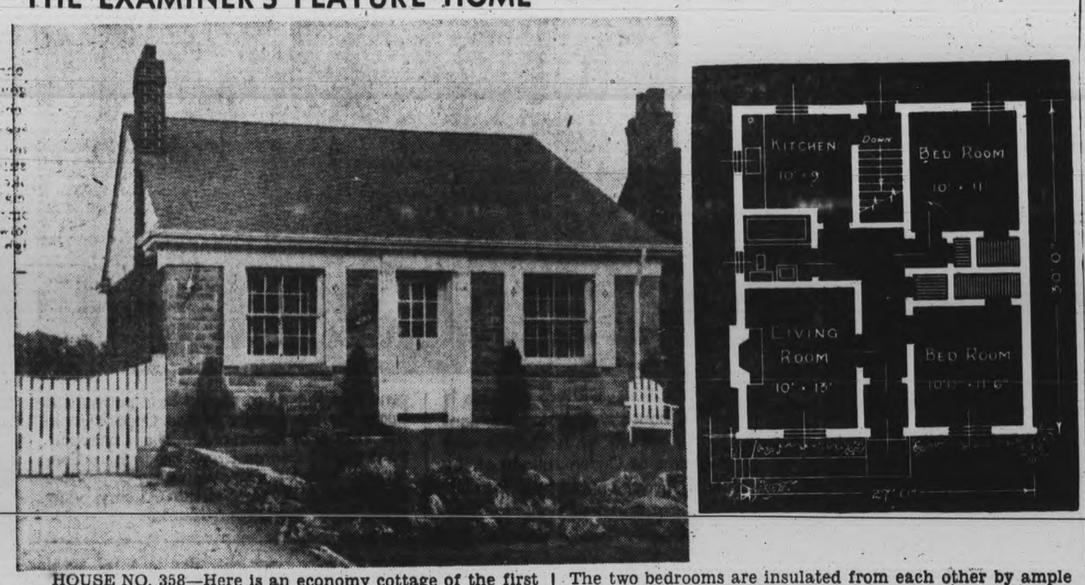
THE EXAMINER'S FEATURE HOME



HOUSE NO. 358—Here is an economy cottage of the first order. Such simple grace would make it welcome in any neighbourhood. Ideal for the very small family, or a retired couple. Where only one bedroom is needed, the other could be used as a study, guest, dining or even hobby room. The most inexperienced would have no trouble in furniture placement as this straight-walled plan is simplicity itself. The two bedrooms are insulated from each other by ample closet space. The fact that there is no cross-traffic through any of the rooms is very good. As there is no dining room, it is questionable whether some would be satisfied with such a small kitchen. Hanks & Irwin are the architects. For further instruction write Home Building in Canada 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Best Plumbing Goes Beyond Placing Of Fine Fixtures

The water supply, and drainage systems of the house, included in the general name of plumbing, are of the highest importance. The materials chosen should be good, but beyond this, the man who does the work must be capable. The competent plumber is familiar with the principles of mechanics and hydraulics which govern his work, and in some provinces he can only practise his trade under license. Before he is allowed to undertake regular work he must undergo a rigid examination. He must live up to all building-code regulations in the performance of his work under penalty of losing his license. As a consequence the builder of a home is protected and in a measure guaranteed a plumbing system that will be adequate and efficient.

In building a house in a rural district the owner could not do better than employ a well-known workman for the plumbing job and insist that all the regulations of the city code be complied with.

In a locality where water comes from a community system, mains are tapped at the street line. Supply pipes leading from the main to the house are of different sizes for different sizes of houses. For the average house of two-and-a-half stories a pipe of 1-inch diameter is considered sufficient. Pressure at the oultets of pipes on the upper floors should be 5 pounds to the square inch if automatic flush valves for toilets are to be installed. The amount of pressure is governed not only by the pressure in supply pipes but by the number of bends and joints in all the pipes of the water-system. While the 1-inch pipe is sufficient for average conditions, a larger pipe is needed where solid matter or chemical content of the water is likely to cause filling or corrosion.

Quality of Pipe

Water pipes are of copper brass, steel, black or galvanized wrought iron and lead, giving the builder a wide range of choice. Copper pipe lasts longer and can be used in smaller sizes because it does not rust. The choice between iron and steel should depend upon the corrosive action of the water.

Pipes should be laid on a grade. The slope of horizontal piping should be about one-tenth of an inch toward the main supply pipe. This will drain sediment toward the lead-in at the basement wall where an outlet valve for the drainage of the whole system is installed. All lines should rest on hangers at intervals of not less than 10 feet. A sleeve for the pipe should be provided wherever it goes through a wall. Expansion in pipes due to heat is overcome by loops or bands.

House Sanitation

Sanitary drainage as well as water supply is a part of the plumber's job. The system serves to take off all toilet and kitchen waste except solids and greases. The soil pipe is provided with a vent through which air is introduced into the drainage system to prevent the flow of foul odors into rooms. The vent serves also to release the suction when water flows toward the drain pipes, thus preventing the siphoning out of the water in the trap seal.

In plumbers' parlance, vertical drainage pipes are "stacks". Their dimensions are determined by the volume of waste and water likely to flow from the various fixtures discharged into them. Cast iron is the material used for large drainage pipes. The joints are usually of lead which is not affected by acids flowing through the system.

Painter William Winter Demonstrates On Canvas

Toronto artist William Winter, whose particular genre is painting scenes from human life, on Friday afternoon demonstrated how he works and fascinated a large audience at the Women's Art Association meeting in the YWCA.

Those who "dabble in painting a bit," or, the major portion of the group, which included a few men, watched the painter intently and made note of some practical hints that fell in his impromptu flow of commentary. On the other hand there were a few observers who have never themselves set a brush into oils, but after watching how quickly, and deftly he brought the canvas to life, felt they could, with a little practice, produce a similar result with sureness.

Pre-painting Steps

The canvas was set up in a frame which was more practical for demonstration purposes but is not unusual with painters and Mr. Winter explained that he always finishes his pictures that way. The composition had already been sketched out in India ink and this is a practice of genre painters though lighter lines are put in for studio work. Getting to this stage must have taken a good deal of time, first, to get the idea, then the pose and expression of each character through rough sketches and finally an assembly of the picture, coloured to give an idea of result. This last was transferred to the canvas by a block-scaling method.

Mr. Winter displayed his particular lay-out of oils, arranged from "hot" to "cold" colours, and since they are always in the same order he can reach for them instinctively. Turpentine is of course the medium he uses to put on the colour and he prefers a binding mixture of varnish, linseed oil and turpentine. His instruments are a fine brush, a finely tempered palette knife with which he puts on paint to obtain certain textures, and also scrapes it off the canvas, and his fingers which came into use very often in tight corners.

Ideas of Colour

"Neatness is not too important in painting," Mr. Winter remarked and his children have frequently pointed this out when he goes over the line. For this reason he dislikes popular children's painting books and prefers to give them a blank sheet of paper. Since his subjects are most often children, on the street he is very observant of their mannerisms and how they dress. He knows too that no mother would let her child wear a red coat and pink beret but they go together in art and so in his pictures. "Artists have funny ideas of colour" he explained. "No colour is homely—just out of place. The subject matter is not terribly important if the colour attracts and some of the best paintings were simply of apples on a towel."

This artist has done some abstract painting and said he found it very interesting, allied to mathematics and science, but he prefers humanist painting and the present trend is away from abstract to this type. He said the point of view is everything in being successful. "Painting is extremely personal. You do not paint to please other people, but if it is good there are bound to be some who see something in it." He also remarked that he thinks it quite unnecessary to go to Mexico for "colour" or even out of the big city, for he finds plenty of it on the streets and particularly at open-air hockey rinks.

Tesis Picture

Having completed as much work as is usual at a sitting, Mr Winter checked his picture for architectural balance, by turning it upside down and standing back "If it looks good that way, the design is good," he said. For the next two weeks he will continue to test the picture on his studio wall and then he will do the finishing, but in that process there may come some drastic colour changes.

The artist was heartily thanked by president Mrs. N. D. Seaton.

Warkworth Church Has 117 Members

WARKWORTH, Feb. 4 (ENS) — The annual congregational meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held in the Sunday School Room on Wednesday.

The Rev. J. M. Ritchie conducted the opening devotions. J. W. Mowat was appointed chairman of the business meeting and J. A. Weatherson was congregational secretary.

George Dawe, clerk of the session, presented the session report, showing a total membership of 117, and 11 new members.

The following gave reports for the various organizations: Board of managers—Wilson Thompson Ladies Circle, Mrs. C. T. May cock; W. M. S., Mrs. J. A. Armstrong; Mission Band, Mrs. C. E Meiklejohn; Sunday School, Wilson Thompson; Y. P. S., Alice Nelson and Alex Glover.

The church treasurer, J. W. Mowat, reported that all expenses had been met, leaving a favorable balance.

The secretary and treasurer were re-elected.

The new managers elected to take the place of those retiring were: George McNaughton, Wm. Craighead and Donald Pollock.

Ushers elected for the year were: Bruce White, Harry Weir, Arden McNaughton, and Alex Glover.

Charles Bowen and Gordon McCubbin were re-appointed auditors.

Stewart Hall Reviews Work

Officers of the Stewart Hall United Church were appointed at the recent annual meeting when the church business in 1949 was reviewed. A short devotional service was led by members of the WMS and various departments reported an active and successful year. All obligations were met and total disbursements amounted to $1,653.

Officers elected at the meeting were:

Elders—R. L. Stewart, W. W. Dawson, Gordon Savigny, William Hutchison.

Stewards—Stewart Armstrong, Ernest Thompson, Ferd. Deyell and William Hutchison.

Custodians of Elements — Mr. and Mrs. W. Dawson.

Choir Leader — Mrs. Gordon Savigny. Ushers—Ferd. Deyell, Donald Forbes, Jack Matchett. Treasurer, R. L. Stewart. Sunday School Superintendent — William Hutchison. Assistant S.S. Superintendent — Donald Chambers. Clark of Session—W. W. Dawson.

Rev. Mr. B. M. Morewood, minister for this rural charge of 51 families, was present and gave advice and encouragement to the reports of the evening. He closed the meeting with prayer.

Chapter News

57th REGIMENT CHAPTER

Reports indicating an unusually successful year were read by committee conveners at the annual meeting of the 57th Regiment Chapter, IODE, on Thursday at the Armouries. Regent Mrs. C. M. Scott presided.

Membership convener Mrs. W. G. Hall presented a brief outline of the chapter's history and reported a membership of 86. She also paid tribute to two valued members who died during the year, Mrs. J. Fanning and Miss M. Rogers.

Mrs. M. E. Clarke and Mrs C. Newman were appointed to represent the Chapter at the annual meeting of the VON. Mrs. H Dodds was appointed convener for the military euchre to be held soon. Announcement was made of the church service at St. Paul's on Sunday, February 12, at which Peterborough Chapters will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the IODE.

New members welcomed to the organization at this meeting were Mrs. W. Westran, Mrs. G. McNab and Mrs. J. McLeod.

Slate of officers for 1950 presented by the nominating committee, Mrs. J. Watson, Mrs. J. Duncan and Mrs. G. Melton, is:

Hon. regent, Mrs. T. W. H Young; regent, Mrs. C. M. Scott; first vice, Mrs. M. E Clarke; second vice, Mrs. H. G. Carleton; secretary, Mrs. C. E. Newman; assistant secretary, Mrs. W. Masters; treasurer, Mrs. M. Swanston; ed. sec'y., Mrs. G. Langhorne; echoes secretary, Mrs. T. Guffin; standard bearer, Mrs. F. Foster; councillors, Mrs. W. G. Hall, Mrs. H. Dodds, Mrs. R. G. Cottrell, Mrs. D. J. Eldred, Mrs. A Gilders, Mrs. F. Frape, Mrs. G H. Cutmore, Mrs R. Payne, Mrs J. Dobbin.

At the close of the meeting, tea was served by Mrs. H. Dodds and her committee.

CGIT Doings

KNOX

Girls of the CGIT and Explorers were in charge of the evening church service on January 29, when the girls were in the choir. June Drummond gave the call to worship and Margaret Johnson read the scripture, Esther Brown led in prayer. Flags were presented by Beverly McDougal and Frances Clarke. The girls in the choir sang "God Who Touchest Earth With Beauty" as an anthem, Oryce McIlraith and Lou Ann Kempt singing the duet 'Softly and Tenderly Jesus Is Calling" The offering was taken up by Donna McDougal, Daisy Panter, Mary Blair, Cathy McQuade, Joan Byer and Joan Dunn. The Rev. H. G. Douglas had as his message "Youth on the King's Highway" and stressed that the girls always keep a clean life before them.

Lou Ann Kempt opened the meeting this week with a sing-song. June Drummond was in the chair and the worship was taken by Beverly Hamlin and Shirley Killingbeck, the roll call was answered by a favorite Bible verse.

Plans were made to go to the service at St. James' on Sunday evening. Members of the senior group and also seniors from Lakefield who attended camp with Jona Harbeck will have dinner at the home of Mrs. McIlraith. Japan was studied by this group, in preparation for "All Nation's Night" which is being held in March. Two of the girls who hope to become future leaders, were in charge of discussion with the Explorers, in absence of the Explorer leader.

Instead of ordering study books the girls have planned to use their Bibles more this year. Relays and folk dancing were enjoyed under the leadership of Gail Playford, Mary Blair and Grace Sargison.

✧ ✧ ✧

MARK STREET

Ruth Hendren reported that this group went on a scavenger hunt this week. The girls were divided into two teams and were to bring in articles pertaining to China, which country they are studying this year Among other things they were to obtain a Chinese signature, a piece of pottery made in China and part of a Chinese newspaper. After games, lunch was enjoyed.

✧ ✧ ✧

TRINITY

Edythe Nicholls, president of the "Torch Bearers" was in the chair for the meeting Monday night. Worship service was under the direction of Joan Metcalfe and concluded with the singing of the camp hymn.

There was considerable discussion arising from the address Miss Mary Ross had given last week. This resulted in the girls deciding to advise the members of the Mr. and Mrs. Club and the Baby Band mothers that they would be glad to "baby sit" the night of their respective meetings, the understanding being that the fee received for the first hour would go to the CGIT.

The remainder of the meeting was spent in planning the program for next week, when the parents of the girls will be guests.

Mrs. Bruce Castle, 1950 Cinderella Gets New Outfit

According to the story books Cinderella lost her slipper when she fled from the ball, her golden carriage turned into a pumpkin, and she arrived home in tears. But no such tragedies beset Peterborough's Cinderella of 1950.

Mrs. Bruce Castle's name was drawn at the Cinderella Ball Friday evening and she received a handsomely tailored suit in the season's most popular light brown shade, a brown straw hat, lovely shoes, hose, handbag and gloves in matching shades, all gifts from the Y's Men's Club of Peterborough, sponsors of the dance. The complete outfit was modelled for all to see by Mrs. M. R. Knox.

Mayor M. J. Swanston drew the ticket which gave Mrs. Castle her new ensemble. She was looking very charming in a red evening gown as she stepped through the door of the golden "coach" unto Club Aragon stage, and a host of friends among the 600 dancers cheered her heartily. She is perhaps better known to many in the city by her maiden name, Leone Magee, and as a sister of the popular sportsman, Mick Magee. Mr. and Mrs. Castle live at 369 Wolsley St. and Mr. Castle is a driver for the Canadian National Express Company. He was called to the stage to become Prince Charming and received a certificate for a new hat.

A rhinestone necklace was donated to the club for a consolation award and this went to Miss Betty Beacock who proudly wore her gift for the remainder of the evening, setting off her becoming black taffeta gown.

Each lady at the dance received a tiny Cinderella slipper as a favor.

Spot dance prizes were won by Mrs. G. H. Hutchinson and Mrs. H. Spence.

Paper Moves To New Quarters

OWEN SOUND, Feb. 4 (CP) — The Owen Sound Daily Sun-Times moves today to new quarters, 1½ blocks from the building the paper has occupied for 78 of its 97 years.

The move involves the editorial and advertising departments, the business office and the composing room. Since Jan. 9 the paper has been printed on a new 24-page press in the newly-built plant.

First sod on the building site was turned early last April. The cornerstone was placed last Aug. 10 by Gillis Purcell, general manager of The Canadian Press.

The Sun-Times, with circulation last month averaging 12,625 copies an issue, is an amalgamation of the Times, established in 1853 by the late Richard Carney who was the city's first mayor, and the Sun, founded in 1890 by the late Joseph Lang.

The late C Fleming and his son, Howard Fleming, present head of the Fleming Publishing Company, acquired the Sun May 13, 1904. The Times was taken over by the Fleming interests on Nov. 1, 1918, and the paper became the Sun-Times. Daily publication started May 1, 1922. Seven months later, suspension of publication of the Advertiser after 61 years left the Sun-Times as Owen Sound's only newspaper.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Partner Must Wear Well For a Lasting Marriage

A woman who is getting a divorce from her husband gives as her reason for leaving him that he didn't wear well. He got shiny, she says. I wonder if that isn't the thing that is at the bottom of all divorces. Husbands and wives who are attractive enough on the surface, but who don't wear well. Who get shiny after the first gloss of romance has worn off; who pull at the seams when the hard strain of everyday living comes upon them; who lose their color and get dingy under the scorching rays of adversity; whose wit and charm get thin and threadbare with constant use.

Dorothy Dix

For it takes men and women who are all wool and a yard wide and guaranteed not to shrink in the wash to stand up under the wear and tear of matrimony. And a lot of people are not cut off that kind of bolt of cloth.

They are fine for parties. They are as pretty as a tulle ball gown. They sparkle and shine like a sequin scarf. They are as glamorous as a pink chiffon negligee. They are as romantic and alluring as fine broadcloth and linen. If life were one perpetual festivity, and all one wanted in a husband or wife was a playmate, they would make ideal husbands and wives and every marriage would turn out happily.

Marriage No Picnic

Alas, however, marriage isn't a gay song and dance. It is more or less of a jail sentence where we do the lock step instead of the rhumba and have to whistle to keep our courage up, and what we need in our mates are men and women who are stout and strong and dependable, and who will stick to our backs in fair weather or foul.

It is because there are so many men and women who are so good-looking, and seem so exactly what one wants, as long as they are in the matrimonial showcase with all their good points displayed to the best advantage and a becoming light turned upon them and who are so disappointing when one gets them home and takes a good look at them, that there are so many divorces.

A man picks out a pretty little girl for a wife because he admires her pink ad white complexion and golden hair. Then when he settles down to the long hard pull of domestic life, he finds out that the goods he purchased with his whole life was a bad bargain. His wife isn't wearing well. Every thread of her isn't silk. She is just flimsy material that catches the eye, but that hasn't any body to it and goes to rags and tatters in everyday wear.

And the man who marries the lively girl discovers that the life of the party car be the death of the home, and that the sort of wife a man doesn't get tired of living with is one whose soul wears soft, quiet, gentle colors, not one who is got up like a harlequinade. And the man who marries a wit has it borne in on him that a sarcastic wife can rasp his nerves just as much as a saw-tooth collar can.

Makes Same Mistakes

Same way with women. They marry handsome young chaps with a "way" with them; men who are spellbinders as love-makers and who capture their fancy because they seem the answer to a maiden's prayer. They are fine as sweethearts, but they don't wear well as husbands. They get grouchy and hard to live with, or take to drink, or philandering, or what not.

Many a woman looks at her husband as she does at a misfit dress or an unbecoming hat and wonders why on earth she bought it. Why, she marvels, didn't she consider her needs more? Why didn't she get something that suited her lines better? Why didn't she get something more becoming? Why did she let her fancy run away with her judgment in making her choice? When she needed a bungalow-apron sort of husband, why did she choose a scarlet- dancing-frock playboy? When what she needed was a fur-coat husband to keep her warm and comfortable, why did she invest her all in a flimsy romantic hero who wouldn't last out the honeymoon?

Strange that when the wearing qualities of husbands and wives are the most important thing about them, men and women so seldom consider it at all when selecting their mates. A man will marry a girl because she has a pretty face without ever trying to find out whether she has the stuff in her that will still keep him in love with her after the beauty and charm of youth are gone. A girl will marry a man because he has curly hair or a good line without ever even making a test to see if he is real gold or only pinchbeck.

Perhaps if when we went shopping for our mates, we would look as carefully at the material of which our life happiness is to be made as we do at that of which our coats are to be cut, more of us would have husbands and wives who wear well and there would be fewer divorces.

Millbrook Pupils Visit Toronto

MILLBROOK, Feb. 4 (ENS) — About 30 students of M. C. S. visited Toronto by chartered bus on Thursday. In the morning they were taken on a conducted tour of the Chinese section of the museum. After lunch they were shown through the Egyptian exhibits by another lecturer.

From 2 p.m. they were free to take in shows or go on shopping trips before dinner.

They met at the Maple Leaf Gardens for the Ice Follies in the evening.

Those attending were: Irene Trick, Doris Hutchinson, Jessie Lunn, Marie - Claire Husser, Marilyn Palmer, Margaret and Anne Dawson, Vivian and Vaneta Chapman, Marilyn Gibbs, Frances Hutchinson, Glenna Graham, Frances Handley, Margaret Aiken, Beverly Patton, Dennis and Orlo Challice, Alvin McMahon, Willis Dew, Paul Sanders, Don Kent, Ted Skitch, Ivan Fallis, Arnold Brackenridge, Bennett Handley, Larry Argue, George Ingham, George and Bill Smith, and Stewart Murney. Mr. and Mrs. Ingham accompanied the students.

To End Annoying Cough, Mix This Recipe, at Home

Here is the well known old recipe which thousands of housewives have found to be a dependable means of breaking up winter coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs very little, but it does give quick relief.

From any druggist, get a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's easy. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) Thus you make 16 ounces of a very efficient medicine, and you get four times as much cough syrup for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This home mixture soothes the irritated throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the phlegm and eases the soreness very promptly.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a well known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

Pinex Saves You Money!

HAMCO HARD COKE
The Modern, Refined, Dustless Solid Fuel

"I'M PHONING EVERYBODY ABOUT HAMCO COKE!"

Housewives are happy to hear about this cleaner Canadian fuel . . . refined and treated to eliminate dust. Leaves far less ash and is easier to handle. Hamco is the last word in fuel for safe, healthful home heating. Costs away less too. Call your fuel merchant now for hard, hot Hamco Coke.

TIPS ON FIRING HAMCO COKE
1. Keep the fire pot full.
2. Don't shake too often.
3. Reduce the draft by leaving a draft retarding layer. Coke requires less draft than coal.
4. To get the most out of every ton, don't have a roaring fire.

In Its 123 Years

George And Brock

The white brick building at the northeast corner of George and Brock Sts. had just been completed and into the ground floor the office was moved. There Lt.-Col. H. C. Rogers was postmaster and Daniel Burritt was his assistant. For the next 25 years the office remained at this site. However, late in the 1870's a larger office was needed. The second government of Sir John A. Macdonald (1878-1891) on the recommendation of the Minister of Public Works Sir Hector Langevin, purchased a site from Edward Phelan on the south east corner of George and Charlotte Sts. There it was intended that the new post office would be built.

But at that time the post office in Ashburnham located in Garvey's grocery store was destroyed by fire and the government decided to combine the Ashburnham and Peterborough offices. Residents living in the northend which at that time did not go any further north than Smith St. Now Parkill Road and those from Ashburnham declared the new site was too far away and demanded that the office be located in a more central location. These protests resulted in the government selecting the present site at the corner of Water and Hunter Sts. and here the office was built in 1888 62 years ago.

Many alterations and changes have taken place in the original building since that time. Everyone then went to the post office to get his mail. The office was the gathering place where the possip of the town and the affairs of the state were discussed while waiting for the mail to be sorted and the wickets opened. But with the inauguration of the postal carrier service the post office lost its favor as the familiar meeting spot.

Hopes Since 1914

Demands for new building were being noted in 1914 and then a site on the northest corner of George and Sherbrooke Sts. was purchased. The first Great War intervened and this site remained vacant until last year when the New Dominion Market was erected. In 1937 it was felt that the site was not large enough for a combined postoffice and Customs House so property was purchased on the South side of Charlotte St. between George and Aylmer. Here the new federal building is to be erected.

When the citizens protested the George at Charlotte Sts. site in 1887 the government then used it for its new customs building.

For many years the postmaster's job was a federal patronage appointment. On the death of Col. Rogers the Liberals being in power and Hon. James R. Stratton being Peterborough's representative in Ottawa, Albert H. Stratton was named postmaster. With the return over the Conservatives under Sir Robert Borden and J. H. Burnham the elected repesentative, James Edgar was appointed and he in turn was succeeded by John Corkery. Mr. Corkery retired from office in 1924 and Charles Lascheur became the first postmaster to be appointed under the Civil Service Commission.

Former City

Education among mothers is one of the finest features of New Zealand. She learned that the death rate among babies was lower there than in any other country. All this was due to education among parents, she said.

After two and a half months in New Zealand Miss Jamieson continued her travels to Australia which reminded her of home more than any other place she had visited. She saw the open spaces of the vast country, visiting not only the cities, but the rural areas.

Lessons by Correspondence

The educational system in rural Australia was indicative of the general atmosphere of progress throughout the country. Miss Jamieson thought. Many families live in remote areas on cattle and sheep stations — station is the Australian word for farm, Miss Jamieson explains—and have no rural schools.

Children are educated by correspondence and in this way find they are able to learn a great deal that was not included in their own, often brief, educational curriculum.

Having seen city life in Australia, Miss Jamieson wanted to meet the people in the country and asked the Countrywomen's Association (equivalent to the Canadian Women's Institute) to supply her with the names of some branch presidents. She wrote to a number and received many invitations to country homes. She accepted an invitation to a cattle station. She had already visited a sheep station and learned something of the methods of sheep farming and was now anxious to investigate the cattle farming in the same degree of detail.

Hong Kong

From Australia Miss Jamieson travelled by ship to Hong Kong, travelling by the Great Barrier Reef up the west coast of Australia. The ship followed Captain Cook's route past the islands named after the days of the week on which the explorer discovered them.

Hong Kong is a picturesque island, Miss Jamieson found. The harbor is dotted with colorful fishing boats on which many Chinese families spend their entire life. The sails are patched with colored materials making an attractive picture, but behind this scene is great poverty.

There are fishing families who have never lived on land and who come to shore only to sell their fish.

Visited Canadian Cemetery

Miss Jamieson visited the Canadian cemetery which is a memorial to the Canadian Servicemen of the Royal Rifles of Canada and the Winnipeg Grenadiers, who gave their lives in the fall of Hong Kong during the early days of the war. Many of the graves, she said, bore no identification but merely the inscription "unknown soldier."

The Chinese are working hard to rebuild the country and men and women spend 12 and 14 hours a day on building projects. Miss Jamieson came away from China with the impression that the present communist regime ..as not a branch of the Russion communist organisation. It was an uprising which followed greater enlightenment of a people who had been backward by present western standards. The communists wanted the country to run smoothly and wanted a better education for the masses. She felt that many of the Chinese who had fled from their homes in front of the advancing armies had had no reason to flee and would have fared better if they had stayed in their homes.

Miss Jamieson studied rice growing methods. She saw the women working in the flooded fields and the crude home-made ploughs used to till the soil.

From Hong Kong she flew to West China to Kunming and walked on the new Burma Road which was built during the war.

One of many amusing little incidents which Miss Jamieson encountered during her travels was her attempt to buy an airmail letter in Kunming. She went into a post office and asked for the letter. When she asked the price the clerk said $10,000. "O, I have only $8,000 with me" Miss Jamieson replied. When she returned to her hotel she thought the matter over and discovered that the seemingly exorbitant sum of $10,000 represented only five Canadian cents. She returned quite content to make the purchase.

In West China Miss Jamieson visited a high school. She got the general impression that the young people are making great progress. They were smartening up and following the example of visitors to the country, who had become more numerous since regular air routes were established.

The flight from Kunming to Rangoon in a plane manned by a Chinese crew was the most comfortable part of her entire journey.

Two Weeks in Calcutta

The next part of the tour was in Calcutta, where Miss Jamieson spent two weeks. From there she took an overnight train to Darjeling especially to see Mount Everrest, but she was disappointed here because the mountain was shrouded in mist while she was there.

"Somebody should have told me that in India a traveller is expected to take her own bedding with her for overnight train journeys," Miss Jamieson says. She arrived at the train, having booked a first class sleeper, to find everyone carrying bundles of bedding. This was something she had not expected, but people were friendly and she was offered a blanket and managed to sleep comfortably.

The people need to be taught to be self contained. They know little about agriculture and have no modern equipment, Miss Jamieson found. The train travelled past large areas of country with seemingly good, fertile soil, which had not been cultivated.

While in the Darjeling area Miss Jamieson visited the mission station of the United Church of India.

On To Europe

Miss Jamieson had some difficulty in obtaining a passage from Bombay to Europe and waited several days before she managed to book a passage on an Egyptian cargo vessel.

The journey to Marseilles took seven week but included stops at Iran and Irak and Arabia. One of the highlights of the stop over in Arabia was an Arabian wedding dance. Seven evenings prior to the wedding the groom dances with seven different girls, especially selected for the beauty of their hair. The seventh girl is the bride and it was on this evening that Miss Jamieson attended with a group of friends.

An intriguing experience in Alexandria was to watch an Indian bargaining with an Arab over the purchase of a rug. Both races are notorious for their bargaining powers. The two men fought it out for three hours, shaking hands amicably at the end of the transaction.

The last port of call before reaching the south of France was Genoa. Miss Jamieson had six days on land and managed to include a visit to Florence during her stay in Italy.

From Marseilles she travelled in the French Alps and crossed the border into Switzerland. Deviating through the countryside, she spent nearly three weeks travelling by train and climbing mountains, on the indirect journey from Marseilles to Paris.

From France she travelled to England and spent three weeks near London and a brief visit to Ireland, before embarking for Canada. She arrived home shortly before Christmas.

One of the most enjoyable aspects of the entire journey was the trip across Canada and down the west coast to Vancouver Island and to California says Miss Jamieson. This was the first lap of the tour.

Gordon Says Railways Vital To Canadians

MONTREAL, Feb. 4 — (CP)— Railways are vital to the building of our great nation, but their job would be even more important in the event of a third world war, Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, said Friday night. Speaking at the 42nd annual dinner of the Canadian Railway Club, he said mass evacuation of major centres in the event the atomic and hydrogen bombs are used in warfare would increase the railways' importance.

Low Puts Basketball Team Of Mormons Through Paces

By GEORGE FORSTER

OTTAWA, Feb. 4—(CP)— Whenever Solon Low gets a chance he slips away from his office on the top floor of the Parliament Building and goes down to the Y.M.C.A. There, the leader of the Social Credit Party puts a youthful basketball team through its paces. Its members say he knows his stuff. The team is made up of seven elders of the Mormon Church doing a voluntary two-year stint as missionaries, trying to make converts in eastern Canada for their church by going from door to door and taking to people.

When their two years are over, they'll return to their homes —one is from Alberta, the rest from western United States —and pick up their old jobs where they left off.

Vincent Wood, leader of the group, will go back to Berkley Calif., this summer, for example to finish an engineering course W. L. Park will go back to being a dairyman at Blackfoot Idaho

Their church—its correct name is the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints — has no paid ministry and no divinity schools Any member can join the priesthood if he is considered worthy of it and all youths are elders — one of the degrees of priesthood Mr. Low is a High Priest, largely an administrative position.

Organized Team

He organized the youths — their average age is 21– into a basketball team this winter to play in a Y.M.C.A. Saturday-afternoon league. Playing as the "Mormon Elders," they won their first four games and lost the fifth by only a few points.

They are just one group of some 5,500 Mormon missionaries the have fanned out oll over the world from Utah where most of the 800,000 Mormons in the United States are concentrated. There are about 25,000 Mormons in Canada, most of them in Alberta

The Ottawa group in their work, split up a city into sections, then canvass each section, block by block and door by door If a person wants to talk, they talk. If the person doesn't, they don't.

"I've met with every kind of reaction you can think of," Elder Wood said in an interview. "Some people have invited me in and talked for hours, others have slammed doors."

Free Book on Arthritis And Rheumatism

Excelsior Springs, Mo., Feb. 4— So successful has a specialized system proven for treating rheumatism and arthritis that an amazing new book will be sent to any reader of this paper who will write for it.

The book, entitled "Rheumatism," fully explains why drugs and medicines give only temporary relief and fail to remove the causes of the trouble; explains how you may obtain relief from rheumatism and arthritis.

You incur no obligation in sending for this instructive book. It may be the means of saving you years of untold misery. For writing promptly, the Clinic will send their newly enlarged book entitled, "Rheumatism." Address your letter to The Ball Clinic, Dept. 5236, Excelsior Springs, Missouri, but be sure to write today. (Advt.)

To Display Plane

TORONTO, Feb. 4—(CP)— Canada's new four-jet airliner will be flown to Britain next September for the air show sponsored by the British Society of Aircraft Constructors. From there, it will fly to South America and Australia, where it is expected to make proving flights as an air-freighter. Sir Roy Dobson, British industrialist and president of Avro Canada, told a press conference Friday that the plane should sell for $850,000.

Won't Sell Railway

OTTAWA, Feb 4 (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said Friday in an interview that the government has no intention of selling the Canadian National Railways to private interests. He was commenting on a request by A. R Mosher, president of the 33,000-member Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL) that the government publicly state whether or not it intends to sell out the CNR to private interests.

HOME AGAIN — In Ottawa following their expulsion from Communist-dominated Czechoslovakia, are Cpl. J. C. Vanier, left, of Rochebaucourt, Que., and Sgt. Reginald Danko, right, of Toronto and Lauder, Man. Mrs. Danko, holding her three-year-old son, Ralph, left Prague shortly after the two RCAF members of the staff of the Canadian air attache there were expelled on charges the Canadian government has said are "baseless." Sgt. Dange holds Brian, 5, who doesn't like cameramen. The two airmen denied charges that they engaged in espionage.

British Artists Oust Critics Start Writing 'To The Editor'

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, Feb. 4 — (CP). — British music critics no longer have the last word—artists have taken to writing "To the Editor."

Sir Malcolm Sargent, one of Britain's top conductors, pioneered this 1950 fashion. He was closely followed by ballet-dancer Robert Helpmann is his new role as opera producer at the Covent Garden Opera House.

There was a time when the artist performed and the critics commented and that was the end of it.

Sir Malcolm broke sharply with that. He protested to The Times against its music critic's statement that he had led the BBC orchestra at the Royal Albert Hall "in a record-breaking performance of the Meistersinger overture."

The Times had averred that he passed the score's final bar "two minutes a head of time," adding tongue in cheek, "we knew this because we had to wait these two minutes before Mr. Cyril Smith could come on to play Grieg's piano concerto."

Didn't Fool

The affronted Sir Malcolm headed straight for the BBC's library and asked for the recordings—all of them recent BBC orchestra performances of the Wagner overture.

There were 11 and stop-watch in hand he timed them all.

Sir Adrian Boult's he said in his letter, was slowest at 10 minutes flat. Three by Basil Cameron were each 9½ minutes Sir Thomas Beecham nine minutes, five seconds; Sergant three times nine minutes flat "as I did last Monday"; Hans Knappertbuch nine minutes: Eduard Van Beinum eight minutes, 54 seconds and—that Wagnerian of Wagnerians—Bruno Walter, eight minutes, 43 seconds.

Hence, said Sir Malcolm, "from the above it would seem that the two-minute record that I have been given is slightly exaggerated. Walter and Boult are the winners, according to which end you favor. I am a mere third—unless the loser wins."

Over at Covent Garden the critics have united on lambasting producers Peter Brooks and Helpmann on their use of flood-lights

Helpmann told the editor tha he sought to convey "the natural spill of light that occurs when a door is opened from a sunlit verandah into a darkened room."

To which the writer got a tart reply, "a spotlight is a spotlight whether it is projected from the auditorium or from the stage," signed "Your Music Critic."

Juries Weeding Out Entries In Art Exhibit

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP).— Juries Friday began weeding out the first of some 2,000 works submitted for a large-scale exhibition of Canadian arts and crafts next month. There will be room for only about 700. Ten Canadian art societies have united to hold the exhibition, "Contemporary Canadian Art," as their contribution to the 50th anniversary celebration of the Art Gallery of Toronto. The exhibition will be at the Gallery March 4-April 6.

Eats 41 Raw Eggs

GODERICH, Feb. 4 (CP) — Another egg-eater, Austin Purdy of Goderich, ate 41 raw eggs in 22 minutes Friday while fellow workers of the Goderich Signal Star looked on. Purdy said it was all part of a bet but didn't say whether he collected. He ate his usual Friday lunch after the act

Offer Brings Jail

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Feb. 4— (CP)—Offering to drop theft charges against three youths in return for a cash settlement from their parents, Friday brought a three-month jail term to William Lebuik, Mitchellton, Sask., farmer. Lebuik was convicted on three counts of compounding a felony.

Minister Starts Third Career At Age Of 70

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 4 (AP)— The Rev. Milton R. Corey has selected his third career at the age of 70. He plans to follow in the famous footsteps of his son, Wendell Corey.

The retired minister is doing his first acting job in "Rawhide," a western with Tyrone Power and Susan Hayward. And he's having the time of his life.

The tall, alert churchman admitted he had long yearned to act. He even appeared in a few plays in his youth. But the New England disapproval of actors and the need to support a family turned him to business.

Accountant By Day

"I was always interested in the ministry, too," he said. "So while I was an accountant by day, I spent nights studying for the ministry."

At 46, he began his second career as a minister in the Christian church.

A year ago, he came here from Massachusetts to retire. "People don't like to have a 70-year-old minister," he explained.

Mr. Corley, who feels "there's a lot of life at 70," was nipped by the acting bug again. He got himself an agent and landed a role in "Rawhide."

Shot in The Dark

"It was just a shot in the dark," he laughed. "I did it partly as a gag. But I think I can play parts like doctors, lawyers or ministers I've seen some actors play ministers poorly. It gives the public the wrong impression of the ministry."

He added that "there is a close relationship between the drama and the ministry. You have to be able to control your audience and command their attention. Otherwise, their thoughts are likely to stray out the window."

May Sell Church

TORONTO, Feb. 4—(CP)—One of Toronto's oldest landmarks, the 119-year-old St. Andrew's United Church, may be sold in the near future. The congregation has been dwindling and there is a rumor that an oil company wants to buy the site, at the corner of Jarvis and Carlton Streets, for a gasoline station.

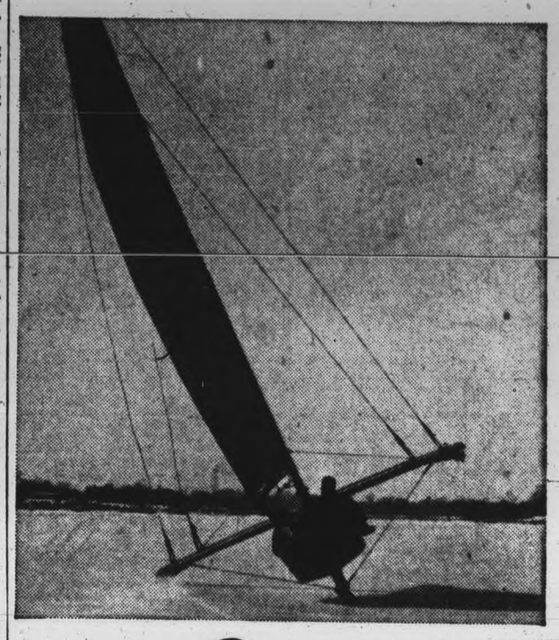
Mrs. George Palmateer Hostess To WA

WARKWORTH, Feb. 4 (ENS) Mrs. Geo. Palmateer was hostess to Norham Women's Association on Thursday, when a pot luck dinner was served at noon.

The new president Mrs. Fred Platt, was in charge of the afternoon meeting.

A pot luck supper will be served in the Community Centre on February 21st, when the members will entertain their husbands and families. A committee composed of Mrs. Blair Huycke, Mrs Ivan Denike, Mrs. Craighead and Mrs. Windover were appointed to arrange the program.

Mrs. Stanley Brenton was in charge of the following program a reading by Mrs. Oscar Laver, solo by Mrs. Martin Peterson. A paper "New Year Thoughts" by Mrs. Stanley Brenton. A contest "Farm Tools and Implements" was won by Mrs. Windover and Mrs. Poole.



Perfection on Ice

Thrills come fast and often in "ice-boating." Skimming at breath-taking speeds over frozen Ontario lakes is a new sport for many winter vacationists—a new favourite with many of our southern visitors. Such sports-loving visitors bring added prosperity to our province. Let's treat them with true hospitality. John Labatt Limited.

Edna Menzies Sends News From Nigeria

HAVELOCK, Feb. 4—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson have received a letter this week from their niece, Miss Edna Menzies, a missionary in Kwoi, Nigeria, British West Africa, working under the auspices of the Sudan Interior Mission.

Miss Menzies has been a teacher in the girls' school at Kwoi since the spring of 1947. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Menzies live at Beatty, Sask., but her father is a native of South Lake and she has many relatives and friends in this district.

Miss Menzies' letter, written on November 5, referred to the manner in which their needs have been supplied during the previous difficult months. Not once, she wrote, did the girls have to go hungry to bed and at the time of writing a large new grain bin at the school was in process of construction.

The heavy rains had damaged a number of buildings on the compound and these, they were hoping, would be given the necessary repairs.

Shuns Pagan Marriage

She told of a native Christian girl who fled from her home to take refuge at the mission school because her pagan father was trying to marry her to a pagan man.

As long as she stays at the school, Miss Menzies wrote, they cannot force her into this marriage for the government rules that no girl can be married against her will. But there is fear that some deceitful means will be used to get her away.

From January to April is the busiest time of the year, Miss Menzies wrote, because in addition to their regular curriculum, they have a special course for the older girls.

Childs Writing His Life Story

NAPANEE, Feb. 4 (CP)—While awaiting the gallows, Alfred Childs, 17, is writing his life story—but it may never be published.

Childs is under sentence to be hanged next Thursday for the hayfield killing last June 29 of Elijah McQuaig, 57. An attempt is being made to have the death sentence commuted.

The youth, a crack shot with a rifle and an avid reader of wild-west fiction, has been writing western stories himself since convicted of murder last November.

Recently, however, he has been encouraged by a Salvation Army worker to set down the story of his own life. The project keeps him busy, and Childs has hopes that it may deter some other youth from following the road to crime.

But Thomas Gourlay, inspector of prison and reform institutions said today ther is little chance that the story Childs is writing will be released. He said he expects it will be a "lurid account" which might make crime seem alluring.

Music Pupils Present Recital At Bailieboro

BAILIEBORO, Feb. 4 (ENS)—Pupils of Mrs. B. Heywood presented a recital Tuesday in Bailieboro school.

Those taking part were: Isabelle, Mildred and Shirley Kidd, Arnell, Donna and Gloria Wood, Lois Campbell, Jean Jones, Glee Barnard, Marion Syer, Helen Rutherford, Betty Mitchell and Russell Jewison from Bailieboro; Janet Larmer and Norma Willan from Fraserville.

Following the recital Mrs. Heywood played for a sing-song and a lunch was served.

Euchre Party Held In Valentine Setting

CAVAN, Feb. 4 (ENS)—Whitfield's school was decorated with Valentine decorations for a euchre party on Tuesday sponsored by the Cavan Community Club.

Fourteen tables were played and winners were Mrs. Archie Matchett and Mr. Milton Challice. The consolation prizes went to Mrs. Jennings and Anson Morton.

The hostess, Mrs. H. C. Argue, asissted by members of the club, served lunch.

The proceeds, which amounted to $20, will be divided between the Red Cross and relief work.

A birthday party was held Tuesday in honor of Mrs. Percy Gordon.

Sunday Service Time Changed

BETHANY, Feb. 4—(ENS)—Evening service at St. Paul's Anglican Church are to be held at 7.30 p.m. it was decided at the annual congregational meeting. This will continue throughout the year except during June, July and August, when the time will be 8 p.m.

In anticipation of the 75th anniversary of the building of the church, which will be held in 1952, it was planned to beautify the surrounding property by planting additional trees, flowers and shrubs this spring.

Tribute was paid to the memory of John Wake, William A. Brown, Charles W. Smith and Henry Earl Smith, who were removed from the congregation by death during the year.

Noel Wood gave an encouraging financial report, showing excellent progress through the year.

Robert Reid was appointed people's warden; G. L. Jarvis, rector's warden; Robert Morton, lay delegate to the Synod; Miss Laura Morton, auditor and vestry clerk.

Mrs. G. L. Jarvis reported the activities of the Women's Auxiliary; the Rev. T. S. Gault for the choir and Mrs. Hector Morton for the Ladies' Guild; all of which showed good financial progress and increasing membership.

In appreciation of his faithful service and conscientious work in all the organizations of the church Rev. T. S. Gault was presented with a bonus of $150. in addition to his regular salary.

A vote of thanks was tendered by Allan Gribble and G. L. Jarvis to Mrs. Hector Morton for her work in re-organizing the Sunday school.

Mrs. Gault served refreshments.

Denies Price-Fixing Plans For Newsprint

TORONTO, Feb. 4—(CP)—Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario Friday denied a charge that Canadian newsprint firms and provincial governments "apparently" have participated in price-fixing arrangements against American publishers.

"There is nothing to it at all," he said. "There is no price-fixing so far as this province is concerned."

Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec commented in a similar vein on the charges, made in Washington by Emanuel Cellar, chairman of the House of Representatives Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Cellar did not name the provinces allegedly taking part with newsprint firms in the price-fixing. He announced Jan. 24 his committee will investigate the alleged monopoly in the industry.

Truman Invokes Taft Act As Soft Coal Strikers Stage Countrywide Walkout

UMW Insists No Formal Order Issued To Continue Strike, 372,500 Idle Miners Wait Showdown

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6—(AP)—The soft coal strike in the United States today burst into a countrywide walkout. President Truman answered the bid of 372,500 idle miners for a final showdown by invoking the Federal Taft-Hartley Labor Act against John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers. The President acted to restore coal production after the walkout limited output largely to mines employing 40,000 miners who have signed new contracts on Lewis' terms.

These mines have an annual capacity of about 40,000,000 tons compared to the country's total production of about 540,000,000.

Also working are a few scattered thousand unorganized miners and several thousand members of the Progressive Miners of America (Ind.).

Last week 100,000 miners were idle in six states.

Strike Spreads

Throughout the soft coal fields came reports which indicated the walkout would spread. But operators and UMW sources said it would be late today before they could determine just how many soft coal diggers would choose to stay at home.

The UMW representatives insisted no formal order had gone out to the fields for a full-scale strike.

One UMW official said all of Pennsylvania's 80,000 hard coal (anthracite) miners would work as usual on the three-day week Lewis has imposed on the whole industry. Unlike the soft coal operators, anthracite spokesmen

250 Rich People

LONDON, Feb. 6—(AP)—Reduction of Britain's rich income group to 250 persons was hailed Sunday night as the Labor government's "most important step of all." Asking British voters in the Feb. 23 general elections to continue his Labor party in office Food Minister John Strachey said only 250 Britons now have more than £5,000 ($15,400) to spend annually after they have paid taxes. Before the war, he said in Dundee, Scotland, 11,000 persons topped the £5,000 mark.

Learn British Scientist Interned In Canada For A Time During War

Fuchs Taken From Camp In Dominion To Take Part In Allied Effort That Produced First Atom Bombs In U.S.

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Feb. 6—(CP)—The Canadian Press learned today that Dr. Klaus Fuchs, now charged with atomic spying for Russia, was interned in Canada for some time during the Second World War. It was from a Canadian camp that he was released to take part in the joint Allied effort that led to production of the first atomic bombs in the United States. Fuchs, a 38-year-old native of Germany and resident of Britain, was one of scores of German people swept up by the British authorities in 1939 and 1940 and sent to Canada for safekeeping. Many of them were released after their cases were studied.

Fuchs was one of them.

Although he was released some seven or eight years ago, RCMP and other officials here still refused to comment today on his internment.

However, atomic officials, shaken by this latest proof of Russia's ability to penetrate into the most secret sanctuaries, said they were satisfied that Fuchs never saw Canada's atomic effort.

Not At Chalk River

"He never visited our Chalk River project" an official said. "We are satisfied of that."

With some uneasiness, Canada watched closely Washington's reaction to the disclosure that Fuchs is believed to have given Russia not only atomic but hydrogen bomb secrets.

This, it was felt here, might jeopardize hopes for a new agreement on exchange of atomic information. Canada has been dickering with the United States and United Kingdom for months for a new exchange system which, it is felt here, would be of potentially great long-range value to the Canadian atomic effort.

Nobody can tell, one source said, what Washington will do. However, the possibility that an aroused Congress will turn thumbs down on letting out any U. S. secrets could not be written off.

"The Fuchs' case certainly won't do us any good," was the way one official put it.

Snow Slide Buries Train, 40 Trapped

VANCOUVER, Feb. 6 (CP)—Forty passengers were temporarily trapped early today when slides in the Fraser Canyon partially buried a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train.

Company officials said no one was injured when the snow cascaded down on the train, bottling up seven cars.

Balmy temperatures—the overnight minimum here was 37 above—have tumbled many slides in the canyon, 115 miles east of here, once again severing rail connections with the east.

Both Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Lines are blocked. Telegraph communications also are disrupted. No trains will leave or enter Vancouver today. Railway spokesmen said both lines had hopes of obstructions might be cleared by tonight.

Joseph Byrnes, 26, Arraigned On Charge of Murder

Shooting Believed To Have Taken Place Over An Attempt To End Party, Light Fuses Taken Out And Gun Produced

Mrs. Helen Kendry, 26, was fatally shot through the stomach in the early hours of Sunday morning at the end of a beer drinking party in the moon-lighted home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Byrnes, 520 Hamilton St.

Joseph Byrnes, 26, a machinist, was charged with murder in police court today. He was remanded without a plea or election until Wednesday, Feb. 15 when the preliminary hearing is scheduled to be held. He is being defended by T. J. Carley, KC.

Mrs. Kendry, mother of two girls, was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital but was dead on arrival.

Sought To Get Eight Visitors To Leave House

It is believed the shooting took place over an attempt by Mr. and Mrs. Byrnes to end the party and get eight visitors to leave.

The shot was fired while the house was in complete darkness. The 43-millimetre slug from the rifle ripped through a door, a bedroom wall and through the body of the young mother. Harold "Huck" Frost, 35, of 550 Sherbrooke St., standing directly behind the slain woman was also hit by the spent bullet and suffered a painful bruise on his stomach. The impact of the bullet knocked him down and raised a red welt two inches in diameter, but the skin was not broken. He said he heard the report of the gun, felt a sharp pain in his stomach. He thought he had been shot. "I wish it had been me instead of her," he told a friend.

Police were called at 3.05 a.m. by Emmett O'Donoghue, 22, of 449 Rogers St., a member of the party who called from the home of a neighbour.

Constables Claire McGillen and A. Dalton went to the house and found Mrs. Kendry lying on the bare living room floor. Byrnes gave Constable Dalton the German Spandau rifle, apparently a souvenir of the World War, in good condition, as the police officer walked into the living room.

Byrnes Took Out Electric Light Fuses

Constable McGillen reported that, in an attempt to force his visitors to leave, Byrnes went into his basement and took out the electric light fuses. When he came back up the basement stairs he was carrying the rifle. He went into a first floor bedroom. It is said a woman followed him, apparently arguing or quarreling with him about leaving.

The large calibre rifle, the largest city police have seen, was said to have been fired into the bedroom from a low position hip high beside the cot of Byrnes two-year-old son, Joseph, Jr.

The slug crashed through the bedroom door which had been swung inwards back against the wall. It ploughed through the wall which separated the bedroom from the living room.

Mrs. Kendry was standing in the living room facing the wall and about two feet from it directly in the line of fire. Frost was standing facing the same direction immediately behind the victim.

Had Been Sitting On Arm Of Chesterfield

It is believed Mrs. Kendry had been sitting on the arm of a chesterfield chair in which Frost was sitting. They may have got out of the chair to prepare to leave the house just before the shot was fired. As she slumped to the floor she murmured, "Oh, Huck."

Mrs. Kendry's brother, Jack Jones and his wife were sleeping in their two-room apartment on the second floor of the house. They had not taken part in the party.

Police found the rifle slug, about as big as the end of your thumb, lying on the living-room floor in front of a chesterfield. The ejected cartridge shell was found in the baby's crib.

Big Car Ring Uncovered With 2 Arrests

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—The arrest of a garage mechanic and an automobile salesman early today touched off a province-wide investigation by Toronto police into what they described as one of the "most efficiently operated car rings in years."

Lewis Parnell, 30-year-old mechanic, and Frank Prentice, 22-year-old car salesman, are being held on four charges of car theft, four of receiving and two of fraud. Police are searching for other persons believed salesmen in the ring.

Det.-Sgt. Adolphus Payne described how the ring operated: "Wrecked cars would be bought and their engines repaired. These engines would then be placed in new cars that were stolen from streets. These cars would then be resold at good prices."

Police said the gang rented garages in the downtown area to switch the engines. In one such garage they found a stolen car with its engine removed and another engine lying beside it. In another garage they found a block and tackle they believe was used to switch the engines.

The change in engines enable the thieves to obtain new licence plates and registration cards. This facilitated the sale of the vehicles.

Police investigation was launched after William Smith, an Airlines pilot, spotted a car he had reported stolen a week ago. Police checked with the highways department and found the car belonged to Parnell.

From papers and keys found on Parnell and Prentice police located a number of other stolen cars in raids on downtown garages.

HELICOPTER TO RESCUE

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Feb. 6—(CP)—Two United States Coast Guard planes and a helicoter were sent today to rescue three brothers, stranded since Sunday morning on an ice flow near an island 165 miles north in Lake Superior. The brothers—Henry, 35; Joseph, 33, and Bill Paquette, 29—are Sault businessmen.

Combing B.C. Region For Clues To Plane

WHITEHORSE, Yukon, Feb. 6—(CP)— The lower British Columbia region is being combed today for probable clues to the whereabouts of a United States transport plane that has been missing since Jan. 26 with 44 persons aboard. However, the main search effort will still be from this Yukon area.

"We still believe the aircraft is somewhere south of the air route between Snag and Whitehorse," said Air Commodore Martin Costello of Winnipeg, search co-ordinator. "But it's possible the plane could be anywhere within a 3,000-mile radius of Snag."

During the weekend SOS signals were picked up which appeared to come from the interior of British Columbia, and a plane from Denver, Colo., arrived in Calgary to begin a slow, detailed search of the mountains from a point 300 miles northwest of Calgary to Fort Nelson, B.C.

Will Prosecute Glass Firms Garson Declares

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP)—Justice Minister Garson announced today that prosecutions will be launched against jobbers of flat glass in Ontario and Quebec for allegedly operating a combine detrimental to the public interest.

In a brief statement Mr. Garson said T. N. Phelan, K.C., of Toronto "has been retained as council on behalf of the attorney general of Canada and has been instructed to proceed with prosecution."

F. A. McGregor, former combines commissioner, said in a report made public Dec. 27 that a combine has operated for 20 years to fix prices and restrain competition in Canada's multi-million-dollar flat glass trade.

Specifically named in the report were nine Ontario and Quebec jobbing companies engaged in the wholesaling and installation of plate, window and other types of flat glass. The secretary of their trade association — W. O. Matthews of Toronto—was named personally.

No indication was given as to the date when court proceedings will be launched, but it is believed Mr. Phelan will require some time to prepare a case.

1,300 Cases Celery Dumped

TORONTO, Feb. 6—(CP)—More than 1,300 cases of celery were thrown into the city dump today by two Brantford growers who said they could find no market for their produce.

Steve Melnychuk and John Stellcz took the celery from storage rather than pay further charges. They said they lost $1,625 on storage.

An official of the Lake Simcoe Ice Company said scores of other Brantford area celery growers are in the same position.

"There was supposed to be a floor price of $1.50 a case plus storage when they put their celery into storage last summer," he said, but the price kept dropping until there now is no market.

Berlin Papers Decry Warning Of Red Coup

BERLIN, Feb. 6 — (AP) — West Berlin newspapers minimized today the warning by Socialist leader Kurt Schumacher that the city faced a Communist coup May 28.

Schumacher, opposition leader in the West German republic's parliament, recommended that Allied tanks be used to stop a reported coup he said the Reds plan to pull off during a rally of an anticipated 600,000 East- German youth at Whitsuntide.

Colonial Airline Calls Off Battle With TCA

OTTAWA, Feb. 6—(CP)—An eight-months-long tug of war over international air routes appears to be over. Informed sources expect the last obstacles to complete implementation of the Canada-United States air agreement will be quickly removed now that the Colonial Air Lines has called off the fight against the agreement.

Colonial Air Lines announced in Washington Sunday night it is withdrawing the suit in which it asked the U.S. Supreme Court to declare the agreement unconstitutional.

That appeared to remove the obstacles preventing Trans-Canada Air Lines from flying a Montreal-New York route. The route has been a Colonial monopoly for years.

Star's Preaching Packs 'Em In

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Feb. 6. (AP)—The Rev. Herman Huke and his flock today agreed that Colleen Townsend Sunday was an event comparable only to the burning of the church mortgage in 1937.

Colleen, the young movie star who says she will forsake her career to follow God, preached the Gospel from the pulpit of the Presbyterian church here Sunday.

Her audience — numbering about 1,200 who jammed the two morning services—was enchanted. Normal church attendance is 300.

"I really believe she is sincere," said Mrs. Leone Lossman as she echoed the sentiments of other members of the congregation. "I think she has a radiance of spirit that's real—it comes from within."

Gambler's Home Blown Up In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6 (AP)—An explosion which shattered windows a block away today blew up Mickey Cohen's house but police said the mobster was not believed home at the time.

Police said that the blast was heard within a three-mile radius and "did a pretty good job" of wrecking the $100,000 Cohen home.

Police said they had no report of injuries and believed that Cohen and his wife were not home at the time. Their bedroom was completely blown out, the spokesman added.

Thos was the second attempt in less than a year to assassinate Cohen, boss of Southern California's vice and rackets.

Last July 20, shotgun blasts met his party as it left a restaurant. In that gangland-style shooting, Cohen was injured and Neddie Herbert, one of his henchmen, later died.

Hushed Up

Cohen and four of his henchmen currently are on trial on conspiracy charges stemming from a beating of a radio shop owner last March 19. Two police officers also are on trial.

Two rookie policemen captured seven Cohen henchmen fleeing the scene of the beating in a big limousine. Taken to Wilshire Police Station, release of the men was ordered by higher officers, and orders given for the arresting officers to "hush-up."

Three of the Cohen gang members have been eliminated from the case. Herbert died from his gun wounds. Frank Niccoli and Dave Ogul disappeared mysteriously.

MRS. HELEN KENDRY, 26, was shot to death at the end of a beer drinking party early Sunday morning. Joseph Byrnes, 26, of 520 Hamilton St., was charged with murder in police court today. At the LEFT (1) is the spot where Mrs. Kendry was standing when shot. Harold Frost, also hit in the stomach by the spent bullet was standing at (2). The rifle slug was found at (3). U.S. Trying To Extradite British Spy

One Senator Wants To Keep British In On Atom Secrets

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 — (AP)—Chairman Brien McMahon (Dem., Conn.) said Sunday night that the Congressional Atomic Committee is exploring the possibility of American extradition of British scientist Klaus Fuchs. But he added that counsel for the committee is doubtful whether the 1931 extradition treaty between the two countries would cover the case.

The treaty provides that extradition cannot take place if the person sought already has been "tried, discharged or punished, or is still under trial" in the country where charges have been filed.

As a member of a British team of scientists who helped develop the atomic bomb in this country in 1943-46, Fuchs had access not only to secrets of that weapon but to data then available about the super-powerful hydrogen bomb which the United States now is attempting to build.

Senators have quoted the head of the FBI as saying the evidence indicates that Fuchs passed both hydrogen and atomic bomb information to Russia.

Closed Session

J. Edgar Hoover already has told a senate subcommittee about the Fuchs case. Today he is scheduled to meet behind closed doors with the Congressional Atomic Committee.

After hearing Hoover, the same committee will hold a public session to question Lt.-Gen. Leslie R. Groves, wartime director of the A-bomb project. The committee quizzed Groves privately Saturday.

Groves, McMahon reported, said Fuchs was cleared by the British Government for A-bomb work in the United States and that the clearance never was double-checked.

Meanwhile, Senator Millard Tydings (Dem., Md.) said he does not believe the Fuchs case will lead the United States to cut off relations in the atomic field with Britain and Canada.

"I think one thing that will come out of it is that the inspection of everybody connected with this matter will be more intense and complete," Tydings said in a radio address.

British Gree Help

A member of the atomic committee, Sen. Tydings said British scientists made an enormous contribution to development of the A-bomb and that, "it's just unfortunate that there's one bad egg in the basket."

"I can see no point in severing our relations with Britain and Canada because of this incident, because it might delay for many months, and maybe years, the fashioning....of the hydrogen bomb....We don't want to be without it and find too late that the Russians have it."

Britain Fears Spy Case To Cut Off Atom Secrets

LONDON, Feb. 6—(AP)—Political leaders fretted Sunday over the possibility that Britain's latest atomic spy case may torpedo chances for a full exchange of atomic secrets with the United States and Canada.

The case broke Friday when 38-year-old Dr. Klaus Fuchs, described as a top scientist in Britain's only atomic energy plant, was arraigned on charges of giving away atomic secrets in 1945 and 1947.

Some U. S. Senators immediately demanded that Britain be denied any further secret atomic information developed by American research.

Politicians expressed alarm privately over the possibility the case may cause the United States to turn down Britain's bid for freer exchange of atomic knowledge.

Lacks Bomb

The United States, Britain and Canada have been talking over freer exchange for several months. The best authoritative information here is that Britain lacks the atomic bomb. However she has atomic piles for research.

Fuch's arrest touched off Britain's biggest spy scare since Dr. Alan Nunn May was sent to jail in 1946 for 10 years for giving the Russians samples of Uranium 235 a key atom bomb material.

A German-born scientist whose father is a theology professor in the Soviet zone of Germany, Fuchs was sent to Brixton Prison without bail after a preliminary hearing. He faces trial Friday on charges of twice disclosing official secrets which might be useful to an enemy. If convicted on both counts, he could be sent to prison for up to 14 years.

Car Hits Engine 5 Escape Death

TRENTON, Feb. 6.—Five persons narrowly escaped death Sunday when their motor car hit the side of a moving locomotive at a CNR level crossing on Highway 33 at the town limits.

Edward Ellis, 48, of RR No. 1, Wooler, was taken to Belleville General Hospital with a gashed forehead and internal injuries. His 9-year-old daughter, Barbara, was treated by Dr. J. V. Byrne and allowed to go home. Isaac Mitchell, 67, of Wooler, received a cut cheek and a shaking up. An other daughter of Ellis, Donna, 11, and Edward Sharpe, 67, of Wooler, escaped unhurt.

The car struck the left-front footboard of the engine. Police said the engine's bell and whistle were sounded as it neared the unprotected crossing. At the controls of the engine was John Fraser of Trenton.

There are three unprotected level crossings on Highway No. 33 within the town limits.

Lower Farm Prices Cut Living Standards

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—V. S. Milburn, Ontario Federation of Agriculture secretary, told a labor audience Saturday lower prices for farm produce would mean reduced living standards for industrial workers as well as farmers.

Addressing a luncheon meeting at the Ontario Federation of Labor's annual convention, he said lower prices means lower farm purchasing power.

Colonial Airline

It appeared, too, to free Colonial from the threat of suspension of its licence to operate into Montreal. The threat was put there by Canada's Air Transport Board because of Colonial's opposition to the agreement.

President Sigmund Janas of Colonial said in Washington that "with the increasing gravity of the international situation we have concluded that it would not be right, in the public interest, to challenge the executive power of the government to make executive agreements with foreign powers."

Eye On New Routes

His statement indicated, too, that Colonial wants licences for new routes from the two parties that drafted the agreement—the Air Transport Board and the US Civil Aeronautics Board.

The agreement, signed last June 4, gave each country the right to do more business in the other country. Two of the new routes were a non-stop Montreal-New York route for a Canadian line and a Toronto-New York route for an American line.

Colonial promptly called the agreement unconstitutional and challenged it in the courts. When it lost a decision in the U. S. District Court it appealed to the Supreme Court and obtained an injunction preventing the CAB from licensing TCA until the case was settled.

It was then that the Air Transport Board issued its "show cause" order, telling Colonial to give reasons why it should not be prevented from operating in Canada. After brief hearings in December, the board reserved judgment.

Explode H-Bomb?

LONDON, Feb. 6—(AP)—The editor who correctly predicted Russia would set off an atomic blast in 1949 today said the Soviets already have made and exploded a hydrogen super bomb. The editor is 40-year-old Kennety De Courcy of the monthly "Intelligence Digest," who claims to have sources of information on both sides of the Iron Curtain. "There is now evidence of Russia having already made an H-bomb, De Courcy claimed in a statement to the press. She has in fact made three and exploded one of them," the statement said. As far as the Associated Press inquiries show, there is no confirmation, British government officials regard these reports with what is described as "cautious skepticism," notwithstanding confirmation of a previous De Courcy prediction that Russia would explode an atomic bomb in 1949.

Cut Through Wall Loot Jewellery Store

TORONTO, Feb. 6 — (CP). — Burglars cut through the wall of a downtown jewellery store on Sunday night, dragged the safe through the hole and took it to an empty building nearby where they broke it open and took $2,000 to $3,000 worth of jewellery.

Police said the store is wired with burglar alarms, but because the thieves cut through the wall none of them was set off. Police estimated the loot at about $2,500 but other sources said it might be as high as $15,000.

Says Canadian Unions Now Too Powerful

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP) — A former Canadian National Railways director today charged that Canadian trade unions are holding the people of Canada as "hostages" in order to exact demands from the railways.

Edward J. Young of Toronto told the Royal Commission on Transportation that the unions are "too powerful."

"The unions are too strong to exist in a democratic country," he said.

Mr. Young, director of the CNR from 1942 to 1949, urged that some of the power be stripped from the unions.

Like any other monopoly, unions should come under the terms of the Combines Act, or some other law which would put a check on their power to get what they demand.

Wounded Boy Gets Aid

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 6 (CP) —A 14-year-old boy with a bullet in his leg walked 500 yards unaided Sunday to seek help. Malcolm Stanner of Grantham township was accidently shot with a .32-calibre revolver by his companion, Clifford Southwell, 15, when the two were on a shooting expedition near Port Dalhousie. Stanner managed to hail a truck which drove him to St. Catharines General Hospital where the slug was removed. His condition was reported as satisfactory.

Spurned Lover Kills Girl, Shoots Himself

QUEBEC, Feb. 6 (CP) — A spurned 32-year-old arsenal worker Sunday shot and killed red-haired Irene Bedard, then ended his own life with one bullet through the head.

Paul Letourneau, six-foot former boxing and wrestling promoter, shot his pretty 27-year-old girl friend on a street corner at noon as people walked home from church.

Police said witnesses of the shooting dashed after Letourneau who ran into a lane behind the girl's house on Aberdeen St.

He ran up the back stairs of a house he mistook for the girl's residence and police said his intention evidently was to shoot Mrs. Robert Bedard, widowed mother of his victim. Instead he landed in the back porch of the neighboring home of Mrs. James Coss.

Police related that when Letourneau saw this woman, he took his .45 calibre revolver and shot himself through the right temple.

Going To Lake

Irene Bedard was on her way to Lake Beauport with a girl friend when she encountered Letourneau at the corner of Aberdeen St. and Maple Ave., near fashionable Grande Allee.

The friend fled, as Letourneau emptied his revolver at the girl.

Apparently only one bullet struck her, below an ear, and pierced her head. Others tore holes in a large tree.

Letourneau, who police said is married and father of a daughter lived alone in a small hotel on the Quebec ramparts.

Detectives said he apparently had telephoned to the girl asking her to meet him. One of Letourneau's friends told police Letourneau had been telephoning the girl night and day for a week. He said the girl had asked him not to see her any more.

Industrials' Advance Halted On Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—The six-day advance in industrials drew to a halt on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Mild selling pressure reduced many of last week's advance in key industrials. Golds held against the downward trend but showed signs of weakening at the half-way mark.

Volume for the first three hours was 729,000 shares.

Fractional losses were widely scattered among market leaders on the industrial board. Papers were mixed and agricultures, foods, textiles and refining oils were in two-way movements. Steels, utilities and constructions —leaders in last week's upturn— gave ground.

Golds opened higher with Senior Producers chalking up fractional advances. Juniors were also strong but gains were being reduced as the session continued. Upper Canada was a brisk trader as selling pushed the price down 10 cents at $3.15. MacLeod-Cockshutt continued a feature performer for a slight advance.

Base Metals gave ground over a wide front. Golden Manitou, a feature of recent sessions, sagged 15 cents at $2.70 and Consolidated Smelters and Quemont were fractionally lower.

Declines ranged up to 15 cents in Western Oils. Foothills and Tower Petroleum were comparatively brisk traders.

Warn Young People

LONDON, Feb. 6 (Reuters) — Princess Margaret sat in St. Paul's Cathedral Sunday and heard the Archdeacon of London, the Very Rev. H. O. Gibbs, warn young people against holiday romances. Around her, holiday campers listened solemnly to a service held specially for members of the Federation of Permanent Holiday Camps, where thousands of young Britons spend cheap vacations every year.

Faces Charge of Murder

All the members of the party were taken to the police station for questioning. Those who were at the house were: Joseph Spencer, 24, of 610 Armour Rd.; Vincent Garvey, 24, of 1/8 Hazlitt St.; Harold Frost, Emmett O'Donaghue, Mrs. Robers R. Weir, 41, of 634 Park St., Mrs. Edward O'Toole, 665 Gilchrist St.; the victim Mrs. Kendry and Danny McGregor, 25 of Sherbrooke Place.

Only indication that the shooting had taken place in the house was the bullet hole through the wall about three feet from the floor and three small smears of blood on the floor where the dying woman had lain.

Earlier in the evening, Mrs. Byrnes received a cut on the left hand which required four or five stitches to close. It was said she was cut when, during an argument, her husband threw their son's small tricycle at her.

Jack Weinberg who lives across the street at 519 Hamilton St. brought fuses for the police so that the house could be lit again. A supply of about a dozen cartridges for the rifle were found in the house.

Detective-Sergeant John Stevenson and Detective W. A. Clarke carried out the investigation.

Mrs. Kendry was born in Peterborough, the daughter of Mrs. Josephine Jones and the late William A. Jones. She has lived here all her life and attended Sacred Heart School.

She is survived by her husband, Harold L. Kendry, 452 Hamilton St.; two children, Carole, 6, and Joan, three; and two brothers, William and John Jones, both of Peterborough.

The funeral service will be held from the Duffus Funeral home Tuesday at nine a.m. in Sacred Heart Church. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Domestic Pleads Guilty In Baby's Death

HAMILTON, Feb. 6 —(CP)— Queenie Baker, 40, of Hamilton pleaded guilty in court today to two charges in connection with the concealment of a birth—neglecting to provide reasonable assistance at the delivery of her child and with disposing of the body of a dead child. She was remanded a week for sentence.

The case arose out of the finding of a body of a male infant in a trunk left at the Sunnyside Children's Centre in Kingston by Miss Baker when she ended her employment there as a domestic last December.

Detective George Mair, who took a statement from the accused woman, said the child was born in Hamilton at a Main Street West address in March 1949. She did not wish to reveal the father's name.

She gave the statement voluntarily, the detective said, adding that she wanted to tell the truth and get it over with.

The body was discovered after Miss Baker asked officials at the Children's Centre to have her trunk shipped to her. Its contents were investigated after a maid reported a peculiar odor.

Speaks On Her Behalf

Rev. Norman Rawson, speaking on the girl's behalf in court today, said he knew her in Ottawa where she was born. For years he said, she looked after her invalid mother and later made a home for her brother's seven children until he remarried. Since then she had held several responsible positions and at one time sang in church choirs and on the radio.

Asked by the magistrate if he had anything to say before the case was remanded, Harvey McCullouch, Crown Attorney, said he was not making any comment at this time.

Detective Mair testified that Dr. W. D. Hay, pathologist at Queen's University, who conducted a post-mortem examination, said it was impossible to determine the age of the child or whether the infant was alive at birth.

Durham Deputation Request Plow Match

Durham county is sending a strong deputation to the Ontario Plowmen's Association convention in Toronto Tuesday with a bid for the international plowing match in 1953. They will be supported by their neighboring Northumberland and also by Peterborough delegates.

Len Henderson of Cavan recently showed the Examiner copies of articles from the Port Hope Guide of May 21, 1853, reporting a plowing match on the farm of Alex Morrow, Hope township.

are continuing their wage negotiations.

An indication of the sentiment of the miners in central Pennsylvania came from a telegram sent to Lewis by the 1,200-man Elmora local. It said:

"We've unanimously agreed not to work regardless of the Taft-Hartley law or the truce" (a 70-day truce first suggested by Truman).

In Washington, it was reported that President Truman is aiming at full coal production in record time—possibly within a week—by use of the Taft-Hartley law he is pledged to repeal.

It normally takes up to 10 days for the government to get a Taft-Hartley Act injunction against a strike endangering the nation's welfare.

Saves 4, Then Dies

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6. — (AP). — Don Wiltse, 18, Sunday saved four small boys from drowning, then sank exhausted to his death. Wiltse had volunteered to take a group of youngsters on an overnight camping trip. A skiff carrying him and the four boys upset, but he was able to get all the boys safely onto it before he sank himself.

Ex-Mayor's Son Dies Of Burns As Robe Aflame

TIMMINS, Feb. 6 (CP)—Ronald Brunette, 7-year-old son of former Mayor J. Emile Brunette, died of burns in hospital Saturday night.

The child had gone upstairs at his home to get ready for his bath about 6 p.m. His bathrobe apparently caught fire while he played with the wall heater by sticking the tassels of the sash through the wire mesh.

The first his parents knew of the accident was when Ronald ran screaming to the head of the stairs, his bathrobe in flames.

His mother burned her hands in an attempt to beat out the fire. His father, called up from his basement office, rushed the boy outside and rolled him in the snow.

A merry, mischievous boy, Ronald's life had been a series of accidents. Once he came close to drowning. Another time he got peanuts in both lungs and had to be rushed to Toronto. Last summer he wore a body cast nine weeks after a playmate pushed him of a high verandah.

Besides his parents he leaves one brother, Donald, 8, and five sisters.

Woman Hurt In 2-Car Collision

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 6 (CP). — Mrs. Grace Coleman, 52, of Napanee, was critically injured, and two other persons suffered abrisions and shock, when the car in which they were riding collided with another vehicle Saturday afternoon at Marysville.

Mrs. Coleman is in Belleville Hospital with fractures of both legs above the knees, her husband Leonard Coleman, suffered a broken kneecap, and a 10-year-old granddaughter, Grace Coleman, cuts and abrasions.

The Coleman's car was proceeding westbound when it collided with an eastbound vehicle driven by Mr. C. Sexsmith of Melrose. Sexsmith escaped with a cut knee and a shaking up.

Both cars were almost completely wrecked. Police said charges will be laid against Sexsmith.

Observes 106th Year With Barbecued Pig

SPRINGHOPE, N. C., Feb. 6—(AP)—Ruffin Van Buren Collie, Confederative Civil War veteran, had no trouble with a big plate of barbecued pig Sunday as he celebrated his 106th birthday. "Uncle Ruff" still has all his own teeth.

More than 100 of his estimated 180 descendants helped him observe the big day at a barbecue in the backyard of his farmhouse. At least another 100 friends and neighbors showed up for the shindig.

The old-timer, who said it might be his last party, actually won't be 106 until Tuesday. But it's traditional in Franklin county now for folks to gather at his big, white farmhouse on the first Sunday in February. They make a day of it.

"Uncle Ruff" still sees and hears well. He walks without a cane and often tramps through the woods. He will go fishing at the drop of a hat and digs his own bait.

Couple Taken For Ride As Parked Car Is Hit

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 6 — (ENS)—Clarence Dainard, owner of a coupe car parked on Front St., and a passenger, Miss Florence Carr, went for an unexpected ride of about 60 feet on Saturday night, when their car was struck from behind by a car driven by Hugh Ingram, of Codrington. Hugh and his brother, John Ingram, also of Codrington, suffered cuts and bruises and required medical attention after the crash. Miss Carr suffered a bruise on the back of her head.

Both vehicles were extensively damaged in the accident, which resulted when Ingram failed to see the Dainard car. Chief Constable H. Hardy, who investigated the accident, has laid a charge of having opened spirits in an automobile against John Ingram.

Project Fund

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP)—Reconstruction Minister Winters said Saturday in an interview that he probably will ask parliament again this year to approve a money vote from which all departments can draw to initiate public investment projects. He said that at the last session parliament voted $2,000,000 for reconstruction purposes.

Will Aid Freighter

HALIFAX, Feb. 6 (CP)—The Halifax salvage tug Foundation Josephine Sunday night was battering her way through heavy seas to the side of the crippled Norwegian freighter Gudvor. The 2,280-ton merchantman — carrying about 40 men—radioed Saturday night that she had snapped a rudder chain and was taking water.

New Military Law

LONDON, Feb. 6 — (AP) — Poland's Seym (Parliament) has adopted a new universal military service law to build its armed forces along the lines of the Russian army, said Pap, the official news agency, in a broadcast from Warsaw. The reorganization follows appointment last November of the former Soviet Marshall Konstantin Rokossovsky, as Poland's defence minister and commander of its armies.

Superintendent Dies

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—Miss Nina Lewis, for 25 years superintendent of occupational therapy at the Ontario Hospital, died Sunday in a convalescent home. She was one of the first graduates in occupational therapy at the University of Toronto and for several years taught at the University of Western Ontario, London.

Question Woman

DETROIT, Feb. 6 (AP)—Police Sunday night questioned a "mystery woman" in an attempt to solve the gangland-style slaying of gambler Jack George. Chief of Detectives Jack Harvill listed her only as "Mary Doe." She wore an evening gown, a fur wrap, and oddly enough, "loafer" shoes when brought into police station She was held without charge.

Teachers Important

FITZROY HARBOR, Ont., Feb 6 (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Saturday that next to clergymen, school teachers rate as the most important persons in the development of the country because they mould the minds and characters of children. He spoke at the opening of a new school in this village 25 miles up the Ottawa River from Ottawa.

Rev. R. C. White Starts 7th Year At Roseneath

ROSENEATH, Feb. 6 (ENS).—An invitation was extended to Rev. and Mrs. R. C. White to remain on the Roseneath charge for the seventh year, at a business meeting of the Stewards in the Township Hall. This charge includes Roseneath United Church, Fenella and Centenary Churches, and Mr. White also is supervisor of Alderville Mission Church.

Substantial increases were shown in all departments of the work of the churches on the circuit. The sum of $380 was forwarded to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. The new advance standard for the salary was adopted and reached in full during the year. A balance of $1,200 was reported for the charge.

Obituary

WILLARD SLEEPER

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 6 — (ENS)—Willard Sleeper, 59, died at his home in Campbellford on Friday. His wife is the former Anita Irene Carter and he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Sleeper of St. Ola, Ontario.

Mr. Sleeper was born in the village of St. Ola, near Gilmour, Ontario, and attended school there. When he was nine years old his parents moved to a farm, where they cut their home out of the virgin forest, and from that time he assisted his parents on the new farm.

He worked in the lumber trade and more recently, when poor health forced him to give up this work, he did carpentry work around Campbellford. He lived here about eight years, having lived a number of years in Frankford previously.

Surviving are his wife, a son Garnet, and a daughter Dorcas, (Mrs. Frank Abernethy), all of Campbellford. also two sisters, Mrs. W. J. Morrison of Belleville, and Mrs. Isaac Grant of Fraserville, Ont.; four brothers, Harry Sleeper, and John Sleeper both of Bancroft, Ont., and Norman and Anthony Sleeper of Weslemkoon, Ontario.

Mr. Sleeper was a member of the Campbellford Free Methodist Church, and at one time was Steward and class leader in the church.

Funeral service was held today at Bennett's funeral parlour, Rev. Donald White and Rev. James Hicks, both of the Free Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Campbellford. Pallbearers were Fax. Ireland, Geo. McNutt, Ambrose Cooper, Harry Abernethy, Will Hicks and James Lucas.

Fire At Hotel

DETROIT, Feb. 6 (AP)—Mrs Lois Braxton, 28, was killed, and four persons were injured in a fire Sunday that swept the Touraine Hotel. Firemen reached the hotel as many of the 125 residents leaped from windows of the three-storey building. Fire Marshal Ed Hall said property damage was not large.

Family Of 5 Remain In Veteran's Home

OSHAWA, Feb. 6 (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vandewalker and their three children remained in their veteran's home today despite an eviction order which was to have been carried out Saturday.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation said Mr. Vandewalker held no lease for the premises occupied by his family and that he "paid rent in the name of a veteran who'd been there before."

In Toronto, a Corporation spokesman said the Vanderwalkers "still have to go." It might be a few days more before the eviction took place.

Seek Safety Aids

TORONTO Feb. 6 (CP)—Finding airborne aids to navigation in order to relieve the taxpayer of costs of ground safety installations is one of the major problems ahead of air transport, said Air Vice-Marshal Alan Ferrier in a lecture here last night to the Royal Canadian Institue. A former member of the Ottawa Air Transport Board, he now is assistant secretary-general of the International Civil Aviation Organization at Montreal.

Kills Hospital Nurse

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 6 (AP) —Margaret Gabler, a nurse at the Clark County General Hospital, was shot to death while on duty Saturday night with two sheriff's officers in a nearby corridor. The sheriffs said they broke into the room and found Robert Francis Costlow, 23, standing over the body of the uniformed nurse with a .32-calibre revolver in his hand Costlow, who lived at the same auto court as Mrs. Gabler, was booked on suspicion of murder.

Professor Killed

PRINCETON, N.J., Feb. 6 (AP) —A 25-year-old Princeton professor put a pistol to his head and killed himself Saturday night in what authorities listed as a game of Russian roulette. Police said friends of Dr. Allison Williams Bunkley told of watching him pull the trigger twice, but nothing happened He refused to quit despite their urgings, they said, and laughingly announced he'd "do it just once more" That attempt sent a .32-calibre bullet into his right temple.

Child 8 Remains In Critical Condition

SARNIA, Feb. 6 (CP)—Mary Lou Sparks, 8, remained in a critical condition today following what police believe was an attempted murder and suicide early last Friday at her Sarnia home. The girl remains unconscious.

Mrs. Mamie Sparks, 60, Mary Lou's mother by adoption, meanwhile was in a much improved condition in hospital today.

The two were found lying in a pool of blood by Mrs. Sparks' son George, 30. Both had suffered from loss of blood and showed evidence of having been victims of a hammer-knife attack.

Friends said that Mrs. Sparks had been depressed by the death of her husband a year ago.

Six Years After His Death Rommel Lauded Fair Man

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, Feb. 6—(CP)—Almost nine years after he waged fierce war against Allied armies on African sands Erwin Rommel now is reaping tributes as a fair and upright soldier.

Generals against whom he fought as Commander of Germany's Afrika Korps during the Second World War have come forward to salute a brave and generous enemy "who waged war hard and fiercely, but fairly" —in the words of Field Marshal Earl Wavell.

The occasion has been publication of "Rommel," a biography by Brig. Desmond Young of the British Army, a prisoner of war after the desert fighting. But the tributes come too late for Rommel to hear—he died in 1944.

Young's sources are German army records, the field marshal's widow and his son, his superiors and staff. The book maintains:

1. That Rommel was forced to commit suicide.

2. That he advised Hitler in 1944 to seek peace terms with the allies; victory was impossible.

3. That earlier he had urged upon Hitler abolition of the S.S. as "a disgrace to the German uniform."

4. That he had no part in the 1944 bomb plot against Hitler's life. But he apparently had been selected as the one general around whom the army would unite in the approaches to the allies, planned for later.

Not Much Choice

The last fact apparently came out under torture after the plot failed and Hitler personally ordered SS agents to carry his alternatives to Rommel, then in hospital with wounds from an allied strafing attack. The field marshal could either take poison within two minutes or surrender himself for trial to a people's court in Berlin.

Rommel contemptuously drank the poison. State mourning then was decreed and he was given a hero's funeral.

Rommel was the only German general of whom it is recorded that when Hitler's infamous order to execute British commandos on capture was received he burned it.

Lt.-Gen Sir Francis Tuker who commanded a division against Rommel, said:

"That army which strove to destroy Rommel in battle would have given its right hand to save him from a shameful death at the hands of his countrymen."

Others, noting Rommel's global appreciation of military strategy said: "We can judge ourselves fortunate that Hitler, not Rommel, directed the axis strategy."

Former McGill Dean Appointed Editor

MONTREAL, Feb. 6 (CP)—Dr. Jonathan C. Meakins, former dean of medicine at McGill University, has been appointed editor of the American Heart Journal, it was learned Sunday.

An important medical journal which was founded in the United States in 1925, the publication has a wide circulation ni many countries. It is the first time that a Canadian has been appointed as editor.

4 Powers Plan Hold Exercises

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)— The warships of four North Atlantic powers will team up next month in Caribbean training exercises. The ships will be provided by Britain, Canada, the United States and the Netherlands. While the forces engaged will be relatively small, their teamwork may be a forerunner of greater peacetime co-operation among Atlantic Pact fleets.

Canada will have the carrier Magnificent and the destroyer Micmac in the Caribbean area, and they are expected to take part in the manoeuvres

The two Canadian ships, commanded by Commodore K. F. Adams, will be in the Caribbean, in March and April on the Navy's annual winter training cruise. On board the Magnificent will be the 18th carrier air group, composed of two squadrons of Firefly fighters.

U.S. Women Seek Complete Equality

A group of militant feminists in the United States, with the backing of scores of women's organizations, have demanded an amendment to the U.S. constitution. The amendment declares "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged on account of sex". It is designed to eliminate distinctions or discriminations which now exist in some states: e.g., not allowing women to serve on juries, to operate a business and keep the profits without the husband's consent, to divorce an unfaithful husband, to handle baggage, to mix strong drinks in public, or to work in blast furnaces, bowling alleys or shoeshine parlours.

* * *

Members of the United States Senate regarded the amendment cautiously; they knew that an equally large group of prominent women, also backed by scores of women's organizations, opposed the amendment. These feared equal rights would have a double effect, and eliminate certain privileges of their sex as well as conferring equality. There is a complex structure of laws in the United States for the protection of women, and opponents of the amendment feared it would be demolished if absolute equality were established.

* * *

Senator Carl Hayden of Arizona, Democrat, arose with what seemed an acceptable solution. He proposed to add a clause providing that nothing in the amendment would impair any "rights, benefits, or exemptions now or hereafter conferred by law upon persons of the female sex". His fellow Senators evidently felt that would please all the women, and passed the amendment with the clause attached. The feeling could not have lasted long, however, for the militant feminists soon made it clear they wanted no qualifications whatever.

* * *

We find this campaign for equal rights rather amusing. We had gathered the impression that women were the dominant sex in the United States, that they enjoyed not only equality but had also been accorded something approaching idolatry. A few writers in the United States have protested bitterly against the degree to which the American girl has been "glorified" and against the nation-wide acceptance of the cult of mother worship, but without any noticeable effect. If the status of women in the United States is that indicated by both impression and protests, it is difficult to understand this striving for absolute and unqualified equality.

A Minority Report On Jimmy Hatlo

For some years we have published the comic panel They'll Do It Every Time, and it is one of the most popular comics on our list. We know that a majority of our readers like it, and we enjoy it too, but from time to time we are disturbed by the undertone of bitterness which occasionally becomes clearly audible in it.

Mr. Hatlo's plan of work is unique, so far as we know. His readers and admirers supply him with his themes, and every day he explains in his panel where that day's inspiration came from. This is the part of the strip that bothers us. Let us suppose that a wife writes to Mr. Hatlo complaining of some foible of her husband's; in time he draws a picture which pillories the husband, and the wife's name in published with it. She shows it triumphantly to the erring husband; her neighbours see it and say to one another "Well, Aggie certainly fixed the old man that time!" And for a few weeks the erring husband is known to his more witty friends as Bigdome, or Lushwell, or Tremblechin or by one of the other funny names which Mr. Hatlo invents so brilliantly.

This is not, we suggest, the best possible means of dealing with domestic infelicity, nor can we conceive of any home which was not already on the rocks resorting to such a very public and drastic method of resolving a grievance. Funny as They'll Do It Every Time is—and it is often brilliantly funny—we can never rid ourselves of a feeling that spite and frustration lie behind every picture.

Dr. Fishbein And The Layman

We have a great admiration for doctors. Looking back over a wide acquaintance among the profession, we can recall startlingly few who were either crooked or stupid. But we become a little restive when doctors use the word "layman" too easily.

We are thinking at the moment of Dr. Morris Fishbein, who edited the Journal of the American Medical Association until recently. Speaking in New York on the new antihistamine pills for colds he said: "We must have a definition of what constitutes a cold; a layman is not qualified to determine whether he has a cold or not."

Now, just a moment, Dr. Fishbein. Along with a great many other people we feel quite capable of determining when we have a cold. The symptoms are many, and may occur in a bewildering variety of combinations, but there is a basic sense of having a cold which we know just as well as you do. Though just a poor, ignorant layman, we are as sharp on this matter as the greatest diagnostician of them all.

What is more, Dr. Fishbein, we layman know exactly what the medical faculty will do when called in to treat our colds. After some chilly work with the stethoscope, and a few soloes on the theme of "99", the learned doctor will say: "Well, you'd better stay in bed for a few days; I'll send you something to relieve the cough, and some nosedrops, and a sedative, and a laxative; keep warm; a light diet is best—certainly no more to eat than usual; if you don't improve call me again". We like this treatment, and we follow it faithfully—except for the medicine, of course, which we always throw away. But we could prescribe for ourself; we only call the doctor for a pleasant chat.

So not so much talk about "the layman", Dr. Fishbein. Or at least not until the doctors have something for a cold which will cure it in less time than it would take to cure itself.

Tenants Of Canada

In a news report about the Supreme Court hearings on the validity of federal rent controls a curious phrase occurred: "Those favouring the validity of the controls were: The Federal Government, the Province of Ontario, Canadian Congress of Labour, Canadian Legion, and tenants of Canada". Tenants of Canada, indeed! We citizens are here to stay, and on no oasis of tenantry.

There was a time when people looked on this country as a place to be tenanted, for instance, early British fur traders and wealthy Montrealers of eighty years ago who felt that the gross physical abode of Canada was merely a place to make money, and that spiritual ease was to be had in England or New York. Not a few wealthy Montreal families moved out, to England and titled tenantry, when the pile was made. The first farmers of the Canadian west went out to wheat crop the country, and did little to make their homes there—that is, so long as the big crops came in bringing big profits which permitted wintering in Florida. People went into the Ontario north to mine and come back with their piles. In more recent times, enterprising persons have gone into the sub-Arctic to grow rich on oil, uranium and timber. But this idea of tenantry of Canada has now all but disappeared. Canadians everywhere across the country now make homes, even in the roughest, hardest country.

We are Canadian citizens, not tenants of Canada. It is with this point of view that the rent control situation should be approached.

NOTE AND COMMENT

When distributing the milk of human kindness it is not the thing to ask for a deposit on the bottle.

A Hollywood writer warns that "drinking kills beauty". True, and eating can be hard on it, too.

The formation of a German nationalist party is reported. Queer, how they go on being proud of it!

Senator Taft, we observe, wants legislation to give employers equal rights with workers. He'll never get anywhere with a crazy notion like that.

A dietitian says that meals should be fun as well as fuel. We should like to see a dietitian devise a few meals which were fun without being fattening.

The subsidy on Canadian cheese, we read "will come out of the federal treasury". That's a relief. We thought it might come out of the taxpayers' pockets.

In San Antonio, Texas, a dog wandered away from its home while robbers were there, and then hurried back and bit an investigating policeman. Nothing like a good dog around the place to foul things up.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

IT is a good thing to widen one's musical horizon, to give oneself a chance of hearing unfamiliar works and unfamiliar periods and styles. But broad sympathies have their dangers. An open mind, an empty mind, as the saying goes. Everybody knows the type who "adores" Beethoven and Boogie-Woogie (or whatever the latest publicity stunt happens to be), Verdi and Morris-dances indiscriminately, the singer who ploughs through a programme of operatic arias, German lieder and Elizabethan lute-songs without showing any real understanding of anything. There is a very strong case to be made for deliberately narrowing the range of one's main interests. This should be done after one has roamed fairly extensively throughout the whole field of music in search of one's natural affinity. The best and most enduring marriages are said to be those which are made after one has had a chance to look around for oneself. It often happens that a man finds his spiritual home in a certain period. Philip Heseltine (who wrote an exquisite collection of songs under the name of Peter Warlock and whose death was a severe loss to music) was an Elizabethan who had somehow strayed into the twentieth century. His researches into this period were invaluable, and he has rescued many charming things from the musty shelves of old libraries. The late T. W. Bourne, a scholar and gentleman of a type that is almost extinct focussed his attention on two composers, Frescobaldi and Handel. He told me once that he was not particularly drawn to Bach, and had no use at all for anything written after Handel's death in 1759. This of course automatically excluded all Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert, Schumann, Chopin, Brahms and Wagner, to mention only a few. Instead of dissipating his energies in acquiring a superficial knowledge of a large number of composers he lavished all his care and attention on these two, Handel and Frescobaldi. He knew all the ins and outs of their lives and their music. He had discovered the eighteenth century for himself and found it most congenial to his temperament. I still remember vividly the elaborate yet completely natural courtesy with which he used to welcome me to his country house, the inevitable offer of a pinch of snuff, the polished ease of his conversation.

◇ ◇ ◇

TURNING to the present day there are few topics more likely to wreck a dinner-party than trade unions. I do not propose to add fuel to the flames of this "burning topic"—nevertheless a few facts may be of use in clarifying the issue as it affects musicians. I therefore constituted myself as a one-man "fact-finding commission", and for this purpose I paid a visit to a local representative of the union. The American Federation of Musicians, to give it its proper title, was founded in 1896, and is an international trade union affiliated with the A.F.L. It has some 900 locals in the United States and Canada. There is an annual convention, at which approximately 900 delegates select the president and other officers. There have been only two presidents since 1900, Joseph N. Weber and James C. Petrillo, the present holder of the office.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE broad aim of the A.F.M. is to maintain the economic standard of the musician. Apart from a few "stars" music is the worst-paid profession in the world. Of recent years the situation has been further aggravated by the advent of mechanical reproduction of music. Thousands of musicians have been thrown out of work in theatres, hotels and cafes. The A.F.M. is fighting hard for a larger share of the profits on records used in radio programmes, juke boxes and so on.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE Peterborough Music Protective Association, Local 191 of the A.F.M., was chartered on 11 April, 1902, and bears much the same relation to the parent body as a State does to the U.S. Federal Government. Each member pays a small annual subscription. About 15 per cent. of this goes each year as a "per capita" tax to the parent body. Each member must pledge himself to observe a fixed minimum scale of fees for engagements. He may not as a rule appear with non-union members in the same programme for gain. He may on occasion offer his services free of charge for a recognized charity or a church, provided that the engagement is not competitive. He must not fail to carry out a public engagement or practise an imposture on the public. The extreme penalty for non-compliance with the rules is expulsion, which automatically excludes him from radio engagements or playing with union members. Each year there is a banquet and dance for members and their guests. The Association also arranges concerts by its members to be given free of charge to the Homes for Old People. The music teaching profession and church organists as such are outside the scope of the Association. Singers, although they appear in public, are not eligible for membership. The political controversies which have torn so many other unions do not appear to affect the A.F.M. There is provision to the effect that Fascists and Communists are barred from membership.

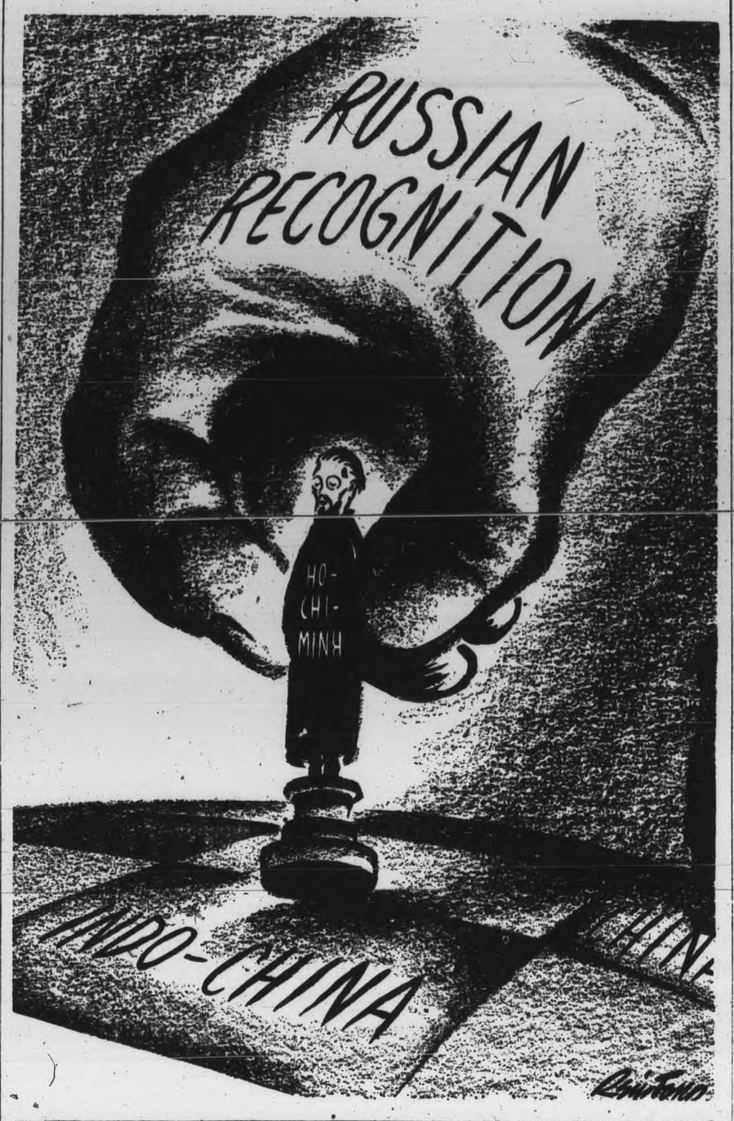
◇ ◇ ◇

AN amusing incident happened some years ago. An orchestra was giving a concert and one of the items on the programme was Beethoven's Leonore Overture No. 3. Readers will doubtless remember the famous trumpeter was waiting in a corridor with his instrument for the cue to play, when along came a burly policeman and asked him what his business was. The trumpeter explained that he had an important solo passage to play off stage. The policeman thought it was a very thin story and forthwith he removed the trumpeter. History does not record what the conductor said.

Murder And Water

The liquor stores report there was no great rush of buyers prior to Christmas. The trend is not surprising judging from comment heard: The prices are pure murder and the water content is excessive. Too much liquor, even well-known Scotches, have that bitter edge of immaturity. If the label deceives, the palate of the consumer does not. "Sound liquor at cost," as the late Premier Ferguson promised in 1927, is still the right way to treat the public.—Hamilton Spectator.

NEW MAN, OLD MOVE



Witch Doctor's Shop

(B.B.C. LONDON LETTER)

THE BBC had correspondents in many countries and Robert Stimson, in South Africa, recently spoke from Johannesburg to "Radio News Reel." He told of a very odd shop he had found tucked away in a small street. It was a witch doctor's store and the sign outside indicated that its proprietor had the power of commanding the waters of the sea. Stimson went inside and found a most extraordinary selection of articles for sale. There was a vulture's wing at fifteen shillings which could be sold piecemeal at a shilling a feather. Dried lizards sold well at five shillings apiece and there was "an interesting range of baboon teeth." For two pounds ten a witch doctor's bag could be bought. This was a leather pouch hung with seven antelope horns to hold strong medicine compounded from such things as hippopotamus fat, a porcupine quill to run the medicines into the horns and a wonderful assortment of potent charms, including a tortoise's tail, a hyena's knuckle bone, sea shells and dominoes made from an elephant's tusk.

Stimson saw a steady stream of customers pass through the shop. One bought the shell of an ostrich egg, which he intended to grind to powder to make an efficacious cough mixture. Another customer bought a selection of articles which sounded like the ingredients for the witches' brew in "Macbeth" — a springbok's horn, some lion's fat, a piece of dried fish and an assortment of wild roots. This, Stimson gathered, was to make some kind of love potion for the man was having certain difficulties with his girl friend. But life in a witch doctor's shop isn't all plain sailing even when the proprietor can command the water. He is sadly put out at present because a particular kind of red powder that works wonders in love potions is only obtainable in India and owing to the trade embargo between South Africa and India this indispensible commodity has gone right off the market.

Letter To The Editor

WHY BEEF ABOUT WOMEN WORKERS?

Sir: In answer to people complaining about married women working; married women who don't care to work why does it bother them what another one does. I sometimes think maybe that some person if they didn't have responsibilities at home would probably be out doing the same. In January 30 paper the writer told of all she did and had, but does she stop to think that during the war married women were begged to work and take the place of their men, also another thing, men wouldn't go and work for the low wages they pay a woman.

I have worked myself and have two children, but they have never been neglected; in fact I have seen many children neglected and the women don't go out to work. And if you have a routine for your work you don't have to race home at night and work that hard that you can't relax a bit, and yet their homes are kept just as nice.

The only thing I say, if we working women aren't doing the others any harm, why beef about it, maybe they sometimes wish they could go themselves.

Thanking you Mr. Editor.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God. (Ps. 42: 11.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said, Can a man be profitable unto God, as he that is wise may be profitable unto himself? . . . Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee. (Job 22: 1, 2, 21.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Then Job answered and said, . . . Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat! I would order my cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments. . . But he is in one mind, and who can turn him? and what his soul desireth, even that he doeth. (Job 23: 1, 3, 4, 13.)

◇ ◇ ◇

The sun shall be no more thy light by day; neither for brightness shall the moon give light unto thee: but the Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory.

Thy sun shall no more go down; neither shall thy moon withdraw itself: for the Lord shall be thine everlasting light, and the days of thy mourning shall be ended. (Isa. 60: 19, 20.)

◇ ◇ ◇

For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly. (Ps. 84: 11.)

Watt's Pot

The story as we learned it at school was that little James Watt, sitting in the kitchen near the fire watched the kettle come to the boil with its lid dancing up and down as the steam pressure rose and fell. "Ah, ha," said wee Jamie to himself, "I will go forth and invent the steam engine." Which he did.

It appears this account of a not unimportant event is somewhat simplified. The kettle in the Scottish kitchen may have sparked the process in its origin, but according to Watt himself, the invention came later. His own account is as follows:

"It was in the Green at Glasgow. I had gone to take a walk on a fine Sabbath afternoon. I had entered the Green by the Gate at the foot of Charlotte Street—had passed the old washing house. I was thinking upon the engine at the time and had gone as far as the Herd's house when the idea came into my mind that, as steam was an elastic body, it would rush into a vacuum, and if a communication was made between the cylinder and an exhausted vessel, it would rush into it and might there be condensed without cooling the cylinder. . . I had not walked further than the Golf-house when the whole thing was arranged in my mind."

The moral drawn from this story by Mr. E. G. Bailey, in a lecture recently published, is that invention and the 40-hour week are strangers. The hopeful inventor must live with his ideas, waking, sleeping or walking on the Glasgow Green. If he is lucky they will fall into place as they did for James Watt that fine Sabbath afternoon, thus setting in train a series of other inventions the end of which is as distant today as it ever was.

Hopalong Back At Studio Where He Began

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6—(AP)—Bill (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd is returning in triumph to the studio where he started at $30 a week 30 years ago.

"That's right," smiled Hoppie, whose contract with Paramount is nearing the ink stage. "I started there 30 years ago under a five-year contract. My beginning salary was $30 and it was to rise to $75 at the end of the contract.

"But after three years they were paying me $60 and figured that was too much. So I got fired."

Boyd left the studio to score a hit in Cecil B. Demille's, "The Volga Boatman." Many years later, re returned to Paramount to begin the Hopalong Cassidy series. Then he and the studio had another falling out.

Few people realize how low Hoppie's fortunes ebbed in those days. "I had to quit making Hoppies in 1947, because I couldn't get financing," he recalled. And he hasn't made one since.

Fortune Turns

But along came television and Boyd, who had gained control of his films, began releasing them to the new medium.

Hopalong Cassidy has become the hottest character in the entertainment business today. The studios, which had considered Boyd a has-been, slowly realized how big he had grown and began dangling deals. Paramount won out.

"It was something I had prayed for—to go back to the studio where I got my start," said Bill.

You can bet that the deal is a sugary one. It will start with a co-starring opus with Bing Crosby.

"I'm trying to talk them into billing it 'Bing and Hoppie in "Hi Pardner,'" Those are the two hottest personalities in the business today and everyone should know them by their first names," declared Boyd.

Capsule Review

"Key to The City' (MGM) is one of Clark Gable's better post-war efforts. He happily plays the Gable that most people like—the hard-hitting guy with an eye for dames. He's the tough mayor who meets up with a prime Maine mayor (Loretta Young) at a convention. It is amusing fare, although sometimes a bit too cute for such adult players.

Seek Estimates For New School In Havelock

HAVELOCK, Feb. 6 (ENS) — Belmont and Methuen Council Saturday gave approval to Norwood District High School Board to secure estimates of the cost of a new high school.

Conditions of the agreement are that plans and estimates shall be placed before the council for final approval before the school board calls for tenders.

The council granted Havelock Apostolic Church the use of the Township Hall for Sunday school purposes, providing the church assumes caretaking and fuel responsibilities.

Part 31 of concession three in Belmont, 190 acres, was seld to Roy Althouse for $30 plus the cost of transfer.

The assessment of $125 on the cottage of Bruce Longmuir was reduced to $75. The purchase of two binders for filing the field sheets was authorized for the assessor.

Three accounts were passed, two to F. P. Sopha for $10.06 and $8.11 and one to Harold Smith for $1.54.

Musn't Shave It

ATIKOKAN, Ont. — (CP) — Hirsute adornments of all types will be eligible for prizes at Atikokan's first winter carnival Feb. 11. Prizes will be given for the longest, fuzziest and best beads, and entrants, who shave will be fined.

Students' Council Offers Call Truce

EDMONTON, Feb. 6—(CP) — Students' Council of the University of Alberta Sunday night offered to call a truce in their dispute with President Dr. Robert Newton who suspended the student newspaper, The Gateway, last week.

Council offered to print The Gateway without any of the material to which Dr. Newton objected until a meeting of the board of governors considered the matter.

Dr. Newton suspended publication of the paper following a special engineers' edition which he termed "objectionable and vulgar." He said he doubted if it would be allowed in the mails because of some of the jokes in it.

Fight Expulsion Of Two Unions

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—Left-wing resistance to policies of the Canadian Congress of Labor was heard at the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Labor Saturday. It was based on expulsion of the United Electrical Workers and the United Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers from the Congress.

Efforts to have the OFA request the CCI to re-admit the two unions were fruitless.

Lyle Dotzert of UAW Local 200 at Windsor declared the smelters' union had been expelled for disagreeing with CCL policies which would lead labor down the path to chaos. Where the CCL could not get the unions to throw out their leaders, they threw out the rank and file as well as the leaders, he said.

Jack Taylor, former vice-president of Local 200, replied that the Congress expected the minority to respect the decision of the majority.

Dies At Beirut

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP) — Dr William Douglas Cruickshank, 65 died suddenly last Thursday at Beirut, Syria, it was learned Sunday. Native of Hamilton, he had been director of public health services for the government of Syria since the end of the Second World War but retired in 1949 and was planning to return to Canada.

Agriculturist Dies

KINGSTON, Feb. 6 — (CP) — Matthew Reid Shannon, 80, well-known agriculturist in Kingston township, died at his Glenburnie home Saturday. He was a former president of the Frontenac County Cheese Producers' Association, and a former president of the Kingston Cheese Board.

Find Baby's Body Arrest Domestic

KINGSTON, Feb. 6 — (CP) — After a post-mortem Sunday on the body of an infant, discovered Saturday in a trunk at the Sunnyside Children's Centre here, medical examiners said it was impossible to determine the age of the child or whether it was alive at birth.

Dr. W. D. Hay, pathologist of Queen's University, said the body had evidently been in the trunk for a considerable period.

The trunk was left at the home of a former domestic servant Queenie Baker, 40, of Hamilton, who left the institution last December. The woman is held by police at Hamilton to appear in court on a charge of concealment of birth.

The discovery was made when the trunk's owner notified the authorities at the home that she would not be returning and asked that the trunk be forwarded to her Hamilton home. The body, in a mummified state, was found beneath a quantity of clothing.

(Police at Hamilton Sunday night confirmed the arrest of the accused but said the nature of the charge is one for Kingston authorities.)

To Get Seedlings

OWEN SOUND, Feb. 6 (CP)—Forest caretakers of Grey and Bruce counties were told at a week-end meeting that approximately 350,000 red pine, white pine and white spruce seedlings will be planted in the area this year. White pine and white spruce will predominate in Bruce county while considerable red pine planting is planned for Grey.

Fireworks Explode

LEWISTON, Me., Feb 6 (AP)—A truckload of fireworks exploded Saturday night at a snowshoe parade, injuring two persons. Roland Pelletier of St. David, Que., received a leg burn. The Canadian snowshoer got first aid treatment. Witnesses said most of the pyrotechnics shot straight up in the air instead of flying over gay crowds watching the Canadian and American snowshoe congress parade.

C.P.R. Official Dies

MONTREAL, Feb. 6 (CP)—H. J. Main, 64, assistant to the vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and a veteran of 48 years of railroading in all parts of Canada, died suddenly in hospital Sunday night. Born at Kemptville, Ont., on Aug. 16 1885, Mr. Main was known in his wide circles of friends as "Gus."

"How the British fought on with Hardship their Garment until Soviet Russia and the United States were drawn into the Great Conflict"

Third Volume
WAR MEMOIRS of
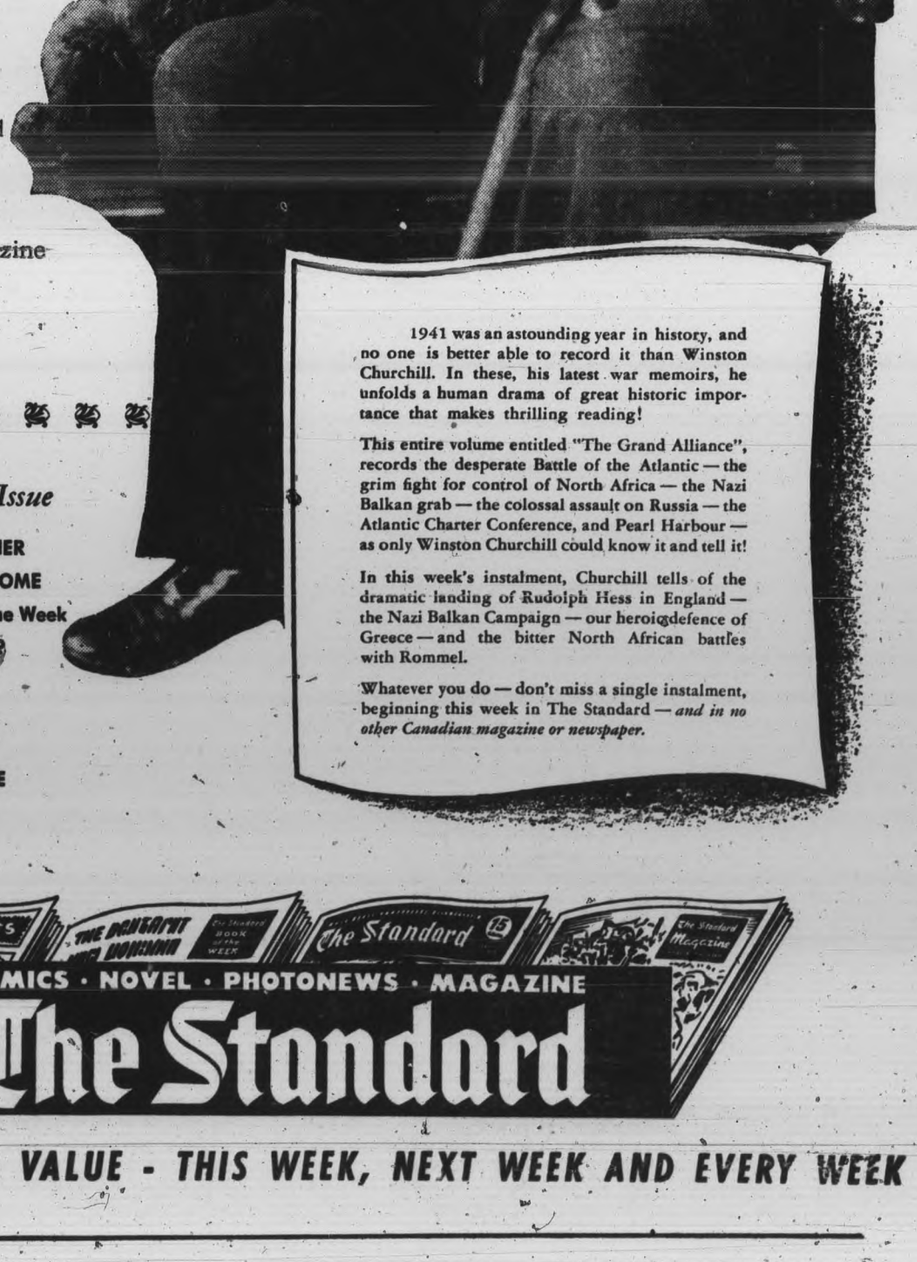
WINSTON CHURCHILL



Starting this week, The Standard begins publication of Volume III of Winston Churchill's monumental and exciting history of World War II. Complete in five weekly instalments, in a special rotogravure supplement, "The Grand Alliance" by Winston Churchill, will appear in no other Canadian magazine or newspaper.

1941 was an astounding year in history, and no one is better able to record it than Winston Churchill. In these, his latest war memoirs, he unfolds a human drama of great historic importance that makes thrilling reading!

This entire volume entitled "The Grand Alliance", records the desperate Battle of the Atlantic — the grim fight for control of North Africa — the Nazi Balkan grab — the colossal assault on Russia — the Atlantic Charter Conference, and Pearl Harbour — as only Winston Churchill could know it and tell it!

In this week's instalment, Churchill tells of the dramatic landing of Rudolph Hess in England — the Nazi Balkan Campaign — our heroic defence of Greece — and the bitter North African battles with Rommel.

Whatever you do — don't miss a single instalment, beginning this week in The Standard — and in no other Canadian magazine or newspaper.

Shockey's and Kawarthas Capture Men's Cage Wins

Shockey's Cleaners made it four straight Saturday night in the Men's City Basketball League as they won 43-34 from the Marine Bees in a torrid fray. In the first game of the doubleheader played in the "Y" gym, Kawartha Sports edged Clapper's 37-36 to jump into the win column for the first time. Prior to Saturday's game they had lost two close fixtures in league play.

Al Northcott and Neil Thompson spurred on the Kawartha Sports quintet in the opening stanza of the first game as Northcott whipped in 12 points and Thompson six to help give the Sports a 26-18 score at the half. Holding the Kawartha five off the Clapper crew managed to outscore them 18-11 in the second half, falling short two points of a win. Al Stewart was the only player to leave the game for five personals.

Led the Way

Neil Thompson led the scoring with 13 points while Northcott of the Sports and Ted Payne of Clapper's each had 12. Other points were for Kawartha Sports Bill Thompson six, Hugh Dibben Carl Sargeant and George Hall two each; for Clappers, Bill Dadson and Al Stewart eight each; Tom Taylor and Al Menzies four each.

Marines Bees on the strength of points by Eddie Nicholls and Gordie Burns outscored Shockey's Cleaners in the first half of their lightning fast encounter 18-13. The Bees were unable to hold their lead against the league leaders as Doug Plunkett, Byron Young, Doug MacPherson and Joe Stewart all rattled in five or more point in the second half for Shockey's to pile up a half score of 30-16 and a final score of 43-34.

Eddie Nicholls of the Bees and Doug Plunkett of the Cleaners shared the scoring honors with 12 points each. MacPherson had nine for Shockey's while Young had eight, Joe Stewart seven, Thornburn four and Bill Moorhead three. Warren Smith rapped home seven points for the Bees while Gordie Burns scored five. Gillespie and Ackford four each and Green two.

Standing of February 4:

	W	L	Pts
Shockey's	4	0	8
Marines	2	2	4
Clapper's	1	2	2

Hawks Beat Bruins

Black Hawks beat the Bruins in Keene Saturday 5-2 in a peewee puck loop contest, a speedy tilt marked with good passing and goaltending. In the first, Bruins counted on Towns' screened shot, with Doleman evening it from Stewart. Naish broke loose in the second but was outguessed by Ayotte, though he came back to count two more on passes from Scharf and Beggs. Olmstead lifted Cairns' pass into the net to end the scoring then. He and Atkinson drew minor penalties. The last frame was close, with Tait of Bruins scoring on a breakaway and Murphy tipped Druery's pass to wing it up. Tows, Ayotte, R. Brown, Goldie and Naish all shone. Teams:

Bruins: Ayotte, Mills, Cuffe, Keely, Towns, Tait, Morgan, Legrow, Mann, Atkinson, Tranter, Harding, Dunsford, Alton.

Hawks: Smillie, Dreury, Goldie, Murphy, Stewart, Doleman, Cairns, Olmstead, J. Brown, Scharf, Beggs, Naish, Armstrong, Kimball, R. Brown.

Sold To Kingston

COLLRADO SPRINGS, Colo., Feb. 6 — (CP). — Colorado Springs Sky Sox of the Western League announced Saturday that Jack Maisch, an outfielder, has been sold to Kingston Ponies of the Border League. Maisch was one of several players transferred to Colorado Springs from Muskegon, Mich., of the Central Loop. He batted .281 for Muskegon last season.

Weekend Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Left-winger Bep Guidolin — whose two markers in the first period sparked Chicago Black Hawks to a 6-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens on Saturday night.

Toronto's Max Bentley — who netted the tieing goal in the second period Saturday as the Maple Leafs and league-leading Detroit Red Wings battled to a 3-3 deadlock.

Pentti Lund of New York — who scored twice to help the Rangers to a 5-5 tie with Detroit Red Wings Sunday.

Bill Barilko — whose second-period tally gave Toronto Maple Leafs a 2-1 edge over Boston Bruins Sunday.

Montreal's Elmer Lach — who connected in the second period to give the Habitants a 4-3 win over Chicago Black Hawks Sunday.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Maurice (The Rocket) Richard of Montreal netted his pace-setting 27th goal of the season and assisted on another counter over the week-end to regain third position of the National Hockey League's individual scoring list, with 45 points. Ted Lindsay of Detroit held tight to top spot with 17 goals and a current record of 35 assists for 52 points, with teammate Sid Abel following one point behind. Boston's Paul Ronty, who was pushed out of third place by Richard, is tied in fourth spot with Chicago's Doug Bentley with 43 each, one point ahead of Detroit's Gordie How and Roy Conacher of Chicago. The leaders:

	G.	A.	Pts
Lindsay, Detroit	17	36	52
Abel, Detroit	26	25	51
Richard, Montreal	27	18	45

R. Conacher, Chicago	17	25	42

Suzanne Morrow Retains Skating Title

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 6 (CP) —Four national ice champions sold themselves to the Canadian Figure-skating Association as potential world champions Saturday with dazzling displays in the Garden City arena.

The four, each of whom attained their 1949 titles in the three-day figure-skating championships have been nominated to represent Canada in the world championships at London, Eng., in March.

They are Suzanne Morrow, senior women's queen; Roger Wickson senior men's titlist, Marlene Smith and Donald Gilchrist, senior pairs champions.

A. H. Williams of Calgary, president of the CFSA, announcing the nominations said:

"This year's champions have proved they are of better quality than in previous championships. Some of them, especially Suzanne are of world class, and I expect they will give some stiff opposition among strong opponents in the world championships."

Suzanne, 19-year-old blonde, had the spectators worried for a while before the freeskating, final part of the senior singles. While executing a difficult double jump, she slipped, fell and limped off the ice.

Dressed in a black sequin-studded costume and tiara, the champion, a six-year veteran in Canadian and world competition, started with a lengthy lead in the compulsory figures and clinched the title in the free-skating.

Dazzling Performance

Marlene's effort was good enough to pull her up from third place in the school figures to displace Vevi Smith, of Toronto, as runner-up. Vevi was third in the final result.

True to experts' forecasts, Bill Lewis, 21-year-old University of Washington commerce student from New Westminster, B. C., and Donald Tobin, 21, of Ottawa, provided Roger Wickson, 22-year-old champion from Vancouver, with some tough opposition in the men's singles. Although second in the compulsory figures to Lewis, the six-foot titlist held the event in the free-skating.

Peewees At Norwood

NORWOOD, Feb. 6—(ENS)—The Norwood Pee Wee hockey league has at last been organized with four teams—Bruins, Leafs, Black Hawks and Red Wings. Coaches of these teams are Allan Fairfield, Bill Garden, Hartley Morrison and Ernie Spencer.

Black Hawks were victorious against Red Wings on Saturday morning 2-1 with Miles, Rusaw and Lochhead sparking the attack. Mainland, Rooney and Scott went good for Red Wings. Miles counted one goal and an assist, Lochhead a goal and an assist for Rusaw who also received the only penalty of the game for boarding. Mainland scored for Wings and F. Rooney earned the assist.

Red Wings—Goal, Murray Ranson; defence, Clive Fredericks, Gordon Kavanagh; centre, H. Scott; wings, Clarence Mainland, F. Rooney; alternates, Freddie Morgan, E. Begg, Roy Millett, D. McManus, Bob Hanivan, Raymond Fuller.

Black Hawks—Goal, Lorraine Hig; defence, G. Cassidy, Mac Millett; centre, Delvin Rusaw; wings, Earl Kavanagh, Bruce Mullan; alternates, Douglas Lochhead, John Glennie, Gary Golloher, Philip Hines, Bunny Miles, Carman Brown, David Saunders.

Referee, Jack Robson.

Maple Leafs took Bruins 2-1 in the second fray. Goals were scored by Vic Mullan, D. Smith, and Burtt, assists W. Smith and Johnnie Ferguson.

Maple Leafs — Goal, Jimmie Leeper; defence, Carl Redden; centre, Mervin Millett; wings, Donald Casidy, Victor Mullan; alternates, Keith Bedore, W. Smith, Morris Redden, Jack Cronin, Bob Tedford.

Bruins—Goal, Neil Tedford; defence, Dan Smith, Johnnie Ferguson; centre, Gordon Millett; wings, Ross Stewart, Teddy Tolley; alternates, Merricul Hannon, Leslie Gordon, Roger McManus, Paul McNeely, Harry Parker.

Referee Jack Stackhouse.

Cobourg Beaten

COBOURG, Feb. 6 (ENS)—A weakened Legionnaires basketball team was defeated here on Saturday night in an intermediate cage fixture when they lost out to Toronto Victorias by the score of 47-41. The locals were minus Bob Bevan and Bill Jamieson, ace scorers, and their absence was very apparent in the performance of the team.

Cobourg got careless toward the end of the last half and contributed several free points to Toronto on foul shots. Total foul shot scores by Cobourg were five and by Toronto. Allender and Hamilton turned in a good scoring chore for Cobourg but were outclassed by Coles of the university team who chalked up 26 points for Toronto.

Cobourg—Hamilton, 12; Allender, 7; J. Bevan, 3; McGuire, 6; Quigley, 4; Wilson, 0; Holman, 2; Gallet, 4; Clarke, 2; Lane, 1; B. Bevan, 0.

Toronto—Cales, 26; Capel, 1; Fulford, 2; Wise, 1; Drew, 1; Brandon, 1; Reid 15.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Tonight is "Petes and Legion Night" at Civic Arena, the festivities commencing at 8.30 sharp. Yeah, another of those OHA senior "B" classics betwixt these enemy ice clubs. Which means a full house again, and nothing—not even four aces—beat a full house, according to the hockeyists. In any case, it is bound to be another hot struggle with no quarter asked or given (apart, that is, from those at the ticket office) as the Foley flock and the Ellis outfit tee off 'gainst each other. Just bang-bang-bang all the way at top speed, and excitement piling up from start to finish. A lulu.

Harold Collins informs us that he will lay a goodly bet that no family here can produce a trio of sons to match his in weight lifting or running 100 to 300 yards. He refers to Ab Blondin, a stepson, along with Bud Collins and Mickey Collins. Well, we said we'd run the challenge but doubted if there'd be any takers around Peterborough. Ab is an ace weight - lifter, while the other two (under 20 years of age) are real good at this game, too. All three keep in trim by sprinting and do the 100 in around 10 seconds. Which would indicate that the big muscles built up by lifting do not necessarily slow a fellow down.

Cash Goes To City

The reason the Recreation Commission is considering putting floodlights for ball in Riverside Park, rather than Morrow Park, is that it would cost as much to install baseball lights—not the grid arcs—in Morrow Park and the Morrow Trust, instead of the city, would have control of them. But Riverside is a beautiful ball park and has been for generations—and it remains strictly under control of the city through the Recreation Commission. The latter body will derive the financial benefits in future when the lights have been paid off through rental percentages. An ideal setup for local ratepayers as well as for sports.

* * * * * *

The council could not see its way clear several years ago toward installing lights at Miller Bowl for lacrosse. Yet that place is a gold mine, and the eight men who backed notes to pay for the arcs are sitting pretty. And deservedly so. The council was wise enough to aid the Civic Rink project considerably and will reap the profit. That place cannot handle the overflow requests now, and Morrow Park likewise could take care of the overflow summer sports in Peterborough with Riverside remaining the best ball park. The senior diamond sport has a long and successful history here and will continue as one of the big summer games as the city grows.

Let's Not Miss Out

No, the Exhibition Park has proven a big asset here in the past and will certainly be one in the future. It may, in fact, be used in the future for night harness horse racing. It will be in demand for the annual exhibition. And it can be used to good advantage for overflow sports, where the [illegible] and the agricultural heads are in agreement. But, like the CNE setup in Toronto, it is not suitable for floodlight baseball. Riverside Park certainly is. The Memorial Centre could have been built long since on free Quaker Oats Co. property, but that was passed up, and we're still awaiting action. Let's not miss the boat again.

Local lasses made it a rough week-end in basketball for the colleens in Cobourg. On Friday, PCVS seniors romped to a 31-14 victory as the junior PCI-ers won 14-6 in COSSA group games. Saturday saw Towne Togs take a 38-20 win o'er the Rascals in LOBA loop play. Couple of keen men's City League contests at the YMCA on Saturday night, as Shockey's defeated Marine Bees 43-34 while Kawartha Sports squeezed out a 37-36 decision against Clapper's. Studded with intermediate "A" stars, these teams dish up some rousing hoop play once or twice a week. In junior "B", if the schedule is right, PCVS is at Port Hope tomorrow and Lindsay plays SPS here Thursday.

Marlies Edge Spitfires 4-3 In Thrilling Tilt

By The Canadian Press.

George Armstrong and Danny Lewicki meant the difference between defeat and victory Saturday afternoon as Toronto Marlboros edged Windsor Spitfires 4-3 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens. Lewicki and Armstrong clicked for the tying and winning markers—in a space of 30 seconds—and sent a packed house of 14,396 into delirium.

In two other junior contests on Saturday Oshawa Generals dropped a tight 5-4 decision to Guelph Biltmores and St. Michael's edged St. Catharines 3-2. In two senior contests, Toronto Marlboros went down to a 4-3 loss to Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen and Hamilton Tigers continued to burn up the Senior A trail by belting Owen Sound Mercurys 8-7.

Marlboro Juniors opened the scoring in the first period when Jack McKenzie flashed the red light.

Tying Goal

Half way through the first frame, Bob Rawlyk passed to Edwin Grosse and the shifty centre plunked in the tying goal for Windsor. In the second period the same pair combined to shove the Spits ahead 2-1 and Bob Bailey was given credit for Windsor's third when his shot caromed in off a Toronto player's skate. Larry Regan put Marlboros within one goal of the Windsor Kids early in the third period.

Minutes later Armstrong tempted two defencemen out of position, skated in on Glen Hall and plunked in the tying marker. Lewicki followed 30 seconds later and the issue was settled.

Oshawa was outscored 3-1 in the first frame but came back with a 2-1 margin in the middle session. The clubs split tallies in the third.

Eddie Kulik was top man for the winners with a pair of goals. Singles were counted by Andy and Frank Bathgate and Jack Ashley, Rio Caron, George Samolenko, Enso Zanatta and Sonny Hooper clicked for Oshawa.

Starts Ball Rolling

In the St. Michael's-St. Catharines game, Red Ingoldsby took the load on his shoulders in the opening frame when he rapped home two markers to give the Collegians a 2-0 lead. In the second period Carl Boone scored the only goal to draw the Teepees to within one goal for the Irish.

Norm Corcoran for the Teepees and Paul Alain for St. Michael's counted markers in the third.

Four third-period goals, which matched the Owen Sound output, gave Hamilton Tigers their victory over the Mercs.

Leading 3-1 at the end of the first, the homesters crept up to 4-3 in the middle frame. Polly Miocinovich continued to pace the winners, as he came up with a three-goal performance. Ab Conick and Clare Shillington each clicked for a pair with Murray Comfort collaring the single.

Two-Goal Men

Harry Kazarian, Buck Forslund and Pat McReavy were all two-goal men for Owen Sound with the single coming off the stick of Andy McCallum.

Kitchener-Waterloo were down 2-1 in the first frame but came back with a pair of unanswered markers in the middle session. The clubs split a pair in the closing period.

Billy Flick, Murray Grasser, Doug Verity and Bill Walsh all tallied singles for the Dutchmen. Red Johnson, Scotty Mair and Johnny McLellan scored for the league-leaders. The victory clinched second place for the winners.

Trenton Trips Pt. Hope

TRENTON, Feb. 6—Paced by Cy Johnson, who bagged the hat trick, No. 6 Repair Depot of Trenton handed Port Hope a 7-2 setback in an OHA Intermediate "A" fixture here Saturday night.

MATCHED WITH HINDU TERROR—Seelie Samara, pictured above, the spectacular Negro matman, will clash with Nanjo Singh, the unpredictable Hindu terror in the main bout at the Brock Thursday night. Samara has impressed local fans and racked up an impressive record in his appearances here to date. As for Singh, the sizzling Sikh, he has made a name throughout grappledom as the most feared and fearsome of the competitors in the game. Two other matches are being arranged.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

The big event of this week is the open bonspiel on Wednesday, Feb. 8 for the Walker Trophy. It is an all-day affair and we believe that the entry list is complete.

And then on Saturday, Feb. 11 we have another men's spiel coming up. This time its for 14 rinks. Commencing at 9:00 a.m. and all over by 6:00 p.m.

Rev. Wm. McDonald accompanied Dr. McKee to the north country on Saturday. Mr. McDonald will visit friends at North Bay while the Dr. and his rink are curling in the Northern Ontario bonspiel at Sudbury.

Hats off and congratulations to Jack Allen, Fred Stenson, Eddie Bickle and Harold Rutherford. They won the Colts bonspiel in Chatham over the weekend. The boys left here by motor on Thursday, commenced playing Friday morning and played continually until they finally won the beautiful trophy, Sunday afternoon. It's the first time it has even been won by our curlers. And do we appreciate the telephone and telegraph service supplied to us by Jack and his friends giving us the progress of his games, shot by shot and end by end. It was first a telegram, then a phone call, then two telegrams and then more phone calls. The news spread like a grass fire and all seemed happy about the whole thing.

The winning skips of Saturday's mixed spiel were R. Bastable and C. Lawrence.

A Scotch proprietor posted this sign over the clock in the lobby of his hotel: "For the use of guests only."

Lakefield Defeats Apsley Cribbage Team

APSLEY, Feb. 6 (ENS)—A visiting Lakefield team defeated an Apsley team at a cribbage match recently, with a score of 4162-3886.

The match was sponsored by Apsley Branch of the Canadian Legion No. 381. A return game to be played in the near future was planned.

Lakefield team—Chappel, Hopkins, Hampton, Bluet, Bauldwin, Edwards, Morin, Galvin, Peacock Simpson, McCrackin, Charlton.

Apsley team—Jack Larkman Sr., Jack Larkman, Jr., W. Nelson, Glen Nichols, Rev. Spence, Harry Tanner, Art Bott, Harry Rowe, Charles Smith, George Carr, Fred Tanner.

Norway Leading

RUMFORD, Me., Feb. 6 (AP)—They award only individual titles in the world ski championships but if they did determine a team title it would be exactly as you figured—Norway and Sweden are far out in front. With four of the five events in the Nordic phase of the games run off, Norway is leading with 40½ points on a basis of 10, 6, 4, 3, 2, 1. Sweden is second with 34, followed by Finland with 22.

Peterborough Rink Wins Colt's Bonspiel

CHATHAM, Feb. 6 — (CP). — Jack Allan and his Peterborough rink whipped through a 12-9 victory over Sam Geddes' Chatham quartette to win the premier event of the Western Ontario colts' bonspiel at the Chatham Curling Club.

In the final, Allan's rink, composed of Fred Stenson, Edward Bickell, and Harold Rutherford, whipped the Chatham foursome of Reginald McNaughton, Bruce McKim, and Archie Campbell.

Towne Togs Get Cage Win Against Rascals

Towne Togs took a 38-20 LOBA group triumph over the Rascals in Cobourg on Saturday, turning in a sound all-around effort. The whole team went well, with Joan Dunk's big rally in the third helping out Jean Vass and Polly Stewart on the attack, and Dot Callan playing a fine game all the way. J. Dunk had 13 points, with D Callan getting 11, J. Vass accounting for seven for the Togs. She, J. Dunk and D. Callan were lost on fouls in the fourth.

The score was 16-9 for Peterborough at the half, and they increased their margin on play through the last two quarters A lot of fouls were called with Togs clicking on 10 of 17, and Cobourg on eight of 26. Audrey Dufton and P. Jones stood out for the homesters as they battled hard, but couldn't quite match the neat showing of the visitors. Teams:

Towne Togs—J. Vass 7, P. Stewart 2, D. Callan 11, J. Castle 3, J. Dunk 13, B. Stewart 2, M Freeman, D. Saunders.

Cobourg—A. Dufton 8, B. Jamieson 2, R. Waite 1, J. Allen 2, J Lane, B. Omerod 2, R. Chartrand 1, A. Smith, B. Fisher 2, P. Jones 2.

Detroit Continues Slump With Two Weekend Ties

By JOHN D. HAMILTON.
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

If it wasn't for the late season blues which have hit the rest of the National Hockey League, Detroit Red Wings would be the most unhappy chaps in the puck world today.

The Wings, who have topped the league standing most of the season, haven't won a game in eight starts. Including week-end games, the Wings have six ties and two losses since they were on the victory road.

The parade continued during the weekend. Saturday night, the Detroiters tied with Toronto Leafs 3-3. Sunday night they came from behind to tie fourth place New York Rangers 5-5.

That left Detroit eight points ahead of second place Montreal. Canadiens, playing a weekend twin bill against last place Chicago figured on a soft four points But they were drubbed 6-2 on Saturday night in Montreal and only managed to stay ahead of third place Toronto by winning 4-3 Sunday night in Chicago.

Pick Up Point

Toronto picked up a point on Montreal by virtue of their tie with Detroit and a 2-1 victory over Boston on Sunday. That left Leafs two points behind the Habitants. New York and Boston are tied for fourth, eight points back of Toronto.

In Saturday night's game in Toronto, Sid Abel, Jim McFadden and Jim Peters fired the goals for the Wings. Ted Kennedy, Sid Smith and Max Bentley were the Toronto marksmen.

Bep Guidolin was the best of the Chicago clan at Montreal on Saturday pushing in two goals Metro Prystai, Doug Bentley, Gaye Stewart, and Bill Gadsby got the others, while defenceman Glen Harmon and little Normie Dussault counted for Montreal.

Three In Row

Sunday night's return match saw a lot of action in the second period when Montreal scored four goals—three of them in a row. Maurice Richard bagged his 27th goal of the season and picked up an assist. The other Montreal goals were by Floyd Curry, Billy eRay and Elmer Lach, Gus Bodnar and Doug Bentley scored for Chicago in the second period Bentley pushed in another marker in the third to run his total for the weekend to three.

A battle broke out in the second period and 32 minutes in penalties were handed out.

In Sunday's Detroit game, the Wings had to come from behind a four goal deficit to tie Rangers

Detroit Scorers

Detroit scorers were Gordie Howe, Steve Black, Jim Peters, Joe Carveth and Jerry Couture For the Rangers, Pennti Lund scored twice and Alex Kaleta, Don Raleigh and Pat Egan one each.

Detroit hasn't won a game since Jan. 21 when they beat Chicago 5-3.

Boston, in its lone weekend outing had a substitute goalie—but he wasn't at fault in the loss. Toronto was just too smooth. Max Bentley scored the first Toronto goal and Bill Barilko the clincher in the second. Rookie Phil Maloney counted the only marker for Boston in the opener.

Gordie (Red) Henry was in the nets for Boston, replacing rookie netminder Jack Gelineau who was out with a groin injury.

Montreal Wins Trophy

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Feb. 6 — (CP). — For the first time in 10 years the W. B. Sewell Trophy has come to Royal Montreal Curling Club. Sunday, Mrs. L. B. Unwin's Royal four won the 19th annual women's irons bonspiel and the trophy, which first was put up for competition in 1932

Record Breaking Too Much For St. Louis

By The Canadian Press.

Maybe it was the excitment of setting two American Hockey League records Saturday, but when St. Louis Flyers arrived in Buffalo for a game Sunday night they were minus jerseys, stockings and sticks.

The equipment was lost in a transportation mix-up en route from St. Louis after the Flyers walloped Hershey Bears 13-4, on Saturday night

To add insult to injury the Buffalo Bisons, who loaned their road sweaters and stockings to the visitors, defeated the Flyers 6-2. A quick order for a new supply of hockey sticks was filled in time for the game.

The 17 goals scored Saturday night were the most ever scored on St. Louis ice. The 13 counters notched by St. Louis sharpshooters, led by Adam Brown and Eddie Olson with three each, were the most ever scored by a St Louis squad in one game.

Barons, who are leading the western division of the circuit scored a 7-3 victory over Indianapolis Capitals Saturday on their home ice. But they had to come back from behind three times to earn a 3-3 deadlock with Providence Reds Sunday, in the Rhode Island city.

CALLS PHONE STRIKE—Joseph A. Beirne, above president of the CIO-Communications Workers of America, has called a nationwide telephone strike for Feb. 8. As a new departure in strike technique, the union has appealed to the public to help it jam company switchboards by "overuse" of telephones during the strike.

Lesson-Sermon Is Entitled 'Spirit'

"Spirit" was the subject of the lesson sermon which was read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, including First Church in Peterborough on Sunday.

The golden text was: "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." (II Corinthians 3:17).

Selctions from the Bible included the following from Psalms 139:7-10: "Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there. If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me."

Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" included the following: "The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. The Scriptures also declare that God is Spirit. Therefore in Spirit all is harmony and there can be no discord; all is Life, and there is no death. Everything God's universe expresses Him. He is all-inclusive, and is reflected by all that is real and eternal and by nothing else. He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipresence and individuality except as infinite Spirit or Mind. Hence all is Spirit and spiritual."

Second Work Stoppage Within One Week Staged By UE at CGE

The second work stoppage and demonstration in less than a week took place early today in the Peterborough CGE plant. Union heads of Local 524 UE told the Examiner that it was a much larger demonstration than the one last Thursday, and estimated that nearly 1,000 workers took part. The employees downed tools and paraded through the plant, gathering in numeral strength as they went. Climax to the two-hour stoppage came when T. P. Davies, president of Local 524 UE, and several top members of the executive addressed the workers.

The union is insisting that the company include the Peterborough plant in negotiations for an amended contract. Peterborough and the Toronto locals are bound in one master agreement at present and negotiate through a UE GE Joint Negotiating Committee

Since the split in membership with both the UE and the IUE-CIO claiming the allegiance of the majority of the more than 3,000 production workers the company has not been negotiating the contract with Local 524. Management contends confusion exists as to the legitimate bargaining agent and is withholding three months of check-off dues pending clarification.

Visited Minister

On January 31 a delegation from the local visited Labor Minister Charles Daley and requested him to use his offices to force the company into negotiations. The minister was courteous but noncommittal.

Refusal of the company to include Peterborough in its Toronto talks is said by union heads of Local 524 to be the cause of the demonstrations.

Circulate Petition

A petition was passed around today among the left wing union's membership to be forwarded to the Labor Minister.

It calls on Mr. Daley to intervene to "assure the resumption of negotiations with the UE in accordance with the existing agreement and Ontario's labor laws."

Unlike the Thursday demonstration this one was confined to the interior of the plant. On that occasion the UE members streamed out to the Monaghan Road gate to hear an address from C. S. Jackson, Canadian UE president, and the president of their local Sunday night the presidents of all Canadian locals of the UE met in Toronto and pledged support to the Peterborough local in its fight to secure a contract.

The workers were called on to donate a dollar each to swell the "fighting fund." Final preparations were made for the holding of a strike vote at the Toronto plants today.

Polling booths have been set up near the five Toronto plants—Davenport, Royce, Ward, Carboloy and Premier Vacuum. Voting will not be completed until some time on Tuesday because of night shift workers.

About 2,100 production workers would be affected in the Toronto voting

MAIN ST. TOPICS

He is a graduate in law of the University of Calcutta, author and radio commentator, professor and member of the Senate of the University, and has a broad background of education and experience.

"THIS CONCERNS YOU"

A new CHEX program is having its first airing this evening at 10 p.m. Called "This Concerns You," it is unrehearsed table talk before microphones, when selected citizens put questions to the Mayor and aldermen. Mayor Swanston and Aldermen Waddell and Dodds are the Council battery this week. The questioners, who ask about the city hall design, and township fire protection, are T. J. Carley, K.C., James Wherry and Thomas Allen.

COFFEE CLUB DINNER.

Coffee was only a minor detail of menu at the annual dinner of the Coffee Club Saturday night. With 35 members present, it was held in the employees' lounge of Grafton & Co. That accommodation was provided by Chris Hughes, turkeys by Harold Garner, the cuisine by John Mousmoulies of Churchill restaurant, and the quips by all the company. Tom Doughty appears to have had a supervising eye over the whole affair.

Bancroft House Burnt To Shell, Eight Homeless

BANCROFT, Feb. 6 (ENS). — A frame apartment house on Spring Street burned for three hours Saturday evening, rendering three families homeless, with only the clothes they were wearing and a few possessions they were able to rescue.

The house, owned by Mrs. M. McAllister, is now only a charred shell. The occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Peever and three children, Mrs. M. McConnel and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Switzer, were given shelter in neighbors' homes

During the afternoon the Fire Brigade was called to deal with what was believed to be an overheated pipe. This was believed to be rectified, but at 7 p.m. fire broke out and for three hours the Volunteer Brigade fought the flames.

Three Casualties

Three casualties treated at Civic Hospital during the week-end were three-year-old David Thompson, 644 Park St. S, whose hand was cut when he fell while holding a glass; Miss Nancy Doubt, 14 of Lakefield, who had cuts over her right eyes and Mrs. Robert Allen, 415 Stewart St., who fractured an ankle while skating.

January Range Of 76 Degrees

January weather ranged from 18 degrees below zero to 58 above, reaching a peak of mildness that goes into the records as the warmest January day since 1906. That was on the 26th, as reported by James Harrison of the waterworks, who keeps this tab for the government. The range spread was 76 degrees

The average for the month was 24.5 degrees; snowfall 12.25 in and rain 2.06 in.; total precipitation 3.28.

The corresponding weather in January 1949, was: seven below zero on the 30th up to 50 above on the 19th; average 21.05; snowfall 14 in.; rain .12 in.; total precipitation 2.52 inches.

Winnifred Graham Dies

HAMPTON-ON-THAMES, England, Feb. 6—(AP)—Winifred Graham, 76, author of 88 books, died Sunday after an illness of several months. Many of her earlier books dealt with the Mormon religion. Among her better-known works was "My Letter From Heaven."

One Fox Killed, a Wolf Lamed By 250 Deployed Hunters

Saturday's great mass wolf hunt is over. To more than 250 hunters from Toronto, Orangeville, Bobcaygeon, Hastings and Marmora and throughout Peterborough county, results were disappointing. One fox which tried to sneak past the Eel's Brook firing line was potted by Campbell Rowatt, past-president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association. President Jack Baldwin wounded a wolf; it loped away through the brush to the unprotected Stony Lake side and escaped with six others out on the lake ice. That was it.

The motorcade arrived from Peterborough at the Ottis Northey farm on the Mount Julian road at 9.30. Game wardens Robert Trotter and Ron Simpson with their hunters from Apsley and Bobcaygeon came down from the north early and had a boiling cauldron of coffee bubbling for the main group. Sandwiches were broken out while hunt master Norman Bradley went over field maps with Sgt. B. L. Smith of the 50th HAA Regiment, Lands and Forests men and manoeuvre lieutenants.

Good Reception

Hunters were divided into groups and dispatched to their positions. Three groups of beaters on the north- west and south strung out as thinly as possible The firing line strung along the east bank of Eel's Brook from the First lake to High Falls. The Army's portable wireless equipment, truck and jeep, set up their main control station near High Falls also. Another truck station remained at the Northey farm and a walkie-talkie operated on the east. Radio reception was splendid and was manned in a business-like manner by PCVS cadets.

Mr. Bradley took off from Mount Julian bay by sport plane and buzzed the area from 600 feet. When all men were in position he dropped a colored starting signal.

I walked and jeeped to High Falls with Jean Marie Couture of the National Film Board along the north beater line. This section was thinly held and peppered out about one and one-half miles west of the falls. We crossed one swampy depression that showed numerous wolf tracks. It was theeir northern runway but not guarded.

Deer in Herds

At the falls and along the creek we talked in low voices to huntsmen on the firing line. One of them after another pointed to small herds of deer opposite them on the west bank of the brook. Max Humphries said he counted 27 animals in one group browsing in the birch ridge. Others saw still more and all agreed that they never expected to see so much venison on the hoof again.

Some deer, half a dozen at a time, darted across the lightly covered glare ice to the sanctuary of the east shore. Ken Hopkins said a doe and her two fawns were so close he could have grabbed them. Another hunter was caught between two rushing adult deer and was almost bowled over

We were within 500 feet of the fox that Rowatt brought down on the ice and there was great excitement all up and down the firing line by hunters who watched the beast's progress and yet could give no signal for fear of diverting it.

Anti-climax

As the sun dipped to the west and shadows lengthened, the deer could be seen dashing above on the ridge in excitement at the noise of the approaching beating line. Everyone was tense in anticipation of a sudden rush of deer and, or wolves, but there must have been a wide hole in the beater line for no game broke from the brush. And when the beaters appeared on the far shore the hunt was over.

There were many impromptu discussions on the ice as to why no game had been driven out. Because of the quantity of deer and heavily-patterned wolf tracks, it indicated their quarry was in the hunting area and had given them the slip, they said. They blamed the holes in the beater line to hunters failing to come forward abreast. Instead some of them arrived at the firing line more than half an hour ahead of their fellows, leaving gaps for game to get away.

Three more small sweeps were organized on the way back to the Northey farm, but they were not too heavily manned by disappointed hunters.

If they were out for an outing they got it. Clear skies with trailing clouds, warmth in sheltered valleys, the beauty of ice-locked falls and rapids and good footing made an ideal day for the sport. Some who sat in cars at home base all day were very critical about the whole effort Had they gone out with the rest of us they might have been too pleasantly weary to argue a great deal.

The kid that slogged through the rough country all day with his burdensome walkie-talkie strapped to his thin shoulders voiced an opinion for all: "Gee, I'm tired but it's been a swell day."—Nick Nickels.

Sawn Tree Trunk Breaks Back Ennismore Man

Hit by a falling tree, Joseph Cadigan, 25, Ennismore township had his back broken in an accident Thursday on a farm owned by John Young, Ennismore township.

Immediately after the accident Cadigan crawled a short distance to a car which brought him to Peterborough. St. Joseph's Hospital officials said he was not in danger It is not known whether he will lose the use of his legs

With his friend, Joseph Young son of the farm's owner, Cadigan was cutting wood for the farm house. The two young men were cutting a crutch tree in which one trunk was partly wound around the other.

Trunk Falls Off

They cut through the entwining trunk but it did not fall They started to cut the second trunk. Just after their saw had started to bite into the wood, the half which had been cut fell free

Both tried to dodge but the trunk twisted in the air as it fell and caught Cadigan.

Young went to the car about three fields away. He was going to carry his friend to the car, but Cadigan was in too much pain Young then raced across to the car and brought it over, but could only get within a short distance of the injured man.

Cadigan then crawled to the car with Young pushing him from behind. They managed to get Cadigan into the car and drove him to Dr. Robert Young.

Cross Ice To Island

KINGSTON, Feb. 6.—(CP). — Crossing on the ice of the north channel between Amherst Island and the mainland was made Sunday by William Drumgoole, mail carrier. The island had been isolated, except by plane, for a week.

One Wolf Bagged On Marmora Hunt

MARMORA, Feb. 6 —(ENS)— Marmora hunters shot a wolf Saturday in a field owned by Pat Quinn, near Zion United Church.

The chase started on the ledge on Ed. O'Connor's property near Marmora Station. Dogs circled round the property near Zion United Church and finally two shots fired from a double-barreled gun by Michael Shannon killed the wolf.

Others in the hunting party were Robert, Harold and William Nayler and Conservation Officer J. A. Shannon.

United Service Of Young People

Young People's Unions from Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian and United Churches of Peterborough held their second annual combined meeting in George St Church Sunday night. Last year the first service was held in Murray St. Baptist Church.

Members from different denominations conducted the evening service. The main part of the service was the film, Ambassador for Christ, which was shown Following the meeting 150 young people held a fireside meeting in the Sunday school. Bill Piercy acting president, of the Peterborough Young People's Unions of the United Church, presided over the meeting at which a member of each group spoke. Following a program of music, refreshments were served by the George St Church's Young Peoples Union.

Dummitt-Honour Nuptials Held Saturday at St. Paul's

Tulips and daffodils decorated St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Saturday for the wedding of Marion Ethel Honour and John Donald Dummitt at which the Rev. Charles G. Boyd officiated. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Honour, 496 College St., and the groom is son of Mr and Mrs. F. T. Dummitt, 616 Lundy's Lane.

Music for the occasion was played by Christopher Gledhill, organist Before the ceremony Mrs. Jessie Spencely sang "O Promise Me" and during the signing of the register she sang "Because."

The bride was charming in a gown of ivory slipper satin fashioned with Queen Anne collar, fitted bodice and long sleeves coming to points over her hands. The skirt was full and was made with two front panels caught at the sides and fell into a long graceful train at the back. Her veil was of fine net with satin embroidery and fell to train-length from a Victorian style satin cap edged with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Mr. Honour gave his daughter in marriage.

Bridesmaids Miss Marie Adams and Miss Madge Jones, cousin of the bride, were in identically styled frocks of apple green and yellow taffeta. Yokes at the round neckline were of nylon net and they were made with cap sleeves and tiered skirts. Sandra Dummitt, sister of the groom, wore a pink taffeta frock with sweetheart neckline and skirt peplum. Each had a half-hat of matching material and they carried bouquets of pink carnations and yellow daffodils.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Keith Shield. Ushers were Ted Payne and Leonard Anderson.

A reception was held at the Empress Hotel where the bride's mother received, wearing navy silk faille with grey felt hat and a corsage of pink Rapture roses She was assisted by the groom's mother who was wearing Queen's blue crepe with grey hat and corsage of Sunset roses.

For a wedding trip to the United States the bride chose a grey tailored suit and matching coat and accessories in Kelly green When going away she wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Dummitt will live at 496 College St.

Ladies' Aid Hold Supper Meeting

Ladies' Aid members of St. Paul's Church had one of the most enjoyable meetings yet on Friday evening. It opened with a supper catered for by the Young Women's Auxiliary. Seventy members and guests were present and were thrilled with table decorations carried out in the Valentine theme with hearts and cupids and an attractive table centre.

Guest soloist, Mrs. Cecil Searles sang two delightful numbers with accompaniment by Mrs. Ed. Denure. Speaker of the evening was the Rev. D. B. Gordon of Trinity Church, whose inspiring topic was "Science, benevolence, and the power of God". He was introduced by the Rev. C. G. Boyd.

Devotions were led by the Cheerful Workers group, Mrs. E. Fraser reading the scripture and Mrs. W. Steinkraus leading in prayer. Mrs. A. E. Barrie was pianist in absence of Mrs. L. R. Mitchell.

Date set for the annual congregational flower tea was May 17. West end group was assigned to take charge of devotions at the meeting on March 3.

President Mrs. J. Stevenson extended appreciation for the entertainment and Mrs. A. A. McIntyre voiced thanks to Dr. Gordon, and to the YWA through vice president Miss Helen Davidson.

High School Girl Gives Message At CGIT Service

Peterborough's more than 200 Canadian Girls in Traning were likened to "Ambassadors for Christ" in an inspirational message given by Miss Joan Harback of Belleville at the city-wide service Sunday evening in St. James' United Church. Joan is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. F. R. Harback of Tabernacle United Church in Belleville. There, she attends the Colegiate Institute, is vice president of the Students' Council and is a member of the basketball team.

At the CGIT camp last summer, which was sponsored by the Peterborough Girls' Work Board, Joan was elected "Chief Camper" by the girls, and those qualities of leadership, recognized by the campers, were again in evidence last evening.

The girls were asked to go back, in imagination, to a prison call to listen to Paul, as he reaffirmed his purpose to, be an Ambassador for Christ—steadfast, loyal.

Moving forward with the centuries, the youthful speaker reminded the girls that Martin Luther was an enthusiastic ambassador. Then, she carried their imagination into India and the girls became aware that Dr. Jessie Allyn from Smiths Falls had given hope as well as release from suffering to many, many people of India—truly another Ambassador for Christ—faithful and loving.

Camp Picture

Then in word picture, the girls saw themselves on Vesper Hill at a CGIT Camp, their voices strong in hymn—"Now We Unite to Pledge a New Allegiance". Ambassadors of this day—girls who are training to take their places in the coming years, as they endeavour to live under this fourfold purpose—to cherish health, seek truth, know God and serve others.

Canadian Girls in Training also assisting in the pulpit with the Rev. F. W. Craik were Jean Smith, who attended Camp Council and is president of Girls' Council in Peterborough this year, Joan Krogh, Gwen Pomeroy, and Marian Crawford. A duet of special mention was contributed by Doreen Hutchinson and Pat Warman.

Ushers were members of the CGIT group of St. James' Church, who, after the service entertained in their Sunday School auditorium. With the singing of "Taps" CGIT week for 1950 was officially closed.

700 See Wedding Of King's Cousin AmericanDivorcee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)—A pretty, 26-year-old American divorcee, Mrs. Romaine Dahlgren Simpson, was married Saturday to the Marquess of Milford Haven, David Michael Mountbatten.

The wedding ceremony was conducted at the National Presbyterian Church by Rev. Edward L. R. Elson. Among the 700 guests were members of European nobility and social figures prominent in the United States and abroad.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Clark McIlwaine, the couple left for an undisclosed destination. Next Friday they are to sail from New York for a three-week honeymoon in Switzerland.

The slender, dark-eyed bride wore a dove grey-pink satin gown covered with French lace of a matching shade. She was given in marriage by her uncle, Houghton P. Metcalf of Middleburg, Va.

The groom, a second cousin of King George, had as his best man Albert Hardman of London and New York, with whom he served in the Royal Navy in the Second World War.

The handsome 30-year-old marquess is a great-great grandson of Queen Victoria. His mother is the younger daughter of the late Grand Duke Michaelovitch of Russia. He is also related to King Peter of Yugoslavia.

The bride's first husband was William S. Simpson of Locust Valley, N.Y., whom she married in 1946. They were divorced last year and have a 22-months-old daughter.

Huggins Staples Vows Taken At Springville

The marriage took place in Springville United Church Saturday afternoon of Helen Patricia, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Staples and Douglast Neil Huggins, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Karl Huggins of South Monaghan. The Rev. Mr. Linstead, minister of the church, officiated.

The church was decorated with pink and white snapdragons. Miss Jean McLeod played the wedding music. Previous to the ceremony Mr. Sam Castles sang "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father. She wore a dress of aqua jersey fashioned with high neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The skirt was pleated in front and trimmed with self-covered buttons. She wore a navy felt hat trimmed to match her dress and navy accessories. Her corsage of Bettertime roses was mounted on a white ostrich plume.

Miss Margaret McNeil, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant, and wore tan silk faille dress fashioned with short sleeves and gathered skirt, brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses mounted on yellow plume.

Mr. John Flett was groomsman and the ushers were Eric Fallis, brother-in-law of the bride, and Warren Brown, cousin of the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home, "Wayside" where her mother received, wearing figured silk jersey with black accessories. The groom's mother who also received was attired in navy with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of garnet Sweetheart roses.

Friends of the bride who assisted in serving refreshments were: Misses Ruth-Ann Brown, Carol La Plante, Barbara Staples, Elinor Wildman and Mary Chadsey.

The bride and groom left on a motor trip to Ottawa and Montreal and other points east. For travelling the bride wore a suit of navy millateen and navy top coat.

They will live at 297 Boswell Ave., Peterborough.

Canada Speeds Research On Rare Drugs

TORONTO — (CP) — Medical scientists in Canada are making a bid for major roles in the rapidly-developing romance of the two rare, new drugs, ACTH and Cortisone. Both have gained prominence in the treatment of arthritis.

With supplies now being made available to Canada from limited sources in the United States, two medical cases—both in Toronto—have been reported recently in which ACTH was used as treatment. Neither substance has yet been released for general use.

Research into the twin hormones has been undertaken in Canadian Universities, and the National Research Council has announced that search for new sources of Cortisone will be aided by results of recent experiments by its chemical division.

Canadian interest was stimulated by Health Minister Martin's announcement that the federal government intends to grant $750,000 for research, the money to be distributed by the National Research Council.

As early as 1933, a Canadian scientist proved the existence of ACTH as a separate hormone, product of section of the pituitary gland. The popular belief then was that sex, growth and adrenal gland and thyroid function were controlled by one big molecule.

Dr. J B. Collip, now dean of the medical school at the University of Western Ontario, and a team of researchers established that there were several hormones in the pituitary gland that broke up at different stages to perform their own particular function. One of these hormones now is known as ACTH.

Unromantic Names

Names of the two drugs and their sources sound anything but romantic. Full name of ACTH—each letter pronounced individually—is adrenocorticotrope tropic hormone and it comes from the pituitary glands of hogs.

Cortisone is a hormone — or chemical messenger of the body—originally isolated from the adrenal glands of animals. It also is produced on a small scale by a synthetic process in which the starting material is a fraction of the bile from oxen.

More romantic are their possibilities as potential cures for many deadly diseases—cancer included. Cortisone has revived man's oldest dream, an elixir for longer life, in studies made at the University of Utah. Tests have shown it stops the pain of rheumatoid arthritis and helps a dozen other diseases.

First reported Canadian case of the use of ACTH for rheumatoid arthritis was made by doctors at Sunnybrook Hospital here Gordon Wyatt, 29-year-old war veteran from Sudbury, Ont., said he felt relief from pain after a 14-day period of injections.

Earlier the Hospital for Sick Children reported a seven-year-old boy suffering from leukemia showed improvement with ACTH treatment. In each case, it was emphasized the drug was used as an experiment. There have been no reported cases of the use of Cortisone in Canada.

Science ha yet to prove through research that the drugs are safe and effective before they can be released for general use by doctors. The meagre supplies now produced, largely in the U.S., are earmarked for research and application under rigidly controlled conditions.

Connaught Medical Research Laboratories at the University of Toronto has entered into an arrangement with Armour and Company of Chicago. ACTH producers, to collect pituitary glands of hogs and send them to laboratories for research. Meanwhile Connaught researchers will endeavor to produce the drug themselves.

Dougherty-Jones Wedding

St. Andrew's United Church was the setting for a lovely wedding Saturday afternoon when nuptial vows were pledged by Margaret Beryl Jones and John Hanham Dougherty. The bride is daughter of Mrs. Blodwen Jones of Peterborough and the late Robert Jones, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dougherty of Chatham.

The Rev. M J. Aiken performed the ceremony and Harry Northrop, organist, played traditional wedding music. Baskets of spring flowers and ferns were placed at the altar.

Mr. John F. Lewis of Toronto gave the bride in marriage and she was attended by her sister, Mrs. E. J. Downing, matron of honor, and Miss Sally Humphries, bridesmaid. The groomsman was Mr. Edmund J. Downing and ushers were Joseph Behan and Gerald Rose.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white faille taffeta with a rounded yoke of lace inset in the fitted bodice. The neckline was finished with a Peter Pan collar and fastened at the front with covered buttons, and the full skirt was softly pleated at the waistline and fell in a slight train. She wore a Juliet cap and finger tip veil of net, the cap trimmed with tiny rosebuds, and she carried a bouquet of red roses with tips of white snapdragon. The attendants' frocks were styled alike with picture necklines and stand-up collars, short sleeves and bouffant skirts. Mrs. Downing's was orchid and Miss Humphries' light green, and each wore a halo hat and gloves in the shade of her dress. They carried nosegays of bronze and mauve snapdragon.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Jones wore a navy crepe dress, grey velour felt hat and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother chose a green taffeta dress, matching hat and Talisman roses. Both received with the bridal party in the church parlours after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty left on a wedding trip to Ottawa, the bride wearing a pale blue cordovelvet dress and hat with brown accessories and a fur coat.

They will live at 616 Beverley St, Peterborough.

Advises Woman Stay Clear Of Man Who Deceives Wife

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a stenographer, making a good salary. My employer is a married man more than twice my age. I have accepted his attentions, going out to dinners and shows. He has two living wives, but he promises to get a divorce so we can marry. Would he dupe me as he has his other wives, calling over the phone and giving fictitious names to find out if his wife is at home so he can make his getaway; leaving with his friends for nearby resorts over the week-end without going home; mailing letters out of a designated town when he is elsewhere, etc.? Purely from a selfish standpoint, would you advise me to marry this man if he ever gets a divorce?

F.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I think if you marry this man you will get a punishment that will fit the crime for having done your part in making a sister woman miserable and breaking up her home. For I presume, as she has not left this rotter, that she still has some affection for him, though Heaven knows why any woman wouldn't consider that he is bad rubbish that she is glad to be rid of.

Gets What she Deserves

No one can pity a woman, no one can have anything but contempt for a woman and feel that she gets what she deserves when she marries a man that she knows beforehand has betrayed the trust of two good women and who has been dishonorable in all his dealings with them.

This man has given you his measure, F. You will know exactly what to expect of him. You know him for a liar and a cheat. You know perfectly well that he will be unfaithful to you as he has been to his other wives. So what happiness can you promise yourself with him?

Just remember this, that the man who won't deal honorably with one woman won't deal honorably with another, and that rotters don't change. Their yellow streak goes all the way through.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: There seems to be a hankering on the part of all old spinsters and young girls for matrimony. My advice to them is DON'T. My husband has all the virtues and none of the vices, yet life with him bores me to death. I married him six years ago when I was 21 and he 32. I have danced exactly three times since I was married. I am fond of the theatre. My husband never takes me to see a play. He never talks at home. After dinner he reads his paper, listens to the radio, then goes to bed. I used to be pretty, but there is no use in dressing up for a man who doesn't notice you. So count your blessings, spinsters. You get out and see people and go places and do things, instead of being tied down to a husband who thinks all the pleasure that a wife wants is to sit up and look at him listening to the radio of an evening.

M. C. D.

ANSWER: There you are, girls, in case you have the bad luck, like Mrs. M. C. D., to draw a husband who thinks that just being married to him is picnic enough for any woman.

There are plenty of husbands like that, who forget that when a lively young girl gets married she doesn't automatically lose her fondness for dancing or going to places of amusement. As a matter of fact, every husband owes it as much to take his wife out and give her some pleasure as he does to provide her with food and clothes and shelter.

As for the woman who married to a stick-in-the-mud who will never go anywhere of an evening, the only thing she can do is to arrange for some diversion in the afternoons, unless she can persuade him to give her a fair deal and combine some diversion with domesticity.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am the mother of three little girls. I work very hard trying my best to start them along the right path in life, but at times I get so discouraged because people tell me that nobody can control girls nowadays and that they are all wild and bring sorrow to their mothers. What do you think?

A MOTHER OF GIRLS.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I think you are a goose to let what other people say about the difficulty of rearing girls depress you. Don't listen to them.

If you ever expect to be happy and have any peace in life, you will have to learn not to pay any attention to the prophecies and warnings of your frinds and to let their criticisms go in one ear and out the other. You can't possibly please everybody, so the best thing you can do is to do what yo uthink is right and please yourself.

DIRECTIONS

It is an art to shred cabbage finely—I found this out when I watched Marianne try to do it with a dull knife. Sharpen your knife to razor sharpness and shred the cabbage as fine as you can in shreds about 4 inches long. As the side you are slicing from grows in length because you are slicing it away, turn the cabbage to a shorter "face" of the cabbage and shred there for a few strokes. Keep turning until you have enough shredded for your salad. I suggest parsley very often in the winter because it is a fine source of Vitamin B and of chlorphyl. Dress this salad with French Dressing made not too nourishing by mixing ½ cup each salad oil and lemon juice in jar with 1 cut clove garlic, 1 teaspoon salt, and ¼ teaspoon each mustard, pepper, cayenne pepper, paprika. SHAKE WELL BEFORE USING.

The Braised Short Ribs are a delicious but economical dish for a guest meal. Ask for 2½ lbs. short ribs (to serve 5 or 6) and cut these into pieces with a rib in each piece. (The meat comes in a strip cut from the edge of the rib section.) After dredging the meat in salted and pepered flour, saute it in ¼ cup fat until golden brown. Put through the food chopper enough carrots turnips, celery onion to make ½ cup each; mix and put in bottom of greased casserole. Place meat over vegetable, rinse frying pan out with 1½ cups boiling water, pour this over the meat, sprinkle with a little salt and peper, cover and bake at 250 deg. Fahr. for 3¼ to 3½ hours.

RICH PECAN PIE

In a bowl beat 3 eggs well, then add ¾ cup each corn syrup and sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon salt; line a pie plate with plain pastry with a built up rim. Pour in mixture and sprinkle top with 1 cup chopped or halved pecans. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 1 hour or until top is golden and pie is set."

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

ANSWER (to J. Jenich Cont'd from last week): A miller called me on the telephone to give me further word on "enriched" flour—that is, with Vitamin B added. He says that during the war Government demanded enriched flour for camps and troops,—but that since the war the public and bakers have been indifferent about it and the education program put on at that time has dwindled and results have dissipated, until now there is no demand for it.

This is deplorable state of affairs and housewives should ask for enriched flour (with Vitamin B added) until the millers begin packing it again. In the U. S., 26 States have laws requiring that all white flour and bread sold in those States must be "enriched" by addition of Vitamin B.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

DOUBLE WEDDING at the turn of the century, and a double golden wedding anniversary at midcentury was the unique experience of these two couples of North Royalton, O. They are Halbert and Harry Cartwright, brothers, who married Jennie and Ethel Baird, sisters. The picture is a study in wedding costumes of 50 years ago. For the men, stiff wing collars and white ties, black two-button cutaways, and at the vest of each a heavy gold watch chain and fob. For the brides, white frilly gowns, floor-length, stiffly incurved at the waistline, with long sleeves and many ruffles, white high-topped shoes with bows. Brides are demure, as is the custom with brides, and the bridegrooms look slightly frightened, even as bridegrooms today.

All for Love of Family, Good Old Saint Valentine

By MARY MOORE

We are having a Valentine Party so you know by now that I cannot keep that quiet—and I do mean quiet too.

I had a reminder and foretaste of how un-quiet such a party could be, for last night the bi-weekly meeting of the Y.P.U. was held at our house—18 strong. (Pete's new title is pronounced "Veep of the Ipyou"—which translated means Vice-President of Young People's Union.) To mothers of teen-agers need I say more? Need I say that I had to pray for extra health and strength for the morrow (that's today)? . . . and the quantities of sandwiches and cocoa that they consume is incredible—almost.

So I'm forewarned about the Valentine Party.

You may remember that at Christmas time I suggested that you serve a red jellied ring mould filled with heavily fruit whipped cream?

For Valentine's Party make a firm red jelly in a heart shaped tin. Also mould a lemon or orange jelly in a layer cake tin.

When ready to serve turn out the yellow round on a round plate. Turn out the heart-shaped mould squarely on top of it. Pipe whipped cream from a frosting tube in a border around outside edge of yellow mould and around base of heart-shaped mould. This makes them look a little like an old-fashioned lace-paper valentine—especially if you dot slices of red marschino cherries around the whole thing.

TOMATO JELLY (for heart-shaped garnish or moulds)

Soak 3 tablespoons gelatine in 1/3 cup cold water for 5 or 10 minutes. Cook together 2½ cups canned tomatoes, 2 whole cloves, 1 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 slice onion shake of cayenne (and if desired ½ of a bay leaf) for 15 minutes, simmering slowly. Remove from heat and stir into it the soaked gelatine, until gelatine is dissolved. Strain through sieve. Pour into flat pan which has been rinsed out with cold water, to depth of ½ or ¾ inch. Chill until set. When needed cut out into heart-shaped pieces with heart-shpaed cookie cutter, and use for garnish on vegetable salads or meat platters. This recipe may be used for making large or individual salad moulds or heart shapes.

If to be moulded for individual vegetable or vegetable and meat salads pour into small cups to chill. Then turn out on lettuce leaves and serve with devilled egg and or sliced chicken or ham and stalks of canned asparagus rosebud beets, olives, celery curl, carrot strips etc. Pass pink tinted mayonnaise.

VALENTINE CAKE (EMEM'S butterless)

This is the hot water-or-milk sponge cake and my family thinks it the best because it is not oversweet.

Beat 3 eggs for 10 minutes and gradually beat in 1 cup sugar. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Have heating 6 tablespoons milk (or water if desired). Sift cake flour then meaure out 1 cup. Put 1 cup sifted cake flour into sifter with 2 teaspoons baking powder and shake of salt. Sift about ½ of this over the beaten eggs and sugar, add about half of the hot milk and cut them into the batter.

Add remainder of both flour and milk, cutting it into batter until just mixed. Pour into buttered and wax-paper-lined cake tins. Bake at 350 deg, Fahr. for about 30 minutes. Turn out on wire racks to cool, peeling off the paper on bottom.

Filling (lemon): In top of double boiler mix ½ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup cold water, 1 egg. Cook, stirring, over boiling water until thick. Add 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind and cook stirring, 2 minutes. Remove from heat and add 3 tablespoons lemon juice and if desired 2 teaspoons butter. Stir until smooth, or beat with rotary beater. Cool. Spread on bottom layer. Put on top layer. Frost with

SUNGLO FROSTING (double boiler)

Combine 2 egg whites with 1½ cups sugar, 5 tablespoons water, 1½ teaspoons corn syrup in top of doubleboiler, and beat over boiling water for about 7 minutes with rotary beater—or beat until icing will stand in a peak on the beater. Remove from heat, add 1 teaspoon vanilla, a few drops of red vegetable colouring, and beat until thick enough to spread. Spread evenly or roughly on cake. While icing is still soft sprinkle a border of rose tinted cocoanut round outside edge and on sides make a heart in centre of cake with little red cinnamon candies.

To tin the cocoanut dilute about 8 drops red vegetable colouring in 1 teaspoon water, sprinkle this over ½ cup of fine cocoanut in bowl, then rub the colour evenly into it.

MIGHTY MITE—Four-month-old Richard Roberge is a strong infant. Here he is shown standing on the outstretched hand of his father, Petty Officer Albert Roberge of the Royal Canadian Navy. The proud dad says young Richard has been able to stand like this since he was three months old.

What's Right

You have an unexpected caller when neither you or your house is looking really presentable.

WRONG WAY: Keep apologizing for the way things are.

RIGHT WAY: Say easily and without embarrassment, "You've found me in the middle of housecleaning, but do come in and give me an excuse for taking some time out."

WMSHoldMeeting WA Plan Funds

Miss Evelyn Donaldson was hostess to the Centerville W.M.S for their February meeting recently, when 26 members answered to the roll call.

Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Eagleson were appointed to obtain a speaker for the Easter Thankoffering Service. Final plans were made for The World's Day of Prayer service, which will be held held Friday, Feb. 24th The second Chapter of the study book "The People of Japan and Their Religion was read by Mrs. Whitfield and Mrs. Bonner. Mrs. A Berry gave a reading.

A business meeting of the Women's Association was then held and the members were divided into three groups for the year to endeavour to raise money for the organization with Mrs. J. Gaynor Mrs. W. Hall and Mrs. E. Eagleson as leaders. It was suggested that some of the money go towards buying dishes and silver for the church.

Miss Donaldson served lunch assisted by Mrs. W. Hall and Mrs. Ralph Greir.

6—In Memoriams

BEDDING—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Edward E. Bedding, who passed away Feb. 4, 1948.
His weary hours and days of pain,
His troubled nights are past,
And in our aching hearts we know,
He has found sweet rest at last.
—Ever remembered by his loving wife.

BEDDING—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Edward E. Bedding, who passed away February 4, 1948.
Gone dear father, gone to rest,
Away from sorrow, care and pain,
May you rest in peace dear father,
Until we meet again.
—Ever remembered by his daughters, Rose (Mrs. J. Galvin), Lillian, (Mrs. G. Fullbrook), and son Edward.

ROBSON—In loving memory of our dear friend, Harold Robson, who was laid to rest two years ago, February 6, 1948.
His last parting wish
We would liked to have heard,
And breathed in his ear
Our last parting word.
Only those who have lost
Are able to tell
The pain in the heart
At not saying farewell.
—Remembered always by Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Fletcher and family, Keene.

STEVENSON—In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. Alice Stevenson, who passed away February 6, 1937
A wonderful mother, woman and aid
One who was better God never made,
A wonderful worker, loyal and true,
One in a million, that mother, was you
Just in your judgment, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends and all you knew,
A wonderful mother, that mother, was you.
—Always remembered by daughter Marguerite.

STEVENSON—Mrs. J. R. Stevenson, who died February 6, 1937.
None knew her but to love her;
None named her but in praise.
—Ever remembered by daughter Marguerite and son Lawrence.

WILSON—In loving memory of father, Joseph K. Wilson, who passed away February 7, 1934.
Many a lonely heartache,
Many a silent tear,
Always a faithful memory,
For him no longer here.
God gave me strength to bear it,
Courage to fight the blow,
But what it meant to lose him,
None will ever know.
—Ever remembered by daughter, Violet.

Try To Squash Phone Strike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (CP)—A government conciliator sought today to head off a country-wide strike Wednesday of Bell Telephone workers in the United States which a union official says now seems inevitable.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the Communications Workers Association (CIO) said Sunday in a statement that there is no sign of progress in bargaining and that federal mediation efforts have been in vain.

A top government official said Sunday that a request to the union to hold off the threatened walkout may be made if no substantial progress is reported today or tomorrow.

The scheduled walkout directly involves 100,000 workers of Western Electric and five other subsidiaries of American Telephone and Telegraph, parent of the Bell system. But the union expects 220,000 other members to refrain from crossing picket lines.

Cyrus S. Ching, Canadian-born director of the United States conciliation service, has been in New York seeking to work out a settlement. The issues include wages, hours, vacations, pensions and other matters.

Continent Alone Freedom Bastion

North America stands almost alone in the world today as a bulwark of freedom and guardian of democracy, M. K. Kenny, Toronto, general supervisor of Agencies in Canada for Excelsior Life said last week at the Kawartha Club.

He was addressing the Peterborough Life Underwriters' Association at the annual ladies' night.

"Today in the countries of Europe the lamps of freedom are going out, one by one, as the iron curtain rolls down," Mr. Kenny said.

"Even in Britain, the birthplace of liberty and democracy, the lamp is flickering low as personal liberty is being subordinated to a socialist experiment. On this continent we stand today almost alone in the world—the bulwark of freedom, the guardian of democracy."

This involved a "tremendous responsibility" and a "sacred trust," he said.

Anglo-Saxon Gift

The development of civic liberty and personal freedom has been the growth of centuries, and it has been largely an Anglo-Saxon contribution to the world.

"It was born and nurtured in Britain based on Magna Carta," the speaker continued, "tried by civil war and strife between kings, nobility and commons it emerged as democratic government."

He conceded that impetus had been given to the ideal of civic liberty and personal freedom by the French evolution and the French philosophers of that day, and by "those stubborn apostles of self-determination" who became the fathers of the American revolution, but the evolution was peculiarly British.

Mr. Kenny was introduced by Reginald Aker of Oshawa and thanked by James Cooper, past president of the Life Underwriters' Association. Roy Irwin, president, was in the chair.

A toast to the ladies was proposed by P. J. Mather and responded to by Mrs. E. J. Henwood.

Report Water Supply Improved At Malton

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—The water supply situation at suburban Malton, home of the A. V. Roe Aircraft plant, was greatly improved today, company officials said.

Walter Deisher, general manager of the company, said the improved situation had been brought about by co-operation of those drawing upon the aircraft plant's supply.

The water supply comes from wells seven miles north of the village. Besides the aircraft plant, the village, Trans-Canada Airlines, several industries and a wartime housing settlement use the supply.

Brantford Gets Wanted Man At Louis Street

Wanted by Brantford police on a charge of robbery with violence, Sidney H. Fenton was arrested Sunday morning by Detective John Stevenson in a Louis St. house.

The charge is in connection, say Brantford police, with the assault Oct. 15 of George A. Tipper, proprietor of a confectionery store in Brantford. Fenton is being taken to Brantford by Brantford detectives today.

Police said Tipper was severely beaten on the head with a long file wielded by a man who entered the store, purchased a soft drink and then suddenly turned on the storekeeper. The man fled when Tipper battled with him. The injured storekeeper was treated for severe head wounds and cuts to both hands.

A reward of $250 was posted by police for the apprehension of the assailant.

Early Reader Took Paper, Four Nickels

One of these days the proprietor of Alparka is going to cut off his morning paper service. The bundle of perhaps ten arrives early and is unwrapped by the first customer workman of the locality. He leaves a nickle on the upper paper, thereby squaring his account with honesty, and fulfilling his part in a neighborhood service.

This morning before the store opened there was 20 cents on the top paper. A delivery truck pulled up at the curb. Its passenger youth in gabardine parka got out for a paper. When he was gone so were the four nickels.

The incident seemed to fit into reports from some merchants indicating that petty pilfering is apparently increasing.

Naturalist Gives Talk With Movie Pictures

Fourth in a series of five lectures by leading naturalists presented under the auspices of Peterborough Nature Club was held in Queen Mary School Saturday.

Speaker was William Ferguson, well known for his sketches of wild life which appear in publication in Canada and the States. His talk, like others in the seires, was illustrated with movies.

Last speaker to visti Peterborough this season in the Audubon Society series of letcures will be B. Harwell, whose subject in Queen Mary School March 17 will be Canada West.

Mr. Ferguson was introduced Saturday by John D. Hooper.

Remand Three Youths In Lindsay Break-ins

LINDSAY, Feb. 6—(CP)—Three Quebec youths charged with breakin, entering and theft at three summer cottages and with attempted theft of an automobile, were remanded today to Wednesday.

Police said that Jacques Goulet, 21, Sorel; Pierre Le Brun, 21, Visitation, and Clement Martin, 24, St. Adolphe De Howard, were released from a Toronto jail two days prior to their arrest here Jan. 30.

Memorial Window Dedicated At Mark St.

Rev. B. S. Morwood dedicated at Mark St. United Church Sunday morning a beautiful pictorial window which was presented to the church by Mrs. O. Stanley Matchett in memory of her husband. Its subject is the appearance of Jesus to Mary after his resurrection. Mrs. Matchett took part in the ceremony, unveiling the window for the dedication by Rev. Mr. Morwood, assisted by Rev. E. W. Rowland.

It was recalled in tribute by Rev. Mr. Rowland that Mr. Matchett had been a member of Mark St. Church for more than 50 years, and had given long service as elder and member of the board.

Rev. Mr. Morwood's text was from Joshua 4-21. The music for the morning included an anthem by the choir, duet by Mrs. Ed. DeNure and Mrs. George Craft. A large congregation was present for this memorial service in honor of one of its most loyal and diligent members in the last fifty.

CobourgDaughterDies In Toronto; 1867 Link

TORONTO, Feb. 6 — (CP). — Frances Maye Gwynne, widow of W. D. Gwynne, Toronto barrister, died Saturday night. She was the daughter of the late John James Cockburn, one of the Fathers of Confederation, and the first speaker of the Canadian House of Commons. Born in Cobourg, where her father practised as a lawyer, she later lived in Ottawa.

College Head's Father Rev. W. Sterling Dies

COBOURG, Feb. 6.—Rev. William Sterling, 73, retired United Church minister of Colborne, died Saturday in hospital at Cobourg. Since his retirement, six years ago, he had resided in Colborne.

Last fall Mr. Sterling visited California and attended the inauguration of his son, Dr. Wallace Sterling, as president of Stanford University.

He was born in England and came to Canada in 1905. Ordained in the Methodist Church in 1909, he served various churches in the Methodist and United churches, including Orono and Colborne.

He leaves two daughters, Elizabeth and Eileen, both of Edmonton, and one son, Dr. Wallace Sterling.

Mollie Craig Wins Slalom

Far-off hills looked whiter to a number of Peterborough skiers over the weekend. Loaded with skiing togs some boarded trains for points in Quebec particularly to St. Sauveur while others went by car to Hamilton and Lake Placid, New York. Skiing in the Peterborough area was poor.

Peterborough entries did well in the ladies meet at the Hamilton Cedar Springs Club. Mollie Craig won the slalom event for seniors and placed second in the combined slalom and downhill events. Mary Doods making her competitive skiing debut, in the slalom and downhill events placed well up in the large entry. Judy Strickland showed up well in the junior slalom and downhill events.

Ted McCaig went to Lake Placid for the weekend to see the World Ski Jumping championships. Pat Moyles, Helen Mathias, Jean Duignan and Erling Hesla joined a ski train from Toronto to St. Sauveur, Quebec.

Members of the Ski Club worked on the downhill hill at Bethany over the weekend in preparation for the Southern Ontario Zone meet this Saturday and Sunday. The Club will meet Tuesday night to make a decision on whether to meet will be postponed or not.

Plan Widening Louis Street

For the eventual widening of Louis St. the city has obtained a strip of 24 feet wide on the east side of the street extending from King to Charlotte St.

City Clerk Outram said today that the deed of the south stretch of frontage had been received from the estate of the late Walter Ferguson. The council has paid $3,000 for it. This part of strip is 24 feet wide and 135 feet long, northerly from King St. The rest of the frontage is a gift to the city from the Dominion government. This section lies south from Charlotte St., and will become available when the government clears the Charlotte-King property, extending to the creek, for a postal-customs building.

The understanding of the council several years ago in the beginning of the planning for the widening of Louis St. was to the effect that the late Mr. Ferguson was giving his frontage to the city. However, at his death there was no written agreement, and the position of the executors was that the owner's intention was to sell the strip of land, not present it to the city.

Wolves Attack Bush Worker

TIMAGAMI, Feb. 6 (CP) — Theo Blake, of Mattawa, 18-year-old worker at the Maglair-Turcotte camp near here, says he was attacked by wolves when he started out to work today. The camp is located about six miles south of Timagami and 3½ miles from the highway back of Herridge Lake.

Young Blake started out at daybreak to shovel snow off the skidways before the teams went out. As he walked along, about a quarter mile from the camp, two wolves attacked him, knocked him down and tore his parka to shreds.

Teamsters came to his aid after he shouted for help. The wolves ran away, apparently frightened by the noise of horses or chains rattling.

Young Blake suffered only some scratches on his arms, but he was badly frightened.

Boy Derails Train

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va., Feb. 6.—(AP).—An eight-year-old boy has admitted he derailed part of a freight train Saturday night by putting bricks and boards on the tracks, state police said today. No one was injured in the wreck, which caused damage estimated at more than $10,000. Police said the youngster told them he wanted to see what would happen. No action has been taken against the boy.

Col. J. A. Dewart Addresses Sergeants' Mess

Keeping reserve units functioning properly between wars is a trying task, Col. John A. Dewart told the 100 members of the 50th Heavy AA Regiment, RCA, at the annual dinner of the sergeants' mess on Saturday night.

Tremendous changes have taken place in warfare during the past 50 years, and the speaker outlined some of these. Methods used in the South African war had not changed greatly over those of the previous 100 years, and at the opening of the First World War very few changes in method were noted. But since 1914 the methods of fighting wars has undergone a complete transformation. The tank was the first, and once adopted as an instrument of warfare, a complete change came about. Science up until then had played a very minor roll, but with the Second World War the scientists, and army, navy and the air force worked together to invent many new weapons. Thus they completely revolutionized the way of fighting wars.

Scientists and military leaders, the speaker said, are predicting that in another war the defence will be stronger than the offence. Thus falling back to the old type warfare. On land the tank now can be stopped by a gun which can be carried by two or three men. On the seas radar-guided missiles and airplanes have practically made the battleship useless, and in the air bombers can quickly detected by radar and destroyed by fast jet-fighter interceptors.

Submarine a Worry

It is only the submarine that is still causing scientists much worry. They can stay under water longer, are much more difficult to detect, and their speed has been increased. An atomic bomb, Col. Dewart said, could easily be carried in coastal waters of North America by an underwater craft without being detected.

Col. Dewart explained the uselessness of rocket bombs. The V1, a guided explosive plane used by the Germans, fas an easy target for anti-aircraft guns which shot down 95 per cent of them. The V2, a rocket bomb, reached its range limit under the Germans.

Col. Dewart was introduced by Col. James Turnbull, and thanked by BSM Jack Parry.

Toast List

Toasts were made to the iKng by ASM Clifford Churchill, president of the mess, and to the Regiment by Sgt. G. E. Zwicker. In his reply to the latter, Col. M. E. Clarke told the members of the mess that the regiment was not old in years, but was gaining in experience rapidly. Tracing the history of ack-ack, Col. Clarke said that the record in the past is something to be proud of.

After the dinner, Ted Bradshaw with his bag of magic entertained the sergeants for a half-hour. Movies were shown following Mr. Bradshaw's performance.

Those seated at the head table were: BSM Jack Parry, Col. Jas. Turnbull, Col. John Dewart, ASM Clifford Churchill, Col. M. E. Clarke, Maj. Harry Willis, Major the Rev. Walter Gilling, Capt. R. R. Asselstine, and Capt. P. ,W R. Sargeant. The party committee were: ASM Churchill, Capt. Parry, Sergts. Fred Hopgood, Roy Gilders, AS F. Watson, and D. A. Butcher.

Priest, Two Monks Visit Ingrid Bergman

ROME, Feb. 6 (AP) — Ingrid Bergman was visited this morning by a Roman Catholic priest, heightening speculation that she might be arranging the baptism of her baby son, Robertino.

Sunday she saw a priest and two Monks in her three-room maternity apartment at Santa Margherita Clinic.

Roberto Rossellini, Italian film director, whom Ingrid reportedly has named as the father of her son and whom she plans to marry when she gets her divorce from Dr. Peter Lindstrom, was believed to have left the clinic just before dawn.

Rossellini spent the weekend there with Miss Bergman.

Lookout Dozes Off Fails To See Police

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—Because a lookout dozed off and failed to notice the approach of police, 17 persons were arrested in suburban York Township early today after a raid on what police said was a crap game.

Police entered a side door of the house past the sleeping lookout and seized dice, tables, boards and close to $25 in cash. Vincent Alexander was charged with keeping a common gaming house and 16 persons were charged as found-ins.

Seven Fatalities In Ontario Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press.

Seven persons lost their lives by accidental means in Ontario during the weekend, a Canadian Press survey showed today.

The list included one death by shooting, one of five such fatalities throughout eastern Canada A total of 6 deaths was reported for the six eastern provinces, including a triple fatality at Lake Labelle near Montreal which accounted for half of the six fatalities in Quebec. There were three deaths in Nova Scotia, the only Maritime Province to report any fatalities.

Only one person survived when a motorcar carrying four persons broke through the ice of Lake Labelle and sank in 200 feet of water. The victims were Lionel Cedilot, 22, Lucien Therault, 40, and Miss Fabienne Desjardins, 18 The only survivor, Emile Duquette, managed to scramble out of the car. He dragged Miss Desjardins with him but she died of a heart attack without regaining consciousness. The other victims were drowned.

Dies After Shooting

At Peterborough, Mrs. Helen Kendry, 26, died following what police described as a "mock shooting". James Byrnes was charged with manslaughter after he fired a heavy rifle through a wall in his home to "scare" guests away from a party. The heavy slug went through Mrs. Kendry inflicting a fatal wound.

At Quebec, Irene Bedard, 27, was shot and killed by Paul Letourneau who then committed suicide with the same gun.

The body of Robert E. H. Cooke 19-year-old University of Toronto student, was found Saturday night in front of the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto. He had been shot through the heart. A sawed-off .22 calibre rifle was found near the body.

Mrs. Murray Conrad, 53, was accidentally killed by a target shooter at Bridgewater, N. S. Mrs Conrad had gone over to a window to shout a warning to the shooter after several shots had entered the room in which she was attending her sick child. A 22 calibre bullet struck her in the chest.

Traffic Fatalities

Traffic accidents accounted for several victims. A double traffic fatality occurred near Stratford when Gideon Weber, 72, and MacLean Ross, 18, were killed in a head-on collision. Four others were injured in the accident Driver of the car which struck the Weber vehicle, has been charged with manslaughter.

A level crossing accident at Liverpool, N. S., claimed the lives of Edwin E. Howard, 51, and his wife Myrna, 43. The car was dragged 50 feet by a locomotive.

Gaston Forget, 42, was killed in Montreal when his car went out of control and ran into a traffic light.

A housekeeper and roomer died in Hamilton from the results of coal-gas poisoning. Mrs. Lilian Blain, 47, and Albert Jobe, 42, were the victims.

At Timmins, Ronald Brunnette 7, died from burns received when his bathrobe caught fire after he apparently had been playing with a wall heater.

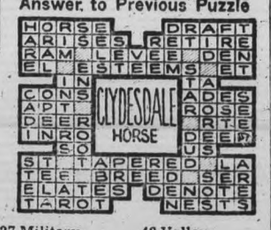
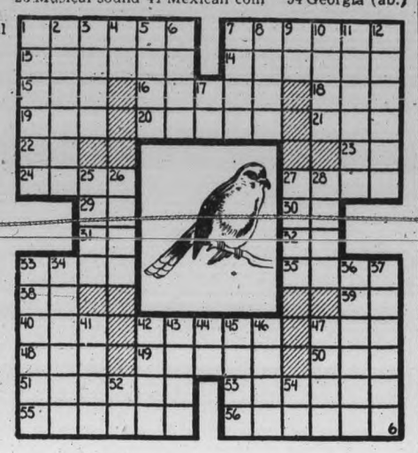
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Britain's Liberal Party Faces Long Odds In General Election

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP)—Britain's Liberal party faces long odds in what may be the most fateful general election in its history.

To survive as an influential "third force" in British politics the party which dominated parliament in the days of William Ewart Gladstone must win many more than the 10 seats it held in the last House of Commons.

Encouraged by the largest roll-call of candidates since 1929, party leaders are privately betting that the Liberals will win at least 50 of the 625 seats at stake in the Feb 23 election. If they do, the forces led by Clement Davies could hold the balance of power in the next parliament.

Must Overcome Handicaps

To improve their status Liberals must overcome these handicaps:

1. Britain's system of a non transferable vote in single member constituencies creates strong pressure for a two-party system thus stacking the electoral cards against smaller parties Under present voting, the number of seats won is not necessarily in proportion to the total votes cast for each party in the country as a whole.

(In 1945 the Liberals polled nine per cent of the total vote, but won only two per cent of the 640 seats then at stake. Labor's percentages, on the other hand, were 48 per cent and 62 per cent respectively.)

2. Liberals generally are conceded scant chance in a constituency contested by both major parties.

3. Many persons sympathetic to the Liberals will vote for one of the major parties on the theory that the main election issue is to keep either the Socialists or the Tories out of office. Thus, anti Socialists who are would-be Liberals may vote Tory rather than "waste" a ballot; and other pro Liberals may vote Labor "lest the Tories sneak in the back door."

Splinter Party

4. About 60 candidates standing with Conservative support will carry the tag "Liberal" somewhere in a compound party label Despite protests by orthodox Liberals, who have stiffly rejected Tory feelers for an anti-Socialist coalition, a splinter party of National Liberals will run under a joint Liberal-Conservative banner, with Winston Churchill's full approval.

With all these obstacles to optimism, the Libera remain cheekily confident. Strenuous efforts have been made to revive party enthusiasm, 400 candidates are in the field and for the first time since 1929, the Liberals offer the country an alternative government.

Omemee Victorious

MILLBROOK, Feb. 6—(ENS)—Omemee won their juvenile playdown round over Millbrook 6-4 in Port Hope, the first fray being a 3-3 tie. Lunn counted from Ginn in the first for Millbrook, but Paul Brown and Tom Stevenson counted in the second. Beatty Evans of Omemee wound it up in the third of a good game. Teams:

Millbrook: Handley, Smith, Ginn, Breckenridge, Carr, Dew, Lunn, Kinsman, Hutchison, Skitch.

Omemee: Lytle, O'Donnell, McGuire, Stevenson, Farr, Fisher, Brown, Lamcianet, Morrissey, Evans, Nott.

Establish Records

Two Canadian competitors established world records at Lewiston, Me., Saturday as the International Snowshoe Union celebrated its silver jubilee with a day-long program of races.

The world marks recognized were set by Alex Alain, of Quebec City, in the 880, and Stanley Wilkins, of Montreal, in the 440. Alaine's clocking of 2:52.4 in the 880 bested the old mark of 3:26. Wilkins toured the 440 in 1:08.7 to top the old record of 1:09.9.

Cancel Bergman Film

AKRON, O., Feb. 6 (AP)—The management of the Ellet Theatre in Akron decided to cancel Ingrid Bergman's late film, "Under Capricorn," because of possible public reaction to the birth of her baby Saturday it announced its substitute: "And Baby Makes Three."

See Contracts Declined During January

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Building contracts took a breather in January from the mounting record figures of the closing months of 1949.

Awards for the first month of the year, as reported by MacLean Building Reports, Ltd., totalled $56,685,000, a decline of $16,100,000 from January, 1949. They continued well ahead, however, of the $34,100,000 of January, 1948.

Only business building was ahead. Totals by classifications, with January of last year in brackets, were:

Residential, $24,032,000 ($30,299,400); business, $25,001,100 ($18,183,500); industrial, $3,161,600 ($9,170,200); engineering, $4,491,100 ($15,139,300).

Most of the decline was in the west where in January last year a $9,000,000 contract for the St. Mary's irrigation project in Southern Alberta had given a fillup to the figures. Quebec showed the only increase. By regions the figures were:

Maritimes, $1,920,500, off $645,300; Quebec $24,823,000, up $1,800,000; Ontario $21,522,300, off $2,800,000; West $8,420,000, off $14,500,000.

Apartment Projects

Apartment and housing projects in Montreal continue to be a feature. Large contracts included.

Montreal area—Ville St. Michel, 175 cottages and duplexes, $2,000,000, 44 apartment houses, $1,760,000 (Linton, between Legare and Cote Des Neiges Road), 100 duplexes, $1,300,000 (near Jarry Park), 100 duplexes, $1,000,000 (Cote Des Neiges Road), 200 bungalows, $1,150,000 (Curatteau between Lafontaine and Ontario Streets), Maisoneuve Hospital, $5,000,000, offices, meeting hall and garage, $3,500,000, Societe Des Artisans Canadien-Francais.

"Care to do a little deficit financing, mister?"

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

George Herman Ruth, the inimitable and immortal Babe, Sunday was named the greatest baseball player of the last 50 years.

The mightiest home-run slugger the game has ever known, Ruth was more than a great player. This hulking man with the dainty ankles, who lambasted 730 baseballs out of big league ball parks, was the idol of the youngsters of America. He continues on that pedestal even in death.

Holder of nearly every long-range hitting record in the books, including 60 home runs in a single season, Ruth easily outdistanced all opposition in the opinion of sports-writers and sports broadcasters in the Associated Press mid-century poll.

It was strictly a two-man race between the New York Yankee slugger and Ty Cobb, American League's 12-time batting champion, with the Babe a runaway winner.

The Bambino bagged 253 votes to 116 for the fiery Detroit Tiger outfielder.

Lou Gehrig, who together with Ruth formed the most fearsome one-two punch in the history of baseball, attracted eight votes to land third place. The slugging first baseman got one more than Walter Johnson, Washington's immortal right-hander. The famous hurler, called the fastest pitcher of all time, was the only one besides Cy Young to register more than 400 victories.

University of British Columbia skiers Sunday captured the fourth annual international collegiate ski meet at Mount Norquay, near Banff, Alta. Seven universities from Canada and the United States entered.

Bobby Williams, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sunday defeated Ken Quigley, of Toronto, for the men's title at the Buffalo Athletic Club invitation badminton tournament. Scores were 17-14, 15-14.

Lorne Main, of Vancouver, Sunday won a singles berth in the quarter finals of the Chateauguay Regiment's international invitation tennis tournament by downing Edgar Lanthier, of Motreal, 6-4, 6-1.

The 19-year-old Main, a member of last year's Canadian Davis Cup squad, had little trouble with the veteran and dazzled the huge gallery with seemingly impossible shots.

At Pittsfield, Mass., Betty Mitchell, of Winnipeg, Sunday retained her North American women's outdoor speed skating title.

Miss Mitchell, defending the crown she won last year, had 120 points. Second place was shared by Janice Christopherson, of St. Paul, Minn., and Florence Garter, of Michigan, with 70 points each.

The fastest indoor two-miles in Boston's track history—an 8:55.1 performance Saturday night that enabled him to gain an upset victory over G-man Fred Wilt—gave Curt Stone, of Philadelphia, only second honors in the balloting for the outstanding competitor in the 61st Boston A.A. games.

When an eight-man jury of Boston track writers voted Sunday, it gave Stone 19 points against 27 for Yale's mighty Jim Fuchs, who won the Unicorn meet's shot putt with a 57-foot 6½-inch heave, the longest ever made indoors.

The National League has scheduled a record 205 night games for the 1950 baseball season with St. Louis Cardinals leading the way with 80.

Besides playing more night games than any other team in the majors, the Cards will become the first team in major league history to open the season at night.

Jack Dunn, Jewel Ens and Dan Howley, all deceased, were elected to the International League's Hall of Fame by the circuit's Baseball Writers' Association Saturday. The league's Hall of Fame now numbers 18.

Peter Salmon Brings Canada First Empire Games Victory

By VERNON MORGAN.

AUCKLAND, Feb. 6 (Reuters) —Peter Salmon, brilliant 20-year-old Victoria swimmer, brought Canada its first victory of the 1950 British Empire games tonight in the men's 110-yard free style final. The Canadian was woldly acclaimed by team-mates as he climbed out of the Olympic pool.

Salmon's time was 60.4 seconds The triumph continued Canada's domination of this event in the Commonwealth games. It was raced over the 100 yard route in the 1930 games at Hamilton, and in London, England, four years later and was boosted to the 110-yard distance at Sydney, Australia in 1938.

Munroe Bourne started the victory march at Hamilton. G. Burleigh, Toronto, made it two straight for Canada in 1934 and Toronto's Bob Pirie clocked a winning time of 59.6 seconds at Sydney.

Places Fourth

Lucien Beaumont, 17-year-old Quebec City swimmer, placed fourth behind Australia's Frank O'Neil and Patrick Kendall of England. Jacobus De Beer Wild, 21-year-old South African, placed fifth and Michael Amos, 18, Auckland store clerk, trailed the field.

Immediately Salmon scrambled onto the Olympic pool landing he went to the winner's rostrum where he was presented with the winner's silver gilt medal and the band broke out with "O Canada."

CBC Board of Governors Discuss Radio Bingo Ban

OTTAWA, Feb. 6—(CP)—Question of whether bingo games should be banned from the air will be discussed next Friday by the CBC Board of Governors at a meeting in Toronto. Written representations for and against a ban have been piling up at the CBC offices here since it was announced in December that the Board would hear representations at its next meeting on whether or not it should clamp down on bingo.

There are several variations of the radio game, but basically it is the same as the ordinary bingo game. In some cases tickets are sold in advance of the program and the listener marks his card as numbers are called and broadcast from a radio station. Those filling one row of figures on their card in a straight or diagonal line telephone the radio station to claim the money. In cases of ties the money is split.

Some of the radio games are based on telephone numbers and others on musical pieces.

The radio game is not in widespread use, but it has become popular in some centres.

Complaints

Several religious organization, including the Baptist Church, the Anglican Church, the United Church and the Salvation Army, have urged that the game be banned from the air.

The Ontario Motion Picture Theatres' Association also has urged enforcement of a ban. The association argues that people, who ordinarily would be attending a movie, are staying at home to play radio bingo.

Several radio stations are expected to urge that no ban be imposed.

New Judge

An appointment may be made shortly to bring the Exchequer Court up to strength.

There has been a vacancy on the Exchequer benches since last November, with the death of Mr. Justice C. G. O'Connor.

Since the vacancy occurred, cases in the court have been handled by Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson, President of the Court; Mr Justice E. R. Angers, and Mr Justice J. C. A. Cameron. Last appointment was Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald of Nova Scotia, but the latter has been seconded to the chairmanship of the Board of Transport Commissioner for a 10-year period.

The court does not sit as a body, each judge handling a case separately. Nevertheless, work has been steadily piling up ahead of the three justices. The cases all are highly technical, involving suits against the Crown, expropriations, Income Tax Appeals, trade mark and copyright disputes.

The Pas Man Winner In 144-Mile Dog Race

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 6—(CP)—Laird Ouellette, 38-year-old railway fireman from The Pas, Friday night mushed across the finish line first to win the 144-mile Canadian championship dog race.

A scant 50 yards back was Jack Heard, government conservation officer from The Pas, who Thursday night was leading at the half-way mark of the race. Heard was carrying one of his dogs on the sled when he neared the finish line.

Ouellette's time for the race—from here to Cranberry Portage and return—was 17 hours 7 minutes 35 seconds. Heard made it in 17 honurs 9 minutes 40 seconds

Lack Of Ships Crippling German Trade

By JAMES DEVLIN

BREMEN, Feb. 6 —(CP)— The North German Lloyd Line, which once operated the big liners Bremen and Europa, now runs only a floating hotel and a river steamer.

The decline of this steamship ship company, with its lack of ocean-going vessels, typifies the post-war state of Germany's once-strong merchant marine.

Whether the newly - founded western republic will be permitted to build modern merchant ships again has become one of the hottest issues in Germany since the Allies relented in their dismantling of German factories.

The British and French position is that present restrictions on German shipbuilding are necessary for military security reasons. United States officials here take a more lenient view — on the ground that the restrictions are running up German costs that eventually filter back to the American taxpayer.

The Allies last year authorized Germany to build ships up to 7,200 tons and up to a speed of 12 knots, plus 60,000 tons of other ships with no restriction on size or speed.

Not Begun Building

But the Germans have yet to begin building, or even to place an order for one of the ships. They say the restricted vessels are obsolete before they are built—with no chance of getting business in competition with big 15- and 20-knot ships of other countries.

American officials here said the results is:

1. While the European recovery program is pouring millions of dollars into Germany, Germany is forced to reject millions of dollars worth of foreign orders for ships because she is not allowed to build them big and fast enough.

2. Germany is being charged at least $225,000,000 a year to have her exports and imports carried in other countries' ships.

3. Germany's virtually - idle shipyards contribute to unemployment among shipbuilders and workers in Allied industries.

German shipbuilders look ruefully at a recent South American order for 10 tankers of 16,000 tons each with a speed of 14½ knots.

The Germans say Sweden won an order to build six at $2,150,000 each, and Britain four at $2,300,000 each. They claim they could have done the whole job for $2,000,000 each, or less, except that they are not allowed to build vessels of that size and speed.

Harwood WI Presents Life Membership Pins

HARWOOD, Feb. 6—(ENS) — The February Meeting of the Harwood Branch of the Women's Institute was held last week at the home of Mrs. R. S. Johnson with 28 present. Mrs. Arthur Lawton the president, presided. The highlight of the meeting was the presentation of Life Certificates and pins to two Charter Members, Mrs. P. J. Corkery and Mrs. Hilton Graham, with citations read by the secretary, Mrs. R. E. Drope.

A valentine shower is being sent to a friend of the Institute. A bill board is to be made at an early date. It was voted on whether or not the Institute would appoint two members to the Park Board, and the vote was a tie. It was agreed to leave the matter over to the March meeting.

Mrs. G. U. Isaac was convener of the programme, and community singing was held with Mrs. Garnet Isaac accompanying. Mrs Glenn Hogg read 'A week away' and Mrs. Jack Minifie played a instrumental solo. A spendid paper was given by Mrs. Melville Harvie on 'The Canadian Institute for the Blind', and Mrs. Jack Robson sang a solo entitled 'Dear Hearts and Gentle People.'

Yugoslavia Settles Debt To Canadian Gov't For Post-War Assistance

James Sinclair Negotiates $150,000 Deal With Premier Tito, Discuss Nationality of 400 Children

BELGRADE, Feb. 7—(CP)—Yugoslavia today settled its post-war debt to Canada for $150,000. The sum is to be paid in dinars, Yugoslav currency worth about 2¼ cents in Canadian funds. The settlement was drawn up by James Sinclair, parliamentary secretary to Finance Minister Abbott, and Mirajan Dermatia, governor of Yugoslav's National Bank. Details of methods and timing of payment have not yet been disclosed. Sinclair, after an interview with Premier Tito, described the payment details as "acceptable to the Canadian government."

The 41-year-old Sinclair, Liberal member for Coast Capilano, came to Europe about three weeks ago to negotiate repayments of amounts owed Canada by a number of countries for supplies furnished to civilian populations during the war. He flies to Italy today and also will visit France, Luxembourg and Greece.

Tito received Sinclair Monday at his personal villa. Sinclair said he had a "friendly discussion" with the premier on the problem of the future of about 400 children, born in Canada of Yugoslav parents, who now are living in Yugoslavia. Those children hold what is known diplomatically as "dual nationality," Sinclair said, and some of them want to return to Canada.

Agree In Principle

The Yugoslav Premier expressed "agreement in principle" that they should be allowed to return, Sinclair added. But the question concerns other countries and Sinclair indicated that Tito would prefer to have the matter worked out on a collective basis.

The Canadian-Yugoslav financial settlement is based on $225,000 Yugoslavia received for emergency work from Western countries in the immediate post-war period before UNRRA began its operations.

Canada's share amounted to eight per cent of the total.

Cars Collide Head-On, Eight Injured

OWEN SOUND, Feb. 7—(CP)—Hospital authorities today described as fair the condition of five of the eight victims of a head-on, two-car collision at Rockford, four miles south of here Monday afternoon. The other three were reported favorable.

Among the more seriously injured were the two drivers, Angus McArthur, Toronto, and Donald Cummings, of Owen Sound.

Others injured are Betty Wigham, 16, of Owen Sound, Lorna Noble, 18, of Durham, passengers in the McArthur car, Jack Nicholls, Wes Parkins, Gladwyn McKnight, and John Barker, all of Owen Sound, passengers in the Cummings car.

Miss Wigham and Miss Noble, who suffered head cuts, and Nicholls, suffering from cuts of the nose and an ankle injury, are reported in favorable condition.

Barker, suffering from concussion and head cuts, is reported "fair only."

McArthur suffered numerous head cuts and a fractured leg; Cummings head cuts and an injured arm; Parkins and McKnight head cuts. All are in fair condition.

The two cars were totally wrecked in the crash. The Cummings car, travelling north, was completely turned around on the highway. The other car, travelling south, was forced off the road and came to rest against a sign post.

Glass was scattered for 20 to 25 yards on the highway on both sides of the accident scene.

No charge has been laid pending investigation.

More Slides Threaten Canyon

VANCOUVER, Feb. 7—(CP)—Mild temperatures in the Fraser Valley canyon loomed again today, promising no respite for slide-suffering rail lines and telegraph and telephone communications through the pass.

Train service early today still was cut off in the canyon, leaving the coast semi-isolated from eastern Canada.

No fresh slides were reported but snow-removal efforts went ahead on those that severed Canadian Pacific and Canadian National lines Tuesday.

Forty persons were trapped for seven hours and walked out on foot after slides halted a CPR passenger train.

DR. KLAUS FUCHS, German-born British-naturalized, has been arrested in London on an FBI tip charged with espionage in connection with the atomic bomb. Fuchs was in a concentration camp in Canada during the earlier part of the war. He was later cleared by the British and as a top-ranking scientist worked with US scientists closely during the wartime development of the atom bomb.

Russian Spies Said Operating Across Canada

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 —(CP)—Informed sources say that Canada's sensational spy probe of 1946 didn't end Communist espionage in Canada.

As a result, the RCMP, co-operating closely with Britain and the United States, have continued their counter-espionage work.

There has been no indication that Klaus Fuchs, 38-year-old British scientist charged with atomic spying, was connected with the Soviet spy ring uncovered in 1946.

But informed sources say his case indicates that Soviet spying has continued, despite the disclosure in the 1946 probe that the Russian Embassy here was the centre of the spy network in Canada.

Fuchs was interned in Canada early in the Second World War as an enemy alien, The Canadian Press learned Monday. He was later released and took part in the atomic research that helped produce the first atomic bombs.

The justice department now is understood to be gathering internment files on him and preparing to turn them over to Britain if they are needed for Fuch's trial.

There has been no official comment on the case, however.

Fuchs is understood to be a refugee who fled to Britain from Hitlerism and interned by the British at the outbreak of war. Many of them were sent to Canada for internment and later freed to help in the war effort. He returned to Britain in 1943, and is believed to have crossed into Canada while on a visit to the U.S. in 1946.

Postpone Telephone Strike

Walkout Deadline Changed To February 24

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The CIO communications workers today postponed until Feb 24 a country-wide telephone strike it had called for tomorrow at 6 a.m.

Mediation director Cyrus S. Ching had asked for the postponement to permit more time for conciliators to try to settle the dispute.

Union president Joseph A. Beirne of the union said the nine man executive board had voted to postpone the strike in the hope a settlement could be brought about in the meantime.

The companies are the Western Electric, Pacific, Southwestern and Mountain States Bell Telephone Companies.

The union also had threatened to send another 200,000 workers out on strike after March 1. Their contracts would not permit them to join in the first walkout.

In his appeal for more time, Ching gravely warned that the consequences of a telephone strike may not be limited to a temporary inconvenience to the public.

"Many of the freedoms which both sides presently enjoy, and are enjoyed by employers and unions, generally, will be endangered by a demonstration of an absence of sound and stable management-labor relations in the critical communications industry," he said.

J. MacKenzie Appointed As Director

50 Labor Councils Asked To Organize Unions For Jobless

OTTAWA, Feb. 7—(CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor today launched a drive to organize Canada's unemployed into local unions. The Labor Department estimated jobless at 323,000 Jan. 12 last.

The Congress, embracing 350,000 members, announced appointment of Joseph MacKenzie of Toronto as National Director of the organization to be known as the National Federation of Unemployed Workers.

Mr. McKenzie is President of the Ontario Federation of Labor and a member of the C.C.L. executive committee. He was formerly Canadian director of the United Rubber Workers of America.

Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the CCL, said an organization plan for the new federation has been distributed to about 50 local labor councils affiliated with the congress.

The councils are beginning to initiate immediately organization of local unemployed unions and to assist in their administration. A committee will be appointed by each council to work with officers elected by the members of the local union of unemployed workers. Charters will be issued by the national headquarters of the federation which has been established in Toronto.

Go After Jobs

Mr. Conroy said the first function of local unions would be to try to obtain jobs for federation members at decent wages, either at production work or in public projects. Where jobs were not found, policies should be formulated to ensure unemployed workers the equivalent of a decent living standard.

Decision to launch the federation was reached by the congress following an executive meeting here last month. A special committee was set up to draft a plan to organize the unemployed. Congress officials said at that time that the move was the first of its kind ever initiated in any country by a recognized labor organization.

"In setting out to help the unemployed workers we are not merely rendering them assistance but we are helping ourselves and the whole of Canada," Mr. Conroy said in a letter to labor councils outlining the scheme.

Legitimate Purpose

"We want to organize these workers for a legitimate purpose: To keep them from becoming a disorganized mob; to give them a proper status in the community; and to present their problems to local and provincial authorities in a manner fitting to the dignity of the average worker involved, to the end that early redress of their problems be secured."

MILITARY MANOEUVRES—A military motor convoy is shown arriving in Whitehorse, YT, after a 1,700-mile drive up the Alaska highway from Edmonton. The convoy is the first of four which will participate in Exercise Sweetbriar, a joint Canadian-American military scheme and the largest ever held on Canadian soil. This Canadian Army photo shows Capt. L. A. Bissonette, who commanded the convoy, being greeted on arrival by Lt.-Col. George Weir. Both officers are from Edmonton.

Charge Britain Holding Up US Investigation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—United States Congress men today blamed ponderous British legal procedure for hampering pursuit by the Federal Bureau of Investigation of further atomic leaks in the Klaus Fuchs case.

They expressed fear that the delay may enable some suspects to skip the US.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover was reported to have told Senators that thus far he has been unable to get from the British Government full details of any confession that may have been made by Fuchs.

Fuchs, 38-year-old Germanborn scientist accused of passing along top atomic—and some hydrogen bomb—information to the Russians, is believed to have had accomplices in the US.

Waiting For Records

But Congressmen said they were told that until the British Government releases its records, the FBI may have to wait for leads—with the result that some suspects might get out of the US unmolested.

British authorities are understood to be keeping Fuchs incommunicado.

Senator John Bricker (Rep.-Ohio), a member of the Congressional Atomic Committee, told reporters Monday the 1943 Quebec Agreement which the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt

Plan Trans-Canada Highway Will Start This Spring

OTTAWA, Feb. 7—(CP)—Resources Minister Winters is confident a start will be made this Spring on construction of a trans-Canada Highway. "There are no real obstacles in the way," Mr. Winters said today in an interview. Negotiations with the provinces are proceeding and it is expected that individual agreements with them will be signed within the next few months.

The Federal Government has offered to pay half of the cost of $300,000,000 hard-surfaced highway from St. John's, Nfld., to Victoria, B.C., and taking in Prince Edward Island.

The federal government will make the contribution providing all provinces agree to construct Trans-Canada Highway links within their borders. Mr. Winters said the federal government decided to contribute to the highway because of the national character of the project. Unless all provinces participate the highway would lose its national aspect and there would be no reason for a Federal contribution.

Six Reach Decision

Six of the provinces have decided on the route the highway will follow within their boundaries. The provinces are Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and British Columbia Ontario, Quebec, Alberta and Nova Scotia have not reached a final decision.

Mr. Winters said the choice of the route was left to the provinces. The federal government simply stipulated that the road

Brain Studies Started At Pen

KINGSTON, Feb. 7—(CP)—Queen's University is to undertake special brain studies at Kingston penitentiary in an efforts to determine the underlying causes of criminal behavior.

This was made known today after W. J. Henderson, Liberal member of parliament for Kingston City, announced that Health Minister Martin had approved a federal grant of $1,025 for electroencephalographic study of cases at the penitentiary. An electroencephalograph is a machine which charts wave impulses of the brain.

The study is to be under auspices of Queen's University whose assistant professor of medicine, Dr. D. N. White, said he had permission from the commissioner of penitentiaries to undertake the project. Although study of causes of criminal behavior is the immediate objective, the ultimate aim is crime prevention, Dr. White said.

40 Men Swing Bottles In Beer Parlor Fight

HULL, Que., Feb. 7—(CP)—Police in this city have arrested two men as a result of what was termed the "worst beer parlor fight in Hull" since the war.

About 40 men battled with beer bottles, fists and feet and sent glasses, tables and chairs flying through the air. Arrested were Gerald Richard Connolly, 23, and Maynard Connolly, 25, brothers from Cyrville, Ont. They were charged with fighting, cursing and disturbing the peace and were remanded to Feb. 10.

19 Homeless As Fire Razes Houses

Five Jump 18 Feet Drop On Mattress, Weather 15 Below

SUDBURY, Feb. 7—(CP)—Nineteen persons, 12 of them children, were left homeless early today in a fire that swept through a row of houses in Chelmsford, 16 miles from here. Property loss will amount to thousands of dollars, partly covered by insurance.

Temperature at the time of the fire, which broke out around 3.30 a.m., was 15 below zero.

Two houses were completely destroyed, while part of a nine-room house was gutted. Some furniture was saved from two houses, but one family lost all its belongings. There were no serious burns or injuries.

Left homeless after the early morning fire were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Roy and their six children; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Roy and their three children; and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Blais and their three children; and Dan Eaton, aged 81.

Trapped For Time

The Blais family had the narrowest escape as the fire, which originated in their house, trapped them in second floor bedrooms, forcing them to jump through a window 18 feet to the frozen ground.

Blais smashed a window to effect an escape. He tossed a mattress to the ground below and dropped the older children, Andre, five, and Ronald four, on the mattress.

"Then I jumped to the ground myself," he related. "My wife then dropped the baby, Pauline, eight months, and I caught her."

Offered $15,000 To Kill Reuther

DETROIT, Feb. 7 (AP)—The State's star witness in the Reuther case declared Monday he spurned as inadequate a $15,000 fee for "rubbing out a man as big as Walter Reuther."

John Kaliszewski, 46, a convict, told a jury the offer was made by Carl E. Bolton April 17, 1948, three days before Reuther was severely wounded by a shotgun blast.

Bolton, a former minor union official, is being tried on a charge of assault with intent to kill the United Auto Workers (CIO) president.

"I told Bolton that $15,000 was not enough and not to ever mention the job to me or anyone else," Kaliszewski testified. He said he told Bolton: "Are you crazy, a man as big as Walter Reuther for $15,000? Count me out."

Kaliszewski said he next saw Bolton the day before the shooting. The witness said he handed Bolton two shotguns.

Study Sewage Disposal

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP) — A nine-man delegation representing the St. Catharines Regional Planning Board and the Ontario government met Transport Minister Chevrier today to discuss sewage disposal problems connected with the second Welland canal.

Sees Kremlin Fighting West—Eventually

U.S. Reporter Convinced Reds Want Peace Now Till Arms Stronger, Then Will Strike

By EDMUND STEVENS

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(AP).—The leaders of the Kremlin are bent on eventual war with the West, if they can get away with it, says an American reporter who recently left Moscow.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Edmund Stevens, staff correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, recently left Moscow after more than 10 years of close observation of Russian affairs from both sides of the Iron Curtain. Fresh from a three-year assignment in the Russian capital he has tried to answer the most anxious questions of westerners concerning the enigma that is the Soviet Union today. This is the first of a series of four articles digesting his findings, as published by the Christian Science Monitor. The editors of the Monitor made Stevens' material available to The Associated Press.)

But Stevens says he is convinced today more than ever that "the world's future depends on understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union."

Soviet aims and policies have since the war become plain for all to see—expansion through superimposing the Communist system, Stevens writes. But the foremost question today is this: Do the Soviet leaders, who have an atom bomb now, want war?

Long View—Yes

The answer, the correspondent says, is "no—and yes." For the immediate future, he said, the answer is no. But in the long view, with the shifting of world power in the Kremlin's favor, the answer is yes. The Communist leaders always have predicted the inevitable bloody clash between capitalism and Communism.

Stevens says the Kremlin leaders want to avoid war now while preparing militarily and economically and while running calculated war risks such the Berlin blockade. But he adds that there is a margin of hope for peace in the realization by the Kremlin that it would be difficult to sell the Soviet people on a war of aggression.

To beat Soviet propaganda, Stevens writes, the west must put its own economic house in order While avoiding outright appeasement, it must explore every possibility for genuine agreement The west, he says, should miss no opportunity to go over the heads of the Soviet leaders, directly to the Russian people. The "Voice of America" has made "a splendid beginning" on these lines, as indicated by the frantic Russian jamming of the broadcasts, he says, adding:

More Powerful Weapon

"Even today, what filters through the wall of interference is a far more powerful weapon than the atom bomb—a weapon for peace that reaches men's minds and creates, instead of destroying."

Who are these leaders who boldly balance the pros and cons of world holocaust? The most powerful today, under Stalin, says Stevens, is a man who knows nothing of the west from first-hand experience, a man who is young enough to have grown up intellectually under Stalin's complete domination.

He is Georgi Malenkov, whose recent rise as Stalin's right hand man has been meteoric.

Malenkov has used this position to carry out a quiet purge of possible opponents. At home his policy meant tightening up against unreliables, including renewed discrimination against Jews. Abroad it meant tightening control of cominform countries, ruthless elimination of Titoism, arbitrary imposition of the Soviet economic and police pattern on the satellite states.

Also Cautious

But his caution, says Stevens, is reflected in the lifting of the Berlin blockade when he thought it had gone as far as it safely could, and in fact that the campaign against Yugoslavia's Tito stopped short of armed invasion.

For a time Malenkov apparently ranked about even with Lavrenty P. Beria, the power behind the secret police, but Beria did not appear to Stevens to be aspiring any higher. Vice Premier V. M. Molotov appears to be in partial eclipse, the writer says, and more in decline than ever in Stalin's increasing retirement.

(Nevertheless, the best indications filtering through Moscow censorship are that Molotov still is the No. 2 man, Stalin's right hand, at least for the public's benefit.)

US Builds 'Mighty Mouse'

Navy Develops Powerful Aircraft Rocket

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—A powerful new aircraft rocket nicknamed the "mighty mouse" has been developed by the United States Navy for air-to-air combat.

The Department of Defense announced Monday that the rocket has been successfully test-fired over the California desert.

The department sketched this picture of the new weapon:

It has far greater speed and range than aircraft rockets developed during the Second World War.

It is small enough to be carried in quantity by its "mother" aircraft, yet fast and powerful enough to destroy any known plane with a direct hit.

It was built specifically for use in modern, high-speed planes against other aircraft.

"The new rockets may be fired singly or in salvo from the launcher, which is attached to the airplane's wings or its fuselage," the department said. "They are aimed by aiming the aircraft (at the target)."

The department called it the first successful air-to-air rocket. It operates with folding fins which reduce air resistance on the mother plane and increase the carrying capacity of the launcher.

The rocket was fired by a navy attack plane at the naval ordnance test station at Inyokern, Cal., where it was developed during the last two years.

Frost Says Ontario Plans Action To Prevent Mill Closing At Espanola

Delegation of Citizens Ask Government Declare Injunction Void, Fear Plant Closing Makes Area Ghost Town

TORONTO, Feb. 7—(CP)—The danger of a forced closure of the big pulp mill at Espanola will be given prior consideration when the Ontario Legislature convenes Feb. 16. "It would be unthinkable that this mill be permitted to close," Premier Frost of Ontario Monday told a large delegation from Espanola which claimed the welfare of 10,000 persons depends on continued operation of the mill. An injunction against waste disposal polluting the Spanish River has been obtained against the Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Company, effective April 4. The injunction, upheld on appeal to the Privy Council in London, was obtained by a group of riverside property owners on the Spanish River.

The KVP Company says that if the injunction goes into effect it will be forced to close down the mill, chief employment factor in Espanola, 25 miles west of Sudbury.

Premier Frost did not say what steps the government proposes to take. He said the government has been studying the situation for some time "with the idea of keeping the mill in operation and at the same time making sure that the interests of all the people are protected."

Kept At Minimum

After hearing several members of the delegation, Premier Frost added:

"You have brought out the fact that a certain amount of pollution seems to be inevitable, but we all agree that it should be kept to a minimum. We must seek the proper balance. We must determine if the company is doing all in its power to keep it at a minimum. We will have to act in the broad interests of all the people."

The deputation was headed by W. J. McLaughlin, chairman of the Espanola "Citizens Emergency Committee." It included various municipal, labor, business and religious representatives of the area, including Manitoulin Island.

McLaughlin said there was something drastically wrong when a small group was allowed to dictate in matters affecting 10,000 people, and he urged that the government pass legislation to void the injunction. Many of the deputation foresaw a return to the days when Espanola was a "ghost town" if the mill closes.

Representing labor unions in the plant, E. Finch, S. Dice and J. Leitch declared the mill was doing all in its power to control pollution. Chief Douglas Sissenah of the Spanish Indian Reserve said the water was much better since control measures were taken last summer.

"You can drink it now, and fish are plentiful," he asserted.

Plowmen After Junior Farmers

TORONTO, Feb. 7 (CP) — Increased interest by junior farmers in plowing matches was reported Monday at the annual meeting of the Ontario Plowmen's Association.

J. R. Ostler of Brockville said Leeds county last year had the best class for young plowmen at last year's meet that it ever had. Prize money was increased for entrants who had attended coaching classes for high school pupils.

The convention decided that junior farmers' matches should be a regular addition to the county plowing meets.

V. C. Porteous of Owen Sound, president, said the organization is steadily becoming more efficient and that the Simcoe county match this year is expected to be the most successful in history.

From Wellington county, H. L. Cassie of Fergus told of the new agricultural wing at Palmerston High School and the 46 Palmerston contestants in last year's county match. A junior farmers township match added to the interest.

Labor Board Grants UE Workers Hearing

GUELPH, Feb. 7 (CP) — The Ontario Labor Relations Board has granted representatives of the United Electrical Workers a hearing on charges arising from a recent vote among employees at the Leland Electric (Canada) in Guelph.

Basis of the hearing are allegations by the UE that the local press, radio station and the Roman Catholic Church violated the 72-hour non-propaganda period.

The vote taken two weeks ago was overwhelmingly in favor of the International Union of Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (CIO) acting as bargaining agent for the employees.

Toronto Drops Water Offer In York Row

TORONTO, Feb. 7 — (CP). — Controversy over the proposed amalgamation of 13 municipalities in the Greater Toronto area has resulted in action by two of the involved councils.

Toronto Council, by an 18-3 vote, decided Monday night to withdraw temporarily its offer to supply additional water to North York Township. At the same time suburban Scarboro Council urged its Public Utilities Commission to start negotiations to supply water to North York and East York.

City Council's decision followed statements by Reeve Nelson Boylen, of North York, that the township could get water cheaper from Scarboro. Toronto had offered North York 2,000,000 gallons daily to help the township's building program.

North York recently suspended building permits because of water shortage.

Must Work Fast

Reeve Oliver Crockford, Scarboro told Council that one of the major reasons given for the need for amalgamation was the water situation in North York and East York.

"Unless we do something fast," he said, "they (Toronto) are going to put this annexation through on us. We can make the necessary extensions to our water mains a great deal cheaper than can the City of Toronto."

Referring to what he called "inane" statements by Reeve Boylen, Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto said the city had been prepared to act in good faith, but had not expected such insulting remarks to come from the object of its kindness.

Uses Hospital Window To Shoot At Gambler

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 7—(AP)—A gunman fired Monday night through a fourth-floor hospital window of Herbert Noble, self-styled retired gambler, but the shot from a rifle missed. It was the seventh attempt on his life.

Noble is in hospital, recovering from bullet wounds inflicted in the last previous attempt to kill him.

Noble has been the central figure in Dallas gang violence which took the lives of two persons in the closing days of 1949.

Louis Green, Dallas underworld character, was ambushed as he came out of a night club Christmas Eve morning. A month earlier Noble's wife was blown to bits by a bomb placed in Noble's automobile. It exploded when his wife stepped on the starter.

follow the shortest practical east-west route consistent with the needs of the provinces and Canada as a whole.

Since the choice of the route was left up to the provinces, Mr. Winters said he felt that any announcement on the route should be made by the provincial government concerned.

Besides paying half of the cost of new construction, the government will pay half the cost of existing roads that will form part of the Trans-Canada Highway.

The construction program will be spread over a seven-year period. Mr. Winters said that in the 1950-51 estimates there likely will be provision for federal expenditures of $25,000,000 on the highway during the coming fiscal year. Federal payments will be made as work is completed.

It will not be necessary for parliament to ratify the individual agreements reached with the provinces.

Answers Charges

Mr. Winters had some comments or statements by Premier Duplessis of Quebec. Mr. Dupiessis said at a press conference that the Quebec Government is not prepared to sacrifice its over-all provincial roads program for the sake of the Trans-Canada Highway though it wishes to co-operate in that project.

The premier said that standards and specifications not suitable to Quebec include the condition that the right-of-way of the Trans-Canada route be 100 feet.

Mr. Winters said that the Dominion-provincial highway conference last December agreed unanimously that a 100-foot right-of-way was desirable. But it was agreed there would be some places where an exception would be made. As a result there was nothing "hard and fast" about the width of the right-of-way.

Prices Go Downhill On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 7 (CP)—Slight selling pressure pushed prices downhill for a second successive session of the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Some recovery signs appeared at the half-way mark, reducing many losses.

Volume for the first three hours was 713,000 shares.

Losses were generally held to fractions on the industrial board. Papers, refining oils, and liquors showed majorities of declines in the groupings. Refining oils especially were under brisk selling pressure. McColl-Frontenac slipped a full point at one time to a new low at 14.

Western oils showed comparatively wide declines. Losses ranged up to 15 cents in market leaders like Anglo-Canadian Oil, Federated Petroleum and Okalta.

Senior golds were off fractions and losses outnumbered gains about three to one in juniors. Several smaller stocks traded briskly for good gains. Calder Bousquet, Armistice, Amalgamated Larder and Louvicourt stole into the limelight.

Base metals sagged quietly from opening firmness. Sherritt-Gordon was brisk for a slight loss.

Continuing Search

WHITEHORSE, Y. T., Feb. 7—(CP)—Concentrating on the area between Whitehorse and Snag, search for a missing United States transport plane and its 44 occupants continued today. The plane has been missing since Jan. 26. Sweeps of planes went out Monday. An ice fog made flying conditions poor.

Blown Off Ship

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 7 —(AP)—A blazing ship out of control—"An explosion that blew us to kingdom come." That was how the Captain Monday described the end of the tuna clipper American Belle 300 miles south of here Sunday. All of the crew of 12 jumped or was blown into the sea. One —18-year-old Joao Barro of San Diego—was lost.

Gives Canada Second Title

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Feb. 7 (Reuters)—Ottawa's Jimmy Varaleau today gave Canada her second British Empire games weight-lifting title when he outclassed a strong field in the light-heavyweight division.

Only Canadian weightlifter competing in today's events, Varaleau joined Jerry Gratton of Montreal in the winner's circle. Gratton took the middleweight title Monday.

Varaleau defeated Issy Bloomberg, the highly-rated South African who holds the empire record in clean-and-jerk competition. Both scored equal totals of 815 pounds in the three divisions, but Varaleau's 175½-pound body weight gave him the judges' nod over Bloomberg who is three pounds heavier.

Say 1,800 Candidates Named In UK Election

LONDON, Feb. 7 (CP)—Official nomination of more than 1,800 candidates for the Feb. 23 election began Monday, with Labor and Conservatives planning to contest nearly all 625 seats.

Liberals are likely to put forward more than 450 candidates and Communists intend to nominate 10. About 60 independents will stand.

The nominees will include 120 women.

It now is regarded as certain there will be straight fights between Labor and Conservatives only in a small proportion of seats —the vote to be split in the majority of cases by the Liberal intervention.

Hoover was quote by Congressmen as having told the Atomic Committee Monday it was unfortunate the British Government arrested Fuchs as early as they did because others might have been drawn into the net more easily if the arrest had been delayed.

Just a Little Slow

Hoover made it plain, it was said, that the British Government had not refused to give additional information about the Fuchs case but just had not got around to it yet.

Congressmen said Hoover told them that the first information on Fuchs' activities came from captured German documents turned over to the FBI in an espionage case late last summer.

FBI agents also ran across the British scientist's trail as a result of a reference to him in a notebook kept by one of the suspects in the Canadian atomic spy ring, broken by several arrests and convictions four years ago.

Minister Recalls Impressions Of Scot Sojourn

When the Rev. C. G. Boyd addressed the annual meeting of the Life Members' Club of the Council of Women Monday evening, he made deep inroads in the hearts of all who lay claim to a drop of Scottish blood. "I was profoundly delighted with the Scottish people during my ministry at St. John's Kirk, Perth, last summer, and I learned to appreciate the valuable contributions they have made to the world," he said to 28 members who gathered in Hooper's Palm Room for a turkey dinner.

Calling them "ubiquitous Scots" because 25 million have migrated to points throughout the world and made a mark, he said "Never forget the debt that is owed them, for wherever they have come they have shared their blessings."

These blessings which have marked Christian civilization so deeply include democracy, traceable back to Calvinism, Mr. Boyd said. At present in Scotland they are much concerned about Home Rule and it will be an election issue this month. The Scots are tired of being "Londonized" and having their government 400 miles away. A covenant on which they hope to get two million signatures will, they hope, be influential in getting a separate government set up in Edinburgh, he explained.

Culture Among Lowly

The Scots have maintained their ideals and in this country show the same character traits, kindness, gentleness, industry, perseverance and faith in their religion. In Scotland Mr. Boyd found that even the humblest were cultured and had none of the usual rough edges. They have battled the climate and the poverty of their soil and been compelled to stand on their own feet by a neighbor to the south and have remained steadfast. The country is now highly industrialized and many have left the highlands for cities but an effort is under way to combat this by industrializing the whole.

"The history of St. John's Kirk is the history of Perth (pronounced Pierth) and of Scotland," Mr. Boyd said. The church is more than 700 years old and was a cathedral structure until the Reformation. Mr. Boyd preached in the pulpit where John Knox thundered against idolatry. After the vandalism of Reformation times, the kirk was partly rebuilt for parish use.

Following the Great War, 1914-1918, the city of Perth spent a quarter million dollars restoring it to its ancient glory as a memorial to the fallen. In its history there figures murders and kings and queens who have worshipped in it.

Mr. Boyd was introduced by Mrs. A. A. McIntyre and appreciation of his talk was expressed by Mrs. W. H. Morton. Mrs. Boyd was also a guest at the meeting, and when introduced spoke of the kind thought which had prompted her invitation and thanked the club for a corsage of white carnations sent to her.

Two Join Club

President Mrs. H. Tremaine, who now commences the second term of her two-year appointment, was chairman. She spoke of the growth in membership which was extended Tuesday night when Mrs. H. Dunford and Mrs. R. G. Cottrell were accepted. Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser presented a life membership pin to Mrs. Cottrell who has worked with Local Council for some years as representative of 57th Chapter, IODE. Mrs. Dunford is representative of the Business and Professional Women's Club and was mentioned for her work in outfitting Girl Guides. Introductions were made by Mrs. William Addyman.

Mrs. L. Aikenhead contributed two readings to the program. Mrs. E. Wand led the group in singing with Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy playing the piano accompaniment. Three contests were conducted by Mrs. H. T. Rehill.

Following the reading of annual reports it was decided to hold the annual picnic in late June and the invitation of Mrs. C. G. Collins to her summer home on Lake Chemong was accepted.

YPU Completes Special Course

HAVELOCK, Feb. 7 (ENS) — Certificates were presented at the evening service of Havelock United Church on Sunday to members of the Young People's Union who have completed the course "teaching as Jesus Taught."

James Watson explained that the course comprised 10 lessons and covered a period of five weeks and was a part of the church's plan in teaching limited groups certain basic thoughts. He extended thanks to Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh for teaching this course.

The following received certificates: the Misses Marie Vanderburgh, Beulah Chase, Betty Post, Helen Robinson, Eleanor Scott, Elva Gerow, Joan Thompson, Edith Thompson, Brenda Lucas, Mrs. James Watson, Mrs. Oliver, Jack Southward, Robert J. Hill, Philip Chevalier, Robert Watson, Gordon Bales, Bruce Melville, Earl Agnew, Albert Smith, James Thompson, James Watson and Fred Rogers.

Presentation At Knox

The following members of Knox Presbyterian Church took the course with the class and received their certificates direct from their own church headquarters:

The Misses Joan and Elaine Graham and Beverley and Shirley Bennett.

Miss Vanderburgh and James Watson received special certificates of progress for having completed four courses, by Mr. Vanderburgh.

Mr. Vanderburgh also presented Fred Rogers with a Christian Leadership diploma from the Board of Christian Education of the United Church, Toronto, for having taken ten courses, some of which he took before coming to live in Havelock.

Take Marriage Course

The young people have started another course on "Christian Marriage" which will continue through February.

Earl Agnew, president of the YPU, conducted the service, assisted by Marie Whitney, who led the responsive scripture reading. Gordon Bales led in prayer, Kenneth Nobes read the scripture lesson and Audrey Newell read a Meditation on Youth.

The offertory was taken up by Beulah Chase, Lois Wilde, Jack Rowat and Robert J. Hill.

Says Britons Riot If See German Rations

TORONTO, Feb. 7 — (CP) — There would be a riot in Britain if the British people ever found out how well the German nation is eating today, said Prof. J. A. Surerus in an address to the Board of Trade Club Monday night. Head of the department of German at Victoria College, he visited Germany last summer.

"There is an abundance of food and stores are filled to the roof with goods, both for export and consumer use," he said. But wages were considerably lower than in Canada, and the housing problem was acute.

US Unemployment Jumps 991,000 During January

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Unemployment in the United States jumped 991,000 in January, sending the number of jobless to 4,480,000—highest since the war.

Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer, announcing the development, blamed the rise in unemployment on bad weather, the holidays and the normal "mid-winter lull in trade and outdoor work."

"It is noteworthy," he said, "that industrial employment did not appear to be materially affected. A year ago, industrial layoffs were an important factor in the rise of unemployment."

A "sizable increase" in unemployment was to be expected in December and January because of seasonal developments.

The number of persons with jobs dropped in January by 1,609,000 to a total of 56,947,000. Officials explained that the full force of the decline in job holders did not show up in unemployment figures because many of those who lost jobs dropped out of the labor market—at least temporarily.

Sawyer said in a statement: "Bad weather in many parts of the country accounted for the unemployment of large numbers of construction and farm workers also, many of the holiday workers who lost their Christmas jobs were looking for other work in January."

Sawyer reported that the biggest decline in job opportunities was outside of farming. Non-farm openings fell by 1,034,000 compared with a decline of 575,000 in farm jobs.

Ontario Near Agreement On Housing

3 Other Provinces Completing Plans With Ottawa

OTTAWA, Feb. 7—(CP)—Ontario, British Columbia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland are nearing agreement with the federal government for construction of houses under terms of legislation approved at the last session of parliament.

Resources Minister Winters said in an interview that, although all provinces have shown an interest in the legislation, Ontario, British Columbia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland are furthest advanced with plans for federal-provincial action.

Under the legislation, the federal government agreed to participate with the provinces on the construction of modest-priced homes for sale or rent. It also agreed to participate in the assemblying and servicing of land on which houses could be built.

Pay 75% Bill

The federal government would foot 75 per cent of the bill and the province would pay the remainder. Profits or losses would be shared on a 75-25 per cent basis.

Mr. Winters said he could not estimate how many houses will be built under the terms of the legislation. He hoped as many houses will be built in 1950 as in 1949.

Final figures for last year are not yet available, but it is estimated that more than 90,000 dwelling units were constructed during the year.

Ontario is selecting certain towns where houses could be built under joint federal-provincial management. However, work cannot start until the Ontario government passes legislation providing for provincial participation in the housing field.

The legislation will be submitted to the legislative session opening Feb. 16.

Premier Frost of Ontario has indicated to the federal government that he favors the construction of modest homes for sale. Mr. Winters said the federal government also favors the home ownership idea.

Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland favors a subsidized rental program. Under this plan the federal and provincial governments would build houses for rent and then pay part of the rent for persons in the low-income bracket.

Ask Reconsideration

TORONTO, Feb. 7 (CP) — A builders' delegation from suburban North York township will ask Toronto City Council to reconsider a decision to cancel an arrangement to increase the amount of water supplied to the township by the city. The builders, who say they have plans for construction of $5,000,000 worth of housing, are scheduled to appear tomorrow before the Toronto Works Committee.

1950 Tax Rate Announcement Still Awaited

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 7 — (ENS)—Estimates have still not been received from the High School Board or from the Public School Board for the year 1950, with the result that the tax rate for the town of Campbellford has not yet been announced.

The tax collector was granted permission to collect taxes and to allow the usual pre-payment discount on the basis of a tenative tax rate of 56 mills and 52 mills for the public school and separate school ratepayers respectively.

No tax demands will be sent out until such time as the rate has been definitely established. Those wishing to pay their taxes now may do so, subject to adjustment at a later date.

It was decided that Daylight Saving Time this year would begin on April 30 and end September 24, as requested by the C.N.R. in a communication to the Town Clerk.

Wesley Stephens appeared on behalf of the Seymour Agricultural Society, to solicit the annual grant for the Fair Grounds. He spoke of the cost of upkeep of the grounds and of their benefit to the community. A grant of $200 was set by council, which is $50 less than last year's figure.

Former Mayor H. M. Donald, president of Campbellford Memorial Hospital Board asked council to pass a by-law in order that the Board may borrow approximately $25,000 from one of the local banks, in case the money is needed to complete work on the hospital before the Federal and Provincial Government grants come through. These grants have been promised.

A. J. Meyers, a member of the same Board, gave a statement showing that to date the Hospital Fund had received a total of $123,229.66 and had spent $101,-999.11. The solicitor was instructed to look into the legal aspect of this matter and make his findings known at the next regular meeting.

Band Granted Aid

Donald D. Bennett appeared on behalf of the Campbellford Citizen's Band, and asked for a grant of $250 to assist the band in the purchase of new uniforms. This was granted. Mr. Bennett said the band has raised a total of $1,361 since April of last year through will cost approximately $1,200.

A. F. Lynch introduced Mr. its own efforts. The new uniforms Brown, field secretary of the C.N.I.B., who asked council for an increased grant for Mr. Stillman, who is blind, and not able to look after himself. A home has been found in town for Mr. Stillman, but as his pension is not sufficient to cover the cost of his keep, council will pay the difference, which will amount to about $10 a month.

Chairman of the property committee was instructed to write to the company holding insurance on town property, asking for clarification of the coverage in respect to liability insurance on the Community Centre in case of injury to spectators.

Reports On Sewer

Dep. Reeve Oscar Mason, chairman of the road and bridge committee, gave a short report on his findings and said he had come across one place in town where an 18 inch sewer emptied into an 8 inch pipe. No action was taken on this.

A resolution was passed, whereby James Parcels, Jr., will be paid an additional $20 a month for the duration of his present contract. This was for the additional work involved in removing garbage and ashes from the stores and other commercial places.

Income during 1949 amounted to $34,296.77 and is expected to be $28,960.89 in 1950.

Debentures this year total approximately $23,253.28 compared with $14,852.37 for the year 1949. This figure included debentures for the high school, public school, hospital, wartime housing, and sewer and water mains. Seymour Township pays about 55% of the High School debenture.

Rotary Club Views Pictures Of Florida

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 7 — (ENS)—Members of the Rotary Club viewed a number of colored slides presented by Russel T. White, optometrist of Campbellford at their luncheon Monday. Mr. White took the pictures himself while on a trip to Florida last year.

Dr. O. C. Watson introduced the speaker, and J. D. Mills, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, moved a vote of thanks. President Charlie Calver thanked Mr. White on behalf of the club.

Arrangements were made to have a number of local curling enthusiasts attend the Rotary bonspiel in Lindsay next week.

Mr. Calver announced that the Campbellford club now stands 12th in the district for having the highest attendance at meetings. Credit for this achievement is due mainly to F. G. DeCarrol.

Married couples will also race, and the oldest and younkest skaters will be recognized.

Hear Rumors Senate Vacancies Filled

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP)—Political circles are predicting that some of the 11 vacancies in the Senate will be filled prior to the opening of Parliament Feb. 16.

Although Prime Minister St. Laurent has given no indication of when he plans to fill the vacancies there have been rumors that a number of appointments are pending.

There are three vacancies in Newfoundland, two each in Nova Scotia and Ontario, and one each in British Columbia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Quebec.

Unofficial reports have it that Hon. C. G. Power, wartime Air Minister, will be offered the Quebec seat, held formerly by Edouard St. Pere of Montreal who died recently.

Mr. Power, 61, has sat as a private member of the Commons for Quebec South since 1944 when he broke with the government on the conscription issue. He was first elected to the Commons in 1917 and has been re-elected in every general election since.

Jones May Get Bid

There also have been unofficial reports that Premier Jones of Prince Edward Island will be named to fill the vacancy in that province. However, capital sources were inclined to doubt them.

State Secretary Bradley, Newfoundland's representative in the cabinet, has been mentioned as a possible choice to fill one of the vacancies for Newfoundland.

Another cabinet minister also mentioned as slated for a Senate seat is Fisheries Minister Mayhew. But the feeling in some circles is that Mr. St. Laurent will not change his cabinet at least until after the forthcoming session of Parliament.

Present standing in the Senate is Liberals, 76; Progressive Conservative, 15; vacant 11; total 102.

BEM Awarded William Fields

HASTINGS, Feb. 7 (ENS) — The award of the British Empire Medal to Staff Sergeant William J. Fields was announced recently.

Staff Sgt. Fields is a nephew of Mrs. Robert Johnson who, with her husband, a former CNR agent at Hastings, raised Shields from infancy until he was 13 years of age. His mother is not living and his father's home is Hamilton.

Staff Sgt. Fields joined the regular Army in 1938 and served in Palestine with the Black Watch. He also served in Syria, Cyprus and Egypt and for the past two years has been at the War Office.

Selwyn Women Hold All-Day Quilting Party

SELWYN, Feb. 7 (ENS). — The February meeting of the Woman's Association of the United Church took the form of an all-day quilting at the Church Hall, Thursday. There were 17 members and three visitors present, and two quilts were completed.

The women planned to attend the World's Day of Prayer at Bridgenorth on Feb. 24.

Next Thursday there will be another all day quilting in the hall, which will be the last of a series.

The president, Mrs. Glifford McIlmoyl invited members to her home for the March meeting.

PROTECTION THE EQUITABLE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA HEAD OFFICE—WATERLOO, ONTARIO

E. C. DOLMAN, District Manager
721 Ross St. E., Peterborough

Says Equal Pay For Women Simple Justice

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—Equal pay for women was advocated by Agnes Macphail, CCF, MPP for East York, in a broadcast address Monday night. Miss Macphail and Ted Isley, CCF member for Waterloo, South, shared the half-hour free time which the CBC makes available to political parties on a weekly basis.

Only woman member of the Ontario legislature, Miss Macphail said that equal pay was a matter of simple justice if the quality and output of the work was comparable to that of the male work.

"It is a protection also for men, and keeps them from being dismissed in order that employers can secure the cheap labor of women," she insisted.

The East York member also pleaded for greater assistance to women in receipt of Mothers' Allowance and Old Age Pensions. She thought the allowance should be extended to cover children of 18 when they are in school or in training. As it is now the children in families where the mother is a widow on allowance have little opportunity of education beyond their 16th year.

Pensions Needed

Pensions for the aged, she insisted, should be made available at an earlier age than 70 and they should he higher. Welfare workers should be assigned to visit the pensioners and give them friendly help and advice and the churches, communities and service clubs could also do a great deal to draw these people into the community life.

Mr. Isley contended that the banks and lending institutions should make capital more readily available to farmers particularly the younger men, to enable them to establish their own farms. In Quebec, farmers are able to obtain loans up to 75 per cent of the value of their property at 2½ per cent interest.

Gov't Selects Cobourg Site For Ontario Hospital

COBOURG, Feb. 7—(ENS)—A new Ontario hospital is to be built in Cobour, it was learned yesterday, and it is exected that this will be confirmed by an official government announcement this week. The Examiner was told on good authority that the provincial government intends to move the Ontario Training School for Girls to another centre and use these buildings for administration purposes of a large mental hospital to be built just north of the present training school.

Two of the former American summer homes, mansion like buildings, have been in use for some time as a training school for girls but the proximity to the highway makes it too handy for girls with ideas of running away.

The third home, the Rowe Estate, was purchased last year and was last fall inspected as its possibilities for conversion into another unit for the training school. However, with the training school inmates moved elsewhere, the Rowe Estate and Strathmore House would make excellent administration buildings. The third unit, the McCook House, is a stucco building, less substantial than the other two.

One Now In Cobourg

The new mental hospital would not affect the present Ontario Hospital, located on University Ave. in the former Victoria College building, unless to the extent of moving some of the old people, who are mentally ill [illegible] new building and using the older building to house only mental defectives.

Considerable local interest has been aroused over the authentic rumors concerning the new mental hospital as it will provide a means of taking up the unemployment slack, which has been steadily increasing. Just what effect this will have on the counties' home can only be estimated. If some of the senile patients in the counties Home for the Aged, could be moved to an Ontario Hospital it would relieve the overcrowding and might make it unnnecessary to build the $60,000 home addition which is being contemplated.

Why Russia Will Never Agree To Atomic Control

It has been suggested that President Truman's decision to proceed with research on hydrogen bombs could have been avoided if Russia had pledged herself to atomic control. We are convinced that Russia will never do anything of the kind, and one reason for Russia's stubbornness is the foolish talk which goes on in high places in the U.S.A. Last Thursday the U.S. Secretary for Defence, Mr. Louis Johnson, said that the U.S.A. had to be ready to "lick hell" out of Russia at an hour's notice. "Joe Stalin will know," said he, "that if he starts something at four a.m., the fighting power of the United States will be on the job at five a.m." Would Russia, or any other country, be wise to trust a country whose secretary for defence talked in such a stupid way? Mr. Johnson sounds as if he were spoiling for a fight; people who are spoiling for a fight usually get one.

• • •

Mr. Johnson has talked like the leader of a schoolyard gang. We know that he was probably talking to impress Main Street—to make himself appear a strong figure in barber shops and pool parlours. But the Russians will translate his remarks into Russian, and spread them all over a huge country where they will sound like the threats of a bloodthirsty ogre. The innocence and naivete of the U.S.A. in matters of international relations has rarely been shown so painfully as in Mr. Johnson's remarks.

• • •

The Russians are not impressed by bragging; they are masters of the technique of bluff themselves. Nor will the mobilization of the U.S. forces in North America prove a matter of concern to the Russians if they choose to invade Europe; they know, to within a few hours, how long it would take U.S. forces to reach them in effective numbers. The Russians are realists about war. Mr. Johnson is, to use the kindest possible word, romantic in his attitude toward it.

• • •

The U.S.A. is the greatest non-Communist force in the world. We are, for good or evil, strongly under its influence and dependent upon its good sense. It is frightening to think that any part of its destiny lies in the keeping of anyone whose brains seem to be so poorly geared to his mouth as War Secretary Louis Johnson. He has done more to destroy any hope of agreement on atomic weapons than the United Nations can hope to repair in fifty years.

Big Town's Assessment

It is no secret that property in New York City is valuable. Even New York's assessment commissioners think so, and they seem to believe that its value is increasing. At any rate they have raised the assessment book value of New York realty by $381,327,900. for the tax year 1950-51. New York house owners, corporations, special franchises and everything else which has non-governmental property in the city will be paying taxes next year on a total assessment of $18,493,559,079. However, let no man think he can buy up New York and all its buildings for a mere 18½ billion dollars. The assessed value, even in New York, has not yet been raised to the market value, despite sharp increases in assessments since the war. It is interesting that this 18½ billion dollar assessment is still below the peak of $19,616,935,429. established in 1932.

Election Speculation

Two weeks from next Thursday—February 23—Britons go to the polls. Interest in British elections is always quite keen in Canada, but these elections are being followed more sharply than usual, and American people from the biggest financier to factory workers and the small shopkeepers are vividly interested. The chief reasons are, of course, the personality of Churchill, doughtily leading the Conservatives, and the speculation about the British voters' response after their five years of Labourite socialism.

We have already in these columns given several analyses of the election atmosphere and political prospects of the leading parties. There are some sidelights on the situation which reflect from time to time. There is, for instance, the political and administrative experience of the Labour Party in office, which will stand it in good stead. The Conservatives have not the brilliant showing of leaders which the Attlee Government now commands. In fact, if Churchill wins, he will have to choose his senior Cabinet ministers from a rather limited, and youngish field, and to give junior offices to men virtually unknown outside Britain.

A Churchill Cabinet would probably run something like this: Anthony Eden, now 52, as Deputy Prime Minister; Lord Salisbury, 56, or R. B. Butler, 47, as Foreign Secretary; Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, 49, as Minister of Health; Oliver Lyttelton, 56, President of the Board of Trade; Oliver Stanley, 53, Chancellor of the Exchequer; Lord Woolton, 66, or William Shepherd Morris, 56, as Minister of Food. Other likely candidates for senior Cabinet position are: Brendan Bracken, 49, Defence; C. G. Lancaster, 50, Fuel and Power; Peter Thorneycroft, 40, Transport; Harold MacMillan, 56, Colonial.

These men are experienced parliamentarians and most have had portfolios or under-secretaryships. But there are few Conservative candidates outside this group who are of tested Cabinet calibre—and the present Attlee administration has more than thirty ministers.

Our footnote to this speculation is that leading bookmakers are quoting the Labour Party as a favourite on February 23, with odds at 4 to 7.

Why Not Be A Highbrow?

The Royal Commission on the Arts, Letters and Sciences in Canada has recently shown some sensitiveness about being described as a "highbrow" body. We hope that it will quickly thicken its skin. It is a highbrow body; it was appointed to be a highbrow body; Canada needs a highbrow body.

Canadians upon the whole fear the word highbrow. They dread whatever is first-class in intellectual matters and hasten to disclaim any connection with it. They would be shocked if one of their number boasted that he drove a rattletrap, outdated car; they would despise one who proclaimed that he lived in a rickety and insect-ridden house; they would sneer at one who bragged that he always ate the cheapest and least nourishing foods. But they proclaim with glee that they embrace rattletrap ideas; they rejoice in ramshackle and maggotty modes of thought; they count it to their credit that they prefer the ersatz to the nutritious in the realm of art and entertainment.

Isn't it paradoxical of the Canadian to boast that he wears a size 48 vest and a boy-size hat?

British Cabinet Showing Race Prejudice?

We are rather used to skin colours tinging South African politics, but the British Government, certainly the present Labour Cabinet has professed to be very liberal in such matters. It has held itself above colour—witness the independence of India, Burma and Ceylon blessed by it. It is therefore something of a shock to learn that the British Cabinet has decided not to allow Seretse Khama, who married a young London shop girl, to be chieftain of the Mahangwato tribe. The new wife is white—that's the rub. The British Cabinet seems to have decided that it won't do. Among this Bechuanaland tribe, a white skin is not a possession to prize, and certainly no chieftain can be tolerated whose wife is white. The British Cabinet has apparently concurred in this discrimination of race. The British High Commissioner to South Africa has flown back to South Africa, with the Government's decision on that issue.

Is the white man on the way out, down the grade to inferior status? Is there any danger that in China, Japan, India, darkest Africa, propaganda against Caucasians will push the slogan "The White Menace", and white people will be snubbed at every turn over most of the world's face?

NOTE AND COMMENT

Russia is reported to want the Khyber Pass. If we recall him aright, Kipling foresaw this sixty years ago. But we imagine that the British who know most about that desperate place will be most willing to let Russia have it.

Astronomers report a recent gigantic explosion on Mars. Could it be that the Martians have beaten us to the manufacture of a hydrogen bomb? After all, why should he assume that earth monopolizes all the suicidal tendencies in the solar system?

Russia And The Hydrogen Bomb

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S decision to go forward with the development and construction of the "so-called hydrogen or super bomb" has been received everywhere with deep gloom, but also with a feeling of inevitability. Failing any agreement on effective international control of atomic energy, it was and is plainly impossible for America one-sidedly to give up the race and deny itself a weapon which Russia may — and probably will — develop.

◇ ◇ ◇

INDEED, there is some reason to fear that Russia may be as far advanced towards the production of the hydrogen bomb as is America herself. The principle on which that bomb rests has been common scientific knowledge for several years; prominent among the scientists who have worked in this particular field is a Russian, Professor Kapitza, who shortly before the war returned to Russia from Cambridge, and has since been awarded the Stalin Prize for outstanding scientific achievements. It is not impossible that, owing to Kapitza's research since his return to Russia, of which the outside world knows nothing, Russia may have had even before America the specific knowledge needed to use the heat generated by nuclear fission for transforming hydrogen into helium, in other words the "know how" about the secondary explosion by which an atom bomb sets off a hydrogen bomb. It may be that all that held up Russian construction of hydrogen bombs up to now was her lag in developing the "ordinary" atomic bomb, which is indispensable to the hydrogen bomb as a detonator.

◇ ◇ ◇

IF that is so, there is nothing to prevent Russia from, so to speak, skipping the "ordinary" atom bomb (the uranium or plutonium bomb) and passing at once to the stage where plutonium bombs are used only as detonators for the hydrogen bomb. If, in such a situation, America hesitated with the development of the hydrogen bomb, she might in a very few years find herself, in spite of her large stockpile of "ordinary" atom bombs, far outclassed in the atomic armaments race and practically at the mercy of Russia.

None of this can, of course, be stated with certainty. But the mere possibility that Russia may even at this moment be constructing hydrogen bombs forces America's hand.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE have been suggestions that before the awful decision was taken, another "last attempt" should have been made to achieve agreement with Russia on international control of atomic energy. Unfortunately, these suggestions do not stand up to close scrutiny. Nobody has advanced any new practical proposal that could have usefully been made in this matter. One American proposal for effective international control, the Baruch plan, has been under discussion in the U.N. Atomic Energy Commission for nearly four years. It has always been firmly refused by Russia.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE is nothing sacrosanct about the Baruch plan; if another plan could be devised which would make international control really effective and provide real security against manufacture of atomic armaments by any Power, this would be just as well. But no other plan which satisfied these requirements has ever been put forward by anybody. The Russian counter-proposal, which leaves national sovereignty in the field of atomic energy intact and makes sanctions against any offending State dependent on the Security Council, where the veto of any Great Power can bar action, definitely provides no security; and all powers of diplomacy, argument and persuasion have proved completely unavailing to make Russia admit this.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE remains, theoretically, the power of threats. But quite apart from the question of whether public opinion in the democratic countries could ever be persuaded to present an atomic ultimatum to Russia, the Western Powers have at no stage since 1946 been in a position in which such an ultimatum could have been enforced. Immediately after victory over Germany and Japan had been achieved, they started dismantling their war machines and demobilizing their forces at a far larger rate, and at a faster pace, than Russia did: with the result that, apart from America's lead in atomic bomb development, Russia has always, during the last four years, possessed a greater ready strength on land, sea and air than has the West. At present it is certain that, if war broke out, the Western Powers in the first stage would be entirely on the defensive. This is not a position from which it is possible to "bring matters to a head with Russia". It is the horrible blunder of over-hasty demobilization in 1945—especially in America—which has both made a peace settlement impossible and forfeited the best chance of enforcing effective international control of atomic energy. Only rapid Western rearmament on land, sea and air could now possibly restore such a chance—though the chance will never again be as good as it was in 1945, when Russia had not yet developed the atomic bomb herself.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE best hope of mitigating the terrible dangers to civilization of the atomic armaments race may now well lie in the scientific and technical field rather than in that of international politics. The hydrogen bomb is not yet, so far as we know, in actual existence anywhere. According to semi-authoritative estimate—it may be about two years before it is. Even then, it may not at once be practically usable as a weapon of war. There are hints that its size and complicated apparatus put it beyond the carrying capacity of any existing military aircraft, let alone any rocket or other missile. (Even the existing atom bomb, round which the hydrogen bomb will be built, cannot be carried by any plane smaller than a super Fortress.) Altogether, it seems not unrealistic to assume that it may be at least another half decade, perhaps a decade, before hydrogen bombs could actually be carried to their targets and exploded by attacking aircraft. During that time, the development of devices for air defence will not stand still. With the principle of automatic interception through guided rocket missiles established, it is just possible that air defence may have caught up with air attack before the latter has reached the peak of its destructiveness. This, at any rate, seems to be mankind's best hope at this grim stage.

Letters To The Editor

MORE HELP FOR THE HANDICAPPED

Sir: This is another letter on the poignant subject of pensions for civilian handicaps. We read with interest and appreciation the splendid letters recently submitted by A. Russell Avery and "An Interested Citizen".

Our handicapped civilians who are facing the future with brave courage without earning power, or with only an inadequate amount for their social and economic security are as needful of pensions and aid as our brave disabled veterans of war.

We all know of some handicapped people who are almost driven insane with the fear of insecurity and frustration. To care for these people commensurate with their degree of disability is of national interest and responsibility.

In the statistical report for the Dominion of Canada of the work in Public Health and Welfare Services for 1949 we read of many commendable health and welfare projects; i.e. family allowances, old age pensions, workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance, physical fitness programmes, mothers' allowances, etc. The only monetary assistance mentioned for disabled civilians is from private and charitable funds which covers about forty per cent. No mention is made of pensions. Yet, does not the need in this group rate as high as any mentioned above? This is surely an urgent necessity in the light of our responsibility of being good citizens.

To be active in the field of labour and testing the joy of having a service of work to render is a heritage we healthy people take for granted. Are we so busy as we go about our daily work that we do not stop to think of the brave citizens who have limited earning power or none at all, and no definite means of income for the necessities of life? Could it even be that if we gave more thought in this regard that some of these people in the dependent and handicapped group if given opportunity to develop and capitalize their limited ability through specific training could become partially or fully self-supporting?

All of us should become acutely aware of this shortcoming of our society. Why have we not done more in this field ere this? We know people are interested. Our interest in welfare work is proven in many ways. Could there be a better time to co-operate in putting this worthy and urgent matter before our Government than right now when our minds are attuned to the projects of National Health Week.

Very sincerely,
ANOTHER INTERESTED CITIZEN.

CREDIT TO AMBITIOUS WIVES

Sir: We think it's about time that some of us answered the letters recently appearing on married women working so we'll try to make an answer.

In the first place if married girls are ambitious enough to get out and help their husbands accomplish a decent home we think they deserve credit instead of being criticized by others who don't want to work. If they want to stay home and take care of household duties that's their business and if we want to work that's ours. So far this is a free country, you know.

Certainly you can stay home all day or see a movie in the afternoon while we are working and then you have the gall to load the buses at 5 p.m. and we have to stand when you should be home getting supper.

Where were you during the war (or did you know we had one) still sitting at home while your country was pleading for married women to help in industry. What makes you so jealous? Are you afraid some day we will have a better home or maybe a car?

If it took you twelve years to learn to sew I wonder how long it would take you to assemble a hand on a watch or a spring or operate a machine that many married girls are doing today. It would probably wind up with the companies going broke because of non-productivity and we would all be out of work. Yes, we agree people like your speed should be home. If we had many like you our production lines would sure be a lost cause.

You say you own a new home and car besides savings, married twelve years and have accumulated approximately $1800 on average earnings. Now why not tell us the truth that you were left a tidy sum or struck a gold mine. Who ever heard of an average worker saving $1200 a year? Even with the two of us working we can't compare with you. Well maybe your what they call a super wife.

Now if you are so happy why not leave young working couples alone who are trying to get along in this hard world and throw your personal jealousies down the drain where they will flow away and do nobody any harm. You should have directed your beef to the Moscow government. I'm certain you'd get action. Sleep in your bed as you made it, but be content.

WORKING WIFE.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The same day went Jesus out of the house, and sat by the sea side. And great multitudes were gathered together unto him, so that he went into a ship, and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore...And the disciples came, and said unto him, Why speakest thou unto them in parables? He answered and said unto them, Because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given....Therefore speak I to them in parables: because they seeing see not; and hearing they hear not, neither do they understand....

But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your ears, for they hear. For verily I say unto you, That many prophets and righteous men have desired to see those things which ye see, and have not seen them; and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them. (Matt. 13: 1, 2, 10, 11, 13, 16, 17.)

◇ ◇ ◇

But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. (1 Cor. 2: 12-14.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A clergyman, his face red from wind and rain, approached a policeman. His overcoat collar was turned up, so that the policeman did not see the clerical collar.

"Can you tell me the time, please?" he asked.

"They'll be open in ten minutes," said the policeman.

◇ ◇ ◇

The old soldier had been telling hair-raising tales, and finished up by saying:

"Many a time I have faced the enemy unflinchingly; but what is life without risks?"

"You're right," replied the timid little man who had been listening. "Often when the weather forecast was doubtful I have ventured out without my raincoat."

"Me, Too"

Among the promises contained in the election manifesto of the Conservative party of Britain is one to tighten Commonwealth ties. This has been a policy of the Labor party, and has resulted in a new, vigorous concept of the Commonwealth. On this question, as on social welfare matters, the Conservatives appear to have adopted a "me, too" attitude.

Hardware Firms Expecting Good Business

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Hardware stores can look for continuing good business in 1950, in the view of J. W. McMaster of Welland, president of the Ontario Retail Hardware Association.

He says increased rentals and new residential housing will mean more "fixing up" with hardware items by landlords and householders. However, areas affected by export reductions or stiff competition from imports may expect business to level off.

Wholesale hardware prices have increased approximately 50 per cent over 1941 as compared with average wholesale price increases of 70 per cent, but Mr. McMaster adds, some price increases may still be expected.

He says the following developments characterized retail trade in 1949:

Unlimited Freedom

Canadians regained almost unlimited freedom of choice in buying; manufacturers were competing strenuously, returning the retailer to his traditional role of purchasing agent for the consumer.

Inventories of both manufacturers and retailers were again governed by normal business practices. Speculative buying, preferences, shortages, and "most of the other evils" of the sellers' market disappeared.

These conditions, Mr. McMaster adds, made for more efficiency and the independent hardware retailer was placed in a better competitive position. Advertising, store modernization, plus the personal service of the "independent" should enable the hardware retailers to meet the threat of other outlets.

Mr. McMaster presented his views to Monday's annual convention of the Ontario Retail Hardware Association.

Investment News

Carleton College, Ottawa, is the latest to join in the work of spreading investment knowledge to Canadians. It will put on a nine-weeks' course of lectures on "How to Put Your Money to Work," open to the public and starting about mid-February.

Lectures will be given by officers of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, the Life Underwriters Association of Ottawa, the Ottawa Real Estate Board, and members of the Carleton College Extension Department.

Ex-Mayor Dies

DETROIT, Feb. 7—(AP)—John C. Lodge, the dean of Detroit's political figures, died of pneumonia Monday at the age of 88. Former mayor, city councillor and alderman, Lodge was prominent in Detroit's political, industrial and financial life for more than half a century. He was reporter and city editor for the Detroit Free Press before entering politics in 1907.

3 Perish In Fires

NORWICH, N.Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—Three persons perished Monday in fires in Chenango County, in northern New York State—two of them young sisters. The sisters' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Linn Kenyon, and five other children, including a baby, escaped, but three of the children were injured. Florence, 17, and Alice, 8, were trapped on the second floor of the home when flames cut off the stairway.

Use More Democracy

SHERBROOKE, Que., Feb. 7 (CP)—Democratic policies must be used "to triumph over the Soviets who are rising rapidly through the power of insidious propaganda," Senator Cairine Wilson of Rockcliffe, Ont., Monday told the Women's Canadian Club of the eastern townships.

Ask Newspapers Help Fight Crime

MONTREAL, Feb. 7 (CP).—A criminal court judge, in an effort to halt the steadily increasing numbers of hold-ups in the Montreal area, Monday urged newspapers to publicize the heavy penalties in store for hold-up men.

The request came from Judge Gustave Marin, dean of Montreal's criminal court judges, and followed his sentencing of three men to five years in prison for stealing $15 from a taxi driver in an armed robbery. The convicted men were Angel Hudama, 23, Andrew Caron, 21, and Marcel Bernier.

Judge Marin said newspapers can warn of the seriousness of hold-up offences.

"Personally," he added, "I am always astounded by actions of young men who, possessing good jobs, risk their careers and future in committing armed robberies. Some seem to think it a joke to poke a revolver at a taxi driver and demand his money."

The judge termed it difficult to impose an adequate penalty on hold-up men, particularly first offenders. He noted that some editorial writers have contended that 25 years is too much, others that it is too little. He said he felt that life imprisonment might be the only solution.

May Extend Coverage

TORONTO, Feb. 7 (CP)—The federal government is considering extension of unemployment insurance coverage, Prime Minister St Laurent has advised Toronto city council. The prime minister's letter was in reply to a resolution forwarded by council asking that the federal and provincial governments assume full responsibility for care and assistance of employable unemployed persons.

Plant Maple Tree

BELFAST, Feb. 7 (Reuters)—A red maple tree, gift of the Canadian team in this week's Ulster plowing championship, was planted Monday in the grounds of Belfast's City Hall by Lord Mayor William Johnston. The gift was handed over by Alexander McKinney, of Brampton, who manages the team. With him were James Eccles, of Brampton, and Ronald Marquis, of Sunderland.

Art Group Gets Reward Will Hold Exhibition

BRANTFORD, Feb. 7 (CP) — An art group here that has been struggling along since it started with six members in 1947 is going to have some reward for its hard work in an exhibition on March 4.

Their work is good enough to have attracted Dr. A. Y. Jackson, one of the three surviving members of the famous Group of Seven and William Ogilvie, one of Canada's Second World War artists, as judges and speakers at the exhibition.

The group, calling itself the Silver Art Club, now has 50 members from nine to 56 years of age. John Hylton, 13-year-old son of the Rev. and Mrs. L. H. Hylton, is one of the more accomplished junior members. Last year he won prizes at the Paris, Ont., fall fair with his paintings.

Lou Perry, 56, didn't pick up a brush till he was past 50. "You'd never believe what you get out of it," he said. "Once you start you can understand why fellows like Winston Churchill and Viscount Alexander have been doing it for so long."

Smart Forage Caps

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP)—Canadian soldiers will wear smart blue peaked forage caps with their blue serge "walking out" uniform promised them for next year. Army headquarters said Monday that the forage caps have been selected as the headdress for for the uniforms. Earlier, it had been suggested berets might be chosen.

Get Canadian Weather

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Feb. 7 (CP)—Newfoundland is getting "Canadian" weather for the first time this year. "Clancy Frost" as one newspaper puts it, "Lowered the Boom" early Monday. The nearby weather office at Torbay Airport said that in general temperatures in Newfoundland, as in parts of the rest of Canada, were the lowest on record.

Try To Save Mother

DOMINION, N.S., Feb. 7 (CP)—An attempt by four small children to save their mother from death by fire failed Monday and Mrs. Pierce Corbett, 39, died in hospital from burns. Mrs. Corbett's clothes were ignited by a fire in a small stove over which she was leaning.

Chandos Women Guests At Apsley

APSLEY, Feb. 7 (ENS). — Members of Chandos Women's Institute were guests at this month's meeting of Apsley Institute in the kitchen of St. George's Parish Hall.

The treasurer reported a balance of $59.95.

A Scottish calendar sent to the branch by Mrs. Cowie, a Scottish woman who was a guest of Mrs. Ray Harvey in the summer and attended a picnic meeting in August at Mink Lake was displayed.

Quilt material has been purchased and a pattern was displayed and approved.

The committee on street lighting has met the municipal committee and plans have been submitted to Hydro-Electric Commission for approval.

The treasurer reported $45 sent to the Unitarian Service committee.

Mrs. Rol Tucker presented the report of the committee on plans for bingo.

Mrs. C. Smith will help Mrs. Montgomery arrange books received from Lakefield, February, in the Institute Library.

Mrs. Rol Tucker volunteered to be group leader for Blue Cross instead of Mrs. W. Lean, who resigned last May.

The meeting was then placed in charge of Mrs. Sidney McCauley, convener of historical research. Mrs. Ray Harvey read a poem, "Returning Home to Apsley," written a number of years ago by Rev. W. M. Young, a native of this community, who for a number of years was a Methodist minister in the United States. The member and guests then adjourned to the Parish Hall, where a motion picture was shown. Mr. Chesel McColl operated the projector and also showed some pictures he had taken.

Mrs. W. Lean thanked Mr. McColl, and Mrs. Sid. McCauley also thanked the Wardens of St. George's Church for use of the hall.

Lunch was served. Mrs. E. Tanner of Chandos branch thanked the Apsley branch.

POSSIBLE SENATOR— Hon. Charles G. (Chubby) Power is the leading candidate for a senate vacancy to represent Quebec. Mr. Power, Canada's wartime Air Minister, has been Liberal member of the House of Commons without interruption since 1917, the longest record of membership in the present MP list.

Tea Held By Christ Church WA

NORWOOD, Feb. 7 (ENS — Christ Church WA held a tea party and entertainment recently in the parish room for the ladies of the church and friends. Guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. C. A. Copp.

Before the afternoon program and during intermissions Mrs. Stewart Rusaw entertained with selections on the piano.

Mrs. R. Barrett was in charge of the program, which was presented to approximately 60 guests.

Progran included solos by Mrs H. Jones, Mrs. L. Tolley, Mrs. R Barrett; readings were given by Mrs. A. R. Tompkins and Mrs. W. Bitten; Mrs. Copp, Mrs. George Bitten and Mrs. H. Jones sang a trio; Mrs. H. Mainland and Mrs. L. Tolley sang a duet; there were piano selections by Mrs. Burtt and Mrs. S. Rusaw and a recitation by Mrs. R. Barrett.

A contest was won by Mrs. F. Kemp.

Tea was poured by Mrs. W. Bitten and Mrs. H. Peters from a table centred by a pink cyclamen plant and tall pink candles in silver candle sticks.

Tea convener was Mrs. J. R. Baskin, assisted by Mrs. R. D. Fuller, Mrs. H. Jones and Mrs. George Bitten.

The party was attended by the rector, Rev. P. A. Rickard.

Tea donations were accepted by Miss White and Mrs. Sutton.

Police Break Up Ice Battle As Legion Beats Petes, 6-2

Police helped break up a players' free-for-all on the ice at Civic Arena last night just after the final whistle terminated a 6-2 OHA senior "B" victory for Legion over the Petes before a big crowd. Many fans swarmed out on the surface when hostilities broke out between the bitter puck enemies, and it threatened to become a "hey rube" but for prompt action by the referees, police and some of the cooler players.

The pent-up dislike, which erupted in fist fights several times through the contest, exploded just as the game finished and wild-eyed rival players tore after each other with sticks and fists at the ready. Half a dozen fights boiled up amid the swirling mass of players, officials and heated fans, but no real damage was done before order was finally restored. The same clubs tangle here again tomorrow as their schedule finishes.

LEGION ACE—Johnny Godfrey again proved a Legion ace last night as his squad beat the Petes 6-2 in a torrid senior "B" puck tilt. Not only did the veteran star throughout on defence, but he was in on two of the Legion goals, Hill counting three.

Held In Hand

Two referees, Doug Love and Jim Crombie, handled the game well, throwing infractious players off readily and impartially. The 20 penalties were evenly divided, four being majors for fighting and two other minor fights were ignored as just plain "roughing." Two sizzling hot periods were served up, but the third was scoreless and fairly clean till near the finish. The count was 3-1 for Legion in the first, and they had the same margin in the second, though Legion goalie Ross Nicholls kept the count down with some fine work.

The win left Legion still on top of the group, though th Nylons have a fair chance of over-hauling them by a single point if they win their remaining games as the schedule grinds oward a close in another week. The Petes are definitely set in fourth spot but sure of a playoff against any of three opponents, Kingston, Belleville or Legion. Both Legion and Petes have passed up their remaining games in Gananoque, with the Gans' approval, that team being well in the cellar.

A Redhot Go

Play was redhot most of the route, with both sides hustling every minute and playing fine hockey, but often being shorthanded for rough stuff. Their dislike for each other was apparent from the first and the old feud built up rapidly. Both sides had plenty of opportunity but the goalies were good and kept the score down. There were no soft markers in this fray. Garvey and Montgomery drew majors in the second for fighting, and Collins and Burns later tangled for majors. A Hill-Fife scrap was overlooked. McMaster drew a roughing penalty in the third when he and Hill threw fists, and there were several more brief flurries of fist stopped in a hurry.

Bert Hill led the way for the winners with three goals, as Godfrey shone on defence and was in on two markers. Rochetta and Montgomery were in on a pair too, as single points went to Crowley, Vitarelli and Coombs. Garvey and Legrow scored for the Petes, as assists went to Fife, West and Leonard.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Tompkins and Jopling; centre, West; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, Leonard, Collins, Griffin, McMaster, Horton, Coughlin, Legrow and Conlin.
Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Bitarelli and Crowley; alternates, Parnell, Greenlaw, F. Mortimer, Hill, Stewart, Coombs, D. Mortimer and Montgomery.
Referees, J. Crombie and D. Love.

SEMI-FINAL TIME EXTENDED—The time limit for the semi-final event on this Thursday's mat card at the Brock has been extended to 45 minutes. The match brings together Joe Christie and Johnny Barend. So impressed were the fans with last week's battle between these two that a rematch was arranged, with the extra time. In the opener the popular Bowmanville boy, Bill Stack, pictured above, will hook up with Bobby Nelson, rated one of the top-flight grapplers. In the main go the tempestuous Nanjo Singh meets the sensational colored star, Seelie Samara. Plenty of action is looked for here as Samara has yet to turn in a dull performance in his local ring appearances.

Old Yankee Coach Fletcher Drops Dead

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7 (AP)—Art Fletcher, 65, third base coach of the New York Yankees during the Babe Ruth-Lou Gehrig era, fell dead on the street here Monday night of a heart attack.

He joined the Yankees in 1927 as a coach under Miller Huggins, and later served under Bob Shawkey and Joe McCarthy. It was reported that Fletcher turned down a tempting offer to manage the Yankees after Huggins' death, preferring to continue as a coach than assume the responsibilities of a manager. He retired in 1945.

Weissmuller Voted Best Swimmer

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP) — You can search clear through the book of modern swimming records without finding the name of Johnny Weismuller. Yet 20 years ago they might well have printed the same book with ditto marks under Johnny's name.

So completely did the tall, deep chested Chicagoan dominate the aquatic sport in the 1920s that today, a quarter of a century later, sports writers and broadcasters voted him, by an overwhelming margin, the outstanding swimmer of the half-century.

Weissmuller gathered 132 votes in this section of the Associated Press half-century poll. All the other swimmers and divers of the 1900-1949 era combined received only 102. It was a case of "there was no second."

Simple Explanation

There's a simple explanation. When he retired in 1929, Johnny held every world free style swimming record from 100 yards to a half mile. They all have been wiped off the books since Weissmuller became a movie actor, but no swimmer ever has come close to the clean sweep that Johnny scored.

Hironoshu Furuhashi, the Japanese speedster whose new style and startling performances amazed observers at the United States outdoor championships last summer, topped the rest of the field with 20 points.

Furuhashi, in his first appearance in the United States, smashed the world records for 400, 800 and 1,500 metres and, en route to the 800-metre mark, tied the record for 500 metres free style. He cut as much as 29.8 seconds from the old 1,50 metre standard.

The games on the early draw last night, turned out to be the closest series we have had this season.

One game went into overtime, three games won by one point; two games won by two points; and one game won by four points—they don't come any closer than that.

Tonight we have the final game in the Neill Trophy—main event—and a double-header of vice-skips.

Rumor has it that Joe Adams and Jack Allan intend to take rinks out to the Winnipeg bonspiel next season.

We received word today that G. Braund and W. M. Cruthers expect to be home from Scotland about the 22nd of this month.

Several rinks from our club are playing up in Lindsay Friday in the annual competition.

Playing down at the Seignory Club, Que., last week, Mrs. Doughty's rink of Mrs. Hallowell, Mrs. Bearhe, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Doughty, came in for a consolation prize. Each received a silver tea strainer.

Frankford Winners

HASTINGS, Feb. 7 (ENS) — Frankford defeated a short-handed Hastings' TVL team by a 6-2 score last night, the losers being minus Murray Fife, Jim Morrow, Clapperton and Don Ball. In the first period, King counted first, with Courtney tallying on McKee's assist, and Farmer getting another from Bastedo. Rankin hit the twine in the second, and Edwards and Wilson scored for the losers, Carr and Petticrew getting an assist each. Courtney added two more for the victors in the third, Rankin getting two assists and McKee one. Play was pretty clean throughout. Teams:

Frankford—Goal, Davis; defence, Farmer, Schmidt; centre, Courtney; wings, Rankin, McKee; alternates, Cook, Cole, Mitts, Lang, Hood, Bastedo.

Hastings—Goal, Nelson; defence, L. Ball, Petticrew; centre, Wilson; wings, Greenley, Mueller; alternates, Carr, Edwards, West.

Agar Leads League

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 7 (AP) — George Agar of Minneapolis held an eight-point margin today at the top of the list of scoring leaders in the United States Hockey League. Agar also led the circuit with 50 assists which, with his 28 goals, gave him a 78-point total. Ray Powell of Kansas City was in second position with 70 and Len Haldorsen of Tulsa had 69.

The pro heavyweight wrestler who is hated most in Toronto comes here Thursday eve to wrestle colored Seelie Samara in the main mat bout at the Brock. He is none other than Nanjo Singh, villainous turbaned Hindu. Sometimes known as Nanjo the Banjo, because he strums so violently on opponents, Singh is a really hard-boiled character. Heavy, strong and full of illegal wiles, he has given Whipper Watson and Fred Atkins some mighty tough tussles. It will take all the speed and science of hammer-headed Seelie to hold his own in this one. Two fine prelims go with this main scrap, and the card should draw another hefty crowd.

Andy Rutter advises us that the big ski jumping events at Nassau this Saturday aft depend on quite a bit more snow falling between then and now. You've got to have a fair amount of packed snow for jumping from that high takeoff, so one must wait and see. When we think of the successful jumping competition held here in other years under ideal winter conditions, we can sympathize with the skiers. They've had a tough break of it this open winter, and much of their planned activity has had to go by the board. Not good for the sport at all.

PMHA-ers Readying Up

Time is rapidly running out on the PMHA-ers, insofar as OMHA playdowns are concerned. They've got to have representative clubs in the provincial playdowns right shortly, so they're hurrying along. Trojans No. 1 and No. 2 teams tangle Wednesday at the arena in a sudden-deather, the winner then meeting the Optimists in home-and-home games to see which team hits that playdown path. Midget and juvenile clubs settled some matters last p.m., and all winners will strut their stuff in first rounds next week. Later on, the city championships will commence, being kept apart from playdown games.

It'll be Legionnaires vs. the Petes again tomorrow night at 8.30 to wind up their OHA senior "B" scheduled games 'gainst each other in Civic Arena. They may or may not meet in the playoffs, so this might well be the last clash betwixt this pair of enemy puck clubs this semester—or ever again, as far as that goes. One never knows. This thought, and knowing the hot action they dish up in inter-club clashes, should mean a packed house on the morrow. Naturally, we'd all love to see these rival squads tangle in playoffs, but the fates (plus the Nylons and Diesels) might deem otherwise. Anyway, this tilt will be another hot fight.

* * * * * *

Hard Feelings There

So you puck fans thought we were kidding, or trying to build up a gate, when we kept harping on the enmity betwixt Legion and Petes? Well, you saw 'em last eve in that 6-2 win for Legion. Those wild-looking puckists going after each other with sticks up as the game ended weren't trying to shake hands, nossuh. They were trying to cut off certain guys' ears, and quickly! Fortunately, the police, the officials and some wiser players broke up the half dozen brawls that broke out, like a grass fire, before any real damage was done. It was the follow-up on a hot game which saw several stiff fist fights and a lot of hard bumping done. A fast, thrilling and rough battle.

* * * * * *

For the sake of peace and order, we can play down their rivalry time and again—but it crops up every time they meet. No use ducking the issue, they just don't like each other on ice and, unless there is strict refereeing, they'll break out worse yet. The old feud is there and it gets pretty hot as the playoffs approach. We trust the refs will check it good and we also hope the players don't go berserk and injure rival puckists with sticks. A fist fight or two isn't going to do too much damage, but hot-headed players who seriously injure others aren't forgotten too quickly. It was a swell scrap, the score could easily have been closer, and the big crowd enjoyed it thoroughly.

Thistlewaite Takes The 1,000-Yard Run

Bill Thistlewaite, the local harriers' club top athlete in 1949, started the indoor year off by taking the 1000-yard run in two minutes 48.5 seconds, just two seconds off Jack Martin's 1949 track record. Martin placed second in last night's "Y" event, with D. McNeil third.

The winner ran an exceptionally fine race, showing good condition. The smallness of the "Y" track proved a handicap to quite a few of the runners. Coach Morewood was surprised at the general condition of his charges, blaming the lack of facilities. The race was fast as the athletes ran one at a time against the clock. Thistlewaite turned it on at first in fine time but he slowed down later after 600 yards. Martin ran a slower but more even race, just beating McNeil by 8-10 of a second, the latter only beating out by Jack Brown by 2-10 of a second.

The times: Thistlewaite 2 mins. 48.5 seconds; J. Martin 2 mins 54.2 secs.; D. McNeil 2 mins., 55.2 secs.; J. Brown 2 mins. 55.4 secs.; J. Flowers, J. Dewit and M. Basciano. The next club event will be next Tuesday night at seven in the "Y", the 440 and 600 yard sprints.

Industrial Hockey

Quakers' 2-1 win over CGE kept them in the Industrial Hockey League lead last week, as Vent. Shades kept climbing with two wins in three games. They beat CGE 5-3 and De Laval 6-2, while losing 9-3 to Keene. Games this week: Tues.—Brintons vs. Nashua in Keene; Thurs.—De Laval vs. Quakers at nine, and CGE vs. Westclox at 10 in Civic Arena; Fri.—Brintons at Keene. Standing at Feb. 5:

	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Quakers	7	2	0	31	21	14

Canada's Wrestlers Take Two Titles At BE Games

By VERNON MORGAN

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Feb. 7 (Reuters) — Canada's track and field stars, still seeking their initial first-place medal at the 1950 British Empire Games, today saw two of the Dominion's old games records wiped from the books. But her weightlifters and wrestlers fared better in commonwealth competition.

The high point of Canadian track endeavors was a two-three in the 880-yard final, won by England in a thrilling finish that made the crowd of 40,000 forget all about the blazing sun beating down on Eden Park.

In contrast, Jimmy Varaleau of Ottawa, Canada's lone contestant in the day's weightlifting won the light-heavyweight title. In wrestling, Canada took two titles Henry Hudson, 29-year-old Dominion welterweight champion from Montreal, captured the welterweight crown and Maurice Vachon, 19, of Montreal, took the middleweight title.

Big Day For England

It was a big day afield for England, whose athletes won three of the six track and field finals contested and broke one of the two B.E. games records toppled.

The St. George's Cross was unfurled on the winner's pole for the first time in the games when Len Eyre, a lanky Yorkshireman, ran away with the three-mile race. Then England repeated with victories in the 880-yard final and the women's high jump.

The other three track and field finals on the third day of the seven-day games were won by Australia in the discus throw, South Africa in the broad jump and Ceylon in the men's 440-yard hurdles.

Closing On Australia

England's three triumphs, worth 10 points apiece in the unofficial team standings, enabled her to close some ground on the front-running Australian team. It was still touch-and-go for second place between England and New Zealand, with Canada holding fourth position among the countries.

Harold Parlett, British halfmile champion, was called on for the most thrilling finish of the 1950 games to beat two Vancouver runners. It appeared as if Canada had the race won, with first Bill Parnell and then the 23-year-old Jack Hutchins leading in the stretch.

Hutchins raced past Parnell with Parlett hard on his heels, then the Briton sprinted ahead to win by two stiles with Hutchins taking second by inches from the 21-year-old Parnell. The time was 1:53.1, well short of the B.E. games record of 1:51.2.

The B.E games record set by Johnny Loaring of Windsor was shattered in the 440-yards hurdles. Duncan White of Ceylon won in 52.5 seconds, two-fifths of a second fast than Loaring's mark set at Sydney in 1938.

Another Canadian record was wiped out by big Ian Reed of Australia in winning the discus throw. He bettered the mark of 146 feet 10 inches set in 1938 by Eric Coy of Winnipg with a toss of 156 feet 7 inches. Then, when this toss wasn't counted because of a technicality, he was given three more chances and increased the record distance to 158 feet ¾ inch.

Canadiens Close On Heels Of Red Wings

MONTREAL, Feb. 7 (CP) — Detroit Red Wings continued to lead the pack in the National Hockey League race, but their margin over Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs was steadily being trimmed down by the two Canuck teams.

The Wings have been letting down lately as they fought to a deadlock in six of eight starts, dropping the other two. Their last victory was recorded Jan. 21 when they edged Chicago Black Hawks 5-3 in a home game.

Montreal Habitants, with 54 points, are eight behind the leaders and two ahead of Toronto. Tied in fourth spot are New York Rangers and Boston Bruins with 44 each and Chicago, although putting up a game fight, remains in the cellar with 40 points.

Detroit and Montreal came out even in the nine games they played against one another this season—the teams each won three, lost three and tied the other three.

Still Leading Pack

League statistics released today showed that Detroit's power-packed twosome, Ted Lindsay and Sid Abel, still run one-two in the individual scoring race.

Lindsay has 17 goals and a pace-setting total of 35 assists for 52 points, one more than team captain Abel who boasts 26 tallies and 25 assists.

Maurice Richard of Montreal is top goal getter in the loop with 27 counters and is third highest scorer with 44 points. Paul Ronty, Boston, and Doug Bentley, Chicago, are tied with 43 each and one point behind is Gordie Howe of Detroit. Roy Conacher, Chicago, follows with 41 and teammate Metro Prystai has 40.

Bill Gadsby, Chicago, has spent 111 minutes in the cooler to earn the title of most penalized player. With 558 minutes in penalties, Toronto is the heaviest penalized club.

Bill Durnan, Montreal goaltender, retains his lead in the Vezina Trophy competition. The cool, burly Montrealer has had 108 goal scored against him in 50 clashes for an average of 2.16.

Durnan and Toronto's Turk Broda are tied at seven for the most number of shutouts.

Douglas Holds Lead For AHL

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 — (CP). —Les Douglas of Cleveland Barons scored five points during the last week to hold his American Hockey League scoring lead with 78 points.

Douglas' 28 goals and 50 assists gave him an 11-point margin over teammate Pete Leswick who had 67. Figures include games of Sunday, February 5.

Another Baron, Fred Thurier, was third with 66 points, while Jackie Gordon of New Haven and a fourth Clevelander, Bobby Carse, each had 64 points to tie for fourth place.

Roy Kelly of Cleveland had 34 goals to pace that department, while Douglas' 50 assists topped the playmakers.

Buffalo's Connie Dion retained the best average among the goaltenders with a 2.55 figure on 84 goals allowed in 33 games.

Outstanding Jockey

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 7 (AP). —The Los Angeles turf writers voted unanimously Monday night to award Gordon Glisson the Georfe Woolf Memorial Trophy as the outstanding jockey of 1949. Glisson was selected at a testimonial dinner for Woolf, who rode to his death in 1946. Woolf was a native of Cardston, Alta.

Canadian Squad In 2nd Round

FALKIRK, Scotland, Feb. 7—(CP). — A rink made up of members of the Canadian curling squad which officially wound up its Scottish tour last Friday, on Monday won its way into the second round of the British open championship bonspiel.

The rink included skip Jack Hutton, Calgary, Stan McDonald, Gleichen, Alat., Hugh McLellan, Deer, Alta., and a Scottish player W. Ferguson. Ferguson substituted for the Canadian No. 4 man I. Richardson of Regina, who was sidelined by a heavy cold.

Two other Canadian rinks, made up of members of Falkirk Lions hockey team, also entered the tournament and one reached the second round. It was skipped by Phil Casey of Prince Albert, Sask., with his brother Pat and Winnipeggers Bill Carlson and Roy Penner supporting.

George McNeil of New Glasgow, NS, skipped Hap Finch, Willie Roe, and Milton Carrigan, all of Winnipeg, unsuccessfully.

The second round will be played Wednesday and the finals on Saturday

$100,000 Blaze Destroys Box Factory

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—Fire early Monday destroyed a two-story box factory and storeroom at Swift Canadian Ltd., 1960 St. Clair Ave. W., and caused damage estimated at $100,000. Last night a company spokesman said there would be no layoff of workers as a result.

The two-alarm blaze, which drew firefighters from every west end and downtown hall in the city, broke out shortly after 2:30 a.m. A night watchman saw smoke issuing from the rear of the building and called the company's own firefighting force of 10 men, who laid two lines of hose before city firemen arrived.

For three hours the fire raged out of control as huge quantities of paper and wood stored in the building went up in flames, which leaped 100 feet in the air. At 3:30 a.m. the roof of the metal-clad building collapsed and workers prepared to move some 2,300 head of cattle in near-by buildings, but firemen managed to confine the fire to the one building. Some near-by residents also began vacating their homes at the fire's height.

Two firemen were cut by flying glass and several were overcome by smoke, but all returned to duty after on-the-spot treatment. District Chief Harry Yates, who was in charge of the firefighters, said none of the company's employees was hurt.

Although most of the company's boxes and cartons were stored in the building, a company spokesman said sufficient boxes had been stored in other buildings to handle yesterday's output of meat products. Additional boxes and cartons were being shipped to Toronto from other plants across the country.

Says Army Boots Best Shoe; High Heels Bad

MONTREAL, Feb. 7 (CP). — This may come as something of a shock to some grizzled army foot sloggers, but those cussed old army boots have been described as the most comfortable footwear ever built.

The nightmare of route marches, the hob nailed boots came into their own today at the fourth annual convention of the Canadian Shoe Retailers' Association via Dr. Joseph Lelyveld. The chairman and founder of the National Foot Health Council in the United States, he held up the boots as "the best ever worn by the Canadian male."

The doctor took the more than 1,000 delegates by surprise with the statement which came on the heels of Sunday's war-whooping opening when a delegation of Calgary and cowboys paraded through Montreal streets.

Dr. Lelyveld said the army boots were tops in comfort, but he did admit that there was one fault in their construction — they weren't lined. Maybe that's what brought those groans and gripes from the boys after a 20-mile hike.

Raps Open Toes

Women's shoe habits came in for a little condemnation.

He blamed high-heeled shoes and open-toed styles for arch troubles. He said there were occasions when this style of shoe could be worn—but added they should not become a habit.

The doctor may have put his foot into it again—especially as far as the husband who has just talked his wife out of buying a new pair of shoes is concerned. He suggests that the perfect wardrobe for women contains five pair of shoes.

However, his main plea was for increased attention to children's shoes.

"Our studies indicate that 85 per cent of all adult foot trouble can be prevented before the feet have completed their growth and development," he said.

"Bunions, calluses, hammer toes corns and other painful foot deformities can be traced back to outgrown or misfitted footwear made of stigg, unyielding or impervious materials."

He said it was the responsibility of the shoe industry to set up a standard method of fitting shoes.

Dr. Edward Fox, director of research, School of Business Administration, University of Western Ontario, London, Ont., spoke to the delegates on statistics for industry.

Travels 2,000 Miles On Foot Braves Brigands, Tibetan Chief

LONDON, Feb. 7 (CP)—A 2,000 mile journey on foot through the wilds of Tibet was described to the Royal Geographical Society by Canon Jules Detry, almoner of the Alpine Hospice of St. Bernard.

A tall, broad-shouldered man in clerical dress, Canon Detry told how during his 14-month journey he was:

Held up at rifle point by brigands, almost killed in a raging river, in the snow for two days in soft Chinese slippers, frostbitten, and held prisoner by a Tibetan chief.

After being taken prisoner, he was shown a broken pair of old French Army 1870 binoculars and ordered to repair them.

"I saw it was impossible," he smiled, "so I asked permission to go into a private room where I exchanged the binoculars for my own. After that I was no longer a prisoner."

At one point he made a detour of 30 miles to search for possible survivors of a crashed American plane. The canon found the plane, but no survivors.

Belgian by birth, Canon Detry was lightweight boxing champion of Belgium in 1933.

Army Officers Cram For Exams

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP) — A group of 138 army captains and majors are "cramming" for the annual entrance examinations for the Canadian army staff college at Kingston.

The examinations, starting Feb. 14, will climax a year of study by the officers in their own time However, for the last two weeks, most of the officers have been on a course of full-time study for the examinations that will last almost a full week.

A "pass mark" will qualify the officers for entrance to the college, but will not necessarily mean they will be selected to attend. Only 55 eligible officers are chosen each year. In addition a small number may be sent to similar colleges in other commonwealth countries on an exchange basis.

Hold College Student For Wounding Youth

WINDSOR, Feb. 7 (CP) — A 19-year-old Detroit University student who lives with hi father in suburban Sandwich East was arrested Monday night and held for investigation in the neighborhood shooting of Norman Reaume, 15, earlier in the evening.

Sandwich East police said that Zigmond Papp, Jr., was held in custody after statements were taken from him and his father. Police said charges will be laid tomorrow after the crown attorney is consulted.

Police said young Reaume was shot in the back with a single .22-calibre shell directed at a group of boys who were taunting the Papps. Hospital officials say Reaume's condition is good.

Old Country Letter

Declares Britons Lucky To Share Party Lines

By H. L. JONES, Canadian Press Staff Writer

So you want a telephone? The queue forms on the right—behind half a million other Britons. And chances are that when you get one—in a few months or a couple of years, depending on where you live—you'll have to share a party line with someone else.

Britain is becoming a country of telephone party-liners. Most people who hung on to the installations they had before the war still have lines to themselves. But since 1947 the general Post Office, which manages Britain's 5,000,000 - subscriber telephone system, has decreed it obligatory for every new residential subscriber to share a line if required.

200 Calls A Year

Nine times out of 10, except in the case of business installations, the requirement is enforced. The object of the Post Office is to keep abreast of the backlog of 500,000 applications for telephones through putting two subscribers on each line.

So far it is just managing to do that and no more. Some 2,500,000 telephones have been installed in Britain since the end of the war, but the waiting list doesn't seem to get any smaller.

Each party-liner gets his own bill for long-distance calls. But most automatic exchanges have no system for keeping separate accounts for charges made on local calls above the allowable free maximum of 200 a year.

That's where the party-line arguments begin as to who owes what.

Evenutally it is hoped to install equipment in all exchanges to allow individual billing of subscribers.

Wrong Number

And there are other anomalies.

Ask any visiting Canadian what he thinks of Britain and chances are he will make some crack about the telephone system.

He will tell stories of continuous wrong numbers, queer buzzing noises, crossed lines, cut-offs and three-to-four-minute waits for manual exchange operators to answer.

But as Postmaster Wilfred Paling tells critics, these visitors and most Britons don't realize the magnitude of the job which faced the general post office after the war and still does. Not a single residential installation was made during the five war years. A system bigger than the public telephone network had to be set up for the armed forces.

Manufacture of telephone equipment increased after the war but most of it went to export markets and those markets still have priority.

Post office officials won't attempt to predict when things will return to normal on the telephone front.

All they say is:

"The shared-line system has come to stay for a long time."

9-Car Cortege For Funeral Of Rifle Victim

Victim of a fatal shooting early Sunday, Mrs. Helen Kendry was buried in St. Peter's Cemetery following a mass in Sacred Heart Church this morning.

Mrs. Joseph Byrnes, wif of the man charged with shooting Mrs Kendry, attended with a friend Most of the men who had been at the party, Harold Frost, Emmett O'Donoghue, Joseph Spencer and Vincent Garvey, also were in attendance.

The victim's husband, Harold Kendry, and Mrs. Kendry's mother, Mrs. Josephine Jones with her two sons, John and William continually beside her were the chief mourners present.

Mrs. Kendry's two small children were not present. A small number of people attended apart from the victim's relatives and the funeral procession contained nine cars.

Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant said the mass with Rev. G. F. Sullivan also in the sanctuary. Father Sullivan said the graveside prayers.

The pallbearers were: Clare Grady, Albert Varrett, Russell Teevens, Everett Sinclair, John Boyle and James Goselin.

SHORT CUTTERS usually travel in bunches across Peterborough's streets but sometimes you see them wandering all by themselves. These girls have spotted something across the street and they are making for it in the shortest possible line, never once thinking that jay-walking is a dangerous sport.

Water Cart Used To Build Ice Roads Through Woods

Hitching a water cart to a jeep, Peterborough Lumber Company is making ice roads through its timber in Anstruther township to bring out logs for next summer's sawing at their log mill on Gull Lake.

Nearly 3,000,000 feet of ultimate lumber was felled in the bush during the season when that stage of operations ended prior to Christmas. Midwinter was scheduled for the hauling chore, but January wound up with hardly more than one good day's work.

With February here and little more snow in the woods than you see in Smith or Monaghan townships, crews can't wait any longer on the weather. They are taking to the water wagon on sleighs. In fact they began that expedient in January when the days began to lengthen, and from here on they intend to make their own roads, if the weather won't.

Winter Out of Joint

For Peterborough Lumber this winter has been out of joint, and their general experience and makeshift haulage is common practice throughout the southern area of the province.

"So far this winter," said Fred J. Overend, "we have been able to bring out only part loads on the sleighs. That's why the work so far has amounted to one good day's haul."

The company's timber is up in the lake country of Anstruther. The fall work was done in their limits in the vicinity of Eagle Lake. The present second stage is transport through the bush to its shore, where the logs are dumped out on the ice for booming when spring returns with open water.

The raft is broken up at the outlet of the little stream that connects Eagle and Gold Lakes, is reformed on Gold Lake, and is floated on into Gull Lake and towed across to the sawmill.

Piling follows the milling job next summer, and after the lumber is dried where it is cut, it is finally ready for trucking to the local yards of Peterborough Lumber.

Lumbering is entirely mechanized, Mr. Overend informed The Examiner. A string of sleighs loaded with logs is hauled by a powerful jeep, replacing horses.

The Peterborough Lumber Co. mill on Eagle Lake is one of the largest in Ontario, and the unified operations from bush to the lumber yards and planing mill on Monaghan Road ensures the company with a steady flow of the raw material that flows to them from their woods and mill in the central northern part of the county.

"There is all February yet and the turn into March to get the logs out," Mr. Overend remarked. "It is a most unusual winter. Heavy snow and frosts on the Pacific Coast, and mild January with hardly any snow here in Ontario. The season has been reversing itself at both ends."

George W. Haley Dies In Hamilton

A resident of Peterborough for 35 years, George William Haley died Monday in Hamilton where he had been living with his son, Eric Haley.

Mr. Haley was born in England, 83 years ago. He was employed in the office of the waterworks department of the Utilities Commission during a period from 1912 to 1917, and later returned to England for some time. Subsequently he was engaged here as an accountant and auditor. Mr. Haley was for years prominent in the Masonic Order. He was a past master and secretary of Royal Arthur Lodge, one of its charter members, a past first principal of Corinthian Chapter RAM. He was also a Preceptor of Moore Preceptory, a member of the Shrine and a charter member and secretary of the Lodge of Perfection and Rose Croix.

Mr. Haley leaves his wife and one son, Eric Haley, of Hamilton.

The body is resting at the funeral home of Dodsworth and Brown, Hamilton, where the service will take place Wednesday at 3:30 p.m., followed by interment in Woodland Cemetery, Hamilton.

Council Takes Notice Peryer's Retirement

Mayor Max Swanston suggested to the city council Monday night that the retirement of Capt. W. H. Peryer as bandmaster of Peterborough Citizens Band should not be passed over without some official expression of appreciation.

"Captain Peryer has been in music here for forty years," His Worship said. "That is a long service, and I am sure the citizens appreciate it just as much as we do. He has been a good citizen, a gentlemanly leader among the bandsmen, and the least that we can do is to thank him on behalf of the community of Peterborough."

Ald. Adam Sands said the council should instruct the mayor to write Capt. Peryer and thank him for the work he has done for music in Peterborough.

Ald. Dodds seconded that motion, remarking that 41 years were a long time out of a man's life to devote to any community interest.

"We hope he is spared to stay for years with the band," Ald. Dodds said.

City Authorizes Purchase Of 150 Acres of Land Proposed Industrial Sites

A bylaw authorizing the issue of debentures for $57,000 for the purchase of 150 acres west of Erskine Ave. and south of Lansdowne St. west, for industrial sites received two readings by the council Monday night. Third reading depends on the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board at a hearing of the merits of this project which has been set for Friday, Feb. 17 at 10.30 a.m. The debentures are to be for five years, repayable in annual instalments.

The bylaw was projected by Ald. Hugh Waddell and seconded by Ald. J. A. Dewart. Ald. Adam Sands did not vote with the other members in the second reading.

Proposal of the purchase of the 150-acre block came from the Industrial Commission composed of H. L. Garner, chairman, Herbert I. Bradburn and Bruce Payne.

Ald. Waddell said the commission had studied the question of acquiring a substantial area for industrial sites, had consulted railway industrial commissioners, and had agreed that development should be encouraged in that southwest suburban section. They had obtained from five property owners options which expire March 1.

"A few years ago," said Ald Waddell, "the ratepayers voted by 4 to 1 in favor of purchasing factory sites up to an amount of $50,000."

No Loss To Ratepayers

Part of that money had been spent on properties, one of which had been sold by the city at Erskine Ave. and Lansdowne St., the southwest corner. Another was the Harstone estate property, part of which has been leased by another industry with an option to take the rest of that parcel. By the same process in the future, the city could arrange to get back its contemplated expenditure, and there should be no loss to the ratepayers.

"If we secure this additional land in one block, I think it would be an advantage to the city to do so," Ald. Waddell said.

Ald. Sands said he agreed generally with Ald. Waddell's summary, but the previous bylaw gave the council authority to spend up to $50,000. That measure of sanction was now not sufficient and it appeared that "we have to get approval for another $7,000. I feel that the original money was provided by the electors, and if we want $57,000 now we should have the ratepayers say so."

Salary Tops $100,000

BOSTON, Feb. 7 (AP) — Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox longhitting slugger, today signed a 1950 contract which is reported to call for more than $100,000. Williams, who drew an estimated $90,000 plus bonuses based on attendances in 1949, admitted the contract was better than last year's.

Acquit Driver When He Fails To Recall Crash

Charged with careless driving resulting from an accident Nov 12 of which he remembers nothing, R. Neil McNaughton, RR 4, Peterborough, was found not guilty by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC, in police court today.

Provincial Constable Patterson, who investigated the accident in Harvey township, found the accused man's car astride the highway. It had evidently hit a six-foot high boulder in the west ditch and been bounced into the centre of the highway.

Extensive damage to the roof and one side of the car indicated that it had probably rolled over.

Dr. H. G. Carleton testified that he had been called to treat McNaughton in his house that night. He found that McNaughton had three fractures in his hip bone and a severe concussion of the brain

He testified that McNaughton was in a stupor and the injury he received would affect his memory.

McNaughton told the court he had driven some friends north to go deer hunting and was returning home alone. The last he could remember was driving about two miles north of where the accident happened. From then until, he recalled, Dr. Carleton gave him a hypodermic needle, his mind was a blank.

Marks on the road indicated McNaughton's car had travelled 90 feet along the east shoulder, had then driven diagonally across the highway and finally about 62 feet along the west shoulder before hitting the boulder.

Magistrate Philp said it was a "very borderline case," but he would give McNaughton the benefit of the doubt.

$4,282 Hydro Refund Vs. $5,000 Water Rise

In the accounting of the Hydro-Electric Commission, Peterborough gets a refund of $4,282 on the 1948 street lighting bill. That was pleasant news to the council last night, but it was nullified by a $5,000 increase in the city's water bill for fire protection. That amount is $35,00 this year, up $5,000 from 1949.

Labor Board To Inquire Into Claim of IUE-CIO

The Ontario Labor Relations Board has decided to check further into the claim of the IUE-CIO to represent a majority of the more than 3,000 production workers at CGE.

A hearing February 17 and 18, to be held in the Empress Hotel, will allow the OLRB to make a decision on the application. Several workers in the plant have been subpoenaed to appear and testify.

Earlier in the month examiners from the OLRB went through the Peterborough works investigating claims of duplication and fraud involving IUE cards brought against the IUE by the rival UE. The original hearing was in Toronto on January 4 when the right-wing Electrical Workers' Union filed 1628 cards.

The battle for the allegiance of the production workers at the Peterborough plant has continued since the left-wing UE was tossed out of the CIO at the annual conference in November.

Both factions have now a slate of officers and claim the majority of the eligible workers. Should the IUE be successful in convincing the OLRB their applications is bona fide, a vote will likely follow.

Davis, 19, Tells Long Tale Of Entry, Theft

A story of stealing four cars, breaking into a service station, a school and two cottages, was read in court today by Provincial Constable Archie Grayling from a statement made to police by Russell Davis, 19, R.R. 2, Warsaw, charged with two car thefts and four breakins.

He pleaded guilty to the charges and was remanded one week for sentence. William John Robinson 23, of Toronto, pleaded not guilty to identical charges. He was also remanded one week. One week ago he elected trial by a higher court, but today changed his mind and asked to be tried by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC.

The two, dirty and unshaven, were picked up on Highway 36, just outside Buckhorn, early in the morning of Jan. 29 by Provincial Constable E. G. Patterson.

Davis Statement

In the statement, Davis said that in company with Jack Robinson he drove in a truck they stole near Lakefield to a cottage near Buckhorn. With a hammer they broke in and took a pair of brown shoes, a pair of pants and some other clothing. Davis said he also took a knife.

They went on up a hill and broke into another cottage where they took some sugar. He said the truck could not make the hill and they left it there.

He said they were given a ride in a car, but when they got out of the car, they left behind a satchel they had taken from one of the cottages.

They walked into Buckhorn and stole a car from a garage there, Davis stated. In the car they drove west on Highway 36 and stopped at a service station. They pried open a storm door to the service station, reached in, opened the inside door and entered.

Enter Service Station

"We were looking for cigarettes," he stated. He took two packages of cigarettes, but did not know what Robinson took They then broke the lock on a gas pump and filled the tank of their stolen car.

Police charge that they broke into the service station which was owned by Charles Flynn, some seven miles north of Buckhorn and eight gallons of gasoline and about $5 in cash were missing.

Davis' statement then related the pair drove to Port Perry, left the car there, and took a bus to Toronto. They spent two nights in a Toronto boarding house, then stole another car and started back toward Buckhorn.

They stopped at Manchester on the way, where they dropped the car they took in Toronto and stole another one to continue their trip.

On the way, while driving on Highway 7 between the Pontypool turn and Port Perry, they stopped off at a school which police say was SS 8, Manvers township Here they broke in and stole a mantel radio which they later left in the last car they had stolen

Police charge the panel truck was owned by Jack Neish, Smith township. The first car stolen, police say, was owned by Earl Hall of Buckhorn.

The two cottages entered, according to police, were owned by Paul Hattendorf, of Cleveland, and Fred Lindsay of Oshawa Owners of the other two cars have not yet been found.

REME Workshop Separate Unit

The 37th Heavy AA Workshop, RCEME (Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers), which has been affiliated with the 50th Heavy AA Regiment (Prince of Wales Rangers), RCA, is now a unit in itself, it was announced today. Capt. R. R. Asselstine is the officer commanding the new unit which will have its orderly room and garages in the northwest corner of the armouries.

Capt. Asselstine said that although the strength of the unit is small he hopes it will increase when more equipment is made available. The unit has now a maintenance truck and a workshop service trailer.

Staff-sergeants Gerald Dunn and B. L. Smith of the A and T staff for the 50th Regiment are assisting the unit in its preliminary stages. An active force RCEME member is expected to be posted to the armouries as an administration and training officer for the unit.

Defrauded Car Dealer Lakefield Man Fined

Three months in jail was imposed today in police court on George N. Mitchell, Lakefield, who pleaded guilty a week ago to defrauding a Lakefield car dealer of about $285.

The charge was that Mitchell sold the car May 10 with the assurance that there were no liens against it. Later it was found there was a lien on the car.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw told the court Mitchell had served a five month term in Quebec last summer when convicted of a similar charge of false pretenses. He also stated that Mitchell had not made restitution.

Daylight Saving

Peterborough will return to daylight saving time this year for the period from April 30 to Sept. 24. This is the time proposed by the association of railways.

"Is that subject to extension?" Ald. D. Miller asked "We ought to fix it right now, or leave the second date open."

"We don't know what the Hydro, and industries might need by September," Mayor Swanston said.

"We can always change it later if we have to." was the comment of Ald. Gillespie.

New Fire Hall Proposed For South End

Proposed erection this year of an auxiliary fire station in the south end of the city was referred to the finance committee for consideration and decision at Monday night's meeting of the council.

The clause in the report by Ald Doug Miller, chairman of the fire and light committee, was as follows:

"That a sub fire station is needed to protect properties in the area lying south of Lansdowne St., and that a site for this station be selected and a building erected this year: the expense not to be included in the estimates of this department, but to be financed by the issuing of short term debentures, and that this recommendation be forwarded to the finance committee for consideration and decision."

Discussion of this project was reported from a recent meeting of the fire and light committee Council also approved its recommendation that Ald. Miller and City Clerk Outram arrange for a radio broadcast and other publicity that may be considered necessary to inform the public about the reasons which have caused the council to discontinue fire services to the neighboring townships.

The following is quoted from a second report by Ald. Miller which was adopted:

"Fire Chief Smith reported to your committee that there are 15 buildings in the city in which the third floor is being occupied without the installation of fire escapes. Instructions have gone out that all owners of these buildings must equip them with fire escapes.

"Your committee recommends that there be no change in the agreement between the city and the Fire Fighters' Union from that previously recommended by this committee and the committee of the whole, and that the city clerk prepare the necessary copies of the agreement for signature by the two parties concerned.

"That City Solicitor Huycke be requested to submit a written report on the progress made in the judicial proceedings regarding the firemen's pension plan."

Band Asks $3,600 Need New Horns

Citizens Band is asking for $3,600 this year from the council through the Recreation Commission. Salaries amount to $1,200, park concerts $750, instrument repairs $250.

The band wish to buy two clarinets costing $365, a trumpet $100 and trombone $200, second hand snare drum $50, mutes $60 and music $300.

Their receipts last year amounted to $4,234 and expenses $3,739, with outstanding accounts of $142 at the end of the year. The band played at 16 public engagements in 1949, including park concerts.

Day Suspension GE Employees Who Stop Work

Employees at the CGE plant who stop work or influence others to do so face suspension for the rest of the day and the next full shift as well, according to a company proclamation posted in the plant today.

This notification comes as the aftermath of two UE-inspired work stoppages: one on Thursday and the other Monday. On both these occasions the stoppages lasted approximately two hours and the employees paraded through the plant and listened to speeches from the UE union leaders.

On Thursday a crowd, variously estimated between 400 and 1200 walked out of the plant and heard addresses from a loudspeaker-equipped car by C. S. Jackson, Canadian UE president, and T. P. Davies, president of Local 524 UE.

A similar demonstration, but confined to the interior of the plant itself, occurred Monday morning.

Following is the proclamation:

"Any employee who engages in work stoppage or influences others will as a minimum be suspended for the balance of the day and the next full shift.

"Any employee after being so suspended will be permitted to resume work on the understanding that he or she will adhere to proper conduct within the plant and perform their assigned work.

"Improper conduct of an employee as referred to above will be entered in an employee's record.

"It is hoped that good judgment will prevail and it will not be necessary to take this disciplinary action."

Canadian Play Draws Criticism At Drama Festival

WINNIPEG, Feb. 7.—(CP). — The lone Canadian-written play entered in the Manitoba regional tests of the Dominion Drama Festival Monday night drew sharp criticism from Adjudicator Maxwell Wray of London.

The play, "Love Story," a three-act psychological mystery drama written by 29-year-old Aubrey C. Green of Winnipeg and presented by the Winnipeg Teachers' Dramatic Society, was the first production of the three-day festival.

Lack of sufficient content for a three-act play was chief criticism of "Love Story," Mr. Wray said. The play took only an hour and forty-five minutes and was really "a long one-act play."

"The content of this play is frequent repetition of situations and often of lines. This script must be pruned . . . it has been written carelessly.

"You can't invite three people for dinner when you only have one chop."

The play deals with a neurotic barber's wife who becomes enamoured of a young poet friend of her younger sister and the tragic results of the affair.

He lauded George Writer's portrayal of the dull, solid barber who was "thoroughly at ease" and whose sound performance made "a personality which is believed."

Norwood Triumphs

NORWOOD, Feb. 7 (ENS). — Norwood pulled out a 5-4 Trent Valley Hockey League victory over Campbellford here last evnning in a fast, clean contest on good ice before a large crowd. The homesters had the needed drive in the third period after seeing a first-frame lead tied up in the second. Campbellford fought hard in an effort to tie it up near the finish, and they came close but could not quite make it as Morrison was hard to beat in goal. Teams:

Campbellford— Goal, Laverne; defence, Tanner and Taylor; centre, Blake; wings, Hay and Hendrix; alternates, Robinson, Doherty, Harrington, Smith, Peake, Pace, Doug Free, Don Free.

Norwood— Goal, Morrison; defence, G. Payne and Fennell; centre, B. Payne; wings, Hamilton and Lonsberry; alternates, Webb, Rogers, Brown, H. Smith, Petersen, Kelly, Clement, Evans.

Referees— R. Scriver and W. Leggitt.

The summary:

Leaves For Geneva

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—(CP). — The Rev. Dr. Gordon A. Sisco, secretary of the General Council of the United Church of Canada, will leave this week for Geneva to attend the executive committee meeting of the World Council of Churches. Opening sessions will start Feb. 21. Dr. Sisco is the only Canadian on the World Council executive.

2 Million Jobless

BONN, Germany, Feb. 7.—(A.P.). — West Germany had 1,900,000 unemployed at the end of January, it was officially announced today. This was an increase of 342,000 over the previous month. Seventeen per cent of the new job seekers were women. In December, 1948, there were only 859,000 jobless.

King Edward Wins

King Edward seniors of the School Hockey League defeated Queen Alex 5-1 yesterday at the arena, finishing stronger after two even periods. Following a scoreless first frame, each side counted once in the second, and King Edward came on to take it in the third. Stewart shone for the losers and got their only goal, while Frizzelle stood out for the victors tallying two, as Hunt, Ball and J. Hobart got one apiece. Teams:

Queen Alex: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Harrison, Stewart; centre, R. McKinney; wings, Whitton, Weir; alternates, T. McKinney, McClennan, Macklin, Alton, Brown, Turnbull.

King Edward: Goal, Hobart; defence, Tarkington, Chalmers; centre, Robins, J. Hobart, Huntg; centre, Robins; defen centre, Robins; wings, J. Hobart, Hunt; alternates, Frizzelle, Ball, Smyth, Haggart, Johnston, Phillips Bennett.

To Conscript Women

WARSAW, Feb. 7 — (AP) — Women will henceforth be conscripted for Poland's armed forces for the first time in history, under a new act approved Monday by the Diet (parliament). The new measure changes completely many existing conditions of military service for both sexes.

Marmora Victors

MARMORA, Feb. 7 (ENS) — In a game in which play was mediocre and devoid of thrills, Marmora Circle "C" team triumphed on the home rink over Campbellford by the score of 4-1.

Campbellford — Goal, MacColl; defence, White, Dewar; centre, Nesbitt; wings, Burgess, Rutherford; alternates, Chernoff, Belford, Sheppard, O'Rourke, Gunmo, Oliver, Petherick, Curle.

Marmora—Goal, Callery; defence, J. Hermon, Doyle; centre, Forestell; wings, Leal, Smith; alternates, Moss, P. Shannon, Gray, Hewitt, P. Moloney, Nicholson Hulsmans, J. Moloney, Walker.

Referee, F. Blake, Campbellford; B. Gray, Marmora.

Summary

First period—No score. No penalties.

Second period — Marmora, Doyle (Moloney, Moss), 7.00; Marmora, Forestell, 19:55. No penalties.

Third period—Marmora, Moss (Maloney, Gray) 10:30; Campbellford, Burgess, 14:30; Gray (Moss) 17:30. Penalties, Herman, Sheppard.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Toronto Daily Star said in a newspage story Monday that if the Ontario Government enacts Sunday sports legislation, Toronto Maple Leafs will play a Sunday baseball double header May 7.

Frank J. Shaughnessy, president of the International League, was quoted in a telephone interview from New York:

"The league schedule won't be ready for a couple of weeks, but we have made provision to give Toronto Sunday dates. We have arranged the schedule so as to protect ourselves in case anything happens."

Voters approved Sunday sport in a plebiscite at the civic election Jan. 2.

A hockey player and a spectator were arrested Monday night after police were called in to restore order when tempers blew sky-high at a Rideau Hockey League game at Arnprior.

The Ontario provincial police officers broke up a fight among spectators and booked right-winger Gerald Riopelle, of Almonte Bombers, on assault charges.

Riopelle allegedly swung his stick at Howard Slater, a spectator, hitting him on the wrist. Police arrested another spectator, believed to be from Almonte. His name was not disclosed.

Division Four competition of the Ontario curling playdowns got under way at the High Park Curling Club in Toronto Monday and the Granite and Toronto Curlnig Clubs took top honors, each sending three rinks into the second round today.

Nicol MacNichol, Col. W. O. Morris and T. S. Graham were winners for Toronto while Granite winners were skipped by Gord Campbell, Walter Tomenson and Harry Howard.

Rinks skipped by Mel Conkwright, of Orillia, and Gordon Sloan, of Gravenhurst, won their way into the final round of district curling play at Orillia Monday. The winner will represent this district in the provincial leading to the dominion championship.

Which Canadian city will get the 1954 British Empire Games will hang undecided a little longer. The answer, says Bob Osborne, of Vancouver, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, will be known May 12.

At Brantford Monday night, two sudden death games involving three outside and one local team settled second, third and fourth places in the Central Ontario Basketball League.

Galt Bartons were defeated by Brantford Tigers 55-43, the Tigers taking fourth place, the Bartons dropping out of the picture. In a hectic battle between Hamilton Cycles and Kitchener 7, the Hamilton team went down 47-45 and took second place. The Kitchener team held third. In first place are Brantford Y Grads.

Pitcher Paul Calvert, of Montreal, appears to be on his way to Detroit Tigers. All that is necessary is Detroit manager Red Rolfe's approval. Washington Senators have cooked up a deal with Detroit to send Calvert to the Motor City squad in exchange for pitcher Paul (Dizzy) Trout. Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club, has given his manager, Bucky Harris, the green light on the trade.

The Ontario Agricultural and Veterinary College walloped Waterloo College 10-2 at Guelph Monday in an Intercollegiate Intermediate hockey game. It was the Aggies' second win in three starts. Gar Sherven paced the winners with three goals while Keith Hutcheon bagged a pair. Bob Ritter and Stan Luciw clicked for Waterloo.

Buffalo's Protest Has Been Disallowed

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 — (AP).— Buffalo's protest of its American Hockey League game with Hershey January 15 at Buffalo has been disallowed by league president Maurice Podoloff.

Buffalo, which lost 3-2, claimed the winning goal came on a disputed offside play. After an investigation and consultation with the officials, Podoloff ruled that no infraction of the rules had been made.

EL CAJON, Calif., Feb. 7 (AP)—It only happens once in 10,000 times, but a 15-year-old standard-bred mare has given birth here to twin foals. The mother is Marietta Worthy, who performed both as a trotter and a pacer in her racing days. The sire is Volo Tempkin, pacing son of Volomite, the Man O' War of standard-bred harems. Breeder Paul Berry registered the twins yesterday. The names: Tic-Mite and On-Mite, after Berry's Tic-On farm.

Canadian Entry Down

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Feb. 7 — (Reuters)—Dr. Weston Krupp of Woodstock, Canada's lone entry in lawn bowling at the British Empire games, today was beaten 25-22 by J. Pirret, New Zealand, in a second round singles match. It was his second consecutive defeat following a 26-21 loss to L. F. Garnett, Fiji.

Remember When—

Canada Needs National Theatre—Wray

WINNIPEG, Feb. 7—(CP)—Maxwell Wray, noted English actor and director, said Monday that Canada urgently needs a national theatre to provide an opportunity for her amateur actors to develop their talents.

Mr. Wray, here to adjudicate the Dominion Drama Festival Manitoba regional competitions; said in an interview the national theatre he had in mind was not a "bricks and mortar affair—a building—but a national company which would tour the country and bring the theatre to your people."

The standard of amateur theatre work in Canada is every bit as good as it is in England, he added.

Work Very Good

"Considering the lack of any professional theatre to give your actors guidance, their work is unusually good."

He said he thought it was unfortunate that Canada's amateurs were being denied the chance to go on to drama schools where their abilities would be fully developed.

For a beginning, such a company would have to import players, scene designers and directors to get the quality desired, but later it would take in Canadian students and eventually become a predominantly Canadian organization.

Theatre of this kind could be created very easily, Mr. Wray said. The many groups and individuals interested in the Dominion Drama Festival could form its basis.

Hastings Increases Salary Of Police

HASTINGS, Feb. 7 (ENS) — Hastings village council held its monthly meeting in the Council chamber Friday.

Reeve C. S. Howse was in the chair and councillors Walter Dodd, W. A. Thomas, F. C. Foster and J. Lynch were present.

It was decided to increase the police salary to $150 a month.

QUICK RICE PUDDING

Combine ¾ cup of Minute Rice, 2½ cups milk, ½ cup raisins, in saucepan. Bring to full boil. Remove from heat, cover; let stand 10 minutes. Combine 1 egg slightly beaten, ⅓ cup granulated or brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon (each) cinnamon and nutmeg. Add a small amount of hot mixture, stir well, and return to saucepan. Add 1 tablespoon butter. Cook gently over low heat about 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Serve warm with cream. Makes 6 servings.

SHORT-CUT SPANISH RICE

Sauté ¼ cup finely diced onion in 2 tablespoons butter. Add 1½ cups (1 package) Minute Rice, 2 cups seasoned tomato juice, ½ teaspoon salt, dash pepper, ½ teaspoon sugar. Bring to full boil, remove from heat, cover and let stand 10 minutes. A little chopped green pepper may be added. Serve with crisp bacon. A rosy, appetizing dish for four.

CONSOMMÉ RICE

Combine 1 package Minute Rice, 1 can (10 oz.) condensed consommé and ½ cup water. Bring to full boil, cover, remove from heat; season and let stand 10 minutes. Delicious with broiled salmon steaks and a green salad. Makes 4 servings.

IT TOOK 58 YEARS TO WRITE THIS STORY

● This is a story of achievement and service . . . and 1949 is the greatest chapter in the unfolding history of The Great-West Life.

Fifty-eight years of exceptional growth and progress are reflected in the Annual Statement for 1949. The Company now provides protection totalling $1,500,000,000 for 425,000 policyholders in Canada and the United States. The carefully invested assets, held to meet its policyholder obligations, have now grown to $357,000,000.

During 1949, $50 millions were paid or credited to living policyholders and beneficiaries. The Great-West Life agency organization, in the same period, arranged 50,000 new policies amounting to $228 millions. The story, in full, is told in the fifty-eighth Annual Statement, now available on request.

The two thousand men and women of The Great-West Life take pride in this record of faithful stewardship and expanding service.

Says Alberta May Trade Oil With U.S.

TORONTO, Feb. 7 — Canada's demand for petroleum may be met within the next few years by the expanding production of Western Canada's oil industry, Carl O. Nickle, Alberta oil expert, said Monday in an address to the Canadian Club at the Royal York Hotel.

Tracing the development of the Canadian oil industry, Mr. Nickle said that self-sufficiency could be achieved if the Alberta oil fields could meet Canada's current demand of 300,000 barrels daily. Albert oil production is expected to reach 200,000 barrels daily within a year.

He warned that actual delivery to all parts of Canada would be costly and suggested an exchange of oil between Canada and the United States. "Under this plan," he said, "Canadian oil would serve the Prairies and British Columbia, part of the Midwestern and northwest states markets. American oil would continue to supply a large part of Canada's eastern market."

Mr. Nickle, who has been covering the Canadian oil scene for over 12 years and is publisher and editor of magazines and newspapers in Western Canada, said that self-sufficiency in petroleum would eliminate the greatest drain of U.S. dollars on the Canadian economy. This amounts to some $300,000,000 a year.

Mr. Nickle said Canada's first major pipeline from Edmonton to Superior, Wis., would be opened later this year. "This $90,000,000 project will start breaking the economic barriers to broader markets for Alberta oil," he said. Plans have already been advanced for a further pipeline to serve the Pacific coast.

FARMER BARONET—Robert Charles Gunning, farmer in Alberta's Peace River district, is entitled to "Sir" before his name. Sir Robert became a baronet on the death of a cousin, Sir Charles Gunning, in London. The new baronet, father of four sons and two daughters, is shown here busy on his pioneer farm in the Peace River district about 250 airmiles northwest of Edmonton. He is shoveling grain into a hammer mill to prepare feed for his hogs.

Nfld. Railway Deficit 2 Million

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP)—Canadian National Railways will show an estimated deficit of $2,660,000 on operation of the Newfoundland Railway in 1949, T. J. Gracey, CNR assistant comptroller, said Monday.

Mr. Gracey gave evidence on the first nine months of operations of the CNR's newly acquired Newfoundland facilities at the Board of Transport Commissioners' hearing on the railways' application for a 20 per cent freight rate increase.

The CNR took over the facilities April 1 last, and revenue has not met expenses, Mr. Gracey said.

FEDERAL CONTROL

The principal canals of Canada —totalling 509 miles in Eastern Canada—are under the jurisdiction of the Dominion department of transport.

U.K. Commissioner A. R. Bruce Promoted

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP)—A. R. Bruce, United Kingdom trade commissioner here for three years, has been promoted to the post of assistant secretary of the Commercial Relations and Exports Department of the Board of Trade in London.

He leaves with his wife and four children Feb. 21 to take up his new duties.

Prior to his Ottawa job, Mr. Bruce served at the British Embassy in Madrid and was in Montreal for 10 years as assistant trade commissioner and then trade commissioner.

Applications For RMC

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP)—Students wanting to enter Canadian services colleges—The Royal Military College at Kingston and Royal Roads near Victoria—this fall have only seven weeks left to make formal application. Army headquarters said Monday that applications for admission should be made not later than March 31

Movie Column

Early Film Star Anderson To Try Work On Video

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7 (AP) — Broncho Billy Anderson, one of the first stars of movies, will ride again—this time as a producer of television westerns.

Anderson was the star of filmdom's first big hit, "The Great Train Robbery," in 1903. Said his long-time manager, Herman Budan: "Since Billy was around when movies were born, he wanted to get in on video in its infancy."

As president of Progressive Pictures, Anderson intends to revive his old series, "The Old Snakeville," and such characters as Alkali Ike, Mustang Pete, Slippery Slim and Two-gun Annie.

"The series will be comedy westerns, designed to bring back the old-fashioned belly laugh," said Budan.

"We originated the stagecoach, the holdup and the fall over the cliff. They're doing the same things today. Of course we had no singing cowboys in those days of silents. But we'll keep up-to-date in our new pictures and let our cowboys sing."

He recalled that Bronco Billy made a picture a week for 376 weeks. In one film, Billy himself played all the characters by means of trick photography.

Odd Notes

Gene Tierney's dress-designing husband, Leo Cassini, played a role in her picture, "Where the Sidewalk Ends." He portrayed, of all things, a designer. He says he'll leave the acting to Gene in the future.

There are five or six pictures about protestantism in the Hollywood mill. Producers are realizing that this vast field has been too long neglected.

Capsule Review

"The Third Man" (Korda) is a splendid example of why the British excel at the mystery melodrama. Its stars are U.S.-made—Joseph Cotten, Valli, Orson Welles—and its location is postwar Vienna. But the mood and characters have a fine English quality of restraint. Credit goes to Carol Reed, best of the English directors.

Lemay-Provost

MARMORA, Feb. 7.—(ENS)—A pretty wedding was solemnized at Sacred Heart church, Marmora on Saturday, when Teresa Provost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Provost, Marmora, became the bride of Roland Lemay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donat Lemay of Toronto. The ceremony was performed and the nuptial mass celebrated by the Rev. J. A. O'Neill. Wedding music was played by Miss Rita Deacon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a gown of white brocaded satin. Her finger tip nylon veil was held by a beaded halo, and she carried a white prayer book with satin streamers and lily of the valley.

Her only attendant, Miss Verna Black, wore a gown of turquoise bengaline with matching Juliet cap, pearl trimmed, a shoulder length veil and mittens. She carried a colonial bouquet of snapdragons and carnations.

Fernand Provost, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

A reception was held at the Royal Hotel, where the bride's mother received, wearing a gray checked suit and corsage of pink carnations.

For a trip to Ottawa, and Montreal the bride wore a wine gabardine suit with matching hat and accessories and a grey top coat. Mr. and Mrs. Lemay will live in Toronto.

Out-of-town guests were Mr Donat Lemay, Mr. John Roberts, Mr. Ted Broadworth, Toronto; Miss Mary Brick, Ennismore; Mrs. J. J. Ethier, Deloro.

Legion Auxiliary Plans for Rally Here On April 21

Arrangements for a zone rally to be held here April 21 were started at the meeting of Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion held Monday evening in the Legion Hall. Mrs. A. Parrington was nominated to run for zone representative at that time.

President Mrs. A. Mason announced that alleys would be available for bowling shortly, and members were in favor of making plans to bowl each week.

Four new members initiated during the meeting were Mrs. G. Rowe, Mrs. Helen Alcock, Mrs Mary Blaby, Mrs. 2Harold Mc Adams. Three further applications were received and will be accepted next month.

Sixty-three members present heard reports on visiting from Mrs. M. Withers, and on Local Council of Women from Mrs. A. Gynane, Mrs. S. Windsor reported for sewing and also moved a hearty vote of thanks to the president for the enjoyable banquet held in January and to Miss Betty Mason for making place cards for that occasion.

A hand-made centrepiece was raffled and was won by Mrs. A. Wagstaff.

A social time was enjoyed after the meeting and refreshments were served by the officers.

Bridge to Benefit New Hospital Quite Successful

The Business and Professional Women's Club chalked up another success with their annual bridge party, held Monday evening in the YWCA, where 52 tables were played. In addition six tables were being played in city homes, making a total of 58. All proceeds going toward furnishing of a room in the new Civic Hospital.

President Miss Sarah Eastwood received the guests, assisted by Miss Vera Hayes. General convener Miss Alice Hardwicke was in charge of table arrangements and lunch. Tiny hats, made with colored satin crowns and white lace brims concealed the tally cards. These were designed by Miss Olga Haskill.

A Valentine cake was donated by Mrs. R. Paris and raffle tickets were sold on it by Mrs. Lyda Telford and Miss Helen Lytle. The winner was Mrs. A. Bennett.

Draws were made for two major bridge prizes by Miss Eastwood. Miss Florence MacNaughton was winner of the china cup and saucer and Mrs. H. Dulmage an Italian design cake plate.

These were arranged with sandwiches and cookies and served with coffee by Misses Vi Walsh, Elsie Bennett, Olga Haskill, Myrtle Knapp, Esther Thornton, Helen Lytle, Mina Henderson, Pearl Edwards, Bessie Ross, Mrs. Lyda Telford and others.

MOVIE BRIDE—Screen star Elizabeth Taylor makes a beautiful bride, but not for keeps. Her "I do" will be for the movie cameras in the forthcoming film, "Father of the Bride."

Swimming Club Plans Entries In Chicago Meet

Plans for a busy spring agenda took form at the monthly meeting of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club Monday evening. Main point under discussion was how to raise money to assist student members who are planning to enter the World National competitions in Chicago on March 24 and 25. Seventeen swimmers will make seven entries, five duets and two teams, if all are able to go. The Club is anxious to maintain the highest average of points for Canada, especially in view of the fact 1952 will be the Canadian Olympic year.

A request has come from Toronto Dolphinette Club for six members of the local group to assist in their annual show at Hart House on March 10. The numbers they want are Teddy Bears, Isabel Crary and June Storey, Music Box Twins, Mary Rutherford and Maureen Finn, and comedy team Iris Reilly and Jean Millard.

On March 9 the club plans an "at home" at the YWCA to which they are inviting parents and members of the Recreational Commission. They will give a demonstration in the pool and afterward they will entertain at a social evening.

Word was received early today that this Club honorary member Evelyn Buchanan of Toronto had taken third place in diving in the first trial at the British Empire Games this week. The members gave her considerable assistance in making the trip by helping at shows staged for her benefit in Toronto last fall.

President Miss Norma Gant presided for the meeting.

Ontario Guides Pick Camp Sites

TORONTO, Feb. 7 (CP)—The Ontario Girl Guides Association has taken an option on a campsite near Parry Sound and proposes to establish a training centre there, Mrs. G. D. Conant, Provincial Commissioner, announced Monday.

She described the site as "ideally located" on Doe Lake, and easily accessible to road, rail and air transportation facilities. It will be used primarily for the training of older girls who have gone through their own division camps.

What's Right

You are standing talking to a woman in the middle of a large party and you want to get around and talk to other people you know, instead of being stuck with her indefinitely.

WRONG WAY: Ask her if she will excuse you and leave her standing alone in the middle of standing alone in the middle of a crowd.

RIGHT WAY: Either wait to leave until someone else joins your group, or take her along with you to another group.

Most Unusual Dad Was Mussolini Daughter Says

ROME, Feb. 7.—(Reuters).—Benito Mussolini was "the most unusual father in the world," his daughter Edda Ciano, widow of the one-time Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, said today.

In a further instalment of her memoirs published in her weekly magazine Insieme, she said there were four things in the Mussolini household — a mother, a grandmother, a cat and a father.

"Mother represented security, grandmother was the household figurehead and I loved the cat," she wrote.

"But father was the adventurous, romantic element. He gave color to everything. Nothing in him was banal. He was the most unusual father in the world."

Edda said her early days were "a diet of salad and love," after which her parents got round to being married. She said father Benito was "a shadow figure."

"In fact, sometimes he was there and sometimes not. He always seemed to be either travelling or in prison."

Mussolini, though poor, insisted they should live on the more expensive top apartment of their tenement.

"Father could never bear to hear people on top of him," she explained.

Local Musicians Entertain At Dinner-Dance

Local members of the American Federation of Musicians held their annual dinner dance Monday evening. The event took place at Club Aragon where a turkey dinner was served to 125 guests, the banquet tables being decorated with streamers and bouquets of daffodils.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation to Mrs. Eveline M. Foster of a life membership in Local 191 of the Federation. As the evening commenced a telegram was received from the president James C. Petrillo, New York, extending good wishes for a successful party.

Social guest was Mr. Walter M. Murdoch of Toronto, travelling representative of the AF of M, who gave a travelogue on his trip to Scotland and details of the Trades and Labour Council meeting in Britain last year. He was accompanied by Mrs. Murdoch. Other distinguished guests were Mr. Gordon K. Fraser, MP, and Mrs. Fraser who are particularly interested in this Association because of Mrs. Fraser's ability as a cellist.
